PREFACE.

---

THE importance of precision in the municipal laws of a civilized state must be obvious to the most cursory observer. The undigested condition of our own Statute Law has, therefore, excited the animadversion of our most learned jurists, while its official Revision and Consolidation have been recommended from the Throne, and petitioned for by both Houses of Parliament. The learned names of Bacon, Hale, and Hobart, are among the first promoters of the measure; and in 1650 and 1666, as well as in later times, successive committees of both Houses have recognized its principle. *

The first step necessary to this truly national undertaking, appears to be that of arranging the whole statutes under proper heads, setting apart (but by no means repudiating) those which are expired and repealed, consolidating the existing provisions, reducing their scale of verbal expression, and, finally, giving a full reference to the whole. The practical application of this design to professional and parliamentary uses in particular has been now attempted by persons whose execution, however inadequate, may serve to show in how small compass the existing statutes when consolidated, may be contained, as well as to clear the path of future improvements. In order therefore to assist a labour so worthy of the age, as well as to facilitate the search of the present enquirer, this work has been prepared, and will, it is hoped, be found acceptable as well to the members of both Houses, as to the profession of the Law and to the Magistracy. The expediency of the legislative consolidation of the statute law is briefly adverted to in the latter part of this preface.

The object of this work is to unite a DIGEST and CONSOLIDATION of the existing statute law of the United Kingdom, with an ANALYTICAL INDEX, affording a complete reference to the STATUTES as well as to the DIGEST.

The particular object of the DIGEST is to present the Statute Law in an arranged, reduced, and CONSOLIDATED form: that of the INDEX is to render every provision more easily accessible than the unavoidable length of many titles in the Digest would otherwise admit.

The object having been sufficiently pointed out, the execution of the plan, as it relates — First to the DIGEST: Secondly to the INDEX, Chronological Tables, and Appendix; will be briefly stated, and some general observations will conclude the preface.

* See Reports made in 1796 and 1803 to the House of Commons by the Committees on the Promulgation of the Statutes, and on Temporary Laws; Reports of the Committee of the Lords for Enquiry into the means of extending and securing the Foreign Trade of the Country, &c. made in 1820.

First, as to the DIGEST. Great caution has been used fully to preserve the verbal tenor of each enactment, by inserting the precise words of the statutes once, while their repetitions have been avoided. No word of value has been omitted, and the titles and preambles have been stated in all cases in which they seemed necessary to elucidate the enactments in any part of the statutes: thus it has been anxiously endeavoured to give every material enactment at a length and with a strictness of adherence to the exact wording, subject to the above rule, which will, it is hoped, be found peculiarly adapted to professional use, especially on the circuits and sessions, as well as to magistrates in general.

The arrangement of the statutes under each head is chronological, except as to amending or repealing statutes, which are incorporated with the provisions in which the alteration is made. The title of the statute upon which later statutes have been engrafted, whether by way of amendment, extension, or repeal, has been given at length, with the year and chapter, or sections, &c. of the amending statutes immediately subjoined. The whole are then digested and consolidated in the order in which they would have been placed, had the whole been enacted at the same time. The variations thus effected are denoted by inserting them, with the statute, chapter, and section, between brackets, in that part of the original statute which they alter or repeal. Thus, though the subordinate subjects of enactment which fall under a general head are treated of as they arise chronologically, the enactments relating to each subject are scientifically arranged in the order which seems to afford the best practical view of the existing law.

The above plan of modified chronological arrangement was selected, upon considering, that the use of any other more exclusively scientific would have entailed on the reader the task of mastering it; a task the more irksome, when we consider the differing views of individuals as to scientific arrangement, joined with the peculiar embarrassments attending its application to statute law. It must also be remembered, that a different arrangement might frequently have been adopted had it been practicable officially to consolidate, having first cleared the way by a sweeping repeal of all former provisions; but the task has been to cope with the statutes in their present cumbrous and diffused condition, and to reduce to some degree of system what has been accumulated without regard to it. The copious Index will reconcile any difficulty which would otherwise arise from looking through a long title; and after full experience of every perplexity, it has been felt that the supreme authority of parliament in support of the labours of a learned commission, can alone remodel by official arrangement those minute points which are here arranged in the manner which appeared most compatible with the present state of statute law, and are referred to with all possible fulness. Some titles, however, seemed to admit of a scientific arrangement, without incurring the above inconvenience, viz. AUCTIONS, EAST INDIA COMPANY, MANUFACTURES, POOR, and STAMPS.

To have inserted the whole of the statutes relating to the PUBLIC REVENUE, viz. Customs, Excise, Loans, Supplies, &c. &c. with the restrictions consequently imposed on foreign trade, and to the PUBLIC EXPENDITURE, viz. Army, Navy, Militia, &c. would have materially swelled this work, while they do not appear of equal importance to the profession for whose practical use this work was principally intended; and the examples of Messrs. Evans and Gabbett, in their able works, have supported the exclusion. But the statutes relating to AUCTIONS, ASSESSED TAXES, FISHERIES, LAND-TAX, and STAMPS, are here consolidated at length; as well as the statute 52 G. 3. c. 143., which consolidates the provisions in force, imposing the penalty of death for any act done in breach of, or resistance to any part of the laws for collecting the revenue in Great Britain; and tables of the articles on which duties of excise are payable, with the statutes imposing them, are placed in the Index, tit. Excise. Other reasons have combined with the above to induce, for the present at least, a delay to consolidate the other revenue laws above alluded to. The treasury, under various statutes, viz. 54 Geo. 3. cap. 171., 51 Geo. 3. cap. 96., 42 Geo. 3. cap. 96., has been invested with power to restore seizures of goods made for the breach of any law of customs, excise, navigation, and trade, and also to remit or mitigate penalties incurred, on such conditions as they think fit; thus rendering inoperative the enactments of many long statutes provided for regulating internal and foreign trade. Their orders and minutes in matters of practical regulation, are imperative on the various subordinate revenue boards* ; and thus the revenue statute law has become modified by means and from sources unknown to the general or professional enquirer. These branches of law have been ably handled in many treatises compiled by officers of the different boards, and some of them officially sanctioned. † In these works the various orders of treasury, &c. are necessarily arranged, but it seemed questionable how far such variations of the statutes, made by authority created by, and for these purposes, tantamount with parliamentary legislation, but dehors the statutes themselves, could be admitted into this work consistently with its general object.

It is also well known, that a bill for repeal, consolidation, and amendment of the 2000 statutes affecting the laws of shipping and navigation, imports and exports, and warehousing, is under the consideration of parliament, on the motion of The Right Hon. Thomas Wallace, Vice President of the Board of Trade, founded on the reports of the committees on foreign trade which recommended the measure. ‡

The statutes of the parliament of Great Britain previous to the union with Ireland, and of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland since that event, but which relate to Scotland or Ireland only, have been in like manner consolidated, but with the exception of the acts relating to the unions, and to elections of members of parliament in Scotland and Ireland, &c. are for the present withdrawn from insertion in the following work, as they would have considerably increased its bulk and expence without adequate return of utility to the mass of English purchasers. It scarcely needs to be noticed, that all statutes relating to England, which also extend to or affect Scotland or Ireland, are here inserted. Statutes of an exclusively local or personal nature have been omitted, though placed in the statute book among the public general statutes. Those, however, which relate to the administration of justice, and other subjects of general interest, though restricted in their operation to London, Wales, or the Counties Palatine, are inserted; statutes passed by the Scotch and Irish parliaments, and so much interwoven with statutes of the English, British, or Imperial parliaments, as to require an analysis to render the latter intelligible, have been shortly digested, but in other cases are merely quoted by their numerals, dates, &c. as they occurred, with the words Ir. and Sc. appended to distinguish them.

Each sentence is numbered like the earlier law abridgments of Fitzherbert, &c. for the greater facility of reference. Small capitals have been used to point out the titles or first words of the leading statutes, which form subdivisions in each general title. At the head of each column the statute, year of reign, chapter, and section, are placed at length, but in other places where regard to correctness admitted it, the section only with an id. prefixed. The repealed and expired statutes belonging to each title are placed at its head, and their respective repeals and expirations are there shown. The obsolete matter being thus disposed of, the provisions in force are subjoined. This is the method adopted by Sir Thomas Edlyne Tomlins in his official * Viz. of Customs, &c.; for, by 56 G.3. c.98. s.3., "All persons concerned or employed in collection or management of the revenues in and through every part of the United Kingdom shall be in all respects subject to the orders and control of the Lord High Treasurer or Commissioners of Treasury, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and shall be liable to all such penalties and punishments for disobedience of such orders as they are or would be subject or liable under and by virtue of any acts, laws, usages, or customs, with respect to the powers of the Commissioners of the Treasury, in force in Great Britain and Ireland respectively, at the time of passing this act, (viz. 1st July 1816,) and immediately before 5th Jan. 1817." This seems the first explicit declaration of the supreme authority of Treasury over the Revenue Boards in Great Britain, though in Ireland it was more accurately defined. The special provision commanding all persons employed in executing the acts relating to assessed taxes, to follow the orders of three or more Commissioners of Treasury, is 43 G.3. c.99. s.61., and will be found in page 1491., pl. 70.

index to the statutes relating to Ireland, which, with his valuable advice on other points, he has had the kindness to supply. An APPENDIX of the schedules, &c. annexed to the statutes, is placed in the second volume.

The types and pages of this work were adopted for the sake of compression into the smallest possible compass, or it would have been easy to have run it out into twice its present size.

Secondly: In the INDEX (that most material and necessary part of the work), every exertion has been made to render the minutest provision accessible to the enquirer, and as many practical heads as possible have been adopted. Reference is made to the statutes themselves, as well as to the Digest. The substance of many repealed or expired enactments will also be found shortly referred to.

In the CHRONOLOGICAL TABLE prefixed to the work, the public general statutes (except those so arranged in the statute book, but of a local or personal nature) are chronologically arranged, and their repeals, as well as expirations, shown. The repealed and expired sections and parts of sections are annexed to those statutes of which the remainder is in force. Here also will be found the date of each statute with its subject matter. A reference is given to the pages and placita of those contained in the Digest. The general rules as to the extent of statutes, whether embracing the United Kingdom, or restricted to England, Scotland, or Ireland respectively follow the preface, and the exceptions to these rules positively ascertained by the statutes themselves are annexed to them as they occur in the Chronological Table.

The limit hitherto fixed by the legislature for the continuance of certain statutes is also there affixed to them. Thus the statute 51 G. 3. c. 124., which prohibits (s. 1.) the holding to bail for less than 15*l.* (except on a bill or note) is described as "Continued to the end of the session of parliament next ensuing 1 Nov. 1823., see 57 G. 3. c. 101." Two full Chronological Tables of the reigns of the Kings of England, from William the Conqueror to the present King, have been added, showing the commencement of each reign, and of every year of it; their duration, and the amount of years, &c. in each.

General Observations. — It is well known, that the revision of the statute law has exercised the ingenuity of some of the most learned men as well as of many parliaments of England. Sir Nicholas Bacon, Lord-keeper in Queen Elizabeth's reign, A. D. 1557, drew up a short plan for the purpose; and that queen afterwards recommended to Parliament a general revision of the statute law in 1593. Lord Chancellor (Francis) Bacon and Lord Hobart, Mr. Serjeant and Mr. Heneage Finch, Mr. Noye, and Mr. Hackwell, made great progress in the undertaking * under the commands of James I. The opinion of these learned men as to * Proposition to King James I. by Lord Chancellor Bacon, for reducing and re compiling the LAWS OF ENGLAND. 1 Bacon's Tracts, 9.

"For reforming and re compiling of statute law it consists of 4 parts.

1. The first, to discharge the books of those statutes where the case by alteration of time is vanished, as Lombards, Jews, &c. which may nevertheless remain in the libraries for antiquities, but should not be reprinted. The like of statutes long since expired and clearly repealed, for if the repeal be doubtful it must be so propounded to parliament.

2. The next is, to repeal all statutes sleeping and not of use, but yet snaring and in force; in some of these it will perhaps be requisite to substitute some more reasonable law instead of them, agreeable to the time; in others, a simple repeal may suffice.

3. The third, that the grievousness of the penalty in many statutes be mitigated though the ordinances stand.

4. The last is, the reducing of concurrent statutes heaped one on another to one clear and uniform law. Towards this there hath been already a great deal of pains taken on my motion and your Majesty's direction; my Lord Hobart, myself, Serjeant Finch, Mr. Heneage Finch, Mr. Noye, Mr. Hackwell and others, having brought our labours therein to a great bulk, and because this part of the work which concerneth the statute laws, must of necessity come to parliament, and the houses will best like that which themselves guide, and the persons they themselves employ, the way were to imitate the precedent of the commissioners for the canon law in 27 H. 8.

the "best way to accomplish this excellent work of honour to your Majesty's times, and of good to all times," was in favour of "Commissioners named by both Houses; yet not with a precedent power to conclude, but only to prepare and propound to parliament."

The committees appointed in 1650 and 1666 for revising all the former statutes then in force, reducing all statutes of one nature under one method and head, and repealing those necessary to be repealed, do not appear to have made much progress in the undertaking. The able reports of the committees on promulgation of the statutes and on temporary laws, in 1796 and 1803, produced the classifications of the statutes stated in the note *; but no official arrangement or general consolidation has been attempted.

After enforcing the importance of obtaining an authentic edition of the Statutes, the Report of the Committee on Temporary Laws, proceeds to state as follows, (§. 3. pages 13, 14.): "With such a complete publication of the Statute Law, when provided, the PLAN for a REVISION might not be difficult to devise, however laborious in its execution. Adopting the idea of the Commissioners employed in the reign of James the First, but executing it more comprehensively, an EXAMINATION might be instituted and a REPORT made of all the laws, enumerating them chronologically, and noting against each, individually, either, first, an existing perpetual law, and whether fit to stand or to be repealed simpliciter, or to be repealed or replaced by a new law: or, secondly, an existing but expiring law, and whether fit to expire, or to be continued, or to be made perpetual: or, thirdly, repealed, and whether fit to be re-enacted: or, fourthly, expired, and whether fit to be revived. The detail of such a work might be distributed, as Lord Keeper (Sir Nicholas) Bacon proposed to Queen Elizabeth, by divisions between different sets of persons, whose labours might proceed concurrently and be afterwards submitted to the judgment of a superior commission, as Lord Chancellor Bacon proposed to James the First, to be appointed for the purpose of preparing a DIGESTED REPORT of the whole matter for parliamentary consideration."

No approach, however, to the proposition of Lord Bacon, has yet marked the path of modern times. The task which, in the last of the earlier times above alluded to, was deemed so arduous, has been since increased by more than 150 years of time, the last 60 of which have been more fruitful in legislation than the preceding 538 years since Magna Carta. The consolidations which were thought so necessary in the reign of Elizabeth, (see preamble to 5 El. c. 4.) and which have been since partially effected in different branches of law, have, however, gradually improved the statute book, and it is hoped will be followed up, at least in all matters of fiscal law and regulation. †

c. 15. (Rastall's Statutes, and see 25 H. 8. c. 19. s. 2., 35 H. 8. c. 16., 3 & 4 Ed. 6. c. 11.,) and 4 E. 6., and for the union of realms in primo of your reign, and so to have the commissioners named by both houses; yet not with a precedent power to conclude, but only to prepare and propound to parliament. This I conceive is the best way to accomplish this excellent work of honour to your Majesty's times, and of good to all times."—See also the Parliamentary History, and the Preface to 4 Reports.

* Viz.—1. Public General acts: 2. Local and Personal acts to be judicially noticed, including as well local acts made public by the usual public clause, viz. "And be it further enacted, that this act shall be deemed and taken to be a public act, and shall be judicially taken notice of as such by all judges, justices, and others, without being specially pleaded:" as also local and personal acts having a clause introduced in pursuance of a resolution of the Houses of Lords and Commons in that session, (see the votes of the House of Commons, March 18, 22 & 24, 1803.) viz. "And be it further enacted, that this act shall be printed by the several printers to the King's most Excellent Majesty, duly authorized to print the statutes of the United Kingdom, and a copy thereof, so printed by any of them, shall be admitted as evidence thereof by all judges, justices, and others," and called "quasi public acts:" and 3. Local and Personal acts not printed, (being such as were before called Private acts). The division of the statutes for the last five years, commencing with 1816, has, however, been as follows: 1. Public General acts: 2. Local and Personal acts declared public, and to be judicially noticed (viz. by the first above-recited clause): 3. Private acts printed by the King's printer, and whereof the printed copies may be given in evidence (viz. by the second above-recited clause): 4. Private acts not printed.

† Partial repeals and amendments sometimes lead to consequences very different from the intention of their enactment. Thus, at common law, all larcenies, whether simple or compound, above or to the value of 12*d.*, were capital offences, but with benefit

The confusion, however, incident to the placing general or perpetual provisions among temporary, local, or personal matter, and the converse; the difficulty of ascertaining to what parts of the United Kingdom many of the Imperial Statutes extend or are confined; and the entire want of arrangement of the clauses of statutes, which has been ascribed partly to the alterations of bills in their progress through parliament, and partly to defects in their original formation, still appear to exist in full force.

The learned Barrington, in the Appendix to his "Observations on the More Ancient Statutes," has proposed a simple plan, the effects of which, if it had been adopted in his time, would have rendered needless many of the present observations. After showing that the failure of a committee appointed for repealing certain statutes of Elizabeth was owing to its being a work of time and deliberation, which that flux body, sitting from year to year, is not calculated for, and that the assistance of lawyers able to spare time for the attendance, was probably wanting, he proposes, "That two or more barristers should be appointed, who, from year to year, might make a report to the Privy Council, as likewise to the Lord Chancellor, the Master of the Rolls, and the twelve Judges of a certain number of statutes which should either be repealed or reduced into one consistent act. It may be proper also that they should, at the same time, transmit such statutes as they propose to substitute in the room of those which seem liable to objection. There will then be the whole vacation for consideration of such intended alterations, which, if approved of, might pass into laws in the subsequent session." A constant supervision of the varying state of statute law, in aid of the legislative bodies, would thus be secured, and much of the accumulated labour of members of parliament saved; while the discussion of general principles might be more correctly carried on, from the elucidation of those minute points which sometimes perplex the most experienced.

In the course of this work much thought has been necessarily employed upon the different plans for a legislative consolidation of the Statutes. Experience of the task itself has not facilitated a conclusion on its merits as a public measure. The plans for attaining this object are so entirely borrowed from those originally suggested by the Lords Keeper and Chancellor Bacon, that it may be matter of surprise that modern ingenuity has devised no improved means to meet the increased difficulties of the work. It now remains for the legislature cautiously to decide whether, if the feasibility of any such plans has been sufficiently made out, the consequences, joined with the expence, would be desirable. To repeal every scattered provision on a given head of of clergy. The statute 10 & 11 W.3. c.23. s.1. (infra, p. 247., pl. 53.) however took away clergy from persons "who shall by night or day, in any shop, warehouse, coachhouse, or stable, privately and feloniously steal any goods of the value of 5s." But by statute 1 G.4. c.117. s.1. (infra, same page, pl. 54.) that section is repealed as to privately stealing any goods under 15*l.* value, and by id. s.2. (same page, pl. 55.) persons who privately and feloniously steal in any shop, &c. (as above), any goods of the value of 5*s.* or more, but under 15*l.*, are punishable by transportation for life only, or by some other less severe punishment in the act enumerated. The consequence seems to be, that privately stealing in any shop, &c. above or to the value of 12*d.*, and under the value of 5*s.*, remains as at common law; and that if any person, having previously had his clergy, should be indicted for such an offence, judgment of death must be passed on him; but if the same person is indicted for the same stealing to 5*s.* value and under 15*l.*, he would be, at most, only liable to transportation for life.

So also the punishment of burning in the cheek, inflicted by 10 & 11 W.3. c.23. s.6. (p. 247. pl. 52.) on persons convicted of theft or larceny, and allowed their clergy, or who ought to be burnt in the hand for such offence, in lieu of burning them in the hand, was repealed by 5 & 6 A. c.6. s.1., which recited 10 & 11 W.3. c.23. s.6., and repealed so much of that act as inflicted the punishment of burning in the cheek, and in s.2. (id. pl. 63.) proceeded to re-enact burning in the hand; but the punishment of burning in the cheek, inflicted by 6 & 7 W.3. c.17. s.4. (p. 137. pl. 63.) on persons guilty of buying, selling, or knowingly having in custody any clippings or filings of current coin, remains in force, unaffected by 5 & 6 A. c.6. s.1.; though the preamble to that statute recites that this punishment rendered offenders desperate which occasioned the partial repeal of it above mentioned, and the burning in the hand, provided in s.2. of the same act, may now, for the same reason, be commuted to fine and whipping. (See 19 G.3. c.74. s.3.)

It would be useless further to particularize incongruities, inevitably arising from the want of constant supervision of the varying state of the statute law; but the notes in tit. GOLD AND SILVER, page 328. pl. 90—93., and in tit. HORSES (Stealing), page 367. pl. 31—33., &c., INDICTMENT, &c. page 384. pl. 11. may be here noticed.

law, in order to a re-enactment of the whole in one code, is a principle long known from the works of every law-writer on the subject, and must be obvious to every one as the ground-work of any consolidation. What now forms parts of several acts, in the shape of different sections, would then be comprehended in one. Had no principles been formed or decisions made upon any of these sections when isolated, and were a new system of law to be founded on these bases, (as in the Code Napoleon,) the brevity of the consolidated enactment might form a considerable recommendation. It must, however, be remarked, that whilst all key to the original cause of each of the concentrated enactments is thus taken away, the whole series of decisions on each must be completely deranged for all practical purposes. Numberless qualifications of the old law must arise by juxtaposition of many sections which required intervening clauses to explain their original intention. To quote a part of a section in the consolidated act, will not avoid the difficulty of ascertaining its parallel, or rather original, in the old statute, upon which principle and practice are alike founded. The old statutes must, in this case, be preserved as guides to the new, which would rather serve to increase than lessen the weight of our laws. The same consequence will arise from the system of repealing the old in order to the introducing a new act, which, under these plans, must be constantly occurring. The present annual expence to the country, as well as to private purchasers of statutes, is trifling in comparison of that which must ensue if a long consolidation act passed in one session is repealed in the next, in order to be re-consolidated with new matter, (a repetition, too, which may occur in every succeeding session :) indecision would be produced by the means proposed to ensure certainty in the system, and repeals would be of such constant occurrence as to occasion the greatest uncertainty in practical reference to statutes, by any but those immediately concerned in framing them. The only means of avoiding the evils of such repetitions would then be to alter the present mode of passing acts, which, besides the many other unforeseen consequences of such a measure, would destroy the usual mode of referring to and quoting them, and throw into confusion the whole body of decisions founded upon the statutes in their present form.

It has been thought right to state the above, as some part of the difficulties attending a legislative consolidation, and deserving of serious attention. Whether the work of digesting and consolidating the statutes would not, for practical purposes, be best left to the labours of private individuals, is not for the latter to decide: but as easy reference is what is most wanting to the present statutes, and as the above plans tend to increase instead of diminishing legislation and expence, this circumstance may be weighed, before sanctioning a measure so pregnant with difficulty. The official edition of the statutes is out of the reach of the majority; but it may be worth considering whether an edition of them might not be compiled from it, on a scale which would unite brevity and cheapness with that precision so indispensable to the work. Committees might first report to parliament what statutes, or parts of them, are necessary to be repealed, as well as what are already repealed or expired, pursuing the recommendation of the committee on temporary laws, (see page ix.) An edition of the statutes might then be promulgated by authority of parliament; to each volume of which should be prefixed a chronological list of the titles of all statutes passed in each year contained in it, shewing those which were expired, and when, or repealed, and by what act. The statutes in force might follow at length; to each of which, notes of the statutes amending, altering, or repealing its provisions, should be annexed, and the whole be accompanied by an act of parliament, declaring that every statute, or part thereof, which is deemed repealed or expired in the edition so promulgated, shall be deemed repealed or expired to all intents and purposes.

It will, however, be evident to every one acquainted with the present bulk of the Statutes at Large, even after all the improvements effected by their learned editors, that whether their confusion, size, or expence are considered, some reduction and arrangement should and might be effected. The plans to accomplish this, suggested by Lord Bacon and Barrington, have the sanction of their names and the merit of much practical simplicity, but have hitherto been unsupported by legislative authority. In the absence, therefore, of such interference on the subject, the present Digest has been prepared, in hopes that the attempt might, in some measure, palliate those numerous imperfections of execution which legal acuteness will discover. Its difficulties might, indeed, have claimed some indulgence, had it proceeded from men whose natural talents had been matured into legal wisdom by the longest professional life; for the statutes arranged and consolidated amount to above 2000, and are scattered over a period of nearly 600 years, during the latter part of which time alteration and addition have proceeded in an almost geometrical proportion. These facts induce a hope that this anxious attempt to deserve well of the profession, will be viewed with that candour and liberality, which none are more ready to afford than those whose own talents and performances are most undoubted and excellent. Such individuals can best judge of its numberless intricacies, and will excuse defects to avoid which no exertion was spared.

In a word, it has been endeavoured to render the statute law more accessible, and by approximating its ancient and modern provisions, to condense the whole, and thus to make its perusal a less formidable task. The Index and Chronological Tables will guide the enquirer in his research, whether confined to the Digest or extended to the Statutes themselves; and if the work is found to smoothen the difficulties of the latter undertaking, it may perhaps be conceded that it is a necessary, however humble, step towards that REVISION of the STATUTE LAW, which the collective wisdom of sages and of parliaments has for centuries recommended.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS ON THE EXTENT OF ACTS OF PARLIAMENT.

ALL Statutes of the Parliaments of Great Britain, and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, extend to Wales, and it has been enacted, perhaps superfluously (a), by 20 G.2. c. 42. s.3. (tit. STATUTES, pl. 7.), that where England only is mentioned in any act of parliament, the same notwithstanding hath and shall be deemed to comprehend Wales and Berwick upon Tweed.

All statutes of the English, British and United Parliaments, comprehend Berwick upon Tweed, whether specially named or otherwise. (b)

But Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark (c) and Man (d), are not bound by any such statutes unless specially named therein.

All statutes passed since 1st May 1707, (see 5 & 6 A. c. 8. Article I.) of a general nature, extend to England and Scotland, viz. Great Britain; and in such statutes which are not applicable to Scotland, and where Scotland is not intended to be included, the method is expressly to declare "that the act does not extend to Scotland" (e); but it is apprehended that this salutary dictum of Lord Mansfield has been not unfrequently disregarded in practice, and that the extent of many statutes to Scotland can be determined by no more certain rules than those hereafter applied to the extent of statutes to Ireland, since the union with that country.

By 10 H.7. c.22. (Ir.), which is one of what are called Poynings' Laws, Sir Edward Poynings being then Lord Deputy, all acts of parliament before made in England "concerning the common and public weal of the same," shall be used and executed within Ireland; but as no acts of the English parliament, since the 12th of King John, extended to Ireland, unless specially named or included under general words, such as "within any of His Majesty's dominions (f)," and which is particularly expressed in the year-books, with the reason thereof, viz. their non-representation in the English parliament (g); so, by the same rule, no laws made in the English parliament since 10 H.7. and before 1st Jan. 1801, when the union with Ireland took place, extend to Ireland, except that country be specially named, or included within the above general words. (h)

The above is the doctrine of Lord Coke as to the extent to Ireland of statutes passed in the English parliaments since 10 H.7., and is declared by him to be "a question, by common experience and opinion, without any trouble, resolved." (i) Blackstone, in his Commentaries (k), adopts the principle, confirming it, as we have seen, by the deduction which Lord Coke, as it seems, did not wait to make. But it may be questioned how far Ireland can be comprehended in the above general words of "within any of H. M.'s dominions;" particularly as we have seen that Guernsey and the adjacent isles, as well as the Isle of Man, must be specially named in English acts of parliament, or will not be bound by them. Not to mention the greater importance of Ireland compared with those small islands, she also, during all this period, enjoyed a parliament of her own, by which the statutes passed in the English and British parliaments were in many instances adopted, and from which in some instances the statutes of the latter have originated. (l) While a paramount power seems (previous to 6 G. 1. c. 5.) to have been possessed, and occasionally to have been exercised by the crown and parliament of Great Britain, not only to repeal Irish acts, but to control and extend British acts to Ireland. Thus the provisions of 7 & 8 W. 3. c. 27. (viz. s. 21.,) recited in 1 A. St. 1. c. 8. as well as the latter act, are by s. 60. extended to Ireland, Jersey, Guernsey, and His Majesty's dominions in America. Thus also 10 & 11 W. 3. c. 10. and 4 & 5 A. c. 7. prescribe the ports of Ireland from which wool might be exported to this country. So by 3 & 4 A. c. 8. it was provided, that Irish linen cloth might be exported direct from Ireland to the British plantations; and by 3 G. 1. c. 21. that act was continued for so long as British subjects are permitted to import British linens into Ireland, duty free.

These special extensions to Ireland of particular English statutes do not appear necessary, if that country could have been comprehended in the general words above mentioned.

Other instances occur in which Irish statutes are repealed by statutes of the English and British parliaments, viz. 2 El. c. 1. (Ir.) by 3 W. & M. c. 2. s. 1. as to the oath of supremacy: so 12 C. 2. c. 34. (now repealed as to Ireland, by 19 G. 3. c. 35. s. 1.) forbade the planting tobacco in Ireland. The oath by 2 El. c. 1. (Ir.) appointed to be taken, is abolished by 3 W. & M. c. 2. s. 2. Again, the laws made in Great Britain against private and unlawful lotteries, were extended to Ireland by 29 G. 2. c. 7. But all these examples, except the last, occur previous to 6 G. 1. c. 5. which "declared Ireland to have been and to be subordinate to, "and dependent on the imperial crown of Great Britain, as inseparably united thereto, and that H. M. and "the Lords and Commons of Great Britain in parliament, had and have full power to make statutes to bind " Ireland." This statute was repealed by 22 G. 3. c. 53. and the 23 G. 3. c. 28. further declared and enacted, that the right claimed by the people of Ireland to be bound only by laws enacted by H. M. and the Irish parliament, in all cases whatever, should be established for ever, and should at no time thereafter be questioned or questionable: and the appellate jurisdiction by writ of error, &c. from the courts in Ireland to the courts in Great Britain was taken away by s. 2. of the latter act; and was so restored to the courts of error and appeal in Ireland.

About the same time the act of 21 & 22 G. 3. c. 48. commonly called "Yelverton's act," was passed in Ireland, by which it is expressly enacted, (m) first, that all statutes made in England or Great Britain, under which any lands, &c. in Ireland, or any estate or interest therein are or is holden, or claimed, or which concern the title thereto, or any evidence respecting the same; and 2ndly, all such clauses and provisions contained in any statutes made in England or Great Britain concerning commerce, as import to impose equal restraint on the subjects of England or Ireland, and to entitle them to equal benefits; and 3dly, all such clauses, &c. contained in any statutes, made as aforesaid, as equally concern the seamen of England and Ireland, or Great Britain and Ireland, save so far as the same have been altered or repealed, shall be accepted, used, and executed, in Ireland; provided (s. 2.) that all such statutes, so far as aforesaid, concerning commerce, shall bind the subjects of Ireland, only so long as they continue to bind the subjects of Great Britain; and 4thly, (by s. 3.) all such statutes made in England or Great Britain, as concern the style or calendar; and 5thly, all such clauses, &c. contained in any statutes made as aforesaid, as relate to the taking any oath or oaths, or making or subscribing any declaration or affirmation in Ireland, or any penalty or liability for omitting the same; or 6thly, which relate to the continuance of any office, civil, or military or of any commission, or of any writ, process or proceeding at law or in equity, or in any court of delegacy, or review in case of a demise of the crown, shall be accepted, &c. in Ireland, according to the present tenor of the same respectively. From the extensive purview and general terms of this act, it is very difficult to say what English statutes were intended to be applied to Ireland. In Mr. Gabbett's excellent work will be found more extended notice of these points than is required in this place.

As a general deduction from the above observations, it appears, that from 10 H. 7. circa 1494, to the repeal of 6 G. 1. c. 5., by 22 G. 3. c. 53. in 1782, no act of the English or British parliaments is extended to Ireland, unless that country was included in the act by express words : and that from the time of the above repeal (accompanied by the 23 G.3. c.28.) and the merger of the Irish parliament in that of the united kingdom in 1801, no such act extended to Ireland, except it was included in the general purview of Yelverton's act. The many acts of the Irish parliament passed during both these periods, which correspond almost verbatim with other acts of the English and British parliaments, serve only to strengthen the above position, by shewing that their re-enactment in Ireland was deemed necessary to their force in that kingdom.

Since the union of Great Britain and Ireland, on 1st Jan. 1801, Ireland has stood in the same situation as Scotland, forming an integral part of the dominions of the crown, and represented in the parliament of the United Kingdom. It being provided by the acts of union, 39 & 40 G.3. c.67. (Eng.) and 40 G.3. c. 38. (Ir.) that the United Kingdom should be represented in one and the same parliament, to be styled, "The Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland ;" all acts therefore passed since 40 G.3. (Ir.) in that parliament, which are of a general nature, or on subjects which apply equally to the whole of the kingdom, are held in practice to extend to and to include Ireland, in cases even where Ireland is not expressly named, if the provisions are such as can be carried into execution in Ireland. But in cases where the subject does not apply to Ireland, or where an express exception is made in the act, that it shall not extend to Ireland, or where by the context of the act, and the limitation of the mode of recovery of penalties, &c. to the courts in Great Britain or England only, it appears that Ireland was not in the contemplation of the legislature, such acts cannot, with propriety, be held to extend to Ireland ; and these observations seem to apply in an equal degree to Scotland. In fact it is to be lamented, that sufficient care is not always taken in the acts which are introduced into parliament originally with a view to England only, either to extend their operation explicitly to Scotland or Ireland, where it may be expedient so to do, or, on the other hand, to except Scotland or Ireland, where the general words of the act might be understood to extend to those parts of the United Kingdom, although no such intention was really entertained by the framer of the act.

The principle, therefore, of the extent of the statutes, seems generally as follows :

THE STATUTES,

- I. From Magna Carta, 9 H.3. (circa A.D. 1224) to 10 H.7. (circa 1494) extend to England (including Wales and Berwick) and Ireland.
- II. From 10 H.7. (circa 1494) to 6 A. 1st May 1707, extend to England (including as above).
- III. From 6 A. 1st May 1707, to 41 G.3. 1st Jan. 1801, extend to England (including as above) and Scotland.
- IV. From 41 G.3. U.K. 1st Jan. 1801, extend to the United Kingdom of England (including as above), Scotland and Ireland.
- V. And the whole extend to Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark, and Man, when specifically mentioned.

* Until 1752, the year began the 25th day of March. Thus Edward the Third was said to have begun his reign on the 25th January 1326; whereas, by the change of the style, his reign commenced 25th January 1327. This change of style was effected by the 24 G. 2. c. 23. (see tit. CALENDAR.) by which it was enacted, that the day which, according to the old style, would be 1st January 1751-2, should be deemed 1st January 1752, and that every subsequent 1st of January should be considered as the first day of the new year, instead of 25th of March as theretofore. Where, in the above table, any two years at the end of any reign are coupled together thus, 1086-7, it is to be understood that the king whose reign is so referred to, died in the last mentioned year, viz. 1087, and that the last year of his reign commenced in the first-mentioned year, viz. 1086. The difference created in the style by the 24 G. 2. c. 23., will be found duly noticed in the table, and it is scarcely necessary to say, that those reigns only are affected by it which began at any time between the 1st of January and 25th March.

The Old Style now prevails in Muscovy, Denmark, Holstein, Hamburg, Utrecht, Guelders, East Friesland, Geneva, and in all the Protestant principalities in Germany and the Cantons of Switzerland. In this style, the date is now twelve days earlier than the New Style, owing to the circumstance of the New Style having omitted the intercalary day in the month of February in the year 1800.

New Style is used in all the dominions subject to Great Britain, in America, in Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Leyden, Huerlem, Middleburgh, Ghent, Brussels, Brabant, and in all the Netherlands, except the places before-mentioned. Also in France, Portugal, Italy, Hungary, Poland, and in all the Popish principalities of Germany, and Cantons of Switzerland, Tomlin's Law Dict. tit. YEAR.

In common correspondence, the mode of dating, between 31st December and 25th March, was 1746-7.

4. Compensation of 7000*l.* per annum to each of such auditors for their lives, id. s. 3.
5. H. M. may appoint five commissioners, by letters patent under the great seal, [with 4000*l.* salary per ann. to each; but see now 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 2. pl. 8.]; two of whom shall be existing comptrollers of army accounts, [but see 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 1. pl. 6.] to hold office dum se bene gesserint, and to be stiled "The Commissioners for auditing the Public Accounts;" and shall, before they act, take oath before Chancellor of Exchequer, faithfully to execute their powers, under the several acts for auditing public accounts. 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 4., 45 G. 3. c. 91. s. 2., 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 33. [THE forms of these oaths are very similar, and are annexed to these sections of the above acts, but seem unnecessary to be inserted here.]

6. Comptrollers of army accounts shall cease to be commissioners for auditing public accounts; and the two offices are declared perfectly distinct, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 1.

7. Three commissioners added to examine extraordinary accounts of public expenditure, 45 G. 3. c. 91. s. 1. [scmb. Exp., and Ref. virtually, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 2.] Powers of commissioners under 25 G. 3. c. 52. are extended to such additional three, id. s. 4., scmb. Exp.

8. H. M. may appoint 10 such commissioners, including those now in office, who shall hold their offices during good behaviour, with all the powers of those under 25 G. 3. c. 52., 45 G. 3. c. 55. 91. appointed 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 2. [One more may be added for accounts of West India Expenditure, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 13. pl. 115.]

9. The salary of the first-named commissioner (who shall be chairman) is 1500*l.* per ann.; of the other 9, 1200*l.* per ann. each, clear of deductions, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 3.

10. Treasury may subdivide the general board of 10 commissioners into other boards, apportioning the business, and may allot officers, assistants, and clerks to each board, id. s. 5.

11. And may, from time to time, by warrant, direct such new arrangements respecting the conduct of the business in the audit office, [and assign to the Commissioners for the time being individually or collectively, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 19. only] and may appoint one or more boards of commissioners of audit, and assign to them respectively, the exercise of such duties, with respect to the conduct of the business, and the control over the officers and clerks employed there, as to them shall seem expedient, 53 G. 3. c. 150. s. 6., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 19.

12. Any thing directed by this act, or by those recited in s. 2. pl. 8. to be done by the commissioners for auditing public accounts, or by any of the boards mentioned in s. 5. pl. 10., may be done by a majority of such commissioners, or of any such board, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 7.

13. Any two commissioners for auditing the public accounts may examine on oath (administered by two of them), and may do all other acts concerning examination and audit of public accounts, which any three or more, or a majority of any board into which they may be divided, may do by virtue of 25 G. 3. c. 52., and 46 G. 3. c. 141. [See last pl. and two next pl.] 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 17. [And accounts may be attested before one commissioner, 47 G. 3. S. 2. c. 39. s. 6. pl. 104.]

14. Any five such commissioners constitute a general board, with powers of all the commissioners, 49 G. 3. c. 95. s. 1.

15. The majority of the commissioners actually present at such general board may act, id. s. 2.

16. No vacancy in the number of such commissioners shall be filled up without authority of statute, till the number is reduced to five or less; when H. M. may, on a vacancy, appoint new commissioners, to keep up the number to six; [and see 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 14. pl. 116. s. 2., and s. 15. pl. 115.], and if at any time the House of Commons shall, by address to H. M., state that the public accounts are so far stated as to render unnecessary the continuance of all such commissioners, he may remove any of the last appointed commissioners, not thereby reducing them to less than six: and on the death or other avoidance of the chairman, H. M. may nominate any other of the commissioners to be chairman with 1500*l.* salary as in s. 5. pl. 9. 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 6.

17. Treasury shall appoint such officers, clerks, and other persons as appear to them necessary to make up and prepare for declaration, the public accounts of the kingdom, in order to laying them before the commissioners, and shall fix their salaries, 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 5., 45 G. 3. c. 91. s. 3.

18. Treasury shall allow sums not exceeding 6000*l.* annually, for stationery, coals, candles, and other incidental charges incurred in the office, to be paid out of the consolidated fund, and to include salaries of the officers and clerks in lieu of all fees soever, 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 5., 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 4. [Addition of 3040*l.* per ann. for expenses of audit office of land revenue by the above commissioners, 39 G. 5. c. 83. s. 10. pl. 79.]

19. The commissioners are invested with the powers and liabilities of auditors of impost, except where altered by this act, and an oath for faithful demeanor of the above officers and clerks, shall be administered to them by any 3 [or 2: since 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 17. ante pl. 15.] or more commissioners, 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 8.

20. Accounts of public expenditure heretofore passed to auditors of impost, shall be delivered with their vouchers to the commissioners, id. s. 15.

21. All official books, papers, &c. remaining in offices of auditors of impost, are public property, and shall be delivered over to commissioners, id. s. 24.

22. "FOR EARLY information to commissioners of issues from the exchequer to persons on account," the auditor of exchequer shall transmit to them such certificate of monies issued by way of impost as was formerly transmitted to the auditors thereof, id. s. 16. [But see next pl.]

23. Instead of the general impost certificates of monies issued at exchequer by way of impost, or on account, which have heretofore been transmitted half-yearly to the commissioners of public accounts, general impost certificates of all monies so issued shall, from 10th Oct. 1821, be made out in the office of auditor of exchequer four times a-year, for the four quarterly periods ending 5th Jan., 5th Apr., 5th July, and 10th Oct., and shall be signed by him or his chief clerk, and examined in the office of clerk of pells, and signed by his deputy; and shall respectively contain an account of all monies issued at exchequer by way of impost, or on account, during the preceding quarter, and specify the date and amount of every issue so made within that period, and whether in money or exchequer-bills, and shall be written in English, in a common hand and character, and the several sums therein expressed as the amounts of the several issues, as well as their dates, shall be written and described in common numerals and figures, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 1., [and see s. 6. pl. 61.]

24. Nothing herein shall prevent regular transmission of the general impost rolls half-yearly to H. M.'s exchequer remembrancer's office, according to ancient usage of exchequer, nor prevent any person to whom any monies have been so issued, from demanding from the exchequer auditor's office one or more special impost certificates of the same; all which certificates demanded after 10th Oct. 1821, shall be made out as in last pl. directed, except only that they may contain the whole of the issues made to any person for the same service for one year, id. s. 2.

25. The commissioners shall call before them by precept under their hands, all persons who have received money by way of impost, or in any other way for which they are accountable, to attend personally, and to exhibit all accounts, books, certificates, warrants, muniments, or other papers in their possession; and they, or any three of them, may cause search, and extracts to be made from any book, roll, or record in the custody of any officer in the court, or receipt of exchequer, without paying any fee. 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 9. [And see 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 25. pl. 134.]

26. The commissioners, or 3 [or 2: since 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 17. ante pl. 13.] of them, shall examine the accounts and vouchers with as little delay as possible, and shall make perfect accounts, containing briefly the substance thereof in charge and discharge, id. s. 10.

27. When such examination of accounts is completed, they shall lay a state thereof before the treasury, who, after considering all particulars, shall grant warrant to them to prepare same for declaration in the accustomed manner, id. s. 14.

28. The commissioners shall allow to accountants such articles of discharge only as they were authorized to incur, unless on special statement of the matter to the treasury, they are authorized by treasury warrant to allow further sums, id. s. 11.

29. The commissioners, or three [or two since 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 17. pl. 15.] of them, may examine on oath administered by any three of them, all accountants or other persons whom they think fit to examine for due execution of this act, id. s. 12.

30. Persons liable to account before the commissioners, shall annually, in 3 calendar months from 31st Dec. or within 3 like months from the usual period to which such account is made up, deliver to their office an account current of all sums by them received and paid for the public service in the preceding year, with the vouchers, and a schedule thereof signed by the accountant; a duplicate of which schedule, after it has been compared with such vouchers, signed by the proper officer, shall be delivered to the accountant; but the delivery of such annual account shall not exonerate the parties from transmitting any other accounts required by usage of office, or by the commissioners; all of which shall be delivered to their office within 3 like months at latest from the date of the last receipt or payment included therein, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 8.

31. The commissioners may enlarge the period of delivering accounts and vouchers thereof, where the accountant is unable, from circumstances not within his control, to deliver them within 3 months from 31st Dec. or 3 months from the usual period of making them up annually, 47 G. 3. S. 2. c. 39. s. 10., [and see 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 8. pl. 30.]

32. The commissioners may dispense with delivery of the cash account required by 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 8. pl. 50. in cases of necessity, where it appears to them that the account could not be delivered in time, with the proper vouchers, to enable them to proceed in its audit, &c., and that it will be ready for delivery in a reasonable time limited, 46 G. 3. c. 39. s. 11.

33. Accounts to be delivered into the commissioners' office, may be attested on oath before any baron of exchequer, cursor baron, the commissioners themselves, or any of their boards, commissioner of affidavits in exchequer, British ministers to foreign states, or the chief magistrate of any place out of the U.K., where the person is resident at time of attestation, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 9., extending 39 G. 3. c. 83. s. 13.

34. The commissioners may receive and proceed with the examination and audit of the public accounts, notwithstanding defects of form in their attestation, and may accept agents' attestation where it is inconvenient to obtain that of the accountant, by reason of his absence from the kingdom, or other sufficient cause, 47 G. 3. S. 2. c. 39. s. 9.

35. They may allow one or more articles of discharge, without production of written vouchers, or other evidence of payment, provided that the articles so allowed are pointed out to the attention of the treasury, by memorandum on the account, or by representation thereof, in case of accounts prepared for declaration without previous statement, so as to give the latter full opportunity to confirm or rescind the same at pleasure, but the treasury must in their minute, and also in their warrant for preparing such account for declaration, specifically direct the allowance of any such articles exceeding 1000*l.* in any one account, 53 G. 3. c. 150. s. 4.

36. And may, if it appear to them expedient for the public service, allow accounts, though the receipts and vouchers are not stamped according to law, id. s. 5.

37. Whenever the paymaster general of forces, treasurers of navy, and of ordnance, or any other public officer shall pay money for public services, by way of impost, or on account, they shall, in 3 calendar months after 31st Dec. annually transmit to the commissioners a certificate of such payment, with the name and description of the person to whom it is made, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 10., 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 17.

38. If it appear to commissioners that such payee ought to be made a sub-accountant, and that the sums so certified should be set insuper on him in such public officer's account, they shall give notice to the latter, and transmit schedule thereof to exchequer remembrancer, who shall charge such sum against the party, as if received by way of impost, and on account at receipt of exchequer; but three months are allowed for transmitting certificate by public officer to commissioners from receipt of such notice where the issue of money is made beyond seas, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 10. [But see 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 5. pl. 40.]

39. The commissioners shall not, by their transmission of schedule to such remembrancer, be precluded from afterwards allowing any such sum in discharge of the account of the public officer, when proof of right application thereof to the public service is made, but shall then transmit him a further certificate, and the remembrancer shall, on receiving it, strike out from the impost roll the names of the parties made sub-accountants, and they are thereby discharged thereof, id. s. 11.

40. From 5th July 1821, the practice of setting persons insuper in the declared accounts of any principal accountant, in respect of any public monies issued to them by way of impost, and on account, shall cease; but if the commissioners in the exercise of their discretion, deem it expedient for the public service that the name of any person so rendered accountable should be entered as a public accountant on the general impost-roll of H. M.'s exchequer, they may transmit a certificate, containing his name, and the total amount of the sums with which he is chargeable, as also the name of the principal accountant by whom such sum was issued to him, to H. M.'s exchequer remembrancer, who shall, on receipt thereof, cause it to be enrolled in his office, in which it shall be deemed a record as effectual to enable any process in law against the party so rendered chargeable, and for all other purposes, as if he had been then actually returned an insuper accountant in any declared account duly enrolled as of record in his office, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 131. s. 5.

41. No accountant shall be allowed in his account any sum issued to his sub-accountants, unless regular accounts thereof are transmitted to the commissioners, except proof is made to treasury that he was not guilty of wilful neglect in such transmission, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 12.

42. Accountants, on payment of all sums with which they are charged, into the exchequer or bank, on account of the paymaster general of forces, shall be discharged thereof at exchequer offices, without fees, by shewing certificate of commissioners, id. s. 13.

43. Whenever the commissioners shall think that any sums have been paid, &c., by persons beyond seas, not accountants for, but competent to order the issue of such sums, after notice given by commissioners to such person, and hearing his allegations, treasury may, on certificate made to them thereof by the commissioners, order such sums to be set insuper on such person, in the declared account of the party who has actually made the expenditure; but the person so charged may move the exchequer for relief against rendering account thereof, id. s. 14.

44. When it appears to treasury that any sums issued or expended by orders from any person in H. M.'s service in parts beyond the seas (he not being himself accountant for the same,) ought not to have been issued or expended, or to be charged to the public, they shall thereupon call on the person under whose authority it has been so issued, &c., for explanation of the reasons of such order; and if, on receiving such explanation, they are still of opinion that such person ought to be charged with the amount, they may authorize the commissioners of public accounts to require the person by whose authority such issue, &c., was made, to render an account of the monies so issued, &c.; and he shall thereupon be deemed a public accountant, as fully as if the amount of such monies had actually been issued to him by way of imprest and on account; but nothing herein shall deprive him of relief by application to exchequer as in last pl., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 20.

45. The commissioners may compel all accountants, sub-accountants, commissaries, storekeepers, or other persons to whom or to whose order any public money, stamps, provisions, or stores of H. M. have been entrusted, to account to them for the receipt, expenditure, and issue thereof, within a limited time, and on default, shall transmit a special certificate to the exchequer remembrancer, and shall also give notice thereof to the law officers of the crown in any of the three kingdoms or colonies, that special process may issue to compel delivering of such accounts, unless on special statement to the treasury the proceedings are staid by special warrant, 35 G. 3. c. 52. s. 19. 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 17.

46. The practice of issuing writs of distingas ad computandum with certain schedules annexed, commonly called the ordinary process, after Hilary and Trinity Terms yearly, from H. M.'s exchequer remembrancer's office to the sheriffs of London and Middlesex, in regard to persons liable to account before the said commissioners, and all proceedings relating thereto heretofore used in that office shall from 10th Oct. 1821, be discontinued thereon, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 3.

47. The commissioners shall, twice a-year, viz. in Hilary and Trinity terms, transmit a certificate to H. M.'s exchequer remembrancer, of the names of persons whose accounts have been received in the preceding half-year, that process may not issue against them, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 17. [and no accounts or copies, or extracts thereof, or certificates or lists, or copies, &c. thereof, shall be made up and transmitted as above, except those required by 25 G. 3. c. 52., and 46 G. 3. c. 141., or those which the commissioners, in their discretion, deem it useful to continue to transmit to him, all which, if so made, shall be valid, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 4.]

48. Sub-accountants, to whom money hath been issued for public services in G. R., shall deliver in to the commissioners the vouchers for its expenditure, and an account current within three months from the end of each year, or from its usual annual determination, where made up at any fixed period; if the monies are issued for services in Europe, out of this kingdom, within four months of expiration of each year's accounts; if in West Indies, America, or Africa, within six months; if in East Indies, within twelve months, on penalty of fine to be assessed by court of exchequer, on motion to them, except proof be made to treasury that failure in transmission was unavoidable, and their warrant for delay be granted, 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 20. [But see 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 6. pl. 6.]

49. No exchequer process shall issue against any sub-accountant, who is to account to board of ordnance, or principal officers and commissioners of navy, of navy victualling, or for sick and hurt respectively, for sums issued to him by treasurer of ordnance or of navy, without directions from treasury, after a reference of their cases to and report thereon by such commissioners; and no process shall issue against any such sub-accountant till twelve months from the annual making up of such treasurer's accounts, 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 21.

50. When any sub-accountant shall transmit a sufficient discharge from chief officers of departments mentioned in s. 21., the commissioners shall transmit a duplicate thereof to the exchequer remembrancer, who shall strike out his name from the imprest roll, and discharge him therefrom, id. s. 22.

51. [25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 4. 9. 17. 21. 22. recited.] All the powers vested by 25 G. 3. c. 52. in the commissioners for auditing public accounts, are vested in the principal officers of the board of ordnance, the principal officers and commissioners of the navy, for navy victualling, and for sick and hurt, or any three members of such several boards respectively, to call before them and examine on oath administered by such principal officers, &c. or any such three of them, all sub-accountants accountable before them by 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 21, 22., and to compel them to produce all accounts, books, certificates, warrants, muniments, receipts, and papers necessary for the purposes of their examination, the commissioners, &c. and all other persons, and otherwise to act in the taking the accounts to be taken by such boards, 34 G. 3. c. 59.

52. No article shall be allowed in accountant's accounts of public expenditure, without written vouchers, or other evidence of actual payment of sums claimed to be allowed, notwithstanding allegation of papers lost or destroyed, except on order of court of exchequer made on application to the court, after calling the commissioners, or some person on their behalf, and giving notice to the attorney-general; in which case, and on hearing the evidence, the court shall order as they shall think fit, and the several auditors of accounts shall govern themselves accordingly, 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 25. [But unstamped vouchers are allowed for accounts previous to 31st Dec. 1804. 45 G. 3. c. 55. s. 2., 45 G. 3. c. 91. s. 6.]

53. Commissioners may allow sums not exceeding 100*l.* to credit of accountant for expenditure, incurred previous to the passing 46 G. 3. c. 141. (viz. 22d July, 1806), without written voucher; and subsequently thereto sums not exceeding 50*l.*, where statement on oath is made to their satisfaction, of the actual disbursement for the public service, and due diligence used by accountant to obtain such voucher, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 15.

54. The commissioners may admit vouchers without other necessary documents, as a sufficient discharge of the accountant, where proof is given to their satisfaction, that he did not wilfully neglect to obtain the same, and that the sum specified in the vouchers has been properly disbursed for the public service; but allowances to accountant's credit without written, or on an imperfect voucher, must be specified to the treasury in the statement of the account in which such allowances are made, in order to confirmation or disallowance by them previous to declaration thereof, id. s. 16.

55. Comptrollers of army accounts may require commissioners, storekeepers, or other persons entrusted with public money, or H. M.'s provisions or stores, on account of any military service (except that of ordnance) to account to them for their expenditure, &c. within the time limited; and may call the parties and any other persons before them, and compel them to produce all accounts, books, vouchers, and papers soever, and examine them on oath (administered by any such comptroller) relative thereto; and every person refusing to comply with the lawful requisition of the commissioners shall be liable to pay such fine to H. M. as the court of exchequer, on application by the comptroller or attorney-general, shall think fit to impose, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 18.

56. Where, on examination of the account of any commissary, &c., or other person intrusted for receipt, expenditure, or delivery of public money, or any of H. M.'s stamps, provisions, or stores, the commissioners are of opinion that articles have been embezzled, damaged, lost, or destroyed by his wilful neglect, they shall, after examining such evidence as they think necessary to ascertain the value thereof, charge him with the sum of public loss, by transmitting notice of such charge to the exchequer remembrancer and party charged, id. s. 19.

57. Comptrollers of army accounts shall transmit certificate of any loss which has accrued to the public, to the commissioners for ascertaining same as aforesaid, id. s. 19.; but no commissary, &c. having accounted to their satisfaction, shall be liable to render any further account to the commissioners of public accounts, id. s. 20.

58. Persons wilfully giving false evidence in the course of their examination on oath before the said commissioners for comptrollers of army accounts, 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 21., are subject to the punishments of perjury, 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 13., 45 G. 3. c. 91. s. 5., 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 21.

59. Every person who, in any examination on oath before the commissioner having, for the time being, the separate direction of the accounts of public expenditure in Spain, Portugal, and France, or before any two commissioners of public accounts, shall wilfully and corruptly give false evidence, is liable to penalties of perjury, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 18.

60. The commissioners are incapable of sitting in the house of commons, 25 G. 3. c. 52. s. 25., 45 G. 3. c. 91. s. 7., 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 22.; and pl. 143.

61. If it appears to the treasury, that it will be for the benefit of the public service, that any of the certificates or accounts required by 25 G. 3. c. 52., and 46 G. 3. c. 141., to be periodically transmitted by the public officers therein mentioned to the commissioners of public accounts, should be so transmitted at any other shorter periods than those therein respectively prescribed, the treasury may, by warrant under their hands,

112. The annual account of the application of monies set apart for reduction of national debt, as well as of the public annuities purchased therewith, pursuant to 26 G. 3. c. 31., shall be made up to 5th Jan. yearly inclusive (comm. semb.), and be laid before parliament notwithstanding 26 G. 3. c. 31. s. 17.; and the audit of public accounts shall terminate and be made up to 5th Jan. inclusive in each year, 57 G. 3. c. 48. s. 17.

113. Irish revenue and exchequer accounts relating to accounts laid before parliament, shall state the total amount of sums therein in British currency, for the sake of uniformity in returns, 56 G. 3. c. 98. s. 26.

114. FOR MORE EFFECTUAL examination of accounts of public expenditure in the West Indies, and for better discovery of frauds and abuses therein, 46 G. 3. c. 80. See ante pl. 6. STATS. EXP. [AMD. 48 G. 3. c. 91. It is recited in 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 13., that the commissioners appointed under these acts have been reduced to three, and that act, vis. ss. 13—15., goes on to provide for the revocation of the commission by H.M. at pleasure, and for arranging the examination, by the commissioners of public accounts, of certain accounts of expenditure in the West Indies, up to twelve months after ratification of peace with America, which are still depending before the first-mentioned commissioners. The above acts are therefore not given at length, but 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. ss. 13—15. are here inserted.]

115. "After recital of the titles of 41 G. 3. G. B. c. 92., 46 G. 3. c. 80. and 48 G. 3. c. 91." If H.M. shall deem it for the good of the public service that the accounts still depending unexamined in the office of the commissioners named in these acts, should be transferred, for final audit, to the office of commissioners for auditing the public accounts of G.B., he shall, by letters patent under great seal of G.B., revoke the commission, and direct that one of them shall be thenceforth deemed one of the last-mentioned commissioners, in addition to the number fixed by 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 2. pl. 8., and shall hold his office by the same tenure, powers, and salary, payable in like manner, as fully as if appointed under that act, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 15.

116. After date of such letters patent, no vacancy arising among the commissioners of public accounts shall be filled up, by appointment of any other commissioners, without authority of statute, till their number is reduced to five or less, in which case H.M. may, on a vacancy, appoint new commissioners to keep up their numbers always to six. id. s. 14. [And see 46 G. 3. c. 141. s. 6. ante pl. 16. s. r.]

117. Whenever H.M. shall revoke the commission in pl. 115., mentioned, and shall direct that one of the commissioners shall be an additional commissioner of public accounts of G.B., as in pl. 115., the treasury may, by warrant, transfer to the latter establishment such of the officers, now employed in the office of the revoked commission, as they deem expedient so to transfer to the same, id. s. 15.

118. FOR MORE EFFECTUAL examination and audit of accounts of military expenditure in Spain and Portugal, 53 G. 3. c. 150. ss. 1—3.: in France, 54 G. 3. c. 98. [AMD. 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 16.]

119. H.M. was empowered to appoint a commissioner of public accounts to be auditor-general of accounts in Spain and Portugal, to proceed forthwith to some place in either country, there to execute his office under direction of treasury, with powers of requiring all persons in those countries, who had received public money, to account to him for the same, and to exhibit all papers in their power, for examination of the accounts of such expenditure of public money and stores in Spain and Portugal, and to examine them on oath administered by himself, 53 G. 3. c. 150. s. 1.; his salary to be fixed by treasury, s. 2. [The powers in ss. 1. and 13. and next pl. are Ext. to examination of accounts of public expenditure in France, 54 G. 3. c. 98. s. 1., and specially assimilated in both cases, id. s. 2.]

120. The commissioners of public accounts, in making and passing public accounts which have previously undergone the above examination, whether the same are stated to the treasury for consideration, or prepared for declaration in the first instance, may, if they think fit, allow or disallow, without further investigation, all articles allowed or disallowed on the above examination, 53 G. 3. c. 150. s. 3. [See note to pl. 119.]

121. The treasury may, by warrant, make arrangements for completing the examination and audit of the above accounts, and the commissioners [commissioner only in pl. 59.], under whose immediate and separate superintendence they shall be placed, shall have like powers of examination on oath as are vested in the auditor-general by 53 G. 3. c. 150., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 16. [As to perjury before such commissioner, see id. s. 18., ante pl. 59.]

122. FOR EFFECTUAL examination of accounts of receipt and expenditure of colonial revenues of Ceylon, Mauritius, Malta, Trinidad, and Cape of Good Hope, for five years, 54 G. 3. c. 184. [CON. 59 G. 3. c. 67.; and 1 G. 4. c. 65. s. 1., to (30th July, 1821), and the letters patent appointing commissioners, and appointments of clerks, &c. by treasury, under 54 G. 3. c. 184., are continued to the same time, 59 G. 3. c. 67. s. 2. and 1 G. 4. c. 65. s. 2. MADE PERP. 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 22., and AMD. id. s. 23. 30.]

123. H. M. shall appoint three commissioners by patent to examine the public accounts of all persons concerned in receipt or expenditure of colonial revenues of Ceylon, Mauritius, Malta, Trinidad, Cape of Good Hope, or any other colonies or dominions of G. B., or of sums granted by parliament in aid thereof, when referred to their examination by treasury; granting salaries not exceeding 1000*l.* annually to first-named commissioner, or 800*l.* to each of the others, 54 G. 3. c. 184. s. 1.

124. The present commissioners shall continue to hold office at H. M.'s pleasure, and their secretary, and all officers, clerks, and others, appointed by treasury pursuant to 54 G. 3. c. 184. s. 2. next pl. to assist in its execution, shall hold office at pleasure of the treasury; and the commissioners, their secretary, and such others, shall, from 30th July, 1821, and while in office, have all the powers vested in them by virtue of 54 G. 3. c. 184., or the said letters patent and appointments granted in pursuance thereof for all or any of the purposes therein expressed, in the same manner and as fully as if herein expressly re-enacted, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 23.

125. The treasury may appoint clerks to assist the said commissioners, and may allow proper salaries, and reasonable sums for expenses of their office, 54 G. 3. c. 184. s. 2.

126. Salaries of commissioners and clerks, and expenses of their office, shall be defrayed out of the revenues of Ceylon, &c. (as in s. 1. pl. 123.) in the proportions fixed by the treasury, id. s. 3.

127. Commissioners shall, before entering on their duties, take oath before chancellor of exchequer faithfully to execute the same. [The form of oath is annexed to this section, but seems unnecessary here.] Any two such commissioners may administer an oath to their clerks for the faithful execution of their duty and obedient to orders, id. s. 4. [Another form is here annexed.]

128. The examination of accounts shall commence from the period directed by treasury warrant, id. s. 5.

129. The commissioners are invested with same powers as to examination of accounts submitted to them, and as to accountants concerned therein, as the commissioners of public accounts, appointed by 25 G. 3. c. 52., 39 G. 3. c. 83., 39 & 40 G. 3. c. 54., 45 G. 3. c. 55., 46 G. 3. c. 141., 47 G. 3. s. 2. c. 39., but nothing herein shall authorize them to prepare for declaration any account of any principal or sub-accountant or person set insuper, or examined by them and certified as in s. 9. pl. 132., id. s. 6.

130. The commissioners shall meet and sit at the places appointed by treasury, and shall send precepts under hand and seal for such persons, and such books, writings, or records, relating and necessary to carrying the act into effect; and all persons shall punctually attend at the times and places appointed by such precepts, and shall obey the orders of the commissioners in execution of their powers, id. s. 7.

131. Commissioners may examine on oath or affirmation, (if of quakers), administered by one or more of them, touching matters necessary to the execution of this act, id. s. 8.

132. When the examination is completed, the commissioners shall transmit a statement to treasury specifying details of charge, discharge, disallowance, and sums to be charged insuper on persons concerned in any such accounts; and if the account is approved by the treasury, the latter may submit to the sign-manual a warrant allowing the same, and discharging the accountant from rendering further account of sums therein, on payment of any balance due unless it appears to the treasury expedient to declare the account before the chancellor of exchequer, according to course of exchequer, in which case the treasury shall transmit the said statement and warrant to the commissioners of public accounts, [who shall prepare same for declaration without further examination, unless it appear necessary, in which case they shall report to treasury and proceed in such examination, and shall cause all sums specified as sums which ought to be set insuper to be so set to the accounts of persons concerned, unless on further examination it appear that they ought to be set insuper; but see 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 24. next pl. semble, repeating this.] and shall do all other acts for declaration of such accounts and for charging persons concerned as public accountants in order to securing the money due thereon, as if the accounts had been examined, and statements thereof made by the latter commissioners, id. s. 9.

133. So much of 58 G. 3. c. 184. s. 9., last pl. as empowers the commissioners of public accounts to enter into examination of accounts previously examined by the commissioners appointed by that act and wherof a statement shall be transmitted to the former in order to prepare same for declaration, and also so much thereof as requires the former to report their opinion thereon to the treasury, and to proceed in such examination, and as requires them to cause all sums specified as sums which ought to be set insuper in any such statement as above, and which appear to them proper to be set insuper, to be so set on the several persons therein mentioned, or in the warrants accompanying it, unless in further examination it does not appear proper that they should be so set, are repealed 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 24.

134. Whenever the treasury shall transmit to the commissioners of public accounts a statement of any account previously examined by the commissioners appointed under 54 G. 3. c. 184., together with their war-rank to prepare same for declaration, the former shall prepare such account conformably to such statement or warrant without further examination thereof or of any part thereof, or vouchers relating thereto, and shall do all other acts for declaration of such accounts and for charging as a public accountant every person liable to be put in charge thereof, in order to recovering all money due on the same, as if the account had been examined and statement thereof made by them in the first instance, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 25.

135. The commissioners shall transmit to the treasury the names of persons through whose hands money may have passed, with reasons for their opinion that they should be made public accountants, and the treasury may then issue their warrant requiring them to deliver in such accounts, regularly attested, as if such person had been returned insuper before the chancellor of exchequer; and the commissioners shall examine and transmit such statements to treasury as practised with other accounts, 54 G. 3. c. 184. s. 10.

136. If any person required by the [commissioners of public accounts, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 26. only] commissioners of colonial audit, to attend them for the purpose of being examined on oath, or who shall be requested to produce any accounts, books, returns, vouchers, or other papers and documents relating to any public accounts before them, respectively for examination, [shall wilfully neglect or refuse to attend or produce the same, being in their custody as required by precept; or refuse to be sworn or affirm, or to answer lawful questions touching any of the matters aforesaid, he may be taken by warrant under hand and seal of two or more of such colonial commissioners, and committed to gaol till they submit to be examined or make production as above, 54 G. 3. c. 184. s. 11.] or shall fail to comply with the lawful requisitions of the respective commissioners, every person so refusing shall be liable to pay such fine to H. M. as the court of exchequer on application by the commissioners or the attorney-general shall think fit to impose, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 26.

137. The commissariat officer who may for the time being be entrusted with the charge of the department for examination of accounts of military expenditure in any colony or foreign possession of H. M. may (with consent and authority in each particular case of the governor or person acting as such, and the commander-in-chief of H. M.'s forces in such colony, &c. signified by warrant under their hands,) call before him any officers or persons employed in the commissariat, or who have supplied or been concerned in supplying any articles for the use thereof, or for any military services within the colony, or who in such officer's judgment are able to give information therein; and in presence of such governor and commander-in-chief or person deputed by them by warrant under their hands, may attend such examination to examine any of the above persons on oath, (which he is hereby authorized in such presence as above to administer,) as to any accounts, supplies, expenses, or charges, or other things connected with the military expenditure within such colony, &c. and of all contracts for supplying the same, and for full examination of all accounts and expenses thereof, and may call for production of all accounts, books, and papers of every description relating thereto; and every officer or person employed in the commissariat, who shall not comply with such lawful requisition shall be dismissed, and be incapable of again serving H. M., id. s. 27.

138. If any person summoned to appear before such commissariat officer of accounts shall neglect or refuse so to appear or to produce any accounts, books, certificates, warrants, muniments, receipts, bills of exchange, notes, or other papers in his possession, or that of any other for him; or shall refuse to answer to such officer any question on oath touching any thing relating thereto or respecting the expenditure of public money enquired of by such officer in execution of his office, the latter, with such consent and authority to be signified as in last pl. shall make summary application to any court of justice in such colony, &c. if sitting, or if not, to the C.J. or other judge thereof, who shall issue such special process against the defaulter as is necessary to compel the appearance before such officer of any such person, or the production of any such accounts, &c. or to compel an answer to such questions as above; and such officer may thereupon proceed by imprisonment of the body of such persons as any court of record or competent authority within this kingdom may proceed for a contempt; id. s. 29.

139. Accountants and persons concerned in any accounts examined by this act, must do all things required of them, and be subject to all penalties enacted by 25 G. 3. c. 22, and 46 G. 3. c. 141., 54 G. 3. c. 184. s. 19.

140. Persons wilfully giving false evidence on examination on oath or affirmation before any two or more such commissioners, [or before any such commissariat officers of accounts under 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 27. pl. 137.] shall be liable to the punishment of perjury, 54 G. 3. c. 184. s. 15., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 28.

141. Any such commissioner receiving salary is incapable of sitting in the House of Commons, 54 G. 3. c. 184. s. 14.

142. Actions against commissioners or any other persons for things done under this act must be brought within six calendar months from act done, and the general issue may be pleaded and this act and special matter given in evidence, with treble costs to defendant in case of nonsuit or discontinuance by plaintiff or judgment for defendant, id. s. 15.

143. After 5th Jan. 1832, the lords of the treasury shall annually cause an account of the increase or deficiency between the income and expenditure of U.K. for one year, ending 5th Jan. annually to be laid before both Houses on or before 25th Mar. if parliament is then sitting, or if not, within 14 days after its next sitting, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 121. s. 30.

ACTION.

1. THE ORDER of pursuing a suggestion [sens. complaint] made to the king, 37 Ed. 3. c. 18. [AMD., &c., 38 Ed. 3. S. 1. c. 9., 42 Ed. 3. c. 3.]

2. Persons making such suggestions shall be sent with them before the chancellor, treasurer, and great council, and shall there find surety to pursue the same, [and, if found evil, shall incur the same pain as the other (i.e. defendant) would, if attainted, Rep. 38 Ed. 3. S. 1. c. 9.]; and that then due process of law be made against them, without imprisonment, against the form of the charter and statutes, 37 Ed. 3. c. 18.

3. If the plaintiff cannot prove his intent against the defendant by the process limited in 37 Ed. 3. c. 18., he shall be committed to prison till he satisfy the party for his damages and slander suffered by occasion thereof, and, after, shall make fine and ransom to the king, 38 Ed. 3. s. 1. c. 9.

4. No man shall be put to answer without presentment before justices, or matter of record, or by due process and writ original, according to the old law of the land, and any thing done to the contrary shall be void, 42 Ed. 3. c. 3.

5. TO ADMIT POOR persons to sue in forma pauperis, 11 H. 7. c. 12. [AMD. 23 H. 8. c. 15. s. 2., 2 G. 2. c. 28. s. 8.]

6. Every poor person having cause of action against any person within this realm, shall have, by discretion of the chancellor, writs original and of subpoena, without fee for sealing or writing the same; and such chancellor shall assign the usual clerks to write the same ready to be sealed, and also learned counsel and attorneys, without fee; and after return of the writ, if in K. B., C. P., or exchequer, the justices shall assign learned counsel and attorneys, and other officers necessary to such suit, to do their duties without fee, 11 H. 7. c. 12.

7. Such pauper plaintiff, if nonsuited, or losing a verdict, shall not be liable to costs by 23 H. 8. c. 15. s. 1.; but shall suffer other punishment at discretion of the court, 23 H. 8. c. 15. s. 2.

8. FOR ENABLING persons prosecuted on the capias in relation to running of goods, to defend in forma pauperis, 2 G. 2. c. 28. s. 8.

9. If any person arrested by virtue of any capias or information relating to the customs, shall make affidavit before the judge or judges of the court where such action, &c. is brought, or before any commissioner of affidavits of such court, who are hereby bound to take the same, that he is not worth 5*l.* besides his wearing apparel, and shall thereupon petition the court to be admitted to defend in forma pauperis, the court shall in their discretion admit him so to defend such action, &c. in the same manner as they admit plaintiffs so to sue; and shall therefore assign him counsel, attorney, or clerk in court, who shall do their duty without fee, id. ibid.

10. TO AVOID trifling and frivolous suits in law in the courts at Westminster, 45 El. c. 6. [CON. 3 C. 1. c. 4. s. 22.; indefinitely, 16 C. 1. c. 4.] See rest of this title and statute, Corrs.

11. If any sheriff, or person having authority to break writs, do make any warrant for summons of any person as on any process or suit, or for arresting or attaching him by body or goods to appear in any of H. M.'s courts at Westminster, or elsewhere, (not having before that the original writ or process warranting the same,) then, on complaint to the justices of assize of the county where the offence is committed, or to the judges of the court from which the process was issued, not only the party making such warrant, but the procurers thereof, shall be sent for before such judges by attachment or otherwise, and be examined thereof on their oaths; and if their offence is confessed, or proved by witnesses to the court's satisfaction, the latter shall commit them to gaol, there to remain till they, amongst them, have paid to the party grieved by such warrant, 10*l.*, and his costs and damages, as awarded by the court, and 20*l.* a-piece to H. M., 45 El. c. 6. s. 1.

12. FOR AVOIDING unnecessary suits and delays, 17 C. 2. c. 8. [REV. 30 C. 2. S. 1. c. 6. MADE PERP. 1 J. 2. c. 17. s. 5.]

13. In actions real, personal, or mixt, the death of either party between verdict and judgment shall not be error, so as such judgment be entered within two terms after verdict, 17 C. 2. c. 8. s. 1.

14. Where judgment after verdict is had by or in the name of any executor or administrator, an administrator de bonis non may sue out a scire facies, and take execution on the judgment, id. s. 2.

15. FOR THE BETTER preventing frivolous and vexatious suits, 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 11. s. 1. and 6—8. See rest of this statute, tit. Corrs.

16. Where one or more of several defendants in an action or plain of trespass, assault, false imprisonment, or ejectione firmæ, shall be acquitted by verdict, every such defendant shall recover costs of suit as if a verdict had been given against plaintiff, and all the defendants had been acquitted, unless the judge shall, immediately after the trial, in open court, certify on the record, under his hand, that there was reasonable cause for making such person a defendant, 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 11. s. 1.

17. In all actions commenced in any court of record, where either plaintiff or defendant die after interlocutory and before final judgment, the action shall not abate by reason thereof, if it might have been originally prosecuted by the executors or administrators of such plaintiff, or against the executor, &c. of such defendant; and plaintiff, or if he be dead after such interlocutory judgment, his executors, &c. may have a scire facias against defendant, or, if he be dead, as above, against his executors, &c. to shew cause why damages in such action should not be assessed and recovered by him or them; and if such defendant, his executors or administrators, shall appear at the return of such writ, and not allege any matter sufficient to arrest final judgment, or being returned warned, or if on two writs of scire facias it be returned that defendant, his executors, &c. had nothing whereby to be summoned, or could not be found in the county, shall make default, a writ of enquiry of the damages shall thereupon be awarded; which being executed and returned, final judgment shall be given for such plaintiff, his executors, &c. prosecuting such writ or writs of scire facias against such defendant, his executors, &c. respectively, id. s. 6.

18. Where there are two or more plaintiffs or defendants, and one of them dies, then, if the cause of action survives to the surviving plaintiffs, or against the surviving defendants, the action shall not abate; but such death being suggested on the record, the surviving plaintiffs shall proceed therein against the surviving defendants, id. s. 7.

19. In all actions commenced in any court of record on any bond or penal sum for non-performance of covenants in any deed or writing, the plaintiff may assign as many breaches as he thinks fit, and the jury on the trial shall assess not only the damages and costs of suit as usual, but also damages for such of the breaches so assigned, as the plaintiff on the trial of the issues shall prove to have been broken; and the like judgment shall be entered on such verdict as heretofore used in like actions; and if judgment be given for plaintiff on demurrer, or by confession or nil dicat, the plaintiff on the roll may suggest as many such breaches as he thinks fit, on which shall issue a writ to the sheriff of that county where the action is brought, to summon a jury to appear before the justices or justice of assize or ni prius of such county, to enquire of the truth of every such breach, and to assess the damages; in which writ it shall be commanded to such justices, &c. that they make return thereof to the court from whence it shall issue, at the time therein mentioned; and if defendant, after such judgment entered, and before execution executed, shall pay into court, to the use of the plaintiff or his executors or administrators, such damages so to be assessed by reason of all or any the breaches of such covenants, together with costs of suit, stay of execution shall be entered on record; or if, by reason of execution executed, the plaintiff, or his executors, &c. shall be fully paid all damages so assessed, with costs of suit and of executing execution, the body, lands, or goods of defendant shall be discharged therefrom (which shall also be entered on record); but in each case the judgment shall remain as a further security, to answer to plaintiff, and his executors, &c. such damages as shall be sustained for further breach of any covenant in the same deed or writing; upon which judgment plaintiff may have a scire facias against defendant, or his heir, terre-tenants, or executors, &c., suggesting other breaches; and shall summon him or them to shew cause why execution should not be awarded thereon; and there shall be the like proceeding on such judgment as was in the action of debt on the said bond, &c. for assessing damages on trial of issues joined on such breaches, or enquiry thereof, on a writ to be awarded as above; and on satisfaction of such future damages and costs as aforesaid, all further proceedings on such judgment shall be stayed, and so toties quoties, and defendant shall be discharged out of execution as above, id. s. 8.

ACTION (OF ACCOUNT).

ACTIONS OF account lie against the executors and administrators of every guardian, bailiff, and receiver, and by one joint-tenant and tenant in common, his executors, &c. against the other, as bailiff, for receiving more than his just share, and against his executors, &c.; and the auditors appointed by the court shall administer an oath, and examine the parties, and for their pains have such allowance as the court shall adjudge reasonable, to be paid by the party on whose side the balance shall be, 4 A. c. 16. s. 27.

ACTION (ON THE CASE).

To PREVENT delays, there shall be like process in actions on the case

ACTION (PENAL).

in K. B. and C. P., as in actions of trespass or debt, 19 H. 7. c. 9. [See 10 C. 1. s. 2. c. 15. Exp.]

ACTION (OF DEBT).

1. FOR RELIEF to defendants in actions of debt upon accounts stated, 5 H. 4. c. 8.

2. In such actions the court shall have power to examine the attornies and others whom they please, and thereupon to admit defendant to wage his law or try the same by inquest, at their discretion, id. ibid.

ACTION (PENAL).

(STATUTES repealed and expired.)

1. THAT INFORMATIONs upon penal statutes shall be made within three years, 1 H. 8. c. 6. [Exp.]

2. FOR PENAL STATUTES and actions popular, 7 H. 8. c. 3. [Rep. 31 E. c. 5. s. 7.]

(STATUTES in force.)

1. AGAINST collusions and feigned actions, 4 & 5 H. 7. c. 90.

2. Where any person sues with good faith any action popular, and defendant pleads any recovery of action popular in bar, or that he before that time barred the plaintiff in such action, plaintiff may aver that the recovery was by covin, or that he was barred by covin; and if such covin be so found, shall have recovery and execution, id. s. 1.

3. In every action popular, wherein defendant is attainted of covin as above, he shall be imprisoned two years by capias, and outlawry, as well at suit of H. M., as of any other who will sue in that behalf; and no release of any common person to such party shall be available, id. s. 2.

4. No plaintiff shall be received to aver covin in actions popular, where the point of the action or the covin have been tried by a jury, id. s. 3.

5. TO REDRESS disorders in common informers on penal laws, 18 E. c. 5. [MADE PERP. 27 E. c. 10. s. 2. virtually AMD. and ENF., 31 E. c. 5.]

6. Every informer on any penal statute shall exhibit his suit in proper person, and pursue the same only by himself or his attorney in court, and none shall be admitted to pursue upon any penal statute, but by way of information or original action, nor shall have nor use any deputies. And on every such information exhibited, a special note shall be made of the very day, month, and year, of exhibiting the same, into any office, without antedate, to be of record from that time, and not before. And no process shall be sued out, until the information is so exhibited; and on such process shall be endorsed the party's name who pursueth, and the statute on which the information is grounded. And every clerk making out process contrary, shall forfeit 40s.; one moiety to H. M., and the other to the party against whom such defective process is sued, to be recovered in any court of record, by action of debt, or information, on which no essoin, &c. is allowed, 18 E. c. 5. s. 1.

7. No jury shall be compelled to appear in any court at Westminster for trial of any issue, on any penal law, for any offence committed above thirty miles from Westminster, except when the attorney-general, for cause shewn, shall require same to be tried at bar, which request shall be noted on the back of the writ of diatrias thereupon awarded, that the sheriff may signify same to the jury, id. s. 2.

8. No such informer shall compound, but after answer to the information, nor after answer, but by consent of court, upon pain that if any such informer shall willingly delay his suit, or discontinue, or be non-suit thereon, or shall have the trial pass against him by verdict or judgment at law, then such informer, &c. shall pay to defendant his costs and damages, to be assigned by the court, for recovery of which he shall have immediately his ca. sa., fi. fa., or elegit, to be awarded unto him out of the same court, as in other cases of execution, id. s. 3.

9. Every person (except clerks of court only for making out process otherwise than above appointed,) who shall offend in suing out process, making composition, or other misdemeanour, contrary to this act, or who shall by colour of process, or without process, by colour of offence against any penal law, make any composition, or take any money, reward, or promise of reward for himself, or to the use of another, without order or consent of court, shall, on conviction, stand in the pillory, in some market town next adjoining, in open market, for two hours, [but pillory is taken away by 56 G. 3. c. 138.] and be disabled to sue on any penal statute, and shall forfeit 10l.; to go one moiety to H. M. and the other to the party grieved, and recoverable by action of debt or information, in which no essoin, &c. is allowed, and justices of assize and quarter sessions may determine all offences against this act, id. s. 4.

10. But any party grieved by maintenance, champerty, buying of titles, or imbracery, may pursue upon any statutes set forth against maintenance, &c. as he might before this act, id. s. 5.

11. This act shall not restrain any certain person, body, publicly or corporate, to whom or to whose use any forfeiture, penalty, or suit is specially limited by any statute, and not generally to any person that will sue, but such person, &c. id. as before this act, id. &c.

12. These acts shall not extend to any such officers of record as have in respect of their offices lawfully used to exhibit informations or sue in penal laws, nor to officers informing for matters only concerning their offices, who may inform in that behalf as before this act, id. &c. 7. 31 El. c. 5. s. 3.

13. All former statutes for reformation of disorders of common informers, not hereby repealed or altered, shall be put in execution; and no person, but the party grieved, who has been restrained by order of court, shall pursue a penal action, 31 El. c. 5. s. 1.

14. In every declaration or information, the offence against any penal statute shall be laid in the county where the contract or matter of offence was in truth done; and defendants may lawfully traverse, and allege that the offence supposed by that suit to be committed, was not committed in the county where it was alleged, which being tried for defendant, or if plaintiff be nonsuit in his information or suit, he shall be barred in that action or information, id. s. 2.

15. Nothing herein shall extend to the laying of any offence in any declaration or information for champerty, buying of titles, or extortion, or to any offence against 1 El. c. 11. or 1 El. c. 20. [which is Exr.] nor to offences of concealing or defrauding H. M. of any customs, tonnage, poundage, subsidy, import, or prisage, or of corrupt usury, or of engrossing, regrating, or forestalling, when the penalty is 20*l.* or above, but they may be laid in any county, id. s. 4.

16. All actions, indictments, or informations, for forfeitures on any penal statute, whereby the forfeitures are limited to H. M. only, shall be brought within two years after the offence committed; and all actions, &c. for such forfeitures, when limited to H. M. and the prosecutor, (except on the statute of tillage, Exr.) shall be brought within one year; and in default thereof, then H. M. may sue within two years after that year ended: but all actions, &c., with the above exception, brought after the time so limited, shall be void, id. s. 5.

17. But where any action or information is limited by any statute penal to be had or brought within a shorter time, the same shall be so brought, id. s. 6.

18. All suits pursued on any statute for using any unlawful game, or for not using any lawful game, or for not having bows and arrows, or for using any art or mystery in which the party hath not been brought up, shall be sued or otherwise enquired of at the quarter sessions or assizes of county where offence is committed, or in the lect within which it shall happen, and never out of such county, id. s. 7.

19. AGAINST MALICIOUS informations on penal statutes in the courts at Westminster, 29 El. c. 5. s. 21. [Framed from the preamble to this section.] EXPLD., 31 El. c. 10. s. 20.

20. All persons [viz. natural born subjects of the king's dominions, and free denizens only, 31 El. c. 10. s. 20.], who are sued or informed against on any penal law in K.B., C.P., or exchequer, where they are bailable by law, or where, by leave of the court, they may appear by attorney, may, at the day and time contained in the first process served for his appearance, appear by attorney, where the process is returnable, to answer and defend it, and not be urged to personal appearance, or to put in bail for answering such suit, 29 El. c. 5. s. 21. and 31 El. c. 10. s. 20.

21. FOR WAIVER of the subject concerning informations upon penal statutes, 31 J. c. 4.

22. All offences committed against any penal statute for which any common informer may ground any popular action, or information before justices of assize, nisi prius, goal delivery, over and terminer, and justices at general or quarter sessions shall be tried and determined by way of action, information, or indictment, before the above justices of every county, city, borough, town corporate, or liberty, having power to determine same within Eng. or Wa., wherein such offences are committed, in any of such courts, places of judicature, or liberties, at choice of plaintiff, id. s. 1.

23. The like process on every popular action or information shall be awarded as in trespass vi et armis; and all informations and actions commenced by attorney-general, or any other officer, or by common informer in any court at Westminster, for any such offences, penalties, or forfeitures, shall be void, id. ibid.

24. In all informations or actions brought, and in all bills or declarations in any suit commenced against any person, either on behalf of H. M. or any other, for any offence against any penal statute, the offence shall be laid in the county where, in truth, it was committed; and if, on "not guilty," or "alibi" pleaded, plaintiff does not prove the offence to have been done in the county where it is laid, the defendant shall be found not guilty, id. s. 2.

25. No officer of any court of record shall receive or enter of record any information, bill, or declaration grounded on any penal statute hereby appointed to be heard in their proper counties: until informer or relator hath first made oath before some judge of that court, that the offences laid in such information, &c. were not committed in any other county but that where it is laid, and that he believeth in his conscience that the same were done within one year before such information, &c. within the county where it was commenced, the same oath to be there entered of record, 21 J. c. 4. s. 3.

26. In all such informations or actions, defendants may plead the general issue, "not guilty," or "alibi," and give any special matter in evidence, which shall be available as if pleaded in bar, id. s. 4.

27. Nothing in this act extends to any information or action grounded on any statute against or concerning popish recusants, or against those that shall not frequent church; or for maintenance, champerty, or buying of titles; or grounded on 1 J. c. 53. [Exr.]; or for concealing or defrauding H. M. of any customs, tonnage; or for transporting [of gold, silver, Res. 59 G. s. c. 49. ss. 11, 12.] ordnance, powder, shot, munition of all sorts, wool, wool-fells, or leather; but same may be laid in any county, id. s. 5.

ACTION (REAL).

(STATUTES repealed and expired.)

1. NO PRÆCIPUE in capite shall be granted to any person of a freehold, whereby a freeman may lose his court, 9 H. 3. (M.C.) c. 24 [Rer. virtually, comm. semb. 12 C. 2. c. 24. s. 1. or Exr.]

2. IN DOWER H. M.'s grantees of a ward shall not have aid of H. M. to answer, when vouched to warranty, 4 E. 1. S. 3. de Bigamis, c. 3. [Rer. virtually, comm. semb. 12 Car. 2. c. 24. s. 2. or Exr.]

(STATUTES in force.)

1. ASSIZES OF novel disseisin and mort d'ancestor shall not be taken but in their proper shires, and after this manner:—We, or, if we be out of the realm, our chief justice, shall send our justices through every county once in the year, who, with the knights of the shires [but see 30 R. 2. c. 3. JUSTICES OF ASSIZE, &c.] shall take such assizes in the counties, and those things which at their coming into the county cannot be determined, shall be determined in another place in their circuit; and those things which for difficulty cannot be determined shall be referred to our justices of the bench, and there determined, 9 H. 3. M.C. c. 12.

2. ASSIZES OF darrein presentment shall be always taken before justices of the bench, 9 H. 3. (M.C.) c. 13. [AMP. 19 J. 1. West. Sec. c. 30. s. 2.]

3. Assizes of darrein presentment and inquests of quare impedit shall be determined in their own shire before one justice of the bench and a knight, yet at a day and place certain, assigned in bench, whether defendant consent or not, and there judgment shall be given immediately, 13 E. 1. (West. Sec.) c. 30. s. 2. in part. [See rest of the section and statute, title Nisi Prius.]

4. ASSIZES OF novel disseisin, mort d'ancestor, and darrein presentment, shall be taken in Advent, Septuagesima, and Lent, as well as inquests, 3 E. 1. c. 51.

5. OF AID OF H. M. in cases of warranty, 4 E. 1. S. 3. c. 1. Stat. de Bigamis.

6. Where a feoffment with a charter thereupon, being made by H. M., hath so much in it, that another by a like feoffment and deed is bound to warranty [See 2 Inst. 268-9. Reeves, Hist. E. Law, c. 9.] the justices may not proceed without H. M.'s command, 4 E. 1. S. 3. s. 1.

7. OF LIKE aid where there is no warranty, id. c. 2.

8. Where H. M. confirmeth another's act in any man's deed, to the use of another, or granteth any thing as much as to him is, or where a deed is shewn whereby H. M. hath restored any tenement, and no clause of warranty is contained therein; and in like cases the justices shall not cease by occasion of confirmation, grant, or surrender, &c. but (the same being first shewed to H. M.) may proceed without delay, id. ibid.

9. IF A MAN DIE, having many heirs, of whom one is son or daughter, brother or sister, nephew or niece, and the others be of further degree, all heirs shall recover by a writ of mort d'ancestor, 6 Ed. 1. c. 26.

10. THE TENANT'S answer in a writ of possessione vel bene 13 Ed. 1. West. Sec. c. 20.

Whereas justices in a plea of mort d'ancestor, have used to admit the answer of the tenant, "That the plaintiff is not next heir of the same ancestor by whose death he demanded the land, and that he is ready to enquire by assize," it is agreed, that in writs of possessione vel bene, which be of the same nature, that answer shall be admitted and enquired of and according to that inquisition, they shall proceed to judgment, id. ibid.

11. OF WRIT things an assize of novel disseisin shall be, and of pleas in such assizes, 13 Ed. 1. West. Sec. c. 25.

12. Assize of novel disseisin lies for trespass of wood, profit to be taken in woods by gathering of nuts, acorns, and other fruits, for a corody, and delivery of corn, and other victuals and necessaries.

received yearly, in a place certain, for tall, tannage, passage, portage, pannage, and such like, to be taken in places certain, for the custody of parks, woods, forests, chases, warrens, gates, and other bailiwicks, and offices in fee; and in such cases the writ shall be de libero tenemento, and as it holds place for common of pasture, so it shall hold for common of turf-land, fishing, and such like commons; which a man hath appendant to, or even without freehold, by special deed at least for term of life: in cases, when any holding land for term of years, or in ward alienes the same in fee, whereby the freehold is transferred to the feoffee, the remedy shall be by writ of novel disseisin; and as well the feoffor and feoffee shall be had for disseisors, so that during the life of either of them, the writ shall hold place; and if the remedy fail by death of the parties, then remedy may be had by writ of entry, and the writ of novel disseisin shall lie wherever it formerly lay, and shall be had for feeding in the several of another, 13 Ed. 1. West. Sec. c. 25. s. 1.

15. If a disseisor do personally allege false exceptions at this day to him given, if he fail of the warranty he hath vouched, he shall be adjudged for a disseisor without taking the assize, and shall restore double damages before or after to be enquired of, and shall have also a year's imprisonment; and if such exception be alleged by a bailiff, the assize shall not be delayed, nor the judgment upon the restitution of the lands and damages; yet, if the master of such bailiff come before the justices, who took the assize, and offer to prove by record or rolls, that another assize passed between the same parties of the same land, or that the plaintiff, at another time, did withdraw his suit in a like writ, or that a plea depends by a writ of a more high nature, a writ of venire facias shall be granted to cause the record to be brought, and if by such record the justices perceive that the same would have been available before judgment, and the plaintiff thereby barred, they shall cause the party to be warned who first recovered, that he appear at a day certain, at which the defendant shall have his seisin and damages, if he had any given, and he who first recovered, shall be imprisoned: in the same manner, if the defendant, against whom the assize passed in his absence, show any deeds or releases, upon the making whereof the jury were not examined, nor could be, because no insertion was made thereof in the pleadings, and might be ignorant of such writings, the justices shall, on sight thereof, warn the party who recovered, to appear at a day certain, and they shall cause the jurors of the same assize to come, and if they find the writings true by verdict, or by inrolment, he that purchased the assize contrary to his own deed, shall be punished: the sheriff shall not take an ox of the disseisor, but of the disseisor only; and if there be many them named in one writ, yet he shall have but one ox, nor shall he receive any ox but of 5s. price, or the value, id. s. 2.

14. "WHERE THE TENANT in novel disseisin [mort d'ancestor or juris utrum, id. s. 3.] excepts against the demandant, that he holdeth the tenements in demand, being jointly enfeoffed with his wife, or a stranger not named in the writ, and makes profert of a deed testifying same, and demands judgment of the writ:" then if demandant offer to verify by assize, that on the day of his writ purchased, he that alleged the exception was sole tenant, so that neither his wife, nor any other had any thing in the tenements, the justices before whom the assize is arraigned, shall retain the deed safely in their keeping, till the trial of the assize: they shall give notice by our writ [Qu. by scire facias] to the party absent, witnessed by the deed to be enforced jointly with the tenant, that he be present at a day certain to answer with the other tenant to the demandant, as well upon the exception alleged, as of the tenements demanded, and put in view, if expedient for him, at which day, if both named tenants come in and justify the same feoffment, they shall maintain the exception alleged by one of them, and also answer over to the assize, as if the original had been purchased against them jointly; and if it be proved by the assize, that the exception was alleged maliciously to delay demandant, then although the assize do pass for the tenants, yet they who allege such exception shall be punished by one year's imprisonment, and shall not be delivered without grievous fine, 24 E. 1. S. 1. de Con-junctim Feoffatis.

13. Let the justices be well advised, that henceforth they do not allow such exception (of joint-tenancy) to be so alleged by the bailiffs of any tenants: but if he that alleges the exception, absent himself at his day, and the other, who is named joint-tenant, appear, though the latter disavows such deed, and says, that he hath nothing in the said tenements, yet the assize shall pass against the absent tenant by his default; and if it be found by the assize, that they were not jointly enfeoffed on the day of the writ purchased; and, likewise, that the tenant, against whom the same was so purchased, or another named therein, did disseise, the plaintiff then having regard to the exception, falsely alleged to the hurt of the party, and to the disseisin that they made, demandant shall recover his seisin and double damages, and they that allege the false exception, shall be punished as above; but if both, or one tenant to neither come at the day, then, on their default, shall the assize pass against them, and if found by them that the exception is true, the writ shall abate, 34 E. 1. S. 1.

16. In other writs, whereby tenements are demanded, such process shall be made, that if at the first day of the parties' appearance in court, the tenant alleges the above exception of joint-feoffment, and demandant offers to verify by the country, that at the day of his writ purchased, he that alleged the exception was sole tenant, then like proceedings shall be between the parties, until a jury have passed between them thereupon, and if the jury find that such exception was truly alleged, the demandant's writ shall abate, and if falsely, demandant shall recover his seisin, and the tenant shall be imprisoned as above, and pay damages in discretion of the justices, id. ibid. [See rest of this statute, tit. INDICAVIT.]

17. TENANTS in assize of novel disseisin may make attorneys, but the tenants and defendants therein may plead by bailiffs as heretofore, 12 Ed. 2. S. 1. c. 1. Stat. of York.

18. ASSIZE FOR RENTS issuing out of lands in divers counties, shall be taken on the confines of the counties, 7 H. 2. c. 10.

19. ASSIZE OF novel disseisin shall be granted for rent due for tenements in divers counties, to be holden on the confine of the counties within which the tenements be, and the assize taken by people of such counties in the same way as is done of common of pasture in one county, and appendant to tenements in another, and writs shall be made in the chancery without contradiction in due form, id. ibid.

20. ASSIZE MAINTAINABLE by the disseisor against the king's patentees of lands, 1 H. 4. c. 8.

21. Where lands or tenements are granted by H. M.'s patent without title found by inquest or otherwise, and where H. M.'s entry is not given by law, the disseisors shall have a special assize; and if the patentees do pray in aid, a writ of procedendo shall be granted by chancellor without other suit to H. M., and in case the disseisors do recover against the patentees, they shall have treble damages, id. ibid.

22. A SPECIAL ASSIZE shall be maintainable against a disseisor with fine, 4 H. 4. c. 8.

23. If any man do make forcible entry in his own right, or to his own use in another's right to another's use by way of maintenance, or do carry away any goods after such entry from the possession of the freehold, then if the party grieved will make affiance thereof, the chancellor shall grant a special assize to him without suing H. M.; disseisors attainted of such forcible entries, shall have one year's imprisonment, and yield to party grieved double damages, and if convicted by same assize, of taking away any goods of such disseisees, the justices of assize shall hear and determine the same, and award him damages: in every such special assize there shall be a justice of one bench or the other, or chief-baron of exchequer, if he be a man of law; and no writ of super-seades shall be granted contrary to such assize, id. ibid.

24. SHERIFFS SHALL not be fraudulently named disseisors in assizes of novel disseisin, 11 H. 6. c. 2.

25. In an assize of novel disseisin, if the sheriff be named a disseisor by collusion, to the end that the writ may be directed to the coroners, and the assize is secretly awarded by the tenant's default; upon the tenant's averment thereof, and if it shall also be found by the assize to be so, the justices shall abate the writ, and grievously amerce the plaintiff, id. ibid.

26. THE DEMANDANT in formedon, in descender, or remainder, shall have his action against the pernor of the profits of the lands or tenements demanded whereof any person is enfeoffed to his use, and the same persons named as tenants in such action shall have the same vouchers and lien thereon, aid prayer, and all other advantages as the pernor should have had if they were tenants, or as their feoffees would have had, if the action had been conceived against them; and if any person shall die, so having feoffees, to the use of him or his heirs; the said heir being within age, against whom such action is brought as pernor, he shall have his age in the action conceived against him, and all other advantages as if the ancestor had died seized of the lands and tenements so in demand; and all recoveries in such actions against such pernor or feoffees, and their heirs and their co-feoffees, shall be as good to the recoverors and their heirs as though the pernor were tenants indeed, or feoffees to their use, or their heirs as above, of the freehold of such lands, &c. at any time of the action used, 1 H. 7. c. 1.

27. CONCERNING DELAYS in assizes, 21 H. 8. c. 3.

28. Plaintiffs in assizes may sever and abridge his plaint of any part to which a bar is pleaded by moiety, as they might do if the plea in bar had been made to any certainty or number of acres in the plaint, and the residue of plaint shall stand good in law, id. ibid.

29. FOR AVOIDING secret summons in real action without convenient notice of the tenants of the freehold, 21 H. 8. c. 3. s. 2. [Framed from the preamble to this statute; see rest of this statute, tit. Outlawry.]

30. After every summons on the land in a real action, proclamation thereof shall be made 14 days at least before its return, on a Sunday at or near to the most usual door of the churches or chapels of that town or parish where the land whereon the summons was made doth lie, and when so made shall be returned with the summoners' names; and if such summons is not so proclaimed and returned no grand jury shall be awarded but alias and pluries summons, as the cause requires, all summons and proclamation be duly made and entered, 31 Ed. c. 2. s. 2.

31. To ADMIT the subject to plead the general issue in informations of intrusion brought on behalf of H. M. and to retain his possession still trial, 24 J. 1. s. 14.

32. When H. M., or those under whom he claims, and all other claimants under the same title under which he claims have been out of possession for 20 years, or have not taken the profits of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments within 20 years before information of intrusion brought to recover the same, defendant may plead the general issue if he think fit, and shall not be pressed to plead specially, in which case he shall retain possession till the title be tried, found, or adjudged for H. M., id. s. 1.

33. Where an information of intrusion may well be brought at H. M.'s suit, no scire facias shall be brought to force the subject to plead specially, id. s. 2.

ADDITIONS.

1. FOR WRITING CERTAIN additions in every original writ in which an exigent should be awarded, 1 H. 5. c. 5. [Defect thereof shall not be amended, 8 H. 6. c. 12. s. 2.; and these additions are required in writs of excommunicato capiendu, 5 Ed. c. 23. s. 13.]

2. In every original writ of actions personal, appeals, and indictments, in which exigent shall be awarded, addition shall be made to the name of defendant of his estate, or degree, or trade, and of the towns, hamlets, or places, and counties in which he is conversant; and if by process on such original writs, &c. in which such additions are omitted, any outlawries be pronounced, they shall be void; and before the same are pronounced such writs and indictments shall be abated by exception of the party for omitting such addition; but though the said writs of actions personal be not according to records or deeds by surplusage of the above addition, they shall not abate for that cause, and the clerks of chancery under whose names such writs go forth written shall not omit such additions on pain of making fine to H. M. at discretion of the chancellor, id. ibid.

ADMEASUREMENT OF DOWER AND PASTURE.

1. OF ADMEASUREMENT of dower and pasture, 13 Ed. 1. West. Sec. c. 7. (See 2 Inst. 367—9.)

2. A WRIT of admeasurement of dower shall be granted to a guardian; neither shall the heir when at full age be barred by the suit of the guardian, but may admeasure the dower after, and as well in this writ as in that of admeasurement of pasture, more speedy process shall be than hitherto, so that when it is come to the great distress, days shall be given within which two counties shall be holden, at which open proclamation shall be made that the defendant come in at the day, at which, if he comes in, the plea shall go forward, and if not, and the proclamation be testified by the sheriff, on the default they shall proceed to make admeasurement, id. ibid.

3. OF A SECOND surcharge of pasture, and of re-lisseisins, 13 Ed. 1. West. Sec. c. 8.

4. On the second surcharge of pasture the plaintiff shall have remedy in this manner: if the admeasurement were before the justices, the plaintiff shall have a writ judicial, that the sheriff (the parties being summoned) shall inquire of the surcharge, which, if found, shall be returned before the justices, under the seals of the sheriff and jurors, and the justices shall award to the plaintiff damages, and shall put in their estreat the value of the beasts put into the pasture after such admeasurement over the due number, and shall deliver the estreats into the barons of exchequer, that they may answer thereof to H. M.: if such admeasurement be made in the county, a writ shall go out of chancery that the sheriff shall inquire of such overcharge, and that of the beasts put in above the due number, or of their value, he answer to H. M. in exchequer, and all writs de secunda superenclosure that pass out of chancery shall be enrolled, and at the year's end the transcripts shall be sent into exchequer under the chancellor's seal, id. ibid.

6. FOR IMPARTIAL administration of justice in the cases of persons questioned for acts done in execution of law, or for suppressing riots and tumults in Massachusetts Bay, in New Eng., 14 G. 3. c. 32. [Exp.]

ADMIRALTY.

1. FOR ASCERTAINING the jurisdiction of the admiral and his deputy, 15 R. 2. c. 5. [AM. virtually by 15 R. 2. c. 3. 2 H. 4. c. 11. 2 W. & M. S. 2. c. 2. 4 G. 2. c. 26. s. 3., and 56 G. 3. c. 82.

2. The admiral and his deputy shall not hold pleas of things done within the realm, but on sea only, 15 R. 2. c. 5.

3. NOR IN CONTRACTS, pleas, and quarrels, or other things done within the bodies of counties, as well by land as water, or in matters of wreck, 15 R. 2. c. 5.

4. Except in cases of death of man, or mayhem done in great ships being in the main stream of great rivers, beneath the bridges * thereof nigh to the sea; and he may arrest ships in the great fleets for the great voyages of H. M. and the realm, and has jurisdiction therein during those voyages only, id. ibid.

5. PARTIES GRIEVED by suits in the admiralty court under 15 R. 2. c. 5. shall recover double damages by action on the case against such pursuer, who if attainted shall also incur the penalty of 10*l.* to H. M. for his suit so made, 2 H. 4. c. 11.

6. The powers vested by law in the lord high admiral may be exercised by commissioners for execution of his office, 2 W. & M. S. 3. c. 3. ss. 1—2.

7. Nothing in this act shall give new powers to the office, id. s. 3.

8. The commission and proceedings of admiralty courts may be certified in Latin as before this act, 4 G. 2. c. 26. s. 3.

9. Judicial acts of surrogates of vice-admiralty courts abroad, appointed to act as judges of such courts during vacancies in those offices, by the said judges or by the governors of the plantations and colonies in which such courts are, shall be valid, 56 G. 3. c. 82.

10. FOR ABRIDGMENT of appeals in suits of civil and marine causes, 8 Ed. c. 5.

11. Every sentence definitive therein, pronounced by the commissioners or delegates appointed by commission under H. M.'s half-seal to decide such appeals made to H. M. in chancery, shall be final, id. ibid.

12. FOR DECLARING the validity of two orders in council dated 6th Aug. 1794, and 30th Mar. 1798, and for enlarging the time of appealing in prize causes, and for permitting appeals to be prosecuted after such time elapsed in such special causes as H. M. by any order in council shall authorize, 38 G. 3. c. 38.

13. "Whereas, by order in council, dated 6th Aug. 1794, it was ordered, that certain subjects of the United States might be admitted to appeal from sentences of condemnation in West India vice-admiralty courts, notwithstanding the ordinary time for appealing expired, provided the same be prosecuted within a reasonable time, approved of by the lords commissioners of appeals in prize causes; and whereas, by another order in council, dated 30th Mar. 1798, appeals from sentences in the vice-admiralty courts of Bermuda and Bahama were to be permitted under such former order." Such orders and all proceedings under the same, upon appeals from such courts, are valid, provided that where appeals have been or shall HEREAFTER be permitted by authority of this act, or of such orders to be interposed, after the ordinary time of appeal elapsed, and it appears to the commissioners of appeals that distribution of the proceeds of the prize to which such appeal relates had been made before publication of such former order and notice of intended application for appeal duly given to the captors, the latter shall not be compellable to make compensation to the claimants, if the decree is reversed or varied; but they may plead and prove by affidavit, or otherwise as allowed by the court, such distribution in bar of any motion to bring in such proceeds, or of any other proceeding had to satisfy the claimants after such reversal or variation, id. s. 1.

14. In all prize causes where a sentence is hereafter given, all the parties interested, whether parties or not in the first instance, and in whatever courts the sentence or decree is given, may take out an inhibition and prosecute an appeal within 12 calendar months computed from the date of sentence or decree appealed from, 58 G.3. c.28. s.2.

15. H.M. by order in council mentioning any special cause of prize, may authorize any persons interested, whether parties or not, in the first instance, and in whatever court the sentence, &c. was given, to take out an inhibition and prosecute such appeal, though such 12 months have expired; provided that in all cases where such authority is given, and it appears to the satisfaction of the commissioners of appeal in prize causes, that distribution was made of the proceeds at or after the time when the right of appeal would have been barred, if no such order had been made, and before notice of such order was duly given to the captors (the captors duly conforming to this act), the same shall effectually bar their compensating the claimants, id. s.3.

16. In all special cases, where H.M. shall authorize such appeal after such 12 months elapsed and distribution made, the captors being required by claimants, shall deliver a true copy of the account of such sales, and of all proceedings had under the authority of the sentence of the court below to H.M.'s procurator-general defending such appeals, in such cases and manner as H.M.'s advocate-general shall direct; and if they neglect to give such copy or obey such further order as such commissioners make, they shall forfeit all claim to any benefit or discharge under this act, and be liable to be proceeded against as if the appeal had been entered within such 12 months, id. s.4.

17. FOR BETTER regulation of H.M.'s prize courts in the West Indies and America, and for giving more speedy and effectual execution to the decrees of the lords commissioners of appeals, 41 G.3. (U.K.) c.96.

18. H.M. may, by order in council, fix proper salaries for the judges of the vice-admiralty courts established in any two of the islands in the West Indies, and at Halsbur in America, not exceeding 2000*l.* per ann. to each judge, payable out of the consolidated fund, id. s.1.

19. And by letters patent, may grant to any such judge on his resignation after 6 years' service, or being afflicted by some permanent and disabling infirmity, an annuity not exceeding 1000*l.* payable as in s.1., subject to the provisions of 39 G.3. c.110. [tit. Judges.] id. s.2.

20. H.M. may establish rules for such courts, and for fees of the judges and officers, and may make such alteration therein, or new table thereof, as with advice of council he may think fit, id. s.3.

21. The profits of each judge shall never exceed 2000*l.* per ann. above his salary; and a yearly account thereof shall be transmitted to the commissioners of the navy; he carrying all sums above 2000*l.* to the succeeding year's account, or paying the same over under their direction, id. s.4.

22. The above courts, judges, and officers, in any two West India islands and at Halsbur, may exercise over all prizes carried into any West India colonies, (including Bahamas and Bermudas), and over all persons and things relating thereto, the same powers as if they were actually brought into any port of the island or colony, where such vice-admiralty court is held, and as if the persons concerned were actual residents therein, id. s.5.

23. Such court may issue commissions and other processes, to be executed in any other of H.M.'s colonies or territories in the West Indies, or America, including the Bahamas and Bermudas, for examination of witnesses for appraisement and sale of captured property, or for other purpose of legal adjudication, which process shall be sealed notwithstanding any colonial law to the contrary; and all marshals, or other legal officers, shall execute the same under the usual penalties for neglect, and as if such court was held in such colony within which their functions are so to be exercised, id. s.6.

24. Where a commission of appraisement and sale is granted by the judge of vice-admiralty court before final sentence, the proceeds of sale shall not remain in the hands of the captor or agents, but shall be brought into the registry of the court, subject to its further orders till final sentence, id. s.7.

25. Where any order for further proof is made by any vice-admiralty court, and the claimants thereof decline to take the property in question on bail, the court, with consent of captors and claimants, or their agents, may direct such property to be sent to Eng. and there sold by consignees named by the above parties, and the proceeds forthwith deposited in bank of Eng. in their names, subject to the final adjudication, expenses of freight, insurance, and other charges of transport and sale, as a charge thereon; and if it appear to the court that the captors' consent is unreasonably withheld, the captors, in case of restitution, shall be made answerable and pay the sum adjudged to be equal to the difference in value of the property at the time of its restoration, and of its produce if sent for sale to Eng., to be ascertained by such evidence as to its value there, and charges to which it would have been subject, as the court shall deem satisfactory, id. s.8.

26. If on any final sentence of such court an appeal be duly entered, the court may, at requisition of appellant, direct the property to be sent to Eng. for sale, as in s.8. pl. 25., the proceeds to be deposited in the bank to abide decision of the court of appeal, or if the property is converted by sale, the proceeds shall be sent and deposited in like manner, and if any difficulty arise respecting any such property or proceeds sent to Eng. either before or after appeal, at any time after arrival in Eng., or respecting their sale and proceeds, either the captors or claimants, or their agents, on notice to the adverse parties or their agents, may apply by proctor to the admiralty of U.K. (if before appeal), or afterwards to the lords commissioners of appeal for directions; and those courts shall give such order as the case requires, for security of the property or proceeds, or for beneficial employment of the latter in government securities, for benefit of the parties ultimately entitled, and shall enforce such order with all their powers, 41 G.3. U.K. c.96. s.9.

27. In all captures by H.M.'s ships a service on H.M.'s proctor shall be deemed effectual service on the commander of capturing ship, and on taking out letters of marque, the owners of the vessels shall nominate and register in the court granting them, a proctor exercent in the prize court of appeal, with power of revocation or substitution, and service of process on such proctor shall be good service on the commander, owners, and sureties of privateers, in all cases where an appeal is declared by the court below in 14 days after sentence; and if any privateer shall proceed to adjudication against any prize in any other court than that from which the letters of marque issued, a proctor must be registered with the names of the privateer, owners, and sureties, before the usual monition granted, on which proctor in like manner service of process of the court of appeal shall be effectual, but H.M.'s or other proctor so nominated, shall not be answerable for damages to their clients from no appearance being given on their behalf, unless he accept such nomination in writing under his hand, and is sufficiently instructed to appear and defend the appeals, id. s.10.

28. When no appeal is entered as above, service of process either on commander of H.M.'s ship, or his registered agent here, or on his H.M.'s law officer in the court below, or in captures by privateers on the commander, or any owner or either surety to the letters of marque, is good service on the parties, id. s.11.

29. In all proceedings on captures made by any privateer, the owners shall be deemed parties, who, with the sureties, shall be jointly and severally liable to all orders and decrees therein, immediately after final sentence, without further personal service on the commander, or putting him in contempt by process of contumacy, id. s.12.

30. Nothing herein shall prevent a claimant for whom sentence of restitution is passed, from having the property claimed by him delivered to him or bail, as specified by 33 G.3. c.66. [which is Exp.] id. s.13.

31. All interlocutory orders, final decrees, attachments, or other processes, issued by the commissioners of appeal to be executed in the plantations, may be transmitted to either of the vice-admiralty courts in which the cause originally depended, id. s.14. [Rest of section applying to causes then pending is Exp.]

32. Nothing herein shall restrain H.M. from granting any commission of prize to any other court, or from making such further rules relating to any courts of admiralty for adjudication and condemnation of prizes, as with advice of privy council he may think fit, id. s.15.

33. Such courts, if erected, shall be subject to the same rules, and possess the same powers as the vice-admiralty courts in s.1. pl. 18. id. s.16.

34. No judge of any such court shall by himself, or by any other on his behalf, act as agent for prizes captured from the enemy, or have any share or interest directly or indirectly in any privateer or letter of marque, or be in anywise concerned in the management of any estates in the West Indies or America, id. s.17.

35. FOR REGULATING the office of registrar of the high court of admiralty and high court of appeal for prizes, 53 G.3. c.151.

36. When any money is paid into either court on account of prize suit pending, the registrar or deputy shall forthwith pay the same to the bank of Eng. to the account of the registrar of the above courts, and shall take from a cashier of the bank a receipt, which he shall file in either court as the case may be, id. s.2.

37. Nothing in this act extends to sums not exceeding 200*l.* paid into either court, but they shall remain in the registrar's hands till they exceed 10,000*l.*, id. s.11.

38. Where the total of such sums exceeds 10,000*l.* the registrar shall, in one week after such excess happening, report the same to the judge of admiralty, who shall order such excess to be lodged in the bank, id. s.8.

39. The order of either of such courts for investing any money in government securities, shall specify the particular species thereof, and the registrar or his deputy shall forthwith invest it accordingly; and if any part consist of East India bonds, exchequer bills, tallies, or orders, they shall be delivered in at the bank and placed to account as in s.2. pl. 26., and if consisting of government stocks or annuities, they shall be transferred to such registrar or his deputy, who shall make a declaration of trust in the bank-books, that the same is subject to the orders of either such court: and shall take a certificate thereof from the proper officer at the bank, and enter the same in his book there, that the bank may receive the dividends: and shall from time to time report all such securities to either of such courts, specifying the dates and numbers thereof; the quantities of stock, and of the time of its transfer to him, of which a per entry shall be kept as the judge of admiralty directs, 53 G. 3. c. 151. s. 4.

40. The bank shall receive all interest and dividends due on such securities under authority in writing from registrar or deputy, to cashier for that purpose, and shall place them to credit of former, id. s. 5.

41. The bank shall deliver out such securities under order of the court, signed by registrar or his deputy, sealed by the court where suit is pending, and specifying particulars of the securities, id. s. 6.

42. When any stock so deposited shall be so ordered to be transferred to any suitor, the proctor shall certify to registrar or deputy, what stock he is to transfer and to whom; and the registrar, &c. shall within one week, deliver such certificate to bank, and transfer or authorise another to transfer such stock, id. s. 7.

43. Such certificate shall be sufficient authority to transfer stock: which transfer the registrar or deputy shall report and file: and certify the transfer to the bank, that it may be discharged out of his account there, id. s. 8.

44. When any suitor's money, received by the bank pursuant to this act, is directed to be paid by order of either of the above courts, the proctor shall certify under his hand to the registrar or deputy, what sum and to whom it is to be paid; on filing which, the registrar or his deputy shall, by note under his hand, draw for the sum on cheque paper, which note shall authorize the bank to pay the same to the payee or indorsees thereof, and also to write off the same from such registrar's account: and the judge of the admiralty court, and commissioners of prize-appeals, may make any further regulations herein, provided that when any such are made the registrar shall cause a true copy thereof, signed by him, to be transmitted to the bank, who shall thereupon observe the same, id. s. 9.

45. Nothing herein extends to monies paid into the high court of admiralty in its instance jurisdiction, id. s. 10.

46. Every person who shall forge or counterfeit, or procure to be forged &c., or wilfully act or assist in forging the name or hand of the registrar of either of the above courts, or his deputy, or of any cashier of the bank, to any certificate, entry, indorsement, declaration of trust, note, direction, authority, instrument, or writing soever, in order to obtain any monies of the suitors of either of the said courts, or forge, &c. any such certificate, &c. made by such registrar or cashier, or shall utter any such with intent to defraud, is guilty of felony, id. s. 12.

47. Act shall commence after existing interest of present registrar is expired, id. s. 13.

ADVOWSON.

(STATUTE expired.)

1. FOR RESTORING all such advowsons, rectories impropriate, glebe lands, and tithes to H.M.'s loyal subjects, as were taken from them, and for making void charges imposed on them upon their compositions for delinquency by the usurped powers of the Long Parliament, 13 & 14 C. 2. c. 23. [Exp.]

(STATUTES in force.)

1. REMEDIES to redress usurpations of advowsons of churches, 13 E. 1. West. Sec. c. 5.

2. Presentments to any church by any person not having right, shall not be prejudicial to the right heirs, or to those entitled to the reversion of such advowsons after the death of any person; but when any having no right, shall present, whilst the heir is in ward, or during the estate of tenants in dower, by the curtesy, or otherwise for life or years, or in tail at the next avoidance after the heir is of full age, or the advowson shall revert to the heir, after the death of such tenants he shall have the like action by possessory writ of advowson, as his last ancestor would have had, being of full age at the last avoidance happening in his time, or before the demise for life, or in fee-tail: the same shall be observed in presentments made unto churches, being the inheritance of wives, when under the power of their husbands, and also bishops, and other ecclesiastical persons, when any, having no right, presents unto churches belonging to their prelates, spiritual dignities, or parsonages, while they are vacant, id. s. 1.

3. But no such persons shall have the above recovery, saying that the guardians &c. did faintly defend, because the judgment given in H.M.'s courts shall stand in force until reversed as erroneous, or the assize of darrein presentment, or the inquest in the quare impedit be annulled by attain, or by certification, which shall be freely granted. And if the defendant allege plenary of his own presentation, the plea shall not stay, so as the writ be purchased within six months, though he cannot recover his presentation within six months. Where a fine is levied between many claiming one advowson, that one shall present the first time, and at the next avoidance another; and when one hath presented, and the second is disturbed by any party to the fine, he that is so disturbed need not sue a quare impedit, but shall resort to the fine. And if the agreement be found in the roll, then the sheriff shall be commanded, that he give knowledge unto the disturber, that he be ready at some short day, containing fifteen days or three weeks, as the place be near or far, to show wherefore the party disturbed ought not to present. And if he come not, or can nothing allege to bar the party of his presentation, by reason of any deed since the fine, he shall recover his presentation with damages. Where, after the death of the ancestor that presented, the advowson is assigned in dower, or to the tenant by the curtesy, which do present, and after their deaths the true heir is disturbed, to present when the church is void, it shall be in his election whether he will sue by quare impedit, or darrein presentment; the same shall be observed in advowsons for life, years, or in fee-tail, 13 Ed. 1. West. Sec. c. 5. s. 2.

4. In quare impedit and darrein presentment, damages shall be awarded, to wit, if six months pass by such let, so that the bishop present, and the true patron lose his presentation for that time, damages shall be awarded to two years' value of the church, against the disturber, and if he cannot recompense the damages, two years' imprisonment; and if six months have passed, half a year's value, or half a year's imprisonment, id. s. 3.

5. Writs shall be granted for chapels, prebends, vicarages, hospitals, and other houses, and when any parson is disturbed to demand tithes in the next parish by writ of inducavit, the patron shall have a writ to demand the advowson of those tithes, id. s. 4.

6. When an advowson descends to parceners, though one present twice, yet he that was negligent shall not be barred, but shall present the next time, id. s. 5.

7. OF CHURCHES vacant, the advowsons whereof belong to H.M., and others present, if H.M. recover his presentation, though after six months from avoidance, no time shall prejudice him, so that he present within six months, Stat. Prærog. Reg. 17 Ed. 2. c. 8.

8. TO PRESERVE the rights of patrons to advowsons, 7 A. c. 18.

9. No usurpation on any avoidance in an ecclesiastical benefice, shall displace the estate of the patron, or turn it to a right, but he may present or maintain quare impedit on the next avoidance, [see 3 Bla. Comm. 251.] and where coparceners, joint-tenants, or tenants in common, seized of an estate of inheritance in any advowson, present in turns by partition made, each shall be said to be seized of his or her separate part of the advowson, and to present in his or her turn, id. ibid.

10. COLLEGES in the English universities may hold advowsons without restriction in number, 45 G. 3. c. 101. repealing 9 G. 2. c. 56. s. 5.

AFFIDAVIT.

1. FOR TAKING affidavits in the country to be made use of in K.B. C.P. and exchequer, 29 C. 2. c. 5. (s. 1.) [Ext. to Isle of Man, 6 G. 3. c. 50. s. 2.]

2. The judges of K.B., or any two of them, the chief justice being one, and the same in C.P., and the lord treasurer, chancellor, and barons of exchequer, or two of them, whereof the lord treasurer, chancellor, or the C.B. shall be one, may by commissions under seals of the respective courts, empower persons as commissioners in Eng., Wa., and Ber. [Isle of Man, 6 G. 3. c. 50 s. 2.] to take affidavits concerning any thing depending in those courts; and any judge of assize on his circuit may take affidavits to be filed in the offices, and used as other affidavits, and all persons forswearing themselves therein, shall incur the same penalties, as if the same had been taken in open court, 29 C. 2. c. 5. s. 2. 6 G. 3. c. 50. s. 2.

3. Such commissioners shall take only 12d. for every affidavit, besides the duty to H.M. thereon to be paid, before the same is filed, 29 C. 2. c. 5. s. 3. [See STAMPS, 55 G. 3. c. 184. sched. part 1. title AFFIDAVIT.]

AFRICAN TRADE.

(STATUTES repealed and expired.)

1. TO SETTLE the trade to Africa, 9 & 10 H. 3. c. 26. [Exp.]

2. FOR MAKING effectual such agreement as shall be made between the royal African company of England and their creditors, 10 A. c. 27. [Exp.]

3. FOR EXTENDING and improving the trade to Africa, 23 G. 2. c. 51. PUBLIC clause, s. 39. [AMD. 25 G. 2. c. 40. ss. 1, 2. 5—7, 4 G. 3. c. 20, 23 G. 3. c. 65. ss. 2—6. But ALL VIRTUALLY REP. 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 28. s. 1. pl. 3, except 23 G. 2. c. 51. s. 1. and latter part of s. 5.]

4. FOR APPLICATION of 112,142l. 3s. 3d. granted to H.M. for making compensation and satisfaction to the Royal African Company of Eng. for their charter, forts, slaves, military stores, and other effects soever, and for vesting the same in the company of merchants trading to Africa, and for other purposes, 25 G. 2. c. 40. [Enacted for a temporary object, and appears Exp. except part of s. 1. and s. 2. ss. 5-7. See infra, pl. 1.]

5. FOR REPEALING 4 G. 3. c. 20. and to vest Senegal and its dependencies, all other British forts and settlements on the coast of Africa, between Sallee and Cape Rouge, and all the property of the African Company therein in H.M., and for securing and improving the African trade, 5 G. 3. c. 44. [R<sup>ep.</sup> 25 G. 3. c. 65. s. 1.]

6. FOR VESTING the fort of Senegal and its dependencies [which was ceded to France by 9th article of treaty of Versailles, 20th Jan. 1763,] [for Fort James in the river Gambia, 25 G. 3. c. 65. s. 1.] in the company of merchants trading to Africa, 4 G. 3. c. 20. [R<sup>ep.</sup> except as to annual deduction of 400*l.* by African company, by 5 G. 3. c. 44. s. 1.; but that act R<sup>ep.</sup> 25 G. 3. c. 65. s. 1., thus reviving 4 G. 3. c. 20., which seems virtually R<sup>ep.</sup> 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 28. s. 1.]

7. FOR REPEALING 5 G. 3. c. 44. ante pl. 5., and for vesting James Fort in the river Gambia, and its dependencies, and all other the British ports and settlements between the port of Sallee and Cape Rouge, in the company of merchants trading to Africa, and for securing and regulating the African trade, 23 G. 3. c. 65. [R<sup>ep.</sup> virtually 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 28. s. 1.]

(STATUTES in force.)

1. FREE TRADE is given, to all H.M.'s subjects, to and from any place in Africa, between the port of Sallee in South Barbary, and the Cape of Good Hope, when, at such times, in such manner, and with such quantity of goods, wares, or merchandizes, as they think fit, 25 G. 2. c. 31. s. 1. and the latter part of s. 5.

2. FOR ABOLISHING the African Company and transferring to, and vesting in, H.M. all the forts, possessions, and property, now belonging to or held by them, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 28.

3. "Recital, that by 25 G. 2. c. 31. ante pl. 5., 25 G. 2. c. 40. ante pl. 4., and 25 G. 3. c. 65. ante pl. 7., the whole of the forts and settlements on the Gold Coast of Africa, occupied by H.M.'s subjects, have become vested in the African Company created by 25 G. 2. c. 31., and governed by their officers; but the whole expence of their management has for many years been entirely defrayed by sums granted by parliament for support of such forts and settlements, the company having no beneficial interest therein, and no funds from which any part of such expenses could be paid." From 3d July, 1821, the corporation of the African Company shall cease, be abolished, and all grants made to them under any of the above recited acts, or in pursuance of any thing therein contained, are void, and they are divested of all forts, castles, buildings, possessions, estate, or rights given to them by or under any of the said acts, or which have been since purchased or otherwise acquired by them in addition thereto, or which now are claimed or held by such company on the said coast; which forts, &c. shall be fully vested in H.M., his heirs, and successors for ever, id. s. 1.

4. H.M. may grant such reasonable allowances as he deems fit to such company's officers and servants as appear deserving thereof, and are not retained in the government or management of any of these forts, castles, or possessions, or are not otherwise employed in H.M.'s service, charging the same on the consolidated fund of U.K., which allowance, when so granted, shall commence from the time of the respective grantees ceasing to be employed as above, and shall be paid quarterly at exchequer, at Westminster, out of the consolidated fund, free of deductions; but no such allowance shall be considered finally granted till it is first submitted to parliament; provided, that if any officer or servant of the company to whom any allowance may, in the first instance, be granted under this act should be afterwards appointed to any employment in H.M.'s service, of equal or greater emolument, his allowance shall cease, from the date of his appointment, but if of less emolument a deduction equal to the amount thereof shall be made from such allowance, id. s. 2.

5. H.M. may order, after 7th May, 1821, all or any of the ports and possessions, hereinbefore mentioned, and also any territories, islands, or possessions on the West coast of Africa, between 20 deg. N. L. and 20 deg. S. L. now or hereafter belonging to H.M. to be annexed to the colony of Sierra Leone, which, from the date of such annexation, shall be subject to all laws then in force therein, or hereafter ordained by the governor and council of such colony, and not disallowed by H.M. id. s. 3.

ALEHOUSES.

26. IF ON OR BETTER regulation of licenses for common inns and alehouses, the court m., 28. ss. 11, 12. [R<sup>ep.</sup> 26 G. 2. c. 31. s. 4.]

ALEHOUSES.

2. FOR ALLOWING ale and beer licenses to be granted at a petty session in England, on a certain case herein mentioned, (viz. where any licensed alehouse becomes unoccupied), 22 G. 2. c. 12. s. 24. [R<sup>ep.</sup> 32 G. 2. c. 59. s. 1.]

1. FOR KEEPERS of alehouses to be bound by recognizance, 5 & 6 E. 6. c. 25. [AMU. 3 C. 1. c. 3. See further as to licensing alehouses, 26 G. 2. c. 31. pl. 44.]

2. The justices, or two of them, for every shire, city, or place, may put away common selling of ale and beer, in common ale and tipping houses, wherethey think fit; and none shall be allowed to keep such houses unless licensed in open sessions, and by two justices, who shall likewise take bond and surety by recognizance, of such as be so allowed, as well against the using of unlawful games as for the maintenance of good order, as they think necessary, for which recognizance the parties shall pay 12*d.*, 5 & 6 E. 6. c. 25. s. 1.

3. Such justices shall certify such recognizance to the quarter sessions, there to remain on record, on pain to forfeit to H. M. for every recognizance taken, but not certified, 3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*, id. s. 2.

4. The justices of peace where such recognizance is taken, shall have power in quarter sessions to inquire if they have forfeited the recognizance; and shall, on such presentment or information, award process against the person, to shew why he should not forfeit his recognizance, and shall hear and determine the same, id. s. 3.

5. If any person other than those so admitted shall keep a common alehouse, or use commonly selling of ale or beer, the said justices, or two, (one being of quorum,) shall commit him to gaol for three days, and before his deliverance, shall take recognizance of him with two sureties, that he shall not keep any alehouse, or use selling of ale and beer, id. s. 4. [See 3 C. 1. c. 3. s. 2. pl. 8.]

6. Such justices shall make certificate of such recognizance and offence at the quarter sessions; which certificate shall be a good conviction for such offence; and the justices, upon such certificate made, shall, in open sessions, assess the fine thereon at 20*s.*, id. s. 5.

7. In all fairs, for the time of such fairs only, any person may use common selling of ale and beer in booths or other places, 5 & 6 Ed. 3. c. 25. s. 6., 3 C. 1. c. 4. s. 6.

8. Every person who (not being thereunto lawfully licensed,) shall keep a common alehouse or tipping-house, or use commonly selling of ale, beer, cyder, or perry, shall forfeit 20*s.* to the poor of the parish where the offence was done, the same offence being seen by the mayor or head officer, by a justice of peace, or confessed or proved by two witnesses on oath taken before such mayor or justice, such penalty to be levied by the constables or churchwardens of such parish, by distress under warrant from such mayor or justice; and, if not paid within three days, such distress may be sold, and this shall be for the first offence; and if there are no goods, or if such 20*s.* be not paid within six days after conviction, such mayor or justice shall commit such offender to some constable of the parish, to be openly whipped, 3 C. 1. c. 3. s. 2.

9. If such constable shall neglect to execute such warrant or punishment, the mayor or justice may commit him to the common gaol, without bail, until such offender is so whipped by him or some other for him, or until such constable has paid 40*s.* to the use of the poor of the parish, id. s. 3.

10. Persons offending a second time, and convicted as in s. 2. pl. 8., shall be committed to the house of correction for one month, to be dealt with as idle and disorderly persons; and if a third time, they shall thence be committed till delivered by the justices in general sessions, id. s. 4.

11. Persons punished under this act shall not be punished under 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 25., and vice versa, id. s. 5.

12. TO RESTRAIN the inordinate haunting and tipping in inn, alehouses, and other victualling-houses, 1 J. 1. c. 9. (and s. 1.) [AMU. 7 J. 1. c. 10., and MADE PR<sup>ep.</sup> 21 J. 1. c. 7. s. 1.] See 4 J. 1. c. 6. s. 5. pl. 30.

13. Every innkeeper, victualler, or alehouse-keeper, either in Eng. or W<sup>ales</sup>, who shall suffer any persons dwelling in any city or place where such inn, &c. shall be, to remain drinking and tipping therein, other than such as be visited by any traveller abiding there, and other than labouring and other handicraftsmen upon usual working days, for one hour at dinner-time, or those following their work by the day in such city or place, and other than for urgent occasions, to be allowed by two justices, shall forfeit 10*s.* to use of the poor of the parish where the offence is committed, such offence being viewed by any mayor, bailiff, or other justice within their limits, or proved by oath of two witnesses, taken before such mayor, &c., 1 J. 1. c. 9. s. 2. [One witness or voluntary confession, shall suffice, 21 J. 1. c. 7. s. 1. pl. 29. 41.]

14. Every innkeeper, as in s. 2. pl. 13., who shall sell less than one full quart of the best beer or ale for 1*d.*, and two quarts of small beer for 1*d.*, shall, on such offence being proved, as in s. 2. limited, forfeit 20*s.* to the use aforesaid; and all such penalties shall be levied by the constables and churchwardens of the parish where the offence was done, by way of distress; and for default of satisfaction within six days, the distress shall be appraised and sold, and the surplus, if any, delivered to the distressee; and for want of such distress, the offender shall be by such head officer or justices committed to the common gaol or house of correction, 1 J. 1. c. 9. s. 3. [But brewers not to be molested for advancing the price of beer in any reasonable degree, 12 C. 2. c. 24. s. 55., 1 W. & M. S. 2. c. 24. s. 8., 2 G. 3. c. 14. s. 15.]

15. Every constable or churchwarden who shall neglect his duty in not levying such penalties, or, in default of distress, not certifying such default by 20 days next ensuing to the head officer or justice of peace, within whose limits the offence was committed, shall forfeit 40s. to the use of the poor of the parish, to be levied by distress of goods by warrant from such head officer or justice, under his hand and seal, to be taken and detained for such forfeitures for six days, within which time if payment be not made, the same shall be sold, and the surplus be delivered to the distressee: and for want of such distress the offenders shall by such head officer or justice be committed to the common gaol until such penalty is paid; for all which penalties such constables, &c. shall account to their successors, as in other accounts and penalties levied on such constables, &c. shall be accounted for by the party levying the same, id. s. 4.

16. All laws and statutes touching innkeepers, victuallers, and alehouse keepers, shall be in force, id. s. 5.

17. Offenders against this act, within the two universities, shall be punished by the governors and justices thereof to whom the punishment of offenders by law appertains, and all penalties hereby given and named therein shall be levied by the officers thereof appointed in that behalf by the vice-chancellor, and all powers of this act shall be executed by such governors, &c. id. s. 6. [Who shall inquire of and punish offenders against the same, 4 J. 1. c. 5. s. 5.]

18. Alehouse-keepers convicted of any offence against 1 J. 1. c. 9. or 4 J. 1. c. 5. shall be disabled to keep any alehouse, &c. for three years next ensuing, 7 J. 1. c. 10.

19. To RESTRAIN THE utterance of beer and ale to alehouse-keepers and tipplers not licensed, 4 J. 1. c. 4.

20. No person shall sell or deliver any beer or ale to any person who shall sell beer or ale as a common alehouse-keeper, he not being duly licensed, other than for the use of his household, on pain to forfeit for every barrel so sold 6s. 8d., and in proportion for a greater or less quantity, id. s. 1.

21. Offences against this act shall be determined in the sessions of the county, city, borough, town or liberty, or in the court of record of the city, &c. where done, by action of debt, information, indictment, or presentment, wherein no essoin, &c.; and one moiety of such penalties shall go to the poor of the parish, and the other to the informer, id. s. 2.

22. The sheriff's officer or other persons who shall receive any penalties recovered under this act, shall, without further warrant, deliver one moiety to the churchwardens or overseers of the parish for distribution, id. s. 3.

23. Such sheriffs, &c. paying such moiety, shall be thereof discharged against H. M., id. s. 4.

24. If any such sheriff or officer shall refuse to pay over such moiety to such churchwardens, or if such churchwardens shall not truly distribute the same, he shall forfeit double the value thereof, to be recovered and employed as aforesaid, pl. 21., id. s. 5.

25. FOR REPRESSING the odious and loathsome sin of drunkenness, 4 J. 1. c. 5. (and recital in s. 1.) [Con. 21 J. 1. c. 28. s. 1. MADE PER. 21 J. 1. c. 7. s. 1. AND. 7 J. 1. c. 10. 1 C. 1. c. 4.]

26. All persons who shall be drunk and be thereof convicted, shall forfeit 5s., to be paid within one week after conviction, to the churchwardens of the parish where the offence was committed, to the use of the poor thereof, and on neglect to pay such forfeiture, the same shall be levied on the goods of the offender by warrant from the convicting court or magistrate, and if he cannot pay the same, he shall be committed to the stocks for six hours, 4 J. 1. c. 5. s. 2.

27. If any constable or other officer, to whom any mayor or justice shall give that in charge by precept, shall neglect the correction of such offenders, or the levying of the penalty, when the distress may be had, he shall forfeit 10s., to be levied, paid, and applied as aforesaid, pl. 26. id. s. 3.

28. If any person within Eng. or Wa. shall remain drinking or tippling in any inn, victualling-house, or alehouse, in the same city, hamlet, or place wherein he dwells, and the same being viewed by the mayor or justice, &c. for the district, and proved as in 1 J. 1. c. 9. s. 2. pl. 13. directed, unless in cases therein excepted, he shall forfeit 3s. 4d. to use of the poor of the parish where the offence was committed, to be levied as in s. 2. pl. 26. directed; and if the offender cannot pay such penalty, such convicting magistrate shall punish him by setting him in the stocks for four hours, id. s. 4.

29. Where proof by two witnesses is required by 1 J. 1. c. 9. s. 2. pl. 13., and 4 J. 1. c. 5. s. 4. pl. 28., one witness, or voluntary confession, shall henceforth be sufficient, 21 J. 1. c. 7. s. 1. and see pl. 41.

30. Offences against this act, and 1 J. 1. c. 9. pl. 12. shall be enquired and presented before the justices of assize in their circuit, justices of peace at quarter-sessions, and before the head officers of cities or towns corporate, who may enquire of trespasses, riots, and such like offences, and in courts leet, 4 J. 1. c. 5. s. 5.

31. Every person once convicted of drunkenness, being again convicted, shall be bound with two sureties to H. M. in one recognizance of 10l. to be of his good behaviour, 4 J. 1. c. 5. s. 6.

32. All constables, churchwardens, headboroughs, tithingmen, aleconners, and sidemen, shall, in their oaths of office, be charged to prevent offences against this act, id. s. 7. [See oath extended 21 J. 1. c. 7. s. 5. pl. 45.]

33. This act shall not abridge the ecclesiastical jurisdiction, but all ordinaries, &c. may proceed to enquire of and punish such offenders according to ecclesiastical law, id. s. 8.

34. Any offender once punished for his offence under this act, shall not be afterwards punished for same offence by any other, id. s. 9.

35. Nothing herein shall prejudice the two universities, id. s. 10.

36. No person shall be molested for any offence against this act, unless indicted within six months after the offence committed, id. s. 11.

37. Every alehouse-keeper convicted of any offence against 1 J. 1. c. 9. or 4 J. 1. c. 5. pl. 25., shall be disabled to keep any alehouse for three years next ensuing, 7 J. 1. c. 10.

38. "Reciting that no punishment in 1 J. 1. c. 9. s. 2. pl. 13. or 4 J. 1. c. 5. s. 4. pl. 28. is inflicted on any innkeepers, &c. who permit persons, not there inhabiting, to tipple in their inns, &c." it is ENACTED, that no innkeepers, &c. shall suffer any persons not inhabiting in the city or place where such inn is, to tipple in his inn, &c. contrary to 1 J. 1. c. 9. s. 2. and 4 J. 1. c. 5. s. 4., on pain to incur the same penalty, to be proved, levied, and disposed of as in 1 J. 1. c. 9. s. 2. directed, 1 C. 1. c. 4. s. 1. [See 21 J. 1. c. 7. s. 2. pl. 42.]

39. Keepers of taverns, and such as sell wine, and keep inns or victualling in their houses, shall be taken to be within this and the above acts, id. s. 2.

40. FOR BETTER REPRESSING of drunkenness and restraining the inordinate haunting of inns, &c. 21 J. 1. c. 7.

41. The 1 J. 1. c. 9. and 4 J. 1. c. 5. shall continue for ever; and where two witnesses are required by such acts, one shall henceforth suffice, and voluntary confession before any person authorised by such acts to administer the oath, shall suffice to convince any person so offending, and after such confession the party confessing shall be good proof against any other offending at the same time, id. s. 1.

42. If any other person, wheresoever he dwelleth, shall be found on view, confession, or proof of one witness, to be tippling in any inn, &c. he shall be adjudged within 1 J. 1. c. 9. and 4 J. 1. c. 5., and shall incur the penalty to be levied and disposed as by such acts directed; and the confession of such party shall suffice, and after such confession his oath shall be taken against any other offending at the same time, id. s. 2. [See 1 C. 1. c. 4. s. 1. pl. 38.]

43. Any justice, for any county, or head officer of any city or town corporate, shall on his own view, confession of the party, or proof of one witness, upon oath before him, who under this act has power to administer the same, convince any person of drunkenness, so as to incur the forfeiture of 5s. to be levied as in 4 J. 1. c. 5. pl. 25. directed; and, for the second offence, he shall be bound for his good behaviour, as if convicted in open sessions, notwithstanding that act, id. s. 3.

44. Every alehouse-keeper convict against 1 J. 1. c. 9. and 4 J. 1. c. 5. shall be disabled to keep an alehouse for three years, 7 J. 1. c. 10., 21 J. 1. c. 7. s. 4.

45. Constables, churchwardens, headboroughs, tithingmen, aleconners, and sidemen, who on their oaths of office, are by 4 J. 1. c. 5. s. 7. pl. 32. charged to prevent offences against that act shall also in such oath be charged to prevent offences against this act, or the 1 J. 1. c. 9. pl. 12., with any alterations thereof, id. s. 5.

46. FOR REGULATING the manner of licensing alehouses in Eng., and for the more easy convicting persons selling ale and other liquors without licence, 26 G. 2. c. 31. [AND. 28 G. 2. c. 19. s. 2. 29 G. 2. c. 12. s. 22—24. 26. 28. which is REP. as to ss. 23, 24., and the whole law further AND. 32 G. 3. c. 59.] [See further, 35 G. 3. c. 113.; and for the former acts for licensing alehouses, see 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 25.]

47. Upon granting licences by justices, to any person to keep an alehouse, inn, victualling house, or to sell ale, beer, or other liquor by retail, such person shall enter into recognizances to H. M., one in 10l. and two sureties in 5l. each, or one in 10l., with condition to maintain good order and rule within the same. And in case he cannot, for some cause to be allowed by such justices, attend in person at their meetings for granting such licences, they may grant such licences upon two sureties entering into such recognizance, each in 10l.; and such recognizance and condition shall forthwith, or at the next quarter sessions, be sent to the clerk of peace of the county or place therein, under the hands of the justices before whom taken, to be filed amongst records of the sessions; and such justices and clerks of peace shall forfeit 5l. 6s. 8d. for every licence granted without recognizance, and for every recognizance taken and not so sent, 26 G. 2. c. 31. s. 1.

48. No such licence shall be granted to any one not licensed the year preceding, unless he produces at the general meeting of the justices in September, a certificate under the hands of the parson, vicar, or curate, and the majority of the churchwardens and overseers, or else of three or four reputable householders, inhabitants of the same place, setting forth that such person is of good fame and of sober life and conversation, and it shall be mentioned in such licence, that such certificate was produced, otherwise the licence shall be void, id. s. 2. [and see s. 16. pl. 61.]

49. No licence to keep a common inn or alehouse, or to retail any brandy or strong waters, shall be granted but on 1st September, yearly, or within twenty days after, and shall be made for one year only, to commence on 29th September; and the day and place for granting licences, shall be appointed by two justices, ten days before, by warrant, under hand and seal, directed to the high constables, requiring them to order their petty constables, or other peace officers, to give notice thereof to the inn and alehouse keepers within their constablewicks; and all licences granted at any other time or place shall be void, id. s. 4. [See form of such licence, 48 G. 3. c. 143. s. 7. post, pl. 114.]

50. The clerk of the peace shall keep a register of all recognizances so sent, as in s. 1. pl. 45. and shall deliver to the justices, at their general meetings for granting licences, a true copy thereof; and for every such recognizance the justices' clerks taking the same shall pay the clerks of the peace for filing such recognizance, and making copies of the register, 1s., which shall be repaid to the clerks of such justices by the party licensed, besides their other fees, id. s. 5.

51. All forfeitures for granting licences without taking such recognizances, shall be recovered by action of debt, &c., or information, in any of the courts at Westminster, for the use of the person suing, together with costs, wherein no esson, &c., or more than one imparlance, shall be allowed, id. s. 6.

52. Any justice of any county, city, or place wherein such licence shall be granted, on complaint that such licensed person hath done any act whereby such justice shall think he hath forfeited his recognizance, may, by summons, require him to appear at the next general or quarter sessions to answer the same, and also may bind the informer, or any other person, in a recognizance to appear at such sessions and give evidence against him, and the justices there may direct a jury there attending for trial of traverses, or some other jury to be impanelled by the sheriff, without fee, to enquire of such complaint; and if such jury shall find that such person hath done an act whereby his recognizance has been broken, such act being specified in such complaint, such sessions shall adjudge such person guilty of a breach thereof, which shall be final; and shall order such recognizance to be estreated into exchequer; and such person shall thenceforth be disabled to sell any ale, cyder, perry, spirituous liquors, &c. for three years; and any licence granted to him during such term, shall be void, id. s. 7.

53. Such justices may, on request of the prosecutor or party complained of, or either of his sureties, adjourn the hearing to the then next general or quarter sessions, where the same shall be finally determined, id. s. 8.

54. If any justice of peace shall suspect that any alehouse-keeper, victualler, or retailer sells ale, beer, cyder, or perry, without licence, he may summon such suspected person before him, and also any excise officer or gauger, to produce the stock-books which he keeps of the survey of such suspected person, in respect to any of the liquors aforesaid, and likewise may examine such officer on oath touching such survey, and how such suspected person pays the duties for such liquors; and if it appears that such suspected person is surveyed as a victualler or retailer, and is not entitled to the allowance given to common brewers, then he shall be deemed an alehouse-keeper, victualler, retailer, or seller of such liquors, as fully as if proved by two witnesses, id. s. 9.

55. On information before one justice, and probable cause shewn that any person is suspected of selling ale or other liquors without a licence, such justice may call such suspected person before him, with any other person to give evidence; and if such person so summoned shall refuse to appear, or to be examined on oath, he shall forfeit 10l., to be levied by distress and sale of goods by warrant of such justice, rendering him overplus after charges of distress, &c. deducted, to be paid to overseers for use of the poor of the same parish, id. s. 10.

56. Every person disabled by conviction to sell ale, beer, cyder, or perry, shall be thereby also disabled to sell spirituous liquors, and any licence granted to him after such conviction shall be void; and every person selling ale, beer, &c., or spirits, during the term of such disability, shall be subject to all the penalties for selling the same by retail without a licence; and in all prosecutions, a certificate from the clerk of the peace of such conviction shall be evidence, which certificate he shall grant without fee, 26 G. 2. c. 31. s. 11.

57. Every person convicted of selling ale, beer, or other liquors without licence from two justices, shall forfeit, for the first offence, 40s.; for the second, 4l.; and for the third [and every subsequent offence, 28 G. 2. c. 19. s. 2.], 6l., to be levied by distress and sale of goods, rendering overplus, after the charges thereof are deducted, to the owner, by warrant under the hand and seal of the convicting justice; and if no distress shall be found, such justice shall commit such offender to prison, for the first offence, for one month; for the second, two months; and for the third [and every subsequent offence, 28 G. 2. c. 19. s. 2.], until discharged by the quarter-sessions, id. s. 12.

58. Every conviction for selling ale, beer, or other liquors without such licence, or, after being disabled to sell, shall be certified by the justice making the same to the next general or quarter-sessions, to be filed of record; and such conviction shall be in the form, or to the effect following; viz.

'Middlesex.' A. B. is convicted on his [or her] own confession, [or on the oath ser.] of —, of having sold ale, beer, or other liquors in the parish of — in this county, on the — day of —, without being licensed thereto according to law [or after being disabled to sell, as the case may be]. Given under my hand and seal this — day of —.

And there shall be added, this is the first, second, or third conviction; and which conviction shall be good, and not quashed for want of any other form, id. s. 13.

59. Offenders punished under this act shall not be again punished for same offence under any former act, and vice versa, id. s. 14.

60. This act shall not affect the privilege of licensing taverns and other public houses claimed by the two universities of Eng., nor the chancellor, masters, and scholars, or officers of the same, id. s. 15.

61. Nothing herein shall alter the times of granting licences for keeping of common inns or alehouses, or to oblige persons not licensed the year preceding to produce such certificates [see s. 2. pl. 48.] in any city or town corporate, id. s. 16.

62. Any person shall be a competent witness upon any complaint for any offence against this act, although an inhabitant of, and rated to the poor-rates of the parish where the offence was committed, id. s. 17.

63. Neither the commissioners of customs in Eng., nor the collectors or supervisors of excise, or any other officer appointed to deliver licences to the retailers of any spirituous liquors, shall grant or deliver such licence to any person who shall not produce a licence granted to him in due form by justices of peace, to sell ale &c., and duly stamped, 29 G. 2. c. 12. s. 22. [But see now the stamp duties repealed, and excise duties charged in lieu, 48 G. 3. c. 143., 56 G. 3. c. 113. 20.]

64. Every person who shall retail ale, beer, or other liquors, in any prison, house of correction, or workhouse, shall be deemed a keeper of a common alehouse, &c. and be subject to the penalties as such, unless he shall obtain from the justices, according to law, a licence to retail such beer, &c. id. s. 26. General issue, treble costs, id. s. 28.

65. The 26 G. 2. c. 31. s. 3. and 29 G. 2. c. 12. s. 25, 24., so far as they relate to Eng. RLR. And if any person duly licensed to keep any alehouse, inn, victualling house, or to retail ale, or other exciseable liquors in any house in Eng. Wa. or Ber., shall die before the expiration of such licence, or if he, or his executors, administrators, or assigns, shall remove from such house, and assign such licence, or in case such house becomes empty, the late occupier whereof was licensed at the last general licensing day before such house became empty, then (except as in s. 3. pl. 67—72.) any two justices at a petty session, within and for the division, may grant a licence to the executors, &c. of the person so dying, or to the new tenant upon such removal or the house becoming empty, to open or continue open till the next general licensing-day, so as such licence be stamped, as by 29 G. 2. c. 12. is directed; or such justices may allow such executors, &c. to continue open such house, under such licence, until the expiration thereof, they and every such tenant respectively, within 30 days after the death or removal or entering into possession, producing to such justices such certificate, and entering personally into such recognizance, with such sureties as is directed by 26 G. 2. c. 31. s. 1 & 2.; which certificate and recognizance, with the condition thereof attested by the justices, shall forthwith, or at the next quarter sessions at Westminster, be returned to the clerks of peace, to be filed of record, 32 G. 3. c. 59. s. 1.

66. In Middlesex and Surrey the justices at the general licensing meetings shall appoint and give due notice of the time and places, of not less than six or more than eight special days, of meetings, at equal periods in each year, when two justices acting in the same division shall meet in their respective divisions, and grant or continue licences as above, id. s. 2.

67—72. If any person so licensed within Middlesex or Surrey, or the executors, &c. of any person dying so licensed shall remove, or in case such house shall become empty, as in s. 1. pl. 85. then before such licence shall be continued, or a new one granted, the succeeding occupier shall appear at the next special meeting, and the justices there may, (on production of such certificate and such recognizance entered into as in s. 1. pl. 65.) grant a new licence or continue that before granted until the next general licensing day, 52 G. 3. c. 59. s. 3.

73. Provided, that at such petty sessions as in s. 3. no new licence shall be granted to any house not licensed at the last general licensing day, id. s. 1.

74. Nothing herein shall alter the times of licensing common inns or alehouses, or oblige persons not licensed the year preceding to produce such certificates as in s. 1. pl. 65., in the city of London, id. s. 5.

75. Every person so entering into any licensed alehouse, &c. who shall retail ale, beer, or other liquors, unless authorised by the petty sessions next ensuing the expiration of such 30 days, as in s. 1. shall be liable to all the penalties for retailing ale, &c. without licence, under 56 G. 3. c. 46. s. 20. pl. 82., id. s. 6.

76. Such certificate so to be obtained, as in s. 1. shall be an indemnity for selling any beer, &c. till after such petty sessions, id. s. 7.

77. Where the continuance of a licence is allowed, or a new one granted at a petty sessions, the clerk of the peace shall record the same on payment of 1s., id. s. 8.

78. No person in G. B. by virtue of any licence granted by the commissioners of excise for the sale of foreign or British made wines or sweet, by retail, shall sell the same by retail to be drunk in his house or place thereto belonging, except he has a licence to sell ale, beer, and other liquors, and the justices and all other officers in G. B. shall have the same powers over such retailers of wines or sweets, who sell the same to be drunk in their houses, &c. as they now exercise over persons licensed to sell ale, beer, and other liquors; and every person who shall sell by retail any such wines to be drunk in his house, &c. without having such a licence, shall forfeit the like penalties as are inflicted on persons selling ale, &c. without a licence, under 56 G. 3. c. 46. s. 20. [but see 41 G. 3. c. 55. s. 10., Scotland, (A. H. 1801.) which is verbatim with 56 G. 3. c. 46. s. 20.] to be levied, certified, and applied, as the penalties inflicted by that act are hereby or by any other act directed to be levied, &c. id. s. 9.

79. Persons prosecuted for any thing done under this act may plead the general issue, and give the special matter in evidence; and if a verdict pass for the defendant or the plaintiff is nonsuited, the defendant shall have treble costs, id. s. 10.

80. This act shall not extend to the vintners' company in London, or to persons licensed by the two English universities, or to the keeper of one of the three wine-taverns within M. Albans; but no person who, after 10 Oct. 1792, shall be admitted to the freedom of such company by redemption only, shall be exempted from the obligation of obtaining a licence to retail ale but fourteen already admitted, or who after that day shall be admitted to the freedom in right of patronage or apprenticeship, id. s. 11.

81. FOR REMEDYING the conviction of persons selling beer or ale, or other excisable liquors without licence more easy in Eng., 56 G. 3. c. 46. s. 20—26. [This title is framed from the preamble to s. 20. See s. 1.—13.—38.—44. STAMPS, s. 27—57. SCOTLAND, (A. H. 1801.)]

82. Every victualler or alehouse-keeper, and every person selling ale or beer, or other excisable liquors by retail, and every person permitting the same to be sold by retail in his house or premises, or other place in Eng., Wa., or Ber., shall on demand of any officer appointed by the commissioners of stamps [duty on licences placed under the excise 48 G. 3. c. 143.], produce to such officer his licence, and shall permit him to take a copy of it; and in case any such person shall neglect so to do, he shall forfeit 40s., id. s. 20.

83. Every clerk of the peace for each county, riding, or division in Eng., Wa., or Ber., or his deputy, and every clerk of the peace, town clerk, or common clerk of every city, town, and liberty within Eng., &c. where licences to sell ale or beer, or other excisable liquors, are pursuant to 29 G. 2. c. 12. [so in the act, but qu. 26 G. 2. c. 51.], to be granted by the justices or magistrates of such city, division, &c. shall on demand made by any officer of stamps, or within three days after, deliver to such officer a list of the names and abodes of all the victuallers, alehouse-keepers, or others licensed to sell ale or beer, or other excisable liquors by retail, within such county, city, &c. and on delivery thereof such officer shall pay to such clerks for making out such list, at the rate of one farthing for every licensed person therein inserted, all which money shall be allowed such officer in his accounts, and in case any such clerk shall neglect so to do for three days after such demand made, or shall not insert in such list a full account of the names and abode of all persons it ought to contain, he shall forfeit 5s., id. s. 21.

84. One justice of the county or place where any offence against this act, or of 29 G. 2. c. 12., shall be committed, may determine the same in a summary way, and on information or complaint made summon the party accused, and also the witnesses on either side, (if so required,) and on the appearance or contempt of the party accused, by not appearing, shall examine the matter, and also such witnesses on oath as shall be produced, and give judgment thereon; and in case he shall convict the party, and such party shall neglect to pay the penalty in which he shall be convicted, together with the costs to be ascertained as aforesaid, then such justice shall issue his warrant to apprehend such offender and commit him to prison for such time as the nature of the offence shall require, 56 G. 3. c. 46. s. 23.

85. Every person summoned as a witness before such justice, touching any such matter on either side, who shall neglect to appear at the time and place appointed, without some excuse to be allowed by such justice, or who appearing shall refuse to be examined on oath, shall forfeit 20s. to be levied and paid as in s. 23. pl. 81. directed, id. s. 24.

86. Every person aggrieved by the judgment of any justice, and who shall give security to the satisfaction of such justice for the payment of the penalty and costs to be expressed in the warrant of distress, may appeal against such judgment to the quarter sessions for the county, city, or place, unless such sessions are held within six days next after such conviction, and in such case to the next subsequent sessions; and the justices there shall hear such appeal, and their judgment shall be final; and in case they adjudge such appeal to be frivolous or vexatious, they may adjudge to the party grieved thereby his reasonable costs, not exceeding 5s., id. s. 25.

87. Conviction in the form following, or to the like effect, indult's unduly, shall be good:

'Middlesex, Be it remembered, that on this — day of — in the year to wit — A. B. C. &c. was duly convicted before me C. D. E. one of H. M.'s justices of the peace for the county of Middlesex, or before us C. D. and E. F. two of H. M.'s justices of the peace for the said county of —, that he or she or they, as the case shall happen to be, for selling ale or beer, or other excisable liquor, as the case shall happen to be, without being duly licensed so to do, according to the statutes in such case made and provided, whereby he, she, or they, has or have forfeited the sum of —, this being the first, second, or third offence, as the case shall happen to be; besides the cost and expenses of the conviction, which costs and expenses, if the said justice of the peace, as the case shall happen to be, do hereby recite and assess at the sum of —, pursuant to the statutes in such case made and provided. Given under my hand and seal, as our hands and seals, as the case shall happen to be, the day and year above written, &c. id. s. 26.

88. FOR THE MORE effectual prevention of selling ale, and other liquors by persons not duly licensed, 56 G. 3. c. 117. [And 58 G. 3. c. 1. s. 13. and Ext. to Scot. 41 G. 3. c. 80. s. 12. but which is Rev. 41 G. 3. c. 55. s. 1.]

89. Every person who shall sell any ale or other excisable liquors by retail, or suffer it to be sold in his house, outhouse, yard, or place, in Eng., Wa., and Ber., without being duly licensed, shall forfeit 20s., and costs of conviction to be avied and recovered as in s. 23. pl. 81. directed; and after a second conviction for the like offence, shall be incapable of being licensed to sell ale, &c. by retail, 56 G. 3. c. 117. s. 1.

90. Such penalty shall not extend to persons selling beer or ale in casks, containing not less than five gallons, or in reputed quart bottles by not less than two dozens, not to be drunk in their houses, &c., 58 G. 3. c. 55. s. 1.

91. One justice may determine the offence in a summary way, and shall, on information or complaint made, summon the party accused, and also the witnesses on either side, and on appearance, or contempt in not appearing, shall proceed to hear the matter, and examine any witness on oath, and give judgment thereon; and on proof made, either by confession, or on oath of one witness, convict the accused of the offence charged; and if he shall not, at the time and place of conviction, if present, or if absent within three days after notice, either personally served or left for him at the place where the offence was done, according to this act, c. 9. pl. 93., pay the penalty of which convicted, together with the costs attending the same, to be ascertained by the convicting justice; then such justice shall issue his warrant of distress, empowering the person to whom the same is directed to distrain the goods of such offender wherever found, within his jurisdiction, and also any goods found in the house, outhouse, cellar, or other place, in which such offence was done, or found in any house, &c. belonging to, or occupied therewith, or which shall be found in any place entered with the excise for keeping ale or beer, cyder or perry, in the name of such offender; and on the goods so distrained, the officer executing such warrant shall levy the sum expressed therein, as by 27 G. 3. c. 20. and 56 G. 3. c. 55. directed, 56 G. 3. c. 117. s. 2.

92. But such distress may be sold at any time within the four days by 27 G. 2. c. 20. allowed at the request of the owner, id. s. 3.

93. There shall be paid to the officer executing such warrant of distress for the safe keeping of the goods distrained, for each day such goods shall be in his custody, a sum not exceeding 5s. per diem, and for any person acting in his aid, not exceeding 2s. per diem for each such person as the convicting justice shall allow, due proof being first made on oath that such assistance was necessary, id. s. 4.

94. One moiety of the penalty so levied shall be paid to the informer, and the other to the use of the poor of the parish, or place where the offence was committed, as such justice shall direct; and if the officer shall make return to the warrant, that no sufficient distress can be found, any justice for any county or place where such offender is found, on producing to such justice such warrant and return (and if such justice is of any other county or place, then on oath made of the hand-writing of the justice granting such warrant and of the truth of such return,) may commit the offender to the common gaol or other prison within his jurisdiction, for not exceeding 6 or less than 3 calendar months, unless such penalty and costs of all proceedings attending the conviction and warrant of distress be sooner paid, 35 G. 3. c. 113. s. 5.

95. The directing of any summons issued for any person to appear and answer any information or complaint for selling beer or other excisable liquors by retail without licence to such person by the name in which he shall have entered any house, cellar, &c. for keeping beer or ale, or in the name by which he is usually known, whether the same is the real or a feigned name, and the leaving same at the house, &c. in which the offence is stated in any information to have been committed, and affixing a copy thereof on the door, or other conspicuous part on the outside thereof, (such service being proved by oath of party serving and affixing such summons,) shall be deemed as effectual as if the same had been personally served on or directed to the party by his real name, id. s. 6.

96. Every alehouse-keeper or retailer of beer or ale, who has in custody any beer or ale to sell by retail, shall, 3 days before he begins so to sell, make a true entry in writing at the next office of excise, of every house, outhouse, cellar, or other place to be used for keeping beer or ale, or selling the same; and such entry shall state the true name of the person making the same, and also whether he is an alehouse-keeper, victualler, or retailer, and he shall be deemed the occupier or proprietor of every place so entered, so long as such entry remains in force, or such beer or ale in his custody; and every person who shall make use of any such place for keeping or selling beer without making such entry, shall forfeit for every default 50*l.*, to be recovered, mitigated, and distributed, as other excise penalties; and all storehouses or other places used for keeping any beer, ale, or worts in cask, without being so entered, shall be deemed concealed places, &c. within all acts now in force in relation to private and concealed places for keeping excisable liquors, id. s. 7.

97. All beer, ale, cyder, perry, and other excisable liquors, together with all other goods found in any house, or other place, wherein any such offence shall be committed, or in any house, &c. thereto belonging, or occupied therewith, or which have been entered as in s. 7. for keeping beer, or ale, cyder or perry, by or in the name of the person convicted, by whom or by what title soever claimed, shall be liable to such warrant of distress as in s. 2. pl. 91. to satisfy all penalties and costs incurred by any person for any offence done within or upon the same premises, as if the offenders had been the real and true owners thereof, id. s. 8.

98. Persons making such entries as in s. 7., as alehouse-keepers, victuallers, or retailers, shall be deemed sellers by retail of such liquors, and any justice of peace may summon before him, or any other justice, any entry-keeper or other officer of excise having the custody of such entries made by innkeepers, victuallers, and retailers of beer or ale within his division, who shall when required produce the same before such justice; and also the stock-books of such persons; and such justice shall examine such officer on oath respecting any such entries, or any stock of any person making such entries; and if it appear that any person hath made any such entry, or that he hath been surveyed as an alehouse-keeper, &c. and is not entitled to receive the abatement of duty allowed to common brewers, then such justice may summon such person to produce to such justice his licence; and if such person does not, at the return of such summons appear before such justice, or appearing shall not produce his licence duly obtained and in force, such justice may, on proof of the service of such summons, as in s. 6. in case he shall not appear, adjudge the party guilty of selling without licence, and to be liable to the penalty hereby imposed, id. s. 9.

99. Every person summoned to appear as a witness on either side, who shall not appear at the time and place appointed, without a reasonable excuse to be allowed by such justice, or appearing shall refuse to be examined on oath, shall forfeit 10*l.*, to be levied by warrant of distress; and if no sufficient distress can be found, then the justice before whom the contempt was committed shall commit him to some prison within his jurisdiction, for not exceeding six calendar months, unless the penalty is sooner paid, and such penalty shall be applied to the use of the poor of the parish, as such justice shall direct, id. s. 10.

100. Every person who, after service of any summons to appear and answer to any charge for selling beer or ale, or other excisable liquors without licence, shall convey away any goods in s. 8. pl. 97. made liable to any warrant of distress from the house, &c. or other place wherein such offence was committed, or from any house, &c. or other place belonging thereto, or occupied therewith, or from any house, &c. entered with the excise office, as in s. 7., by or in the name of the person so convicted for keeping or selling beer or ale, the officer to whom such warrant is directed, or other person acting in his aid, may within 30 days after such conveying away, seize the same wherever found, and dispose of them as if distrained on the premises; but if any goods so removed shall be carried out of the jurisdiction of the magistrate originally issuing such warrant of distress, any justice for the county, &c. into which such goods are carried, shall, on proof on oath of the hand writing of the justice originally signing such warrant, indorse his name thereon, which shall be sufficient authority to any person bringing such warrant, and all others to whom it was originally directed, to execute the same, and proceed as if such goods had been found within the jurisdiction of the justice who signed the original warrant, 35 G. 3. c. 113. s. 11.

101. Any person aggrieved by the judgment of any justice before whom he shall have been convicted of any offence against this act, may appeal (and such convicting justice shall inform him of his right of appeal,) to the next quarter sessions holden for such county or place, unless such sessions shall happen to be within six days after such conviction, and in such case to the next subsequent sessions, and not afterwards; on giving at the time of his conviction to such justice a notice in writing of such his intention, and also giving sufficient security for the payment of the penalty and costs, in case such judgment shall be affirmed, and also entering into such recognizance, with sufficient sureties conditioned to try such appeal, abide the judgment of and pay costs awarded by the sessions; and the sessions shall determine such appeal, and their judgment shall be final; and if such sessions shall deem such appeal frivolous or vexatious, they shall adjudge to the party grieved his reasonable costs, not exceeding 5*l.*, id. s. 12.

102. Conviction in form set forth in 26 G. 2. c. 51. s. 15. pl. 58., shall be good, id. s. 13.

103. Any justice convicting any person under this act may mitigate the penalty to any sum not less than 10*l.*, if the offender has not been convicted under this act before, but not otherwise, id. s. 14.

104. The inhabitants of any parish or place where the offence was committed shall be deemed competent witnesses, id. s. 15.

105. All penalties under this act shall be determined within six months after the offence committed, id. s. 16.

106. This act shall not extend to persons selling ale or beer at the time and place of holding any accustomed fair, id. s. 17.

107. TO REPEAL THE stamp duties [29 G. 2. c. 12., 44 G. 3. c. 98. sch. A.] on licences granted by justices of peace for selling ale, beer, and other excisable liquors by retail, and for granting other duties in lieu thereof, 48 G. 3. c. 143. [Repealed by the new duties 56 G. 3. c. 113.]

108. All duties of stamps on licences granted by any justices for selling ale, beer, or other excisable liquors by retail, shall cease, 48 G. 3. c. 143. s. 1.

109. Every person who shall sell beer or ale by retail, or who shall allow cyder or perry to be drunk or consumed in his own house or premises, shall, before they so sell any beer or ale by retail, or cyder or perry, take out an excise licence, authorizing them so to do, which licence shall be granted as follows; (viz.) If such licence shall be taken out within the limits of the chief office of excise in London, the same shall be granted under the hands of commissioners of excise in Eng., or of some person employed by them for such purpose; and if taken out in any other part of Eng. the same shall be granted under the hands and seals of the several collectors and supervisors of excise within their respective collections and districts; and if such licence is taken out within the limits of the city of Edinburgh, the same shall be granted under the hands and seals of two commissioners of excise in Scot., or if taken out in any other part of Scot. then under the hands and seals of the several collectors and supervisors of excise in Scot., within their respective collections and districts, and such persons shall grant such licences accordingly to all persons applying for the same, they paying the duty due for the same, to be applied and accounted for as herein directed, id. s. 2.

110. The duty hereby imposed for such licences shall be paid at such places or to such persons as hereinafter in that behalf mentioned; (viz.) for licences taken out within the limits of the chief office of excise in London, the duty shall be paid at such chief office; and for licences taken out within the limits of the chief office of excise in Edinburgh, the same shall be paid at the chief excise-office in Edinburgh; and for licences to be taken out in any other part of G.B., the same shall be paid to the respective collectors of excise granting them; and all licences granted under this act shall be in force until the 10th Oct. next ensuing the time of granting thereof, id. s. 3.

111. In all cases where the licence or authority granted by any justices or magistrates, or other competent persons, to any person to keep a common inn, alehouse, or victualling-house, shall, in pursuance of any charter or usage, be limited at any other time except the month of Sept.,

then such excise licence shall be taken out within 10 days next after the date of such licence, and such excise licence shall continue in force for 12 months next ensuing such date, 48 G. 3. c. 143. s. 4.

112. No person shall retail any beer or ale, cyder or perry, to be consumed in his own house after the expiration of his excise licence, unless he has taken out a fresh one within 10 days after such expiration, and so renew it from year to year; and every person who shall so do without taking out such licence, or without renewing the same, shall forfeit 50*l.*, id. s. 5.

113. On the death of any person so licensed, or upon the removal of any such person from the entered house or premises in which such his excise licence shall authorize him to sell ale or beer by retail, or cyder or perry, the commissioners of excise in Eng. and Scot. respectively, or any one of them, and the several collectors and supervisors of excise in Eng. and Scot. within their respective collections and districts on the production of a certificate [see 26 G. 2. c. 31. s. 2. pl. 46.] of a justice or magistrate given after the death or removal of the former occupier of the house or premises, approving of the person to whom such certificate is given, may authorize such person in like manner to sell beer or ale, or cyder or perry, where such person so licensed under such excise licence carried on such trade for the remainder of the term for which such licence was originally granted without taking out a new one, provided that persons trading in partnership and in one house only shall not be obliged to take out more than one such excise licence in one year; and no one licence granted under this act shall empower any person to sell beer or ale, or cyder or perry, in any other house than the house in which he sold beer or ale, or cyder or perry, at the time of granting such licence, id. s. 6.

114. Neither the commissioners of excise in Eng. or Scot., nor any person employed by such commissioners in Eng. to grant such licences, nor any of the collectors or supervisors of excise shall grant any such licence to sell beer or ale, or cyder or perry, or any licence to sell spirituous liquors, strong waters, or wine or liquors by retail, to any person who shall not produce a licence duly granted by the justices of peace [see 26 G. 2. c. 31. pl. 46.] to such person to keep a common inn or ale-house, and such licence of such justices shall be in this form:

'County of — } At a general meeting — for the — holden at — within — the said — on the — day of — A. D. — for the purpose of authorizing persons to keep common inns, alehouses or victualling-houses, We, — being H. M.'s justices of the peace for — or magistrates of — [as the case may be] do hereby authorize and empower A. B. at the sign of — in the — of — in the — aforesaid, to keep a common inn, ale-house, or victualling-house, and to utter and sell in the house in which he now dwelleth, and in the premises thereunto belonging, and not elsewhere, victuals, and all such exciseable liquors as he shall be licensed and empowered to sell under the authority and permission of any excise licence, which shall be duly granted by the commissioners of excise, or persons to be appointed or employed by them for that purpose, or by any collector and supervisor of excise respectively; provided that the true assize in bread, in beer, ale, cyder, and all other liquors, be duly kept, and that no unlawful game or games, or any drunkenness or other disorder be suffered in his house, yard, garden, or premises, but that good order and rule be maintained and kept therein, according to the laws of this realm in that behalf made; the authority and power hereby granted to continue in force for one whole year from the — day of — and no longer. Signed —, ' id. s. 7.

115. This act shall not alter the laws, provisions, or charters of any city, town corporate, or university, in relation to granting licences by any justices or magistrates, or other person authorized so to do, or in relation to taking recognizances on granting the same, except as to the payment of duty and form of the licence, or repeal any act as to the sale of table beer at 1*½*d. per quart, id. s. 8.

116. All clerks to justices or magistrates may take the same fees as heretofore for such licences, id. s. 10.

117. Every person licensed to keep a common inn, &c. who is by any conviction disabled from keeping the same, shall also thereby be disabled from retailing beer, or ale, or cyder, or perry, under any excise licence, which licence shall, from the time such conviction had become void, and in all cases of prosecution of any such persons whose excise licence shall so become void, a certificate from the clerk of the peace of such conviction shall be legal evidence, and which certificate such clerk shall grant without fee, id. s. 11.

118. All fines and penalties hereby imposed shall be recovered and mitigated according to the excise laws, or by action of debt, &c. or by information in any court of record at Westminster, or the Scotch court of exchequer, and shall go, one moiety to H. M. and the other to the informer, id. s. 12.

119. Powers of former excise laws extended to this act, id. s. 13.

120. To repeal the duties on licences for retailing beer, ale, cyder, perry, or spirits, in G. B., and for imposing other duties in lieu thereof, 56 G. 3. c. 113.

121. Duties now payable (48 G. 3. c. 143.) for licences to retail beer or ale, cyder, perry, or spirits, in G. B. shall be Rev., id. s. 1.

122. There shall be levied and paid in G. B. upon all licences taken out by retailers of beer or ale, or of cyder or perry, to be consumed on their own premises, the following sums:

48 G. 3. } If such retailer's house, yard, offices, &c. be { 15
2. 3. } rated by acts for granting duties on in- { 15 and under 20
4. 4. } habited houses at per ann. { 20 or more.

Likewise for licences taken out by retailers of spirits, not being aqua vitae, in G. B. distilled from British materials in Scot.:

48 G. 3. } { 15
6. 6. } { 15
8. 5. } If such retailer's house, yard, offices, &c. { 20
8. 17. } be rated as aforesaid { 25
9. 9. } { 25
10. 1. } { 30
10. 13. } { 40
 } { 50 or more.

56 G. 3. c. 113. s. 2.

123. The duties hereby imposed shall be under the management of commissioners of excise, id. s. 3.

124. These duties shall be collected, paid, and recovered, in the same manner as all other excise duties, and be subject to the same forfeitures; and such retailers shall be subject to all the conditions, rules, &c. and all the provisions of former acts now in force, made for securing the revenue of excise, and which shall extend to the duties hereby imposed, id. s. 4.

125. Monies arising by this act, except the necessary charges of collection, shall be paid into the exchequer, and carried to the consolidated fund of G. B., id. s. 5.

11. No alien shall make cloth, or put wool to work to make cloth, on pain to forfeit the cloth made, id. s. 10. [REC. id. s. 2.]

12. Aliens shall sell their wares in gross, and not by retail, on pain to forfeit the value of the wares sold, and being a handicraftsman, shall not take any apprentice or servant, except his son or daughter, or a subject born, on pain of 20*l.* one half to the king and the other to him that will sue by action of debt, without essoin, &c. allowed, id. s. 11. [REC. id. ibid.]

13. FOR PROHIBITING aliens from bringing English horns unwrought, and giving certain powers to the wardens of the horns of London, 4 E. 4. c. 8. [REP. 1 J. 1. c. 25. s. 44. REV. except as to search for horns in Stourbridge and Ely fairs, and as to limitation of prices of horns, 7 J. 1. c. 14.]

14. No alien shall buy unwrought English horns, &c. gathered within London, or in 24 miles on every side thereof, 4 E. 4. c. 8., 7 J. 1. c. 14. ss. 2, 3.

15. No person shall sell English unwrought horns to any alien, or cause them to be sent over the sea, on pain of forfeiture of double value, one moiety to H. M. and the other to him who will sue for the same, 7 J. 1. c. 14. s. 4. [See old regulation, 4 E. 4. c. 8.]

16. The wardens of horns' company may search for all horns in London and 24 miles round, and if any defective horns are found, and proved so before the lord mayor, they shall be forfeited, half to H. M. and half to the wardens: but when English horns have chosen their horns, the rest may be sold to aliens or sent abroad, 7 J. 1. c. 14. s. 2., and 3 & 4 E. 4. c. 8.

17. CONCERNING the taking of apprentices by strangers, 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 2. [MADE PERP. 21 H. 8. c. 16. s. 8. AMD. id. s. 9., 32 H. 8. c. 16. ss. 8. 10. 12. See 1 R. 3. c. 9. s. 11. pl. 12., and 2 Inst. 2. n. 7., that this act is still in force; but see also 5 Ed. 4. LABOURERS.]

18. No stranger born, he be denizen or not, using any handicraft within this realm, shall take any apprentice, except such apprentice be born within the king's obeisance, on pain to forfeit 10*l.* for each apprentice, one moiety to H. M., and the other to him that will sue for it by action of debt, &c. information, or otherwise, wherein no essoin, &c. 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 2. s. 1.

19. And under like pain to be forfeited and recovered as in s. 1. pl. 18., no stranger born using any handicraft within this realm, shall have in his service more than two journeymen, &c. except they be H. M.'s subjects, id. s. 2.

20. All aliens born using any handicraft, be they denizens or not, and inhabiting within the city of London, or the suburbs of the same, Westminster, or Southwark, or within two miles compass of such city, shall be under the search of the wardens and fellowships of handicrafts within such city, with one alien being an householder chosen by such wardens of that craft that they shall occupy, id. s. 3.

21. Such wardens, with one alien, shall limit to every alien of the mystery they be of, a mark, without fee, by which their wares may be known, id. s. 4.; and shall search and reform as well within such city as elsewhere, all wares made by aliens, id. s. 5.

22. No stranger born using the mystery of a smith, joiner, or cooper, shall make any wares, except they put such marks on such wares before they be put to sale, as such wardens in s. 3. pl. 20. shall limit, on pain to forfeit double the value of such wares, to be sued for and applied as in s. 1. pl. 18., id. s. 6.

23. If on any such view any wares be found in the possession of the workers, of any stranger falsely made, such worker shall forfeit the same, to go one half to H. M. and the other to the party suing by action of detinue wherein no essoin; &c., id. s. 7.

24. Wardens and masters of fellowships in other corporations, and the parish, &c. other head officers in towns, lacking wardens have like authority, &c. aliens shall obey them on like pains, id. s. 8.

100. Every alien shall be viewed by any such wardens or bailiffs, may complain by answer to any view, to the lord chancellor or justices of assize, in the without licence time being, who shall give redress, id. s. 9.

It shall not extend to aliens inhabiting within the universities of Oxford or Cambridge, or within the sanctuary of St. Martins-le-grand, 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 2. s. 11.

27. But no artificer, alien, inhabiting within such universities or sanctuary, as in 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 2. s. 11., shall retain in their service at once more than [ten, by 21 H. 8. c. 16. s. 9.] [two, by 32 H. 8. c. 16. s. 8.] aliens, journeyman or apprentices, on the pain in that act contained, 21 H. 8. c. 16. s. 9., 32 H. 8. c. 16. s. 8.

28. If such wardens, as in s. 3. pl. 20., and s. 8. pl. 24., refuse to mark wares, aliens may sell their wares without the mark, 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 2. s. 12.

29. This act shall not extend to any other handicrafts than joiners, pouch-makers, coopers, and blacksmiths, id. s. 13.

30. Any lord of parliament and other H. M.'s subjects, having lands, &c. of the yearly value of 100*l.*, may retain alien joiners and glaziers in their service, notwithstanding this act, id. s. 14.

31. No subject or denizen shall keep above four aliens in his family. Penalty 10*l.* each, to go one moiety to H. M., and the other to the party suing by writ original, or information, wherein no essoin, &c. allowed, 32 H. 8. c. 16. s. 10.; but lords of parliament may have six aliens at once, id. s. 12.

32. FOR RATIFYING a decree of the court of Star-Chamber concerning strangers and handicraftsmen residing in Eng., 21 H. 8. c. 16.

33. "After reciting a decree of such court of 15th Feb. 1528, whereby it was declared that aliens should keep only two alien servants; and that alien house-keepers should bear charges as subjects, and if any refused so to do, they should no longer occupy any handicraft under the penalties of 1 R. 3. c. 9. s. 11. pl. 12., and 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 2. pl. 17.; and that aliens on warning given by the wardens of their different mysteries, should swear allegiance to the king, and to obey the laws; and that after 15th Feb. 1628, no alien should set up any shop on pain of the statutes aforesaid; and that aliens should not assemble in conventicles, but only in the common-halls of their crafts," the said decree shall be put in execution, id. ss. 1—7.

34. CONCERNING aliens, 32 H. 8. c. 16. ss. 1—7., pl. 9, 13.

35. "After reciting the 1 R. 3. c. 9. pl. 9., 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 2. pl. 17., and 21 H. 8. c. 16. pl. 32," it is ENACTED, that all strangers made denizens, shall be obedient to the said statutes and all others, and that all letters patent for making denizens, shall contain a proviso to that effect, unless H. M. shall grant any special privileges, in which case such privileges shall be also expressed, id. ss. 1—7.

36. Every stranger born, not being denizen, who shall come into H. M.'s dominions, shall be bound by the laws and statutes of the realm, id. s. 9.

37. All leases of any dwelling-house or shop within any of H. M.'s dominions made to any alien, handicraftsman, not being denizen, shall be void, and no such alien shall take, and no person shall grant any such lease on pain of 100*l.*, the one moiety to H. M. and the other to such as will sue for the same by writ original or information, wherein no essoin, &c., id. s. 13.

38. CONCERNING bakers, brewers, surgeons, and scriveners, 22 H. 8. c. 13.

39. No alien, being a common baker, brewer, surgeon, or scrivener, shall be interpreted a handicraftsman within 1 R. 3. c. 9., 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 2., 21 H. 8. c. 16.; and all process against him under those statutes shall be void, id. ibid., [and see pl. 29.]

40. FOR ENABLING natural born subjects to inherit the estate of their ancestors, either lineal or collateral, notwithstanding they were aliens, 11 & 12 W. 3. c. 6. [EXPL. 25 G. 2. c. 29. EXT. to Scot. 16 G. 3. c. 52.]

41. All natural born subjects within any of H. M.'s dominions shall inherit all manors, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, on deducing pedigree and title by descent from any lineal or collateral ancestors, though the latter were aliens, 11 & 12 W. 3. c. 6. s. 1. [So in Scot. by 16 G. 3. c. 52. s. 1.]

42. This shall give title to any person to inherit as heir or coheir to any person dying seized of such estates in possession, reversion, or remainder, by enabling them to derive pedigree and title through an alien ancestor, unless he was capable to take the same estate as such heir or coheir at the death of the ancestor last seized thereof, 25 G. 2. c. 39. s. 1. [So in Scot. 16 G. 3. c. 52. s. 2.]

43. Where the person or persons who are in being, and capable to take at death of the ancestor so dying seized, and on whom descent is cast by these acts, shall be a daughter or daughters, and the alien father or mother through whom the latter derive descent shall afterwards have a son born within any of H. M.'s dominions, the descent so cast shall be divested in favour of the son, who shall inherit as in case of birth of a nearer heir at common law: or if such alien father or mother, through whom, &c. should have a daughter or daughters so born, she or they shall hold in coparcenary with the first mentioned daughter or daughters, 25 G. 2. c. 39. s. 2. [So in Scot. 16 G. 3. c. 52. s. 3.]

44. FOR ALLOWING aliens in foreign colonies surrendered to H. M. to exercise the occupations of merchants or factors, 37 G.3. c.63. s.5—6. [See rest of this title, SHIPS—Table of Exr.]

45. Every person, though an alien born, and neither naturalized nor made a free denizen, who shall reside in any island or place which has surrendered, or shall hereafter surrender to H.M., and be in his possession, and who shall have taken the oath of allegiance to H.M. according to the terms of capitulation, shall, from the time of such surrender, be entitled to exercise the occupation of a merchant or factor in any such place while it remains in H.M.'s possession or protection, notwithstanding 12 C.2. c.18. s.2; subject to the laws to which H.M.'s subjects are liable therein, 37 G.3. c.63. s.5. [see a similar regulation extending to the West Indies only, 34 G.3. c.42. s.6.]

46. Proviso that this act shall not affect the rights of the E.I.C., 37 G.3. c.63. s.6.

47. FOR ESTABLISHING regulations respecting aliens arriving or resident in this kingdom, in certain cases, for two years from passing of this act (s.24.), 56 G.3. c.86. [Con. to the end of the session of 1820, 58 G.3. c.96., and for two years from that time, 1 G.4. c.105.]

48. Every alien who shall not depart the realm within the time limited in any H.M.'s proclamation, order in council, or order under sign manual, or in any order of the lord lieutenant, or other chief governor and privy council of Ire., or who shall wilfully refuse or neglect to pay due obedience to the same, or shall be found in this realm contrary thereto, may be caused to be arrested by any principal secretary of state, lord lieutenant, or chief secretary of Ire., or by any justice of peace, or by the mayor or chief magistrate of any city or place, and committed to the gaol of the county or place where arrested, there to remain till taken in charge for the purpose of being sent out of the realm, as in s.3. pl.50., 56 G.3. c.86. s.1.

49. Every alien wilfully disobeying such proclamation, &c., or found in this realm contrary thereto, and convicted thereof in the courts of K.B. in Westminster or Dublin, of oyer and terminer, gaol delivery, in Eng. or Ire., or great sessions in Wa., or court of judicature in Scot., may be sentenced to not exceeding a month's imprisonment for first offence, and 12 months for second and any subsequent offence, id. s.2.

50. Aliens may be given in charge to a king's messenger, in order to be conveyed out of the kingdom by warrant under hand and seal of a principal secretary of state, or of the lord lieutenant or chief secretary of Ire., in cases where the latter apprehend that immediate obedience will not be paid to, or where any alien is arrested for neglect of, any such proclamation or order as in s.1. pl.48., and before or after any punishment as in s.2; but if any alien, not having been convicted, as in s.2. shall allege any excuse for noncompliance with such proclamation or order, or any reason why it should not be enforced, or why further time should be allowed him for complying therewith, the privy council in G.B. or Ire. shall judge of the sufficiency thereof, and allow or disallow the same absolutely or conditionally; and where the alien is in custody under warrant of any secretary of state, as in s.1., the messenger or person having him in custody, shall forthwith, on such excuse, &c. being signified to him, make known the same to the secretary of state, who shall forthwith suspend execution of such proclamation, &c. till the privy council's determination is known [but see s.10. pl.51.], till which time the alien shall remain in custody, unless released by consent of such secretary, or order in council, with or without security, id. s.3.

51. The mayor, or any one or more of the aldermen of London or Dublin, or of any justices of peace, being specially authorized by warrant under hand and seal of a principal secretary of state, or by chief secretary of Ire., or generally by order of H.M. in council, or any mayor or chief magistrate, or other magistrate or magistrates of any city, borough, or town corporate so authorized, may cause any alien whom he or they have cause to suspect to be a dangerous person, to be taken into custody and examined, and either to discharge or detain him there, as advisable; and if the latter, he may, by warrant under hand and seal, order him to be detained in custody until H.M.'s pleasure is known; but every such mayor, &c. or justice shall forthwith transmit an account of his proceedings touching such alien, and of the reasons for detaining him, to a principal secretary of state, or chief secretary in Ire., in order that H.M. by warrant under sign manual, or under hand and seal of a principal secretary of state, and lord lieutenant by order under his hand, or under hand and seal of the chief secretary, may direct such alien to be discharged or ordered out of the kingdom, id. s.10.

52. Where by this act power is given to commit aliens to gaol, any judge or baron of the degree of the coif of the courts at Westminster or Dublin, and the lord-justice-clerk or commissioners of judicature in Scot. may, if, on application made, he see sufficient cause, admit such person to bail, the latter giving sufficient security for appearance to answer the matters alleged, id. s.16.

53. So also may a justice of peace, if authorized by warrant of a principal secretary of state, or of the lord lieutenant, or chief secretary in Ire., specifying the security to be taken, id. s.17.

54. Where an alien committed by this act for custody till put in charge for the purpose of being sent out of the realm, shall not be so sent out within two calendar months after commitment, any judge, &c. as in s.16. pl.52., enumerated, or any two justices of peace in any part of U.K. on application made, and proof that reasonable notice of intention to make it, had been given to a principal secretary of state in G.B., or to lord lieutenant or chief secretary in Ire., may in discretion, order him to be continued in or discharged from custody, 56 G.3. c.86. s.18.

55. The commander of every vessel shall, immediately on arrival at any port or place in this realm, declare in writing to any inspector of aliens appointed by principal secretary of state resident at or near the port, or in his default to the collector, comptroller, or chief officer of customs at or near the same, whether there is to the best of his knowledge any alien on board, or who has to his knowledge landed from his ship at any place in the realm: also specifying the number of aliens, if any, on board, or so landed from his vessel, their names, ranks, and descriptions, id. s.4.

56. If such commander wilfully neglects to make the above declaration, he shall for every offence forfeit 10*l*. for every alien on board at the time of his arrival, or who has to his knowledge so landed therefrom, and on his refusal forthwith to pay the same, the inspector or customs officer, as in s.4. pl.58., may seize the ship or boat used in landing the same till payment, id. s.5.

57. Such commander shall certify to the inspector or customs officer as in s.4. pl.55. in writing by him subscribed, every alien mariner actually employed in the navigation of such ship, and nothing herein extends to such alien while so engaged, id. s.6.

58. Every alien, immediately after arrival in any port or place in this realm, shall declare in writing to such inspector or customs officer, as in s.4. pl.55. or verbally to be reduced into writing by the latter, the name of the ship in which he came hither; and at the same time, as well as immediately before his departure from hence, respectively shall, in like manner, declare his name and rank, or description, or if a domestic servant, then also the name, &c. of his master or mistress, and the country or place from whence he has then come, and to which he is then going, his profession, the name and place of abode of the person, if any, to whom he is known; and every alien coming into this realm, who shall not make declaration as above, or who shall wilfully make false declaration thereof, may for every such offence, on conviction in K.B. in Westminster or Dublin, or in any court of oyer and terminer and gaol delivery in Eng. or Ire., or of great sessions in Wa., or judicature court in Scot., be imprisoned for not exceeding three months, or may at discretion be adjudged to depart out of this realm, and all other H.M.'s dominions, within a time limited in the judgment, and if found therein after such time, without lawful cause, shall be imprisoned for not exceeding twelve months, id. s.7.

59. The inspector or customs officer, appointed as in s.4. pl.55., to whom such declaration is made, or particulars delivered, as in s.7. pl.58., shall immediately register same in a book, in which certificates shall be printed in blank, and counterparts thereof, in the form given by the act, and shall insert therein the several particulars in their proper columns in both parts thereof, (except remarks to be entered only in one column,) and then cut off one part through the flourish between the two parts, and deliver without fee one part containing all the particulars (except the remarks) to the alien, and shall make an alphabetical list of the names of such aliens, id. s.8.

60. Every alien arriving in this realm, except domestic servants, as in s.7. pl.58., shall within one week after arriving at the place of destination, as expressed in the certificate, produce such certificate, if in London, at the alien office, in Crown-street, Westminster, or to the chief magistrate of any other town in which he shall be; and if no chief magistrate, to some justice for the county or district; or in case such certificate shall be lost, shall deliver a true account of all the particulars contained therein; and every alien who shall neglect or refuse to produce such certificate, or who shall wilfully deliver any false account, on conviction before two justices, shall be adjudged, at their discretion, for the first offence, to imprisonment for not exceeding one month, id. s.9.

61. If any certificate issued to any alien shall be lost, and he shall produce to one justice a copy of the certificate lost, from the customs officer at the port of arrival, or from office of a principal secretary of state, or of the chief secretary of Ire., and shall make it appear that he is the person named in such certificate, and that the same has been lost; such justice shall grant to such alien a fresh certificate, which shall be of the like force as that lost, id. s.11.

62. Every customhouse officer, and every magistrate or justice to whom any such certificate shall be produced or delivered, shall forthwith transmit, if in G.B., to one of the secretaries of state, and if in Ire., to the chief secretary, true copies of all entries made or delivered by virtue of this act, id. s.12.

63. All certificates given by any inspector of aliens, officer of customs, or justice, shall be given without fee; and every inspector, &c. officer, justice, magistrate, or other person, who shall take any fee of any alien, for any certificate under this act, shall forfeit 10*l*.; and every inspector or officer of customs, who shall refuse or neglect to make any entry as in s. 8. pl. 59., or grant any certificate thereon, or shall make any false entry, or neglect to return the copies thereof, shall forfeit 20*l.*, 56 G. 3. c. 86. s. 13.

64. Every person who shall forge, alter, or utter, knowing the same to be forged or altered, any certificate herein directed to be obtained, or shall obtain any such certificate under any other name than the true one, without disclosing the true name of such alien, and the reason for concealing the same, or shall falsely pretend to be the person intended to be named in such certificate, shall suffer imprisonment in the common gaol, for not exceeding one year, id. s. 14.

65. No foreign ambassador or public minister, nor the domestic servants of such, registered as in 7 A. c. 2. s. 5., or being actually attendant upon such ambassador or minister, shall be deemed an alien within this act; also nothing in this act shall affect any alien, not above 14; and if any question shall arise, whether any person alleged to be an alien, and subject to the provisions of this act, is an alien or not, proof thereof shall lie on the person alleged to be an alien, id. s. 15.

66. Aliens abiding in this kingdom, having heretofore quitted their respective countries by reason of troubles in France, or of conquests by France, shall not be liable to be arrested, imprisoned, or held to bail, or to find any caution for their forthcoming or paying any debt, nor be taken in execution on any judgment, or by any caption for any debt, or cause of action arising in any parts beyond seas, other than H. M.'s dominions, while they were not in H. M.'s dominions; and if so arrested, &c. shall be discharged by order of any court of record at Westminster or Dublin, or of court of Session in Scot., or of any judge of those courts in vacation, id. s. 19.

67. All pecuniary penalties above 10*l.* imposed by this act shall be recovered by action of debt, bill, or information, in any court of record at Westminster or Dublin, or of great sessions in Wes. or the courts of the county palatine, or by action, or summary bill or information in the courts of judicatory or exchequer in Scot., as the case requires, wherein no essoin, &c. nor more than one imparlance shall be allowed; and all such penalties under 10*l.* shall, on conviction of offender on oath before any justice of the county, stewardry, city, &c. or place where the offence is committed, be levied by distress and sale of offender's goods, by warrant under hand and seal of such justice, rendering back any overplus after deducting charges of distress and sale: and for want of sufficient distress, offender shall be committed to gaol for not exceeding six calendar months, without certiorari, advocacy, or suspension allowed, id. s. 20.

68. The inhabitants of any parish or place shall be deemed competent witnesses to prove the commission of any offence against the act, within the limits of such parish, &c. though any part of the penalty incurred is given to the poor thereof, id. s. 21.

69. Actions or prosecutions for any thing done by colour hereof, shall be commenced within 12 calendar months next after the offence, and defendant may plead the general issue, and give the special matter in evidence; and if defendant has a verdict, or judgment on demurrer, or otherwise, or if plaintiff discontinue or be nonsuit, defendant has treble costs, id. s. 22.

70. The powers hereby given to the Lord Lieut. or other chief governor, chief secretary, or privy council of Ire., do not extend to aliens arriving or being in G. B., nor do those so given to any justice or chief magistrate give them authority to act beyond their respective jurisdictions, id. s. 23.

71. To PREVENT aliens from becoming naturalized, or being made or becoming denizens, except in certain cases, 58 G. 3. c. 97. [CON. 59 G. 3. c. 8. s. 1., 60 G. 3. c. 12., and (till 25 March, 1822.) 1 G. 4. c. 18. s. 1.]

72. No alien shall become a naturalized subject or denizen, or become entitled to the privileges of either but by act of parliament, or H. M.'s letters of denization; but nothing herein shall affect rights to naturalization or denization, acquired by any person under acts for encouraging seamen to enter H. M.'s service, or for naturalizing foreign protestant settlers in H. M.'s colonies in America, or for naturalizing such foreign protestants serving in H. M.'s forces, or for encouragement of fisheries, 58 G. 3. c. 97.

ALIENATION.

1. IF THOSE alienations whereon a writ of entry sur disseisin in the post, was wont to be granted, are made in so many degrees that the writ cannot be made in the usual form, the plaintiff shall have an original writ (to be provided by the council), to recover their seisin without mentioning the degrees, 52 or 54 H. 3. c. 29.

2. FOR RENEWING or obtaining licences of alienation, and in pleading alienations with licence, or of pardons of alienation without licence in the court of exchequer and elsewhere, 1 C. 1. c. 3.

3. Licences of alienation shall be general, without expressing any uses except on raising uses by deed out of covenantor's estate, id. s. 1.

4. There shall be paid to the treasurer's remembrancer in exchequer, or to any other court where those pleadings are, and to his clerk, for drawing, pleading, entering and discharging an alienation with licence, or of a pardon of alienation without licence, and the uses thereof in such cases, where the subject by law ought to plead, 26*s. 8d.*; and if more is charged, the offender shall forfeit to party grieved 5*s.* for every 1*d.* taken over the 26*s. 8d.*, recoverable by him in action of debt, or information in K. B. or C. P., without essoin, &c. allowed, 1 C. 1. c. 5. s. 9.

5. Every officer of exchequer convicted as in s. 1. shall be disabled to hold his office, or to have any employment in the court of exchequer, or any other court of justice, id. s. 3.

AMBASSADOR.

1. FOR PRESERVING the privileges of ambassadors and other public ministers of foreign princes and states, 7 Ann. c. 12. [see recital, ss. 1, 2.] PUBLIC act, s. 6.

2. All process by which the person or goods of any ambassador, or other public minister of any foreign prince or state, authorized and received as such, or of their domestic servants may be taken, seized, or attached, is void, id. s. 3.

3. Attornies or other persons suing forth, and officers executing such process, on conviction by confession or oath of one witness, before the lord chancellor and chief justices, shall be deemed violators of the law of nations, and suffer such penalties and corporal punishment as they think fit, id. s. 4.

4. No trader within bankrupt laws, putting himself into the service of any ambassador, &c. shall take any benefit by this act, id. s. 5.

5. No person shall be proceeded against for arresting a servant of such ambassador, &c. unless the servant's name be first registered in the office of the secretary of state, and by him transmitted to the sheriffs of London and Middlesex, to be hung up in their office for the public to inspect, and copy without fee, id. s. 5.

AMERICAN COLONIES.

[No Seville, Pillar, or Mexico pieces of eight to be received at above the rate of 6s. per piece current money, and all other pieces in proportion] every person receiving or paying the same, contrary to the directions therein, shall suffer six months imprisonment, and shall forfeit 10*l.*, one moiety to H. M. the other to such as shall for the same with costs in any of H. M.'s courts in the plantations, or in any courts of justice of the proprietary governments where such offence was committed, 6 A. c. 30. s. 2.

5. Nothing in the proclamation or this act shall compel any person to receive any such foreign coins at the rates in the proclamations, id. s. 3.

4. Nothing herein shall restrain H. M. from settling the rates of the said foreign coin within such colonies, &c. in such other manner as H. M. by proclamation may direct, or from giving the royal assent to any law to be made in the colonies, &c. for settling the current rates of such coins, id. s. 4.

5. WHERE ANY person 15 or more but under 21 years old, is willing to be transported and enter into any service in any H. M.'s plantations in America, any merchant or other may contract with him for such service not exceeding eight years, provided the person so binding himself do come before the lord mayor of London, or some other justice for the city, if such contract is made there, or before two justices for the place where the contract is made, and acknowledge such consent and sign the same, in their presence and with their approbation, and such merchant or other may transport such person, and keep him in any of the plantations according to such contract, which contract and approbation, with the tenor of the contract, shall be certified by such magistrate to the next sessions for the county, to be registered by the clerk of the peace without fee, 4 G. 1. c. 11. s. 5.

6. FOR MORE EASY recovery of debts in H. M.'s plantations and colonies in America, 5 G. 2. c. 7. [REP. as to negroes, 37 G. 3. c. 119. s. 1.]

7. In all suits in any court of law or equity in any of the said plantations for any debt or account wherein a resident in G. B. is a party, the plaintiff, defendant, and witnesses therein may be examined to prove any thing by affidavits in writing, expressing the addition of the party swearing and his abode, and made on oath, or if by quakers on affirmation, before the chief magistrate of the city, or town, in G. B. where or near to which such person shall reside; and certified under the corporate seal, or seal of office of such chief magistrate, which, when transmitted, shall be of the same force as if the persons had appeared and sworn or affirmed viâ voce in open court or on a commission, 5 G. 2. c. 7. s. 1.

8. Debts to H. M. may be proved in like manner as a subject's may, id. s. 2.

9. Persons guilty of wilful perjury in any such affidavit or affirmation, shall be liable to the punishments thereof, id. s. 3.

10. The houses, lands, negroes, [REP. as to negroes, 37 G. 3. c. 119. s. 1.] and other real estates of the debtor in the said plantations, shall be liable to his debts to H. M. or any subject, and shall be assets to satisfy same, subject in like manner as real estates in Eng. are to specially debts, as well as to process of execution in the plantation courts, for seizing and selling them to satisfy the same, id. s. 4. [See the note to 37 G. 3. c. 119. in 8vo. ed. of Statutes.]

11. FOR RESTRAINING and preventing several unwarrantable schemes and undertakings in H. M.'s colonies in America, 14 G. 2. c. 37. [See like provisions for the U. K., 6 G. 1. c. 18. ss. 18-20. INSURANCE.]

12. The 6 G. 1. c. 18. ss. 18, 19, 20., for suppressing or punishing the unwarrantable practices therein mentioned, shall extend to the public extravagant and unwarrantable practice of setting up a bank in land security, the stock thereof to be raised by subscription, and shall be in force within H. M.'s dominions in America; and all the undertakings in such act mentioned and prohibited in the city of London, and other parts of this kingdom, and Ire., and other H. M. dominions, and all the undertakings herein mentioned, shall be deemed illegal and void in America also, and shall not be practised there; and all offenders against that or this act, being convicted on information or indictment in any court of record in any of H. M.'s plantations in America, shall be liable to the like fines and punishments, whereunto persons convicted in G. B. for public nuisances are liable;

and shall incur any further penalties, as were ordained by the statute of premiure, 16 R. 2. c. 5. and if any person shall suffer any damage by means of any undertaking carried on in America, and by this or the said act declared to be illegal, and will sue to be relieved therein; such person shall have his remedy by any action on this act, against any of the persons engaged in any such unlawful undertaking; and every such action for what shall be done in America shall be heard in any court of record within any of the plantations there; and the plaintiff therein, in case he recover, shall recover treble damages with costs, 14 G. 2. c. 37. s. 1.

13. Every person possessed of any promissory notes or bills, issued by any societies in the preamble mentioned, in America, may, at any time hereafter, bring his action in any court of record in H. M.'s dominions in America, against the persons or societies who issued the same, or against any person who shall be engaged in any such unlawful undertaking, or who signed the same, to which payment every such person is hereby declared personally liable, and in such actions the plaintiff may recover and have judgment for the immediate payment by the defendant of the full sum mentioned in such note or bill, with lawful interest from the day of date, with costs, although the time limited for payment is not expired, id. s. 2.

14. FOR ENCOURAGING the Moravians or United Brethren to settle in the British American Colonies, 22 G. 2. c. 30. PUBLIC act, s. 8.

15. Members of that society may make a solemn affirmation in lieu of any oath required in G. B. and Ire., and H. M.'s colonies in America, id. s. 1.

16. Every person convicted of having falsely made any such affirmation shall incur the penalties of perjury, id. s. 2.

17. No members of that society shall be qualified to give evidence in criminal cases, or to serve on juries, id. s. 3.

18. If summoned to military service in H. M.'s American colonies, they shall be discharged from personal service, on payment of the usual sum paid by other persons unable to perform the same, and possessed of like estates, id. s. 4.

19. Every person who shall claim the benefit of this act as a member of the Moravian church shall at time of claim produce a certificate signed by some bishop or pastor of the nearest church, and be examined touching the same and its execution; and on affirmation or other proof of his being a Moravian, and of due execution thereof by such bishop or pastor, shall be deemed a member of that church, id. s. 5.

20. Any person convicted of having falsely, &c. affirmed, (as in s. 5.) shall be subject to the penalties of perjury, id. s. 6.

21. The advocate of that church shall from time to time lay before the commissioners of trade and plantations, to remain in their office, a list of the names, handwriting and seals of any bishops so appointed by them, and the names of such pastors as are authorized by such advocate or bishops to give such certificates, id. s. 7.

22. FOR PREVENTING paper bills of credit hereafter to be issued in any of H. M.'s colonies or plantations in America, from being declared to be a legal tender in payments of money, and to prevent the legal tender of subsisting bills from being prolonged beyond limited periods for calling in and sinking the same, 4 G. 3. c. 54. [Am. 15 G. 5. c. 57.]

23. All acts of assembly of such colonies made for creating any paper bills of credit soever, declaring them to be a legal tender in any payment soever, shall be void, 4 G. 3. c. 54. s. 1.

24. All such acts made to prolong legal tender of such subsisting bills are void, id. s. 2.

25. Governor giving his assent to any such act shall forfeit 1000*l.*, be dismissed his government, and disabled from any public office, id. s. 3.

26. Certificates, notes, bills, or debentures, voluntarily accepted by public creditors in any American colonies, as a security for their debts, may by acts of assembly be made legal tender to the public treasurers in discharge of any taxes or debts payable at the treasuries of such colonies under laws passed within the same only, 15 G. 3. c. 57. s. 1.

27. FOR ENABLING H. M. to put the customs and other duties in the British America dominions, and the execution of laws relating to trade there, under the management of resident commissioners, 7 G. 3. c. 41. [Quære if Exp.]

28. Customs and other duties imposed on goods imported or exported from any British colony in America, may be put under management of resident commissioners appointed by H. M., id. s. 1.

29. Any three such commissioners shall have the same power of executing the laws of revenue and trade of such colonies as were enjoyed by commissioners of customs in Eng. by virtue of any act now in force, and H. M. may in such commission make provision for the execution of the laws, relating to the customs and trade of the British colonies, id. s. 2.

30. FOR REMOVING all doubts and apprehensions concerning taxation by the parliament of G. B. in any of the colonies, provinces, and plantations in North America and the West Indies, 18 G. 3. c. 12. [Conf. in its operation in Canada 31 G. 3. c. 31. u. 46, 47., and see 14 G. 3. c. 83. s. 18.]

31. The king and parliament of G. B. will not impose any duty, tax, or assessment whatever, payable in any of H. M.'s colonies, provinces, and plantations in North America, or the West Indies, except such as may be expedient to impose for regulation of commerce, the net produce whereof shall always be applied to the use of the colony, &c. in which it is levied in such manner as other duties collected by authority of the general courts or assemblies thereof are usually paid, id. s. 1.; and so much of 7 G. 3. c. 46. as imposed a duty on tea imported from G. B. into America, REP. 18 G. 3. c. 12. s. 2.

32. FOR ENCOURAGING new settlers, colonies and plantations in America, 30 G. 3. c. 27.

33. Subjects of the United States settling with their families in the Bahamas, Hermudas, or in the provinces of Quebec or Nova Scotia, or other H. M.'s North American territories, may, on licence obtained from governor, import in British ships navigated according to law, any negroes, [slave-trade abolished, 47 G. 3. S. 1. c. 36.] household furniture, utensils of husbandry, or clothing, duty free, so that the value of the whole importation shall not exceed 50*l.* for every white, and 40*s.* for every negro brought thither, and any dispute thereon shall be determined by arbitration of 3 British merchants at the port of importation, one appointed by the governor, one by the collector of customs, and one by the person so settling, id. s. 1.

34. Sales of such articles within 12 months after such importation, except in case of bankruptcy or death of owner, are void, id. s. 2.

35. Every white above 14 years old, so coming to reside, shall take oath of allegiance before the governor, lieutenant-governor, or chief magistrate, and shall swear that he intends to settle there: paying the fee usually paid on taking the oath of allegiance, id. s. 3.

36. FOR MORE EFFECTUAL recovery of penalties and forfeitures incurred in the British colonies and plantations in America, 49 G. 3. c. 107.

37. All the provisions in 4 G. 5. c. 15. s. 41. and 8 G. 3. c. 22., or of any other acts relating to the recovery of any penalties incurred in the British colonies or plantations in America, under the trade and revenue laws thereof, shall be Rev., and such penalties shall be sued for and recovered in any court of record, or of vice admiralty, having jurisdiction in the colony where the cause of prosecution arises, and if there are no such courts, then in any of such courts of that colony, &c. near that where the cause of prosecution arose; provided that where a seizure is made in any colony, other than that where the forfeiture accrues, such seizure shall be prosecuted in any of such courts, either in the colony where the forfeiture accrued, or where the seizure was made, at the election of the prosecutor, and where there are no such courts in neither of such colonies, then in any such court in some colony near to either of them, id. s. 1.

38. Such seizures shall be lodged with the collector or comptroller of the customs at the port where made, or into which the same shall be carried for adjudication, and shall be subject, in respect to the charge, care, sale, and delivery thereof, to the rules of 26 G. 3. c. 40., and shall be deliverable on security according to the rules of 28 G. 3. c. 34. s. 7., &c. id. s. 2.

ANNUITIES (LIFE).

1. Laws of Annuities granted previous to 14th July, 1813.

1. FOR REGISTERING grants of life annuities, and for better protection of infants against such grants, 17 G. 3. c. 26. [REV. except as to annuities granted before 14th July, 1813. 53 G. 3. c. 141. s. 1. The repealed annuity act is here given, as its provisions must for many years be the subject of discussion in cases arising on securities granted during its existence.]

2. A memorial of every deed, bond, instrument, or other assurance, whereby any annuity or rent-charge shall be granted for life or lives, or for term of years or for any greater estate determinable on lives, shall, within 20 days from its execution, be enrolled in chancery, and contain the day of the month and year when the deed, &c. bears date, and the name of all the parties, and for whom any of them are trustees, and of all the witnesses; and shall set forth the annual sum to be paid, the name of the person for whose life the annuity is granted, and the consideration; otherwise every such deed, &c. shall be void, 17 G. 3. c. 26. s. 1.

3. Before judgment is entered on any warrant of attorney for recovering or securing payment of any annuity or rent-charge already granted for lives, or years determinable thereon, and before execution is sued out, or action brought on such judgment already entered, a like memorial of the deed, &c. shall be enrolled in chancery, otherwise such judgment, execution, or proceeding in the action, shall be void, id. s. 2.

4. In every deed, &c., whereby any annuity or rent-charge shall be granted, the consideration really and bonâ fide (which shall be in money only,) also the name of the person by whom, and on whose behalf the consideration bona fide shall be advanced, shall be set forth in words at length, or such deed, &c. shall be void, 17 G. 3. c. 26. s. 3.

5. If any part of the consideration shall be returned to the person advancing the same; or, in case the consideration, or any part of it, is paid in notes, if any of the notes, with the privy of the person advancing the same, shall not be paid when due, or shall be cancelled without being first paid; or if the consideration, or any part of it, is paid in goods; or if any part of the consideration is retained, on pretence of answering the future payments of the annuity, or any other pretence; in every such case, the person by whom the annuity or rent-charge is payable may apply to the court, in which any action is brought for payment of the annuity on judgment entered, by motion, to stay proceedings on the judgment or action; and if it appears to the court that any such practices as aforesaid have been used, they may order the deed, bond, instrument, or other assurance, to be cancelled, and the judgment, if entered, to be vacated, id. s. 4. [Re-enacted, 53 G. 3. c. 141. s. 6. pl. 15.]

6. A particular roll shall be kept by the clerks of enrolments in chancery, on which such memorials shall be entered and enrolled as brought to the office; which clerks, or their deputy, shall specify upon the roll the day, hour, and time on which such memorial is brought to the office, and shall grant a certificate of the enrolment when required; and there shall be paid for the enrolment 1s. in case it do not exceed 200 words; but if it exceed 200 words, then after the rate of 6d. for every 100 words, and the like fees for every certificate and copy given; and the fee of 1s. for every search in the office, id. s. 5.

7. All contracts for the purchase of any annuity with any person under 21 years, shall be utterly void, any attempt to confirm the same, after such person shall have attained 21 notwithstanding: [and every person who shall, either in person, by letter, agent, or otherwise howsoever, procure, engage, solicit, or ask any person under 21 to grant any annuity or rent-charge, or to execute any instrument for securing the same; or shall advance or procure, or treat for any money to be advanced to any person under 21, upon consideration of any annuity or rent-charge to be secured or granted by such infant, after he shall have attained 21, or shall solicit or procure any infant, upon any treaty or transaction for money advanced, or to be advanced, to make oath, or to give his word of honour or solemn promise that he will not plead infancy, or make any other defence against the demand of such annuity or rent-charge, or the repayment of the money advanced to him when under age; or that when he comes of age he will confirm, or in any way substantiate such annuity or rent-charge, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and being convicted in any court of assize, oyer and terminer, or general gaol-delivery, shall be punished by fine, imprisonment, or other corporal punishment, as the court shall award], id. s. 6. [Re-enacted, as to all between brackets, by 53 G. 3. c. 141. s. 8. pl. 17.]

8. All solicitors, scriveners, brokers, and other persons who shall demand or receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other gratuity for procuring the loan, and for the brokerage of money paid as the consideration of such annuity, over and above 10s. for every 100l. actually paid, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and being convicted in any court of assize, oyer and terminer, or general gaol-delivery, shall be punished by fine and imprisonment, or one of them, at the discretion of the court; and the person who shall have paid any money or reward shall be a competent witness to prove the same, id. s. 7. [Re-enacted, 53 G. 3. c. 141. s. 9. pl. 18.]

9. This act shall not extend to any annuity or rent-charge given by will or by marriage-settlement, or for the advancement of a child; nor if secured upon lands of equal or greater annual value, whereof the grantor was seised in fee-simple or in fee-tail in possession, or secured by the actual transfer of stock in any of the public funds, the dividends whereof are of equal or greater annual value than the annuity; nor to any voluntary annuity without pecuniary consideration; nor to any annuity or rent-charge granted by any body corporate, or under any act of parliament; nor to any annuity where the sum to be paid does not exceed 10l. annually, unless there be more than one from the same grantor, to or in trust for the same person, id. s. 8.

II. Laws of annuities granted since 14th July, 1813.

10. The 17 G. 2. c. 26. is repealed, except as to annuities granted previous to 14th July, 1813., and pl. 5. 7. 18., 53 G. 3. c. 141. s. 1.

11. Within 30 days after execution of any annuity deed, bond, instrument, or other assurance whereby any annuity or rent-charge is granted for one or more life or lives, or for a term of years or greater estate determinable on a life or lives, a memorial of the date of every such deed, &c. of the names of all the parties and witnesses thereto, of the persons for whose life or lives such annuity, &c. is granted, and of persons by whom same is to be beneficially received, the pecuniary consideration for granting same, and the annual sum to be paid, shall be enrolled in chancery, in form annexed, to be reasonably varied where necessary, id. s. 2.

12. If any annuity is granted by, to, or for benefit of any company exceeding 10 persons, formed for purpose of granting or purchasing annuities, it shall be sufficient in such memorial to describe them by their usual firm or name of trade, 53 G. 3. c. 141. s. 3.

13. The names of the parties intended to take the annuity beneficially shall be described in every deed, &c. as in s. 2. pl. 11. as is required in the enrolment, or the deed, &c. shall be void, id. s. 4.

14. Any person by whom any such annuity or rent-charge for the time being shall be payable, may obtain a copy of every deed, &c. as in s. 2. pl. 11., whereby such annuity or rent-charge was granted, on giving 21 days' notice in writing to the person then entitled thereto, who shall, in 21 days, unless prevented by fire or inevitable accident, or within 21 days after removal of any impediment, send a copy of every deed, &c. whereby the annuity, &c. was granted, or of such assurance as is required in the notice; for which the person requiring same shall, on receipt thereof, pay him 6d. for every 100 words therein, and reasonable costs of sending or delivering the same; and the party holding the original deeds shall suffer the other party to compare the copy therewith; and if such copies are not delivered, or if the person holding the original deeds refuses to suffer copies to be examined therewith according to this act, the party chargeable with the annuity may take out a summons from any judge of K. B. or C. P., requiring the party so refusing to appear before him and shew cause in the premises, who may make such order for the production, copying, or examination of the copies delivered with the original deeds, as he thinks fit, id. s. 5.

15. Proceedings against the grantor of any annuity shall be stayed under the circumstances in 17 G. 3. c. 26. s. 4. pl. 5., enumerated; with this addition, that not only the person by whom the annuity is made payable, but "any person whose property is liable to be charged or affected thereby" may apply to the court, as in the recited section, id. s. 6., see pl. 5.

16. A particular book shall be kept by clerks of enrolments in chancery, or their deputy, in which the particulars mentioned in s. 2. of this act, shall be entered alphabetically by the names of the grantors, in order of time as brought into the office, specifying also the certain day, hour, and time on which the particulars were so brought in, and shall grant a certificate of entry thereof when required. Fees as follows: 20s. for such entry; 1s. for every certificate and copy given; 1s. for every search in the office, and no more, id. s. 7.

17. Contracts for purchase of annuities by persons under age remain utterly void, notwithstanding any attempt to confirm same after full age attained; and same punishment is given for procuring or soliciting a minor to grant an annuity, as in 17 G. 3. c. 26. s. 6. pl. 7., which is here re-enacted, id. s. 8. [see rest of section, pl. 7.]

18. Acting as solicitors, &c. in such cases is punished, and same evidence admitted, as in 17 G. 3. c. 26. s. 7. pl. 8., here also re-enacted, id. s. 9., see pl. 8.

19. This act shall not extend to Scot. or Ire., or to any annuity or rent-charge given by will or marriage-settlement, or for the advancement of a child, or secured on freehold, copyhold, or customary lands in G. B. or Ire., or in any of H. M.'s possessions beyond the seas, of equal or greater annual value than the said annuity, over and above any other annuity, and interest of any principal sum secured thereon, of which grantee had notice at time of the grant, whereof grantor is seised in fee-simple or fee-tail in possession, or the fee-simple whereof in possession the grantor is enabled to charge at time of grant, or secured by actual transfer of stock in public funds, the dividends whereof are of equal or greater annual value than such annuity; nor to any voluntary annuity, &c. granted without regard to money's worth; nor to any annuity, &c. granted by any body corporate, or under any authority or trust created by statute, id. s. 10.

APOTHECARIES.

1. FOR EXEMPTING apothecaries from serving parish offices and on juries, 6 & 7 W. 3. c. 4. (and recital in s. 1.) [REV. 1 A. c. 11., CON. 10 A. c. 14. s. 3.; MADE PER. 9 G. 1. c. 8. s. 1.]

2. All persons using the art of an apothecary within the city of London, being free of the Society of Apothecaries of London, and having been duly examined and approved as to skill, so long as they use the art, and no longer, shall be exempt from all parish, ward, and leet offices, and from serving on juries or inquests, and if returned to them, shall be discharged on producing testimonial, under the common seal of the said corporation, of such their examination, approval, and freedom, id. s. 2.

3. Apothecaries in Eng., Wa., or Br., who have served seven years in the art under 5 EL. c. 4., shall likewise be exempt from the offices and duties aforesaid, so long as they use their art, id. s. 3.

4. FOR BETTER REGULATING the practice of apothecaries throughout Eng. and Wa., 55 G. 3. c. 194. [PUBLIC clause, id. s. 31.]

5. The charter of 16 Dec. 15 Jac. 1. to the apothecaries of London and its suburbs, and within seven miles thereof by the name of "The master, wardens, and society of the art and mystery of apothecaries of the city of London," granting them perpetual succession and power of holding lands in fee simple or otherwise, and all property soever; and that they might by that name plead and be impleaded, and execute all things with a common seal to be altered at their pleasure, is confirmed, 55 G. 3. c. 194. s. 1.

6. So much thereof as directs the master, and wardens, and assistants by them appointed, to enter shops of apothecaries, and examine medicines, &c. and the apothecaries as to their skill, &c. and impose fines, shall be repealed, id. s. 2.

7. Instead of which the master, wardens, &c. or any two of the assistants, or other persons properly qualified as in s. 4. pl. 8., by them appointed, may enter any apothecary's shop, and search if the medicines, drugs, &c. or any thing soever therein contained, be wholesome and fit for cure and health of H. M.'s subjects, and may destroy, &c. all such as are stale or pernicious, and shall report the name of the person having them in possession, to the master, &c. who shall levy upon him 5l. for first, 10l. for second, and 20l. for third and other offence, id. s. 3.

8. No person shall be qualified to be appointed by the master, wardens, and assistants, a member of the court of examiners mentioned in s. 9. pl. 13., or to enter any shop in London, or within 30 miles thereof, for such purposes, unless he is a member of the apothecaries' society of ten years' standing; nor to enter any shop in any other part of Eng. and Wa., or to be one of the five apothecaries in s. 18. pl. 21. unless he has been an apothecary in actual practice for 10 years previous, id. s. 4.

9. Apothecary refusing to compound, or unduly compounding, setting to sale, or selling any medicines, directed by a prescription, signed with the initials in the handwriting of a lawfully licensed physician, shall on complaint by latter within 21 days, and conviction before any justice, [see s. 26. pl. 29.] if no good excuse shewn, forfeit 5l. for first, and 10l. for second offence, for the third shall forfeit his certificate, and be disabled to practise as an apothecary under the penalties of s. 20. pl. 24. for practising without certificate; and on applying for renewal thereof, shall promise and give security that he will not be again guilty of the like offence, id. s. 5.

10. The master and wardens may, by writing under their hands, appoint any one or more of the court of assistants to act as their deputies in all lawful things done under their charter or this act, and may remove them at pleasure, id. s. 6.

11. The master, wardens, and society, &c. shall superintend the execution of, and enforce this act, id. s. 7.

12. No act done by them for carrying any provision hereof into execution, (except the power of searching shops for and destroying bad medicines, as in s. 3. pl. 7., and except acts done by a majority of court of examiners, or of the five apothecaries in s. 18. pl. 21., mentioned,) shall be valid, unless done at some assembly in the hall of the society; and all powers of the master, wardens, and society may be exercised by a majority of the master, wardens, and assistants attending at such meeting not being less than 15 in number, the master being one, id. s. 8.

13. Twelve persons properly qualified as in s. 4. pl. 8. shall be chosen by the master, wardens, and assistants, and they or any seven of them shall be called "The court of Examiners of the Society of Apothecaries," which court or a majority thereof shall have full power to examine all apothecaries and their assistants throughout Eng. and Wa., and to grant or refuse such certificate, as hereinafter mentioned; and shall meet once at least in a week, in some room of the society's hall, for the above purpose, id. s. 9.

14. A chairman shall be appointed with a casting vote, in case of equality of votes on any one question, including his own, id. s. 10.

15. The oath or affirmation of such examiners for faithful execution of their duty, shall be administered by a majority of the master, wardens, or court of assistants, id. s. 11. [The form is annexed to this section.]

16. Such examiners shall continue in office one year, if not displaced by such master, &c.; but may be re-appointed, id. s. 12.

17. In case of their death or removal, vacancies may be filled up for the remainder of their time of office, id. s. 13.

18. After 1 Aug. 1815., no person (except already in practice as such) shall practise as an apothecary in any part of Eng. or Wa., unless examined by a majority of this court as to his skill, &c. in medicine, and having received a certificate from them of his due qualification; and a majority of the court may reject such person, or grant him such certificate, id. s. 14.; but no person shall be admitted to examination for such certificate till 21 years of age, and having served five years' apprenticeship to an apothecary, with satisfactory testimonials of sufficient medical education and good moral conduct, id. s. 15.

19. Persons intending to qualify themselves for such practice, shall give notice to the clerk of the master, wardens, and society of his intention, who shall notify the same to the latter, and shall present themselves at the next meeting of the court of examiners to undergo examination, id. s. 16.

20. After 1 Aug. 1815., no person except those then acting as assistants to apothecaries mentioned, s. 14. pl. 18., and except persons having actually served as apprentices for five years, shall act as assistant to any apothecary in compounding or dispensing medicines without examination by a majority of this court, or by the five apothecaries in s. 18. pl. 21. mentioned, and certificate granted by either of them, 55 G. 3. c. 194. s. 17.

21. The master and wardens, or the court of examiners may by writing under their hands, appoint five apothecaries in any county of Eng. and Wa., except London and 30 miles round, to act for that or for any adjoining county, and may displace them; such five apothecaries shall examine and grant or refuse certificates to all assistants to apothecaries in their county, at a monthly meeting in the county town; no act done by them shall be valid, except done at such meeting; all their powers may be exercised by a majority of not less than three; a chairman shall be appointed with casting vote in case of equality of votes including his own, id. s. 18.

22. There shall be paid to the master, &c. and society of apothecaries, for every certificate obtained by any person intending to practice as an apothecary in London, or within ten miles thereof 10l. 10s.; and 6l. 6s. in any other part of Eng. or Wa. and persons having obtained the latter certificate, must pay farther 4l. 4s., and have receipt for same indorsed thereon, in order to practice in London or within 10 miles thereof; and 2l. 2s. for every assistant's certificate, id. s. 19.

23. The monies arising from certificates shall be applied at discretion of the master, wardens, and society, id. s. 24.

24. Every apothecary acting without certificate after 1st Aug. 1815., (except those in s. 14. pl. 18. excepted), shall forfeit 20l.; and every assistant to apothecary so acting, (except those in s. 17. pl. 20., excepted), 5l., id. s. 20.

25. No apothecary shall recover his charges in any court of law, unless he prove that he was in practice as such, before the 5th Aug. 1815., or that he has obtained his certificate, id. s. 21.

26. After refusal of certificate to any apothecary or assistant, by their respective examiners, the former may, after six months, and the latter after three months, apply again, when it may be granted, id. s. 22.

27. A list of apothecaries certificated in the preceding year, and of their residences, shall be annually printed, id. s. 23.

28. Penalties recovered under this act shall go half to the informer, and the other half to the master, &c. as in pl. 5. at their disposal, id. s. 25.

29. Recovery of penalties exceeding 5l. shall be had by action in the name of the master, &c. as in s. 1. pl. 3., in any court of record in Eng. or Wa., without essoin, &c. if less than 5l., by warrant of distress, from one justice on confession of party, or evidence of one witness on oath; the overplus, after penalty and costs of distress paid, shall be returned; and if no sufficient distress found, such justice may imprison party for one calendar month, or till the penalty and costs be paid, id. s. 26.

30. Such distress shall not be unlawful, nor shall the parties making same be trespassers ab initio, for any defect in form in the proceedings, nor for irregularity committed by them; but the party grieved may recover for special damage, by action on the case, id. s. 27.

31. Nothing herein shall affect chemists and druggists in buying, compounding, &c. and vending drugs, medicines, &c. id. s. 28.

32. Nothing herein shall affect the rights of Oxford or Cambridge, or of the college of physicians, or of surgeons, or society of apothecaries, other than are by this act varied, or of any person practising as an apothecary before 1st Aug. 1815., id. s. 29.

33. Actions for anything done in pursuance of this act must be brought within six calendar months from the fact committed, or from cessation of damage in case of continuing damages; general issue may be pleaded giving the act and the special matter in evidence; and if the action is not laid in the county where the matter in dispute arose or is brought before 21 days' notice given or after sufficient satisfaction tendered, the jury shall find for defendant, and on such verdict, or if the plaintiff is nonsuited, or discontinued after appearance, or if a verdict or judgment on demurrer, or otherwise, passes against him, the defendant shall have double costs, id. s. 30.

3. FOR AVOIDING exactions on apprentices, 22 H. 8. c. 4. [ENFORCED 28 H. 8. c. 5.]
4. After recital of 19 H. 7. c. 7. No master, wardens, or fellowships of crafts or mysteries, nor any rulers of fraternities, shall take for entry of any apprentice into their company, above 2s. 6d., nor above 3s. 4d. for his entry when his term is expired, on pain of 40l., one half to H. M. and the other half to the party suing by action of debt, information, or otherwise, without essoin, &c. 22 H. 8. c. 4.
5. No master, wardens, &c. shall cause any apprentice or journeyman, by oath or bond, or otherwise, that he, after his term expired, shall not set up nor keep any shop, house, or cellar, nor occupy as a freeman, without licence of the master, wardens, &c. nor take after such term expired, any money or other things for their freedom, otherwise than appointed in 22 H. 8. c. 4. on pain of 20l., divided and recoverable as in that statute, 28 H. 8. c. 5.
6. TOUCHING divers orders for apprentices, 5 EL. c. 4. ss. 31. 34—40. 42—45. (See rest of title and statute, LABOURERS.) [AMP., by 20 G. 2. c. 19. ss. 5—6., 52 G. 2. c. 57. ss. 11—11., 6 G. 3. c. 25. ss. 1—5. 6., 51 G. 3. c. 96.] For repealed sections, see INDEX.
7. "AFTER repealing 5 EL. c. 4. ss. 25—50. and s. 41. comm. semb. which are in substance recited," it is enacted, that any person may take or become an apprentice, though not according to the provisions of 5 EL. c. 4. (viz. those contained in ss. 25—50. and s. 41. comm. semb.) but indentures of such apprentices which would be otherwise valid, shall be so notwithstanding the repeal hereby effected, 54 G. 3. c. 96. s. 2 [Semble, the last provision applies to indentures still made according to provisions of 5 EL. c. 4.]
8. Any justice or justices may hear and determine any complaints that may arise respecting apprenticeships, as if they were made under 5 EL. c. 4. (See that act s. 39.) id. s. 2.
9. Nothing herein shall alter or prejudice any custom of the city of London concerning apprentices or the ancient custom or franchises thereof, or of any other city, town, corporation, or company lawfully constituted, or the citizens and freemen thereof, or any bye-law of any corporation or company lawfully constituted, id. s. 5.
10. Provision that no persons not having been apprentices for seven years under 5 EL. c. 4. may use manual occupation, on penalty of 40s. a month, or may set any person to work on such occupation, except he have been apprentice, or having served as such will become a journeyman, on like pain, 5 EL. c. 1. s. 51., is REPEATED 54 G. 3. c. 96. s. 1.; and previously as to distillers of brandy from British malt, 12 Ann. st. 2. c. 5. s. 9.; as to hat and felt makers, by 17 G. 3. c. 55. s. 5.; as to soldiers exercising trades, 22 G. 2. c. 44.
11. Saving for liberties of the company of worsted makers in Norfolk and Norwich, granted by 14 H. 8. c. 3. 5 EL. c. 4. s. 53., and for those of London and Norwich, as to taking apprentices, id. s. 40. (and see 54 G. 3. c. 96. ss. 3, 4. pl. 9.)
12. If any person shall be required by any householder, using half a ploughland in tillage, to be an apprentice and serve in husbandry or other art, mystery, or manual occupation and shall refuse, then on complaint made to one justice, or to the mayor, bailiffs, or head officer, he may send for the person refusing, and if he think him meet to serve, may if he refuse to be bound, commit him to ward till he be bound to serve as an apprentice, 5 EL. c. 4. s. 35.
13. And if any such master shall misuse his apprentice, or the latter has any just cause to complain, or does not do his duty, either party may repair to one justice, or to the mayor, &c. (as above) who shall take such order between them, as the equity of the case requires; and if for want of good conformity in the master, the justice, &c. cannot agree the matter, such justice shall take bond of the master to appear at the next sessions for the county, city, or town, and on his appearance there, and hearing the matter, if it be thought meet to discharge the apprentice, the said justices, or four of them at least, one being of the quorum, or the said mayor, &c. (as above) with consent of three of his brethren, or men of best reputation within the city, &c. may, in writing, declare that they have discharged the apprentice and the cause thereof, which writing being enrolled by the clerk of the peace, or town clerk, shall be a sufficient discharge; and if the default be found in the apprentice, the justices, &c. or mayor, &c. (as last aforesaid) shall order him such correction, as they think meet, 5 Eliz. c. 4. s. 36. [See as to fixing master for ill-using apprentice, 33 G. 3. c. 55. post, JUSTICES.]

14. On complaint, by any apprentice put out by the parish, or on whose binding no more than 5*l.* was paid, of refusal of necessary provision, cruelty, or ill-treatment by his master or mistress, any two justices may summon the latter to appear before them, and on proof of the complaint on oath to their satisfaction, whether master, &c. is present or not, if service of summons is proved on oath, may discharge apprentice by warrant under their hands and seals without fee, 20 G. 2. c. 19. s. 3. [as to appeal against the order, see 32 G. 2. c. 57. s. 12. post, pl. 16. and as to appeal to sessions for any thing done under 20 G. 2. c. 19. see s. 5., and against removal of proceedings by certiorari, id. s. 6. post, tit. LABOURER.]

15. In every such case of discharge of a parish apprentice, such two justices may order the master to deliver up to the latter his clothes and wearing apparel, and also to pay to the churchwardens or overseers a sum not exceeding 10*l.*, to be applied under the order of the justices for again binding out the apprentice or otherwise for his benefit, as such justices shall think fit; and also to pay not exceeding 5*l.*, if such master shall refuse to deliver up such clothes; and if such master or mistress refuse to pay the sum ordered, such two justices may levy the same by distress and sale, with the expenses of distress, and may, if they think fit, compel such churchwardens and overseers to enter into a recognizance for the prosecution by indictment of such master for the ill treatment of such apprentice, and also order the costs of such prosecution to be paid, one moiety out of the poor rates, and the other out of the common stock of the county, and in case the churchwardens, &c. refuse to pay, may levy the same by distress and sale of their goods, together with expenses of distress, 32 G. 3. c. 57. s. 11.

16. And where any parish apprentice has been so discharged, and such master is convicted in consequence of such prosecution, or is found guilty in any action brought at suit of the party injured, the churchwardens, &c. shall not bind any other apprentice to him, but whenever he ought to take a parish apprentice, any two justices of the division, on application by the churchwardens, &c. may order such person to pay to them not exceeding 10*l.*, nor less than 5*l.*, for the purpose of binding out the apprentice, and if he refuse to pay, may levy the same by distress and sale, with expenses of distress; but such master, from whom any parish apprentice shall be discharged under 20 G. 2. c. 19. s. 3. pl. 14., may appeal against the order of discharge, and also against the order for payment of any money thereon, or in lieu of any subsequent binding under this act, to the next general quarter sessions, who shall finally determine same, allowing reasonable costs; and no distress shall be taken until after the general quarter session, in case the person ordered to pay the money shall within seven days after notice of the order, give notice to the churchwardens, &c. of such appeal; and if he fail to appear in support thereof, 40*s.* shall be added to the expenses of distress levied, id. s. 12.

17. Such two justices, on complaint of master on oath against any such apprentice, concerning any ill behaviour in his service, may punish the offender by commitment to the house of correction to hard labour for not exceeding one calendar month, or by discharging him as in s. 3. pl. 14. 20 G. 2. c. 19. s. 4.

18. They may also commit him to the house of correction, to remain and be corrected, and kept to hard labour, for not exceeding three calendar months, 32 G. 3. c. 57. s. 13.

19. Persons aggrieved by any thing done, or omitted by any justice, churchwarden, or overseer, under this act, besides such things for which appeal is above given, may appeal to the next quarter sessions, who shall determine same, and award costs to either party, id. s. 11.

20. EVERY APPRENTICE, who shall absent himself from his master's service before his term of apprenticeship expired, shall, whenever he shall be found, be compelled to serve his master for so long as he has absented himself, unless he make him satisfaction for the loss sustained by his absence, and so from time to time, as often as any such apprentice shall without leave absent himself before the term of his contract is fulfilled; and in case such apprentice shall refuse to serve or to make satisfaction, the master may complain on oath to any justice of the same county or place, who shall issue a warrant for his apprehension, and on hearing the complaint may determine what satisfaction shall be made to the master, and in case such apprentice shall not give security to make satisfaction according to such determination, may commit him to the house of correction for not exceeding three months, 6 G. 5. c. 25. s. 1.

21. Nothing herein shall extend to any apprentice whose master has received with him the sum of 10*l.*, id. s. 2.

22. No apprentice shall be compelled to serve for any time, or to make any satisfaction after expiration of seven years next after the end of the term, id. s. 3.

23. Nothing in this act shall extend to the stannaries, or to lessen the jurisdiction of the chamberlain or courts of London, touching apprentices, id. s. 6. [a similar provision in 20 G. 2. c. 19. s. 7., as regards the stannaries, was repealed 27 G. 3. c. 6. s. 1., as to appeal to sessions for any thing done under 6 G. 3. c. 25., see s. 5. of that act, post, tit. LABOURER.]

24. No person shall be bound by this statute to enter into any apprenticeship other than such as are under 21 years old, 5 El. c. 4. s. 36.

25. [For good execution of this act] the justices of every county, dividing themselves into several limits, and every head officer of any city or town corporate, shall yearly between Michaelmas and Christmas, and the feast of Annunciation and Nativity of St. John Baptist, by all methods which they think meet, make special enquiry of the execution of this statute, and shall see any defaults thereon severely punished, without favour or malice, id. s. 37.

26. Every justice or head officer shall have 5*s.* for each day of sitting, in execution of this statute, to be allowed and paid to him of the fines due to H. M. by force of this statute, in like manner as the justices have been heretofore commonly paid for their coming and charges at quarter sessions, so that their sittings be not at one time above three days, and for the matters in this statute contained, id. s. 38.

27. One half of the penalties under this act shall go to H. M., and the other half to him that will sue in any court of record by action of debt or information, without essoin, &c. allowed; and the said justices or two of them, one being of quorum, and head officers of cities and towns corporate may hear and determine offences against this statute, as well on indictment at quarter sessions as on information, action of debt, or bill of complaint sued: and may award process and execution therein in the usual manner; certifying the estreats under the same into exchequer yearly in Michaelmas term, id. s. 39.

28. Every person bound apprentice, according to this statute, though within age, shall be bound to serve for his term, as if he were of full age when bound, id. s. 43. [and this without as well as within London, id. s. 42.]

29. Saving for inhabitants within limits of the watch of Godalming, in Surrey, who may use arts and occupations, and take apprentices and servants, as inhabitants within market towns may do by this statute, id. s. 44. [comb. Exr.]

30. Forfeitures under this act, in cities and towns corporate, shall be levied and applied to the use of such cities, &c. as other forfeitures therein are by charter used to be levied, &c. id. s. 45.

31. OWNERS of ships, and every householder using the trade of the seas, and every gunner and shipwright may take and keep apprentices bound for 10 years or under, and such apprentices, being above seven years of age, shall be bound by the same covenants, as according to the custom of London, so that the bond of apprenticeship be by writing indented and inrolled in the next town corporate, to the habitation of the apprentice; for which enrolment the officer shall not take above 12*d.*, 5 El. c. 5. s. 12.

32. TO REGULATE the binding and assignment of parish apprentices, 43 El. c. 2. s. 5. in part. [See rest of the statute, Poor.] ANN. 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 30. s. 5., 2 & 3 A. c. 6. ss. 6-7., 7 G. 3. c. 39. s. 14., 32 G. 3. c. 57., 42 G. 7. c. 46. ss. 1-7., 51 G. 3. c. 40., 54 G. 3. c. 107., 56 G. 3. c. 159. s. 2. 10., and see the rest of that statute which further regulates this subject, pl. 97. [This title is framed to shew the object of the above provision, which has been the nucleus of all the later enactments, affecting the binding or assignment of parish apprentices.]

33. Churchwardens and overseers, by assent of two justices, may bind apprentices the children of any person who shall not be thought able to maintain them, [see s. 1. tit. POOR]; if a man-child, till [24, by 43 El. c. 2. s. 5., altered 18 G. 5. c. 47. s. 1. to 21 years old; and till 21, or her marriage, if a woman-child, 43 El. c. 2. s. 5. [See as to the distance of the residence of such master to the place where the child belongs, and several other regulations, 56 G. 3. c. 159. pl. 93.]

34. PARISH and hospital boys and girls in London may be bound apprentices for 7 or till 21 years of age, but no longer, 7 G. 3. c. 39. s. 14.

35. THE PERSON to whom such poor children are so appointed to be bound shall receive and provide for them according to the indenture, signed and confirmed by the two justices, and shall also execute the other part of the indentures, and on refusal, oath being thereof made by one of the churchwardens or overseers, before any two justices for that county or division, shall forfeit 10*l.* to be levied by distress and sale of goods, by warrant of the said justices; to be applied to the use of the poor of the parish, saving to the person to whom any poor child is so appointed to be bound, if aggrieved thereby, an appeal to the next quarter sessions, 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 30. s. 5.

36. In the case of the death of the master of any parish apprentice on whose binding no larger sum than 5*l.* is paid, [see s. 5. pl. 40.] the covenant for maintenance in the indenture, shall not continue in force longer than for three calendar months next after such master's death.

during which time such apprentice shall live with and serve as such, the executors and administrators, or their appointee, and shall be subject to the laws in force for better government of masters and parish apprentices, and in all such parish indentures there shall be annexed to the covenant for maintenance a proviso as in sched. (A), and if omitted, the covenant for maintenance shall, notwithstanding, be deemed to continue in force for no longer than three calendar months after death of master, 32 G. 3. c. 57. s. 1.

37. Within such three months any two justices of the county, division, or place, on application by the widow of the master or husband of the mistress, or of any son or daughter, brother or sister, or by any executor or administrator, of such master or mistress, by indorsement of such indenture, or the counterpart thereof, or by any other instrument in writing in the forms mentioned in sched. (B) and (C), to direct that such apprentices shall serve one of such persons, (such person having lived with and been part of the family of the master or mistress at the time of their death,) for the residue of the term; and the person obtaining such order shall declare his acceptance of such apprentice by signing his name to such order, after which order made, the executors and administrators, and personal estate of the master or mistress shall be discharged from any covenant on their part to be performed, and the person obtaining the same shall be deemed the master, as if the apprentice had been originally bound to him, and shall be bound by the covenants in the indenture, as if he had duly executed the counterpart, and shall be subject to regulations for better government of masters and parish apprentices, id. s. 2.

38. All the regulations herein directed to take place on the death of the original master, shall relate to the like event of the death of any subsequent master, as often as the case happens, id. s. 3.

39. If no such application is made within three calendar months, or if the two justices shall not think fit that such apprenticeship should be continued, the same shall be determined and at an end, id. s. 4.

40. But nothing herein before contained shall extend to any parish apprentice, but to such only as are living with and shall make part of the family, or shall be in the actual employment of the master at the time of his death, id. s. 5.

41. In case any such master shall, during the term of apprenticeship, or if the executors or administrators having assets shall, during such three calendar months, as in s. 1, 2. pl. 56, 37. refuse or neglect to maintain and provide for the apprentice, according to the covenant, two justices of the same county, division, or place, on complaint of such apprentice, or of the churchwardens and overseers, may by warrant under their hands and seals, levy, by distress and sale of the personal estate of such master, the sum necessary for the maintenance and clothing of the apprentice, and to reimburse to the churchwardens and overseers any sum expended by them for that purpose, id. s. 6.

42. "After recital of the obligation imposed by 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 30., to take more parish apprentices than is convenient to employ in families," Any master of such parish apprentice may by indorsement on the indenture, or by other instrument in writing, with consent of two justices as in s. 6. pl. 41. under their hands, assign such apprentice for the residue of his term, so that the assignee at the same time, by indorsement on the counterpart, or by writing under his hand, stating the indenture of apprenticeship, indorsement, and consent aforesaid, declare his acceptance of such apprentice, and acknowledge himself bound by the covenants in the indenture; which indorsement or instrument may be in the forms in sched. (D) and (E), in which case such apprentice shall be deemed the apprentice of the subsequent master; and so from time to time, as often as it shall be necessary for the latter to part with him, id. s. 7.

43. Whenever any such apprentice shall be assigned to another master under 32 G. 3. c. 57. the overseers, or parties to the assignment, shall insert the name and residence of such master, together with the other particulars in the book in s. 1. pl. 50. directed to be kept; and for non-performance thereof shall be liable to the penalties incurred by s. 2. pl. 51., as if the apprentice had been originally bound to such master, 42 G. 3. c. 46. s. 5.

44. When any master shall become insolvent, or so far reduced in circumstances as to be unable to employ or maintain such parish apprentice, two justices of the county, division, or place, on application of master, may enquire into the matter, and discharge the apprentice if it be true, 32 G. 3. c. 57. s. 8.

45. Nothing in this act before contained shall extend to the indenture of any parish apprentice, where more than 5*l.* is given, id. s. 9.

46. No indorsement on any parish indenture in pursuance of this act shall be charged with stamp-duty, nor any other instrument in writing, with any higher duty than that imposed on parish indentures, id. s. 10.

47. Persons aggrieved by any thing done or omitted by any churchwarden or overseer of the poor, or by any justice of peace, or other person soever under this act, besides those matters for which an appeal is hereinbefore specially given, may appeal to the next quarter sessions, who shall hear and finally determine the same, and may award costs to either party, 32 G. 3. c. 57. s. 14.

48. No master or mistress shall transfer any parish apprentice to any other, or in any way discharge or dismiss the same from his service, without consent of justices, as in 32 G. 3. c. 57. s. 7. pl. 42., &c. and no settlement shall be gained by any service of such apprentice after such transfer, unless performed under sanction of the above consent, 56 G. 3. c. 139. s. 9.

49. Any person who shall transfer or dismiss from his service any parish apprentice without such consent, shall forfeit not exceeding 10*l.* for every apprentice so transferred, id. s. 10.

50. Overseers of the poor shall provide and keep a book at expence of the parish, township, or place, and enter therein the name of every child bound out apprentice by them, together with the several other particulars in manner hereby required, according to schedule; and every such entry when made in such register, shall be laid before the two justices, who shall signify their assent to the indenture of apprenticeship at the time when it is laid before such justice, and each entry shall, if approved by the latter, be signed by them as in the schedule, 42 G. 3. c. 46 s. 1.

51. Every overseer who shall neglect to keep such book, or make such entries, or shall destroy or permit to be destroyed any such book, or shall wilfully obliterate, deface, or alter any such entry, so that it shall not be a true entry, or shall wilfully make false entry therein, or permit same to be done, or shall not lay such book before such justices for their signatures, as in s. 1. pl. 50., or shall not deliver such book to his successor in office, within fourteen days from his appointment; and every successor who shall refuse or neglect to receive same, when offered him by his predecessor, shall for every such offence on conviction thereof, [see the form, in s. 4. pl. 52.] before two justices for the same county, city, or place, on confession, or oath of one witness, forfeit not exceeding 5*l.*, to the use of the poor of the place, to be recovered by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by warrant under hands and seals of justices, and the overplus (if any) thereby arising, shall be returned on demand to the owner, after deducting costs of distress and sale; and in default of sufficient distress or immediate payment of such penalties, the justices may by warrant commit the offender to the common gaol or house of correction for not exceeding one calendar month unless they are sooner paid, id. s. 2.

52. Any person, at all seasonable hours, may inspect such book in the hands of the overseer, and take a copy of such entry on payment of 6*d.*, but any of the justices of the same county may inspect such book gratis; and it shall be deemed sufficient evidence, in all courts of law, of the existence of such indentures, and of all particulars specified in the register respecting them, in case their loss or destruction is proved to the court, id. s. 3. [s. 4. only contains the form of the conviction.]

53. Persons, to whom like powers are given by statute for binding out parish apprentices, as are given to overseers of poor, shall be liable as such to the penalties of s. 2. pl. 51. for not registering parish apprentices, as in s. 1. pl. 50., id. s. 6.

54. Persons aggrieved by any thing done in pursuance hereof, may appeal to the justices at their first general quarter sessions to be holden within four calendar months next after the cause of appeal arisen, on giving the respondent ten days' notice of appeal and of the matter thereof, which sessions shall determine same in a summary way, and grant reasonable costs to either party, id. s. 7.

55. Every person, to whom any poor parish boy shall be bound apprentice according to 43 El. c. 2., may, with approbation of two justices of the same county, and dwelling near the place where the boy was bound, or with approbation of any mayor, alderman, bailiff, or other chief officer, or magistrate of any city, borough, or town corporate, assign such apprentice to the master or owner of any ship belonging to any port within Eng., Wa., and Ber., for the remaining time of his apprenticeship, which assignment shall be registered, and certificates thereof transmitted by such collector at the ports where he is assigned over in manner aforesaid, and protections shall be given for such assigned apprentices till they attain 18 years, without fee, 2 & 3 A. c. 6. s. 6. [EXEMPTED till 18 years old from paying 6*d.* per month to Greenwich Hospital, 2 & 3 A. c. 6. s. 7., see the section at length, pl. 77., and recited 2 G. 2. c. 7. s. 1.]

56. TO RENDER VALID certain indentures for binding of parish apprentices, 51 G. 3. c. 80.

57. All indentures for binding parish apprentices, and all certificates of the settlements of poor persons which have been heretofore executed and signed by two persons only, acting or purporting to act in capacity of churchwardens as well as overseers of poor; and all such indentures and certificates hereafter so signed shall be considered as valid as if executed and signed by distinct persons as churchwardens, and distinct persons as overseers of the poor, (according to 43 El. c. 2. s. 1. and s. 5. pl. 32.) id. s. 1.

58. Nothing herein shall alter any decision of any court of law re-speaking the binding of any parish apprentice, or settlement of any poor person, before passing this act, 51 G. 3. c. 80. s. 2.

59. To RENDER VALID certain indentures for binding parish apprentices and certificates of the settlement of poor persons, 54 G. 3. c. 107.

60. All indentures for binding poor apprentices, and all certificates of settlements of poor persons heretofore or hereafter signed and executed by a person or persons, who at the time of such signature and execution acted as church or chapel warden or wardens of the township, hamlet, or chapelry, binding such poor apprentice, or granting such certificate of settlement, shall be as valid as if signed and executed by a person or persons actually sworn into the office of church or chapel warden of such township, &c.; provided such person, &c. has or have been duly sworn into the office of churchwarden of the parish, wherein such township, &c. is situate, id. s. 1.

61. All such indentures and certificates heretofore made, are as valid if signed and executed by the overseers of the poor, church or chapel wardens, or a majority of them acting for any township, &c. as in s. 1. pl. 60. as if signed, &c. by the overseers, &c. of the parish wherein the township, &c. is situate, id. s. 2.

62. Nothing herein shall affect settlements under orders of removal duly made by justices before this act passed, id. s. 5.

63. FOR CONTINUING and better maintenance of husbandry and other manual occupations by the true employment of monies given for binding out poor children apprentices, 7 J. 1. c. 3. (and recital in s. 1.)

64. Money given to be continually employed to put out poor children apprentices, shall be employed (except otherwise directed by donors) in corporate towns by the corporations, and in other places by the parson or vicar, together with the constables, churchwardens, and overseers, who shall nominate and place out such apprentices as by will or other instrument directed; and if they wilfully refuse and neglect to employ the same accordingly, shall each forfeit five marks [3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*] for each offence, one half to the poor of the parish, and the other to the informer suing for the whole penalty by action of debt or information without essoin, &c. allowed, id. s. 2.

65. The party receiving money with such apprentice, shall give security by obligation to repay it at the end of seven years, or within three months after; and if either apprentice or master die within the seven years, then within one year after the death, so as the money may be employed in placing the apprentice with some other to serve out his time, at discretion of the parties trusted, id. s. 3.

66. The money so given shall be employed within three months after receipt thereof, and if there shall not be apt persons found to be apprentices in the places where it is given, the poorest children of the adjoining parishes shall be bound out as in s. 3., pl. 65. id. s. 4.

67. Choice from time to time shall be made of the poorest children whose parents are least able to relieve them, and none when bound shall be above fifteen years old, id. s. 5.

68. The parties appointed by this act, in any town or parish not corporate, shall, yearly in Easter week, or within one month after, account before four, three, or two justices, for the sums employed, securities taken, and sums in hand; and then, or in ten days after such account, shall deliver same to their successors, id. s. 6.

69. If any party so trusted shall break his trust, misemploy the money, or do anything contrary hereto, for which no penalty is appointed, the lord chancellor shall, on petition of any person, award a commission to such as he thinks fit, to inquire, hear, and determine such offences; and if the commissioners find money so misemployed, they shall, in places not corporate, have power to rate and collect it on the offenders, or on the able inhabitants of the town, as they think fit, returning the commission into chancery, within three months after execution, subject to the chancellor's decree, on complaint by party grieved by any of their acts, id. s. 7.

70. FOR INCREASE of seamen, and better encouragement of navigation, 2 & 3 A. c. 6. s. 1—15, 17, 18. [See s. 16. title VAGRANT; s. 19. title GREENWICH HOSPITAL; s. 20. title SEAMEN.] AND, as to s. 1. by 4 & 5 A. c. 19. s. 16. and as to s. 15. by id. s. 17.

71. Two justices, as also mayors, aldermen, and other chief officers and magistrates, of any city, or town corporate, and churchwardens and overseers of the parishes therein, [or the overseers of the poor of any township or village within any parish], with approbation of such justices, mayors, &c. may bind out any boys of the age of ten years or more, or who shall be chargeable, or whose parents are chargeable to the parish, or who shall beg for alms, to be apprentices to the sea-service, to any H. M.'s subjects, masters or owners of any ship belonging to any port within Eng. Wa., or Ber., until they attain twenty-one; and the age of every such boy shall be mentioned in his indentures, taken from a copy of the register-book wherein the time of his baptism is entered, (where it can be had), which copy shall be given and attested by the minister or curate, without fee, and may be writ without stamp; and where no such entry can be found, such justices, &c. shall inform themselves of such boy's age, and insert the same in his indentures, which age so inserted shall be taken to be his true age, 2 & 3 A. c. 6. s. 1. and s. 3.

72. No master shall be obliged to take any apprentice under thirteen, or who shall not appear fitly qualified, both as to health and strength of body, for that service; and any widow of the master of such ship, or the executor or administrator of such master who has been obliged to take such parish boys apprentices, shall have the same power of assigning them over to any other masters of ships who have not their complement according to 2 A. c. 6. s. 8, as is given by that act, (s. 6.) to such persons as have taken apprentices in pursuance of 43 El. c. 2., 4 & 5 A. c. 19. s. 16.

73. The churchwardens and overseers shall pay to such master, at the time of binding, 5*s.* to provide clothing and bedding, 2 & 3 A. c. 6. s. 2.

74. No such apprentice shall be impressed, or suffered to enter H. M.'s service, till eighteen years old, id. s. 4.

75. The churchwardens and overseers shall send the indentures to the collector of customs, residing at any port to which such masters of ships belong, who shall enter all indentures so sent, and make an indorsement of the registry thereof, without fee; and such collector neglecting to enter such indentures and indorse the same, or making false entries, shall forfeit 5*l.* to the poor of the parish from which he was bound; and such collector shall transmit certificates (which need not be on stamped paper), to the admiralty, containing the names and ages of every such apprentice, and to what ship he belongs; on receipt of which, protections shall be given for them, till they attain 18 years, id. s. 5.

76. Parish boys, bound apprentices under 43 El. c. 2. s. 5., may be turned over to the sea-service; their assignments shall be registered, and certificates transmitted by collector of customs, and protections granted them till eighteen, [as in s. 5.] id. s. 6. See section at length, ante.

77. Poor boys in s. 1. of this act described, or turned over as in last pl. shall, till they attain 18, be exempted from payment of 6*d.* per month to Greenwich Hospital, id. s. 7. [Recited 2 G. 2. c. 7. s. 1.]

78. All masters or owners of ships, from 30 to 50 tons, shall be obliged to take one such apprentice; and one more for the next 50 tons; and one more for every 100 tons such ship shall exceed 100 tons burthen; and on refusing to take such apprentice, shall forfeit 10*l.* to the poor of the parish from which he was bound, id. s. 8. [See as to assignment of such apprentices by one master to another who has not the above complement, 4 A. c. 19. s. 16. ante, pl. 72.]

79. Every master or owner of such ship, after arrival in port, and before clearing out, shall give an account to the collector of such port to which he belongs, of the names and number of apprentices then in his service, 2 & 3 A. c. 6. s. 9.

80. Every such boy so bound apprentice shall be sent to the port to which his master shall belong, by the churchwardens and overseers, the charges being provided according to 11 & 12 W. 3. c. 18., id. s. 10.

81. The counterpart of such indentures shall be attested by the collector, at the port where such apprentices shall be bound or assigned over, and the constable or other officer bringing such apprentices; which constables &c. shall transmit such counterparts to the churchwardens and overseers, id. s. 11.

82. Two justices near the ports, and all mayors, aldermen, bailiffs, and other chief officers, and magistrates of any city, borough, or town corporate, near to the port where such ship shall arrive, shall hear and determine all complaints of ill usage from the masters to apprentices so bound, or to all such as voluntarily [see s. 15. pl. 85.] put themselves apprentices to the sea-service as aforesaid, as in other cases between masters and apprentices, id. s. 12.

83. Every such collector shall keep a register, containing as well the name and burden of such ships, together with the master or owner's name, as also the names of the apprentices in each ship belonging to their ports, and from what parishes they were sent; and shall transmit copies thereof to the quarter sessions, or to such cities, boroughs, town corporate, parishes or places where required, for which copies no fee shall be taken; and such collector neglecting to transmit copies, shall forfeit 5*l.* to the poor of the parish from whence such boy was bound apprentice, id. s. 13.

84. Every custom-house officer, at each of the ports, shall, without fee, insert at the bottom of the cockets the number of men and boys on board the ships at going out of every such port, describing the apprentices by their names, ages, and dates of indentures, id. s. 14.

85. Every person who shall voluntarily bind himself apprentice to any master or owner of a ship, shall not be impressed during three years from the date of his indentures, which are to be registered, and certificates thereof transmitted by such collector, at the port where such apprentices shall bind themselves as above; on receipt whereof protections shall be given for the said first three years of their apprenticeship, without fee, id. s. 15. [Suspended for five months, 38 G. 3. c. 46.]

86. No person of the age of 18 shall have any protection from H. M.'s sea-service who has been in any sea-service before binding himself apprentice, 4 & 5 A. c. 19. s. 17.

87. When such parish apprentices are 18 years of age, and other voluntary apprentices are impressed, the masters shall be entitled to able seamen's wages for such of their apprentices as, on examination, are found qualified, 23 & 34 A. c. 6. s. 17.

88. All the penalties directed by this act shall, by warrant of any two justices of peace of the same county, city, borough, or town corporate, be levied by distress and sale of goods, id. s. 18.

89. FOR OBVIATING doubts touching the binding and receiving of poor children apprentices, in pursuance of several acts made for relief of the poor within particular incorporated hundreds or districts in Eng., 20 G. 3. c. 36. [EXT. 42 G. 3. c. 46. s. 8. See the rest of this title and statute, BASTARD.]

90. The respective persons to whom any poor children shall be appointed to be bound apprentices, in pursuance of such acts, shall receive and provide for them according to the indentures to be executed by the directors and acting guardians of the poor for the respective hundreds, for binding such poor children as persons are now obliged to receive, and shall provide for poor children bound apprentice by the parish officers, with assent of two justices, and shall execute the counterpart of such indentures respectively; and any person who shall not so receive, &c. such child, or execute such counterpart, shall, on proof of his neglect or refusal by oath of a director, acting guardian, or other credible witness, before any two justices of the county, &c., or place in which such incorporated hundred, &c. is situate, shall forfeit to the directors, &c. of the poor thereof, or to their appointee, for the relief of the poor therein, 10*l.*, to be levied by distress and sale of goods by warrant under such justices' hands and seals, saving to such party an appeal against such binding to the quarter sessions, whose order shall be final, 20 G. 3. c. 36. s. 1.

91. Nothing in this act shall compel any person, not being an inhabitant and occupier of lands or hereditaments in the parish to which the poor child belongs, to take him apprentice, id. s. 2.

92. The powers of 20 G. 3. c. 36. shall extend to poor children bound under the authority of any subsequent act [authorizing houses of industry, or other poor establishments, to bind out apprentices.] 42 G. 3. c. 46. s. 8.

93. TO REGULATE the binding of parish apprentices, 56 G. 3. c. 139. [s. 9—10. are arranged with 32 G. 3. c. 57. pl. 48—49. as amending that act in particular; but this whole statute is in amendment of the system of which 43 El. c. 2. s. 5. is above assigned as the origin.]

94. Before any child shall be bound apprentice by the overseers of the poor, such child shall be carried before two justices, who shall inquire into the propriety of binding such child apprentice to the person to whom it shall be proposed by such overseers to bind such child, and shall particularly consider whether such person resides, or has his place of business within a reasonable distance from the place to which such child shall belong, having regard to the means of communication between such places, or whether any circumstances shall make it fit, in the judgment of such justices, that such child should be placed apprentice at a greater distance; and if the father or mother shall be living, and shall reside in or near the place to which such child shall belong, such justices shall (if they see fit) examine such father or mother, or either, and shall particularly inquire as to the distance of the residence or place of business of the person to whom it shall be proposed to place such child, and the means of communication therewith; and such justices shall also inquire into circumstances and character of such person; and if they shall, upon such examination and inquiry, think it proper that such child should be bound, they shall make an order, declaring that such person is a fit person to whom such child may be properly bound as apprentice, and shall thereupon order that the overseers shall be at liberty to bind such child apprentice, which order shall be delivered to them, as the warrant for binding such child, and shall be referred to by the date thereof, and the names of the said justices in the indenture of apprenticeship; and after such order is made, such justices shall sign their allowance of such indenture before it is executed by any of the other parties; but no such child shall be bound apprentice to any person residing or having any establishment in trade, at which it is intended that such child shall be employed, out of the county, at a greater distance than 40 miles from the parish, unless such child shall belong to some parish more than 40 miles from London, in which case the justices who authorize the apprenticing may make a special order for that purpose, in which case they shall distinctly specify the grounds on which they think fit to allow of the apprenticing of such child to a person residing, &c. more than 40 miles from the parish, id. s. 1.

95. Where the residence or establishment of business of the person to whom any child shall be bound, is within a different county from that within which the place by the officers whereof such child shall be bound is situated, or where the justices for the district within which the place by the officers whereof such child shall be bound is situated, and who shall sign the allowance of the indenture, shall not have jurisdiction, every indenture by which such child shall be bound shall be allowed, as well by two justices for the first mentioned county, as by two justices for the county within which the place shall be situated wherein such child shall be intended to serve; but no indenture shall be allowed by any justice for the county into which such child shall be bound, who shall be engaged in the same business in which the master is engaged; and notice shall be given to the overseers of the parish in which such child is intended to serve, before any justice for the county within which such parish shall be, shall allow such indenture; and such notice shall be proved before such justice shall sign such indenture, unless one of such overseers shall attend him and admit such notice, 56 G. 3. c. 139. s. 2.

96. The allowance of two justices for the latter county shall be valid, though such place may be situated in a town or liberty within which other justices may have an exclusive jurisdiction, id. s. 3.

97. The distance to which parish apprentices may be bound, shall not be construed to be limited to cities and boroughs being counties of themselves, but shall extend to the county in which any such city and borough, and any district without the limits of the county to which it belongs, though belonging to another county, shall be locally situated, id. s. 4.

98. No settlement shall be gained by any child by reason of such apprenticeship, unless such order shall be made, and allowances of indenture signed, as before (pl. 94.) directed, id. s. 5.

99. In case any overseer shall bind an apprentice without having obtained such order and allowances, and if any person shall receive any such apprentice without, such overseer and person shall each forfeit 10*l.* for each apprentice, id. s. 6.

100. No parish officer shall bind out any child as parish apprentice, until the age of nine years, id. s. 7.

101. Every person to whom any child shall be bound apprentice by the overseers, who shall remove out of the same county or forty miles from the parish, shall, 14 days previous to such removal, give a written notice thereof to the churchwardens or overseers of the place, where such apprentice shall then reside, unless such person resides in such place under certificate; in which case he shall give the like notice to the churchwardens, &c. of the place where such apprentice is then settled, which churchwardens, &c. and also the master, shall cause him to appear before two justices for the county within which such apprentice is then serving, who shall enquire whether it may be fit that he should continue in the service of such person, or be discharged therefrom, or bound or assigned over to any other person, and shall thereupon make order as in their discretion seems meet, and may also require the person so giving notice of removal, to pay the amount of the premium, or such portion of it as shall seem meet, for the expence of assigning or binding such apprentice to any other person, to be approved by them; and the person to whom such apprentice shall be so bound or assigned, shall be subject to the same rules, as the original master; and every master who shall remove, and take any such apprentice to any other place, without such order, or shall wilfully abandon such apprentice, without giving such notice, shall forfeit 10*l.* for every apprentice, to the churchwardens, &c. of the poor of the parish or place wherein, at the time of such removal or taking, the apprentice is settled, for the use of the poor; provided an information shall be exhibited for such offence within three calendar months, id. s. 8.

102. After 1st Oct., 1816, no indenture of apprenticeship, by reason of which any expense whatever shall at any time be incurred by the public parochial funds, shall be valid, unless approved of by two justices under their hands and seals, according to 43 El. c. 2., and this act, id. s. 11.

103. All penalties hereby imposed may be recovered by information before two justices of the county, id. s. 12.

104. The justices may direct such penalty, after deducting costs, to be paid either to the informer, or to the overseer of the parish in which such offence was committed, or by the officers whereof such apprentice was bound, for the use of the poor, or in binding the apprentice to any other person, or to be distributed for any one or more of such purposes as to such justices shall seem meet, id. s. 13.

105. In case of non-payment of any penalty, the same shall be levied by distress and sale, by warrant under hands and seals of the above justices, or any other two justices of peace for the county; and for want of distress, such offender shall be committed to the common gaol or house of correction for not less than one nor more than six months, id. s. 14.

106. The conviction shall be in this form:
'Be it remembered, That on the — day of — A. D. — is convicted before us — of H. M.'s justices of the peace for the county of —, upon the information of —, for that [here state the offence,] contrary to the form of the statute passed in the fifty-sixth year of the reign of H. M. Geo. III., intitled '[An act to regulate the binding of parish apprentices]; and for which offence we do adjudge, that the said — shall forfeit and pay the sum of —, to be paid and applied as follows [here state the application of the penalty]; and in case such penalty shall not be paid by the said —, or levied by distress upon — goods and chattels within — days from the date of this conviction, we adjudge that the said — shall be imprisoned in — for the space of —. Given under our hands and seals, the day and year first above mentioned,' id. s. 15.

107. In case any person convicted shall not pay the penalty, within one calendar month, the convicting justices, or any two other justices of the county, may issue their warrant for apprehending such offender, notwithstanding he may have goods whereby such penalty might have been levied, 56 G. 3. c. 139. s. 16.

108. But any person dissatisfied with any act done by any justice or justices, may appeal to any general or quarter sessions of the county within three calendar months, upon giving notice in writing to the justices, and persons interested in such appeal, within 21 days; and in case any such appeal shall be against any conviction, entering into a recognizance, with two sureties, before any justice of the county, to appear at such sessions to abide the judgment of the court, and pay costs; and such sessions shall determine the appeal, and award costs as they think fit, id. s. 17.

109. Powers herein given to overseers extend to churchwardens; and all provisions herein respecting any parish or place shall extend to any incorporated or other district for maintenance of poor; and officers of latter, having power to bind apprentices, are subject thereto, id. s. 18.

ARBITRATION.

1. FOR BETTER execution of justice, 1 J. 1. c. 10.

2. No person to whom any order or cause shall be committed or referred, by any of H. M.'s judges, or courts at Westminster, or any other court, shall, directly or indirectly, take any fee, promise, or other thing, for his report or certificate, by writing or otherwise, under forfeiture of 100*l.* for every such report, and under deprivation of his office in such court; which forfeiture shall go, one moiety to H. M. and the other to party grieved, suing for the same at any time during the suit, or within one year after it is discontinued or decreed; and in default of such suit, to him that will sue, by original writ, bill, plaint, or information in [Star Chamber abolished, 16 C. 1. c. 10. s. 3.] any court of record at Westminster, id. s. 1.

3. The clerk may take for his pains, for writing every such report, 12*d.* for the first, and 2*d.* for every side after, on pain of 10*s.* for every penny taken above that sum, recoverable as in s. 1, id. s. 2.

4. FOR DETERMINING differences by arbitration, 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 15.

5. Persons desirous to end any controversy, suit, or quarrel, for which there is no other remedy but by personal action, or suit in equity by arbitration, may agree that their submission to the award of any person may be made a rule of any court of record, and insert such agreement in their submission, or in the conditions of the bonds or promises whereby they oblige themselves to submit to the award of any person; which agreement, being so made and inserted, and an affidavit thereof made by the witnesses thereto, or one of them, and read and filed in the court of which it is to be made a rule, shall be entered of record therein; and a rule shall be made by such court that the parties shall submit, and finally be concluded by the award made by the arbitrator or umpire, pursuant to such submission; and in case of disobedience thereto, the party neglecting to perform the same or any part thereof, shall be subject to the penalties of contemning of a rule of court; and the court shall, on motion, issue process accordingly, which shall not be delayed by any rule or process of any other court, of law or equity, unless it be made appear, on oath, to such court that the arbitrators or umpire misbehaved, and that such award or umpirage was procured by corruption or other undue means, id. s. 1.

6. Award or umpirage procured by corruption or undue means shall be void, and accordingly be set aside by any court of law or equity, so as complaint thereof be made in the court where the submission rule is made, before the last day of the next term after such award, &c. made and published to the parties, id. s. 2.

ARMS.

(STATUTES repealed and expired.)

1. THE STATUTE for keeping armour and weapons, according to the ancient assize, with presentment by constables to justices of defaults therein, 13 Ed. 1. Stat. Wynt. c. 6. [Rep. 4 & 5 P. & M. c. 2. 21 J. 1. c. 28. s. 11.]

2. JUSTICES shall have power to punish defaulters, 2 E. 3. c. 6. [Rep. as above.]

3. THE STATUTE of armour at tournaments, regulating the number of squires for each knight, with the armour, weapons, and ensigns of squires and heralds at them, Stat. incert. temp. No. xxiii. vol. i. p. 414. [Semb. Exp.]

4. FOR HAVING horse, armour, and weapon, 4 & 5 P. & M. c. 2. [Rep. 1 J. 1. c. 25. s. 46.]

5. TO CONTINUE the Irish acts, 36 G. 3. c. 42., 39 G. 3. c. 37. [Con. by 40 G. 3. (Ire.) c. 96. s. 11. 13.] for preventing importation of arms, gunpowder, and ammunition, and the making, removing, selling, and keeping same, without licence, 47 G. 3. S. 1. c. 8. [Con. (till 1 Aug. 1821), 54 G. 3. c. 111. both Exp.]

1. STATUTUM de defensione portandi arma: [sometimes classed in 7 Ed. 1. sed vide 7 Ed. 2. S. 2. 1 vol. 8vo. ed. of Statutes, 327. note, by which it seems more correctly placed.] 7 E. 2. S. 2.

2. Every man shall come to parliaments and other assemblies made in the realm of Eng. for ever, without force and armour, well and peaceably to the king's honour, and peace of the realm; and it is the royal signiory straitly to defend, armour, and force against our peace, when it shall please the king, and punish those who do contrary, according to the laws and usages of our realm; and the lords spiritual and temporal, and commonalty, are bound to assist therein, 7 E. 2. S. 2. [Sent to the justices of C. B. to be there read and enrolled.]

3. NO MAN EXCEPT H. M.'s sergeants, in his presence, and his officers in executing his precepts, or of their office, and their assistants, and also on cry made for arms to keep the peace, shall come before H. M.'s justices or other his ministers, doing their office with force and arms, or shall bring force in affray of the peace, or shall go or ride armed, by night or day, in fairs, markets, or presence of such justices, &c., on pain of forfeiture of armour, and imprisonment; and all H. M.'s judges in their presence, sheriffs and other officers in their bailiwicks, lords of franchises, mayors, constables, and peace officers, shall execute this act; and justices of assize may enquire into the conduct of the latter therein, 2 E. 3. c. 2. Stat. of Northampton. [Con. 7 R. 2. c. 13., 15 R. 2. c. 2. s. 1., 20 R. 2. c. 1.]

4. RIDING WITH hauncegays and armour also prohibited on pain of forfeiture thereof, 7 R. 2. c. 13., and of fine and ransom to H. M. 20 R. 2. c. 1.

5. TO PREVENT the training of persons to the use of arms, and practice of military evolutions and exercise, 60 G. 3. & 1 G. 4. c. 1.

6. All assemblies of persons for the purpose of training or drilling themselves, or of being trained, &c., to the use of arms, or for the purpose of practising military exercise, movements, or evolutions, without lawful authority from H. M., or the lieutenant, or two justices of peace of any county, riding, or stewartry, by commission or otherwise, for so doing shall be prohibited, as dangerous to the peace and security of H. M.'s subjects and government; and every person present, or attending the same for the purpose of so training, &c., or who shall so train and drill any other person, or who shall aid and assist therein, shall be liable to transportation for not exceeding seven years, or to imprisonment for not more than two years, at discretion of the court in which such conviction is had; and every person attending or present at any such assembly, for the purpose of being or who shall there be so trained, &c. shall be liable to fine and imprisonment not exceeding two years, at like discretion, id. s. 1.

7. Any justice of peace, constable, or peace-officer, or person acting in their aid, may disperse any such unlawful assembly, and arrest and detain any person present at or aiding the same, and the justice arresting any such person, or before whom he shall be brought, may commit him for trial for such offence, under this act, unless he give sufficient bail for his appearance at the next assizes or general or quarter sessions of the peace, to answer to any indictment for such offence in Eng. and Ire.; and in Scot. he shall be arrested and dealt with according to the law of Scot. in a bailable offence, id. s. 2.

8. The sheriffs and stewards depute, and their substitutes, justices of peace, magistrates of royal burghs, and all other inferior judges and magistrates, and all high and petty constables or other peace-officers, of any county, stewartry, city, or town in Scot. shall have the same powers for executing this act in Scot. as the justices, &c. as in s. 2. pl. 7. have in the rest of U. K., id. s. 3.

9. Nothing in this act shall prevent any prosecution by indictment or otherwise for any offence within this act which might have been so prosecuted if this act had not been made, unless the offender has been convicted or acquitted thereof on prosecution under this act, id. s. 4.

10. Any action brought against any justice, constable, peace-officer, or other person in Eng. or Ire. for any thing done in pursuance hereof, shall be commenced within six calendar months next after the fact, and the venue laid in the proper county where it was committed; and defendant may plead the general issue, giving this act and the special matter in evidence; and if such action is brought after the time so limited, or the venue is laid in any other place than as above, the jury shall find for the defendant; in which case, or if he has a verdict on the merits, or if plaintiff is nonsuit or discontinues after appearance, or has judgment against him on demurrer, defendant shall have double costs, id. s. 5.

11. Every action brought against any person in Scot. for any thing done under this act, shall in like manner be commenced within six months after the fact, and in the court of session, and the defender may plead the general issue, &c. as in s. 5. pl. 10. and if such action is brought after the limited time it shall be dismissed; in which case, or if the defender is assoltied, or if the prisoner suffer the action to fall asleep, or a decision is given against him on the relevancy, the defender shall have treble costs, 60 G. 3. & 1 G. 4. c. 1. s. 6.

12. Prosecutions under this act shall be commenced within six calendar months from the offence committed, id. s. 7.

13. To AUTHORIZE JUSTICES of peace in certain disturbed counties (see s. 8. pl. 20.) to seize and detain arms collected or kept for purposes dangerous to the public peace, (till 25th Mar. 1822. s. 10.) 60 G. 3. c. 2.

14. Any justice of peace, on information on oath of one or more credible witnesses that he or they believe that any pike, pike-head, or spear, is in the possession of any person, or in any house or place, or that any dirk, dagger, pistol, gun, or other weapon, is, for any purpose dangerous to the public peace, in possession of any person, or in any house or place, may issue his warrant to any constable or other peace-officer to seize the same; and he or any person in his aid may search for and seize the same in the possession of any person, or in any such house or place; and in case admission to the latter is refused or not obtained within a reasonable time after demanded, may enter the same by force by day or night, and detain in safe custody, in such place as such justice shall appoint, the arms so seized, unless the owner prove to satisfaction of such justice that they were not kept for any purpose dangerous to the public peace, id. s. 1.

15. Any person from whom such arms shall be so taken, as in s. 1. pl. 14. in case the justice on whose warrant they were taken shall on application refuse to restore them, may apply to the next general quarter-sessions of the peace for the county, riding, or division, (on giving the justice 10 days' notice of his application) for restitution of such arms or part thereof, and the sessions shall make such order for the restitution or safe custody thereof as on such application seems proper, id. s. 2.

16. Any justice, constable, peace-officer, or other person acting under a justice's warrant, or in aid of any such justice, &c. may arrest and detain every person found carrying arms in such manner and at such times as in the judgment of such justice, &c. shall afford just cause of suspicion that they are carried for purposes dangerous to the public peace, and the justice who shall arrest such person, or before whom he shall be brought under such warrant, may commit him for trial for a misdemeanor, unless he give such sufficient bail for appearance at next assizes or general or quarter-sessions, to answer to any indictment preferred against him in Eng., and in Scot. he shall be arrested and dealt with according to the law of Scot. in a bailable offence, id. s. 3.

17. All the justices acting in and for the counties specified in s. 8. pl. 20. or in any proclamation to be issued under it, or any counties next adjoining thereto, shall have concurrent jurisdiction as justices in all cases as to executing the provisions hereof, or relating to preservation of the public peace, as fully as if each justice was in the commission of the peace of each such county, and had duly qualified by law to sit therein, id. s. 4.

18. The sheriffs and stewards depute and their substitutes respectively, justices of peace, magistrates of royal burghs, and all inferior judges and magistrates, and all high and petty constables or other peace officers of any county, stewartry, city, or town, within Scot. shall have the same powers as the justices, &c. have in Eng., id. s. 5.

19. Limitation for actions in Eng. for any thing done in pursuance hereof is six months; general issue may be pleaded, and defendant shall recover double costs on verdict or judgment, id. s. 6. Limitation of actions, &c. in Scot., id. s. 7. [These sections precisely correspond with ss. 5, 6 of 60 G. 3. c. 1. pl. 10, 11.]

20. This act extends to the counties of Lancaster and Chester, to the West Riding of Yorkshire, to the counties of Warwick, Stafford, Derby, Leicester, Nottingham, Cumberland, Westmorland, Northumberland, Durham, Renfrew, and Lanark, the counties of towns of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and Nottingham, and city of Coventry, and to such other counties and ridings of G. B. as H. M. from time to time, on representation of the justices in sessions, or of any general meeting of the lieutenancy of any county or riding, in consequence of any disturbance therein by any proclamation made by advice of privy council, shall declare to be so disturbed as to make it necessary to enforce this act therein, which shall then be in force there from the day specified in the proclamation, id. s. 8.

21. H. M. by advice of privy council, by proclamation, may declare that this act shall be no longer in force in any counties or riding herein specified, or to which the act may be extended, as in s. 8. pl. 20.; but this shall not prevent H. M. on such representation and advice as in s. 8. from declaring by proclamation such county, &c. to be again within its provisions, id. s. 9.

ARREST.

1. AN ACT WHEREBY DEFENDANT may recover his costs, being wrongfully vexed, 8 El. c. 2. (and recital in s. 1.)

2. When any person shall sue forth of K. B. any latitat, alias, or pluries capias against any person who shall be arrested thereon, or who shall appear at the return of any such writ and put in bail according to common order of the court, then if the party suing forth such writs do not within three days after such bail had and taken, put into such court his declaration against the party sued; or if after declaration put in plaintiff shall not prosecute the same with effect, but shall suffer his suit to be delayed or discontinued, or otherwise, shall be nonsuit in the same, then the judges of such court shall award to persons so vexed by such writs their costs and damages sustained on occasion of such writs, &c. to be paid by such plaintiffs, 8 El. c. 2. ss. 1, 2.

3. If any person shall cause another to be attached or arrested to answer any bill, plaint, action, or suit, in the Marshalsea court, or in any court in the city of London, or in any city, borough, town corporate, or other place where any privilege is used to hold plea of actions personal, and do not in all courts, having continuance, de die in diem, within three days after defendant shall be bailed or otherwise appear in court, by force of any arrest or attachment had and returned, and in all other courts, at the next sessions or court holden after such arrest, &c. and appearance of defendant, whereby such defendant shall be compelled or ought to appear, (unless a further day be specially given by court,) put in and exhibit his bill or declaration against such defendant, and do not, after declaration put in, prosecute his suit with effect, or shall suffer discontinuance or nonsuit therein, or delay his suit to vexation of defendant, then the court shall at their discretion award defendant his costs and damages sustained on such arrest, attachment, or suit, to be paid by such plaintiff, id. s. 3.

4. Every person who shall maliciously cause another to be arrested or attached to answer in any court, at suit of any fictitious person, or without assent of the person at whose suit such arrest, &c. shall be made, shall, on conviction by indictment, presentment, or testimony of two witnesses, or other due proof, suffer imprisonment for six months; and before delivered out of prison, shall pay to the party grieved treble his costs and damages occasioned by such arrest, &c. and also 10*l.* to the party in whose name such person was arrested, id. s. 4.

5. Persons to whom costs and damages are awarded under this act, may recover same by action of debt, bill, or plaint, in any court of record against such persons, their heirs, executors, or administrators, in which action, &c. no essoin, &c. shall be allowed, id. s. 5.

6. FOR PREVENTING vexatious and oppressive arrests, 13 C. 2. S. 2. c. 2. s. 1—4. [The enactments in these sections occasioned the clause of ac etiam to be devised in order to preserve the jurisdiction of K. B. over civil injuries, without force; see 3 Ha. Com. 247., Tidd's Practice, 7th ed. 170. 6th ed. 152.] See rest of the title and statute, EXECUTION. PRISON.

7. The ancient fundamental law in proceeding to arrests upon suits is, that the true cause of action be expressed in the process, id. s. 1.

8. No person arrested by colour of any process out of K. B. or C. P., wherein the true cause of action is not particularly expressed, and for which defendant is bailable, under 23 H. 6. c. 9. s. 7. (see SHERIFF.) shall be compellable to give security or bond for his appearance, in any penalty exceeding 40*l.*, and the sheriff shall admit to bail on such security given, id. s. 2.

9. Upon appearance entered in the term wherein such process is returnable, the bonds so given shall be discharged, and no amercements shall be exacted against any sheriff for want of appearance; and unless the plaintiff in such process shall put in his bill or declaration, in some personal action or ejectione firme, before the end of the term next following after appearance, nonsuit for want of declaration may be entered, and defendant shall have judgment to recover costs against such plaintiff, to be taxed as in 23 H. 8. c. 15. s. 1. (Costs.) directed, id. s. 3.

10. This act shall not extend to arrests on capias utlagatum, attachment on rescous, or of privilege at suit of any privileged person, or for contempt issuing out of K. B. or C. P., but no sheriff or other officer shall discharge any person taken on any capias utlagatum, without superseatas first had, and upon the said writs of attachment, such course shall be taken for security for appearance as has been used, id. s. 4.

11. TO PREVENT CERTAIN malpractices of bailiffs and others employed in execution of process, 22 & 23 C. 2. c. 20. s. 9. [AMD. and EXT. 32 G. 3. c. 28. s. 1—4. This title is framed from the above-mentioned sections, and see 22 & 23 C. 2. c. 20. s. 10—13, and 32 G. 2. c. 28. ss. 5—12. PAISON and PRISONER, s. 13—25. INSOLVENT DEBTOR.]

12. No sheriff, under sheriff, bailiff, serjeant-at-mace, or other officer, shall convey any person arrested, or being in his custody, by virtue of any action, writ, process, or attachment, to any tavern, alehouse, or public victualling or drinking house, [or to the private house of any such officer, or of any tenant or relation of his, 32 G. 2. c. 28. s. 1.] without the consent of the party arrested, so as to charge him for wine, beer, ale, victuals, tobacco, or other liquor or things, but what he shall voluntarily call for nor shall cause him to [call or, 32 G. 2. c. 28. s. 1.] pay for such liquor or things, except what he shall particularly and freely ask for; nor shall [demand or, 32 G. 2. c. 28. s. 1.] take any greater sum, either directly or indirectly, than what is by law allowed for any arrest, or for detaining or waiting till the party arrested has procured an appearance, found bail, agreed with the plaintiff, or be sent to the gaol belonging to the county or place where such arrest is, nor take any other reward for keeping such party out of prison than what he shall freely give; nor shall carry him to prison within 24 hours from the time of such arrest, unless he refuse to be carried to some safe dwelling house of his own nomination, within a city, borough, corporation, or market-town if such person be there arrested, is within three miles of the place where such arrest is made, if made out of any city, &c. so as such dwelling house be not the house of the person arrested, and is within the county or liberty in which such person was arrested, and then such officer may carry the person so arrested, and refusing to be carried to such safe dwelling-house, to the gaol whither he may lawfully be sent under the process against him, 32 G. 2. c. 28. s. 1.] 22 & 23 C. 2. c. 20. s. 9., as AMD. by 32 G. 2. c. 28. s. 1.

13. No sheriff, &c. as in last pl. shall take any other or greater sum for each night's lodging, or for a day's diet, or other expenses of such arrested person, other than what shall be allowed by some order already made, or to be made by the justices at some general or quarter sessions for the county or place where such arrest shall be, who shall, with all speed, make some standing orders for ascertaining such charges within their respective counties, &c. and jurisdictions; [and may alter any orders in force for these purposes as they see fit, and shall cause a copy of such orders, and of every alteration thereof, signed by the clerk of peace, to be put up in some conspicuous place in the sessions-house, or other proper place, of every such county, &c. as such justices shall order, so as the same may be there seen and examined as occasion requires, 32 G. 2. c. 28. s. 2.] 22 & 23 C. 2. c. 20. s. 9., as AMD. and EXT. by 32 G. 2. c. 28. s. 2.

14. Every sheriff, under-sheriff, and bailiff of any liberty, and the secondaries and clerk, sitters in the combers in London, and all other persons entrusted with the execution of process, or who shall enter any actions, or make any warrant, or any writ or process, in order to have same executed, shall deliver a printed copy of the several clauses in this act relating to bailiffs, serjeants, and other officers and persons employed under them to execute any process, or who shall arrest any person within their respective sheriffwicks or jurisdictions, to every such bailiff, &c. and shall make it a part of the condition of every security or bond given to any sheriff, under-sheriff, or bailiff of any liberty, by any bailiff, serjeant-at-mace, or person employed to execute any such process under him, that every such bailiff, &c. shall show and deliver a copy of such clauses to every person he shall arrest and carry to any public or other house, where any liquor shall be sold, and shall permit every person so arrested, or any friend of his, to read over the same before any liquor or victuals be called for or brought to any person under arrest there; and if any bailiff, &c. offend in the premises, such offence, besides the breach of condition of such security, or bond, shall be deemed a misdemeanor in the execution of the process, and shall be punishable as such by virtue of this act, 32 G. 2. c. 28. s. 3.

15. Every sheriff, under-sheriff, or bailiff of any liberty, and keeper of any prison, and other person to whose custody any one shall be arrested, committed, or charged in execution, by virtue of any process, &c. shall permit such person, during his continuance in custody, or under arrest, to send for or have brought to him in the day time, any beer, ale, victuals, or other necessary food, from whence he pleases; and to use such bedding, linen, and other necessaries he has occasion for, or is supplied with, without purloining, detaining, or requiring him to pay for using the same, or putting any restraint on him in using thereof, or relating thereto, and no prisoners shall pay any thing in respect thereof to any sheriff, &c. or gaoler, id. s. 4., [and see 22 & 23 C. 2. c. 20. s. 10. s. r. PUNISH AND PRISONER.]

16. FOR PREVENTING vexatious arrests in small actions in Wa. and the counties palatine, 11 & 12 W. 3. c. 9. s. 2. only. [Framed from the preamble to this section.] See rest of statute, Costs.

17. No sheriff or other officer within Wa. or the counties palatine, on any writ or process issuing out of the courts of Westminster, shall hold any person to special bail, unless affidavit be first made in writing, and filed in the court out of which such process is to issue, signifying the cause of action, and that the same is 20*l.* or upwards; [and comm. semb. denying any tender in bank of Eng. notes, 38 G. 3. c. 1. s. 8., &c.] and where the cause of action is 20*l.* or upwards, bail shall not be taken for more than the sum expressed in the affidavit, 11 & 12 W. 3. c. 9. s. 2.

18. FOR PREVENTING frivolous and vexatious arrests, 12 G. 1. c. 29., does not extend to Scot., id. s. 5. [CON. by various acts, and REV. 13 G. 2. c. 18. s. 3. MADE PERP., 21 G. 2. c. 7. s. 1. AMD. 5 G. 2. c. 27. 19 G. 3. c. 70. 51 G. 3. c. 124., and CON. with these two latter acts, to the end of the session next after 1st Nov. 1823, by 57 G. 3. c. 101. s. 1.; also AMD. during restrictions on cash payments by the bank, (viz. till 1st May, 1823, see 59 G. 3. c. 49. s. 1.) by 37 G. 3. c. 45. s. 9. c. 91. s. 8. 38 G. 3. c. 1. s. 8. 43 G. 3. c. 18. s. 2.]

19. No person shall be held to special bail on any process issuing out of any court, [not in Scot. or Ire., s. 4.] where the cause of action shall not have originally amounted to 15*l.* or upwards, exclusive of any costs incurred in suing for or recovering same, (except where the cause of action arises on any bill of exchange or promissory note, in which cases the parties liable thereon may be held to special bail, as if this act had not been made. (viz. for 10*l.*, see 19 G. 3. c. 70. s. 1.) 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 1. [The sums originally fixed were 10*l.* in superior, and 40*l.* in inferior courts, 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1. EXT. to 10*l.* in inferior courts, 19 G. 3. c. 70. s. 1. All enactments authorising arrests in inferior courts for less than 15*l.*, (except on bills or notes) are repealed, 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 3.]

20. Where the plaintiff's cause of action amounts to 15*l.* or upwards, affidavit thereof, [and that no offer has been made to pay the same in bank of Eng. notes, fractional parts of 20*l.* only excepted, 37 G. 3. c. 45. s. 9., c. 91. s. 8. 38 G. 3. c. 1. s. 8. 43 G. 3. c. 18. s. 2., during restrictions on bank payments in cash.] shall be made and filed, being sworn before any judge of the court, or commissioner authorised to take affidavits therein, or before the officer issuing the process or his deputy, for which shall be paid only 1*s.* over and above the stamp duties; and the sums specified thereon shall be indorsed on the back of the process for which sum so indorsed, the sheriff or other officer shall take bail, but if process shall issue for 15*l.* or more, without such affidavit and indorsement made, plaintiff shall not arrest defendant, but shall proceed as in non-bailable actions, 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 2. [does not extend to Scot., id. s. 5.]

21. During continuance of the restriction on payments by the bank of Eng. in cash (continued till 1 May, 1823, 59 G. 3. c. 49. s. 1.), no person shall be held to special bail upon any process issuing out of any court, unless the affidavit made for that purpose under 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1, 2., shall not only contain the matters thereby required, but also that no offer has been made to pay the sum mentioned and sworn to therein, in notes of the governor and company of the bank of Eng., expressed to be payable on demand, fractional parts of 20*l.* duly excepted; and if any process shall be issued, upon which any person might before this act have been held to special bail, and no such affidavit is made, no person shall be arrested on such process, but proceedings shall be had as if no such affidavit had been made to hold him to bail, as required by 12 G. 1. c. 29. pl. 25. and all provisions in that or any other act 'for preventing vexatious arrests,' shall be applied to this act; provided that if such affidavit shall be made, on which any person might have been held to special bail before 37 G. 3. c. 91. was passed, and it shall be likewise therein sworn, that such offer of payment had been made, so that the person who might have been arrested and held to special bail upon such process, cannot by reason of such offers and of this act be so arrested, the court from which such process issued, or a judge thereof, may in a summary way order the defendant to cause notes of the bank of Eng. payable on demand to the amount of the sum for which he might have been so held to special bail before this act passed, to be deposited as such court or judge shall direct, to answer the demands of the plaintiff in such action; and if such deposit is not made within the time limited by such order after notice thereof, thereby directed to be given, then on affidavit thereof made and filed, such defendant may be arrested and held to special bail, as if this act had not been made, 37 G. 3. c. 45. s. 9., 37 G. 3. c. 91. s. 8. 38 G. 3. c. 1. s. 8. [See Tidd, 7th ed. 212, 213.]

22. In case of application to any court in Westminster Hall by any person held to special bail by virtue of any process of such court, to be discharged on common bail by reason of any defect in such part of the affidavit as negatives or is intended to negative any offer having been made to pay the sum therein mentioned in bank notes, such person shall not be entitled to such discharge, unless he at the same time make proof by affidavit that the whole sum for which he has been so held to bail, had been, or was before such holding to bail, offered to be paid either wholly in such notes, or partly in such notes, and partly in lawful money of this kingdom, 43 G. 3. c. 18. s. 2.

23. Where the cause of action does not amount to 15*l.* or upwards [see 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 1. pl. 19.] exclusive of costs (except on bills and notes), and plaintiff proceeds by way of process against the person, he shall not arrest the body of defendant, but shall serve him personally within the jurisdiction of the court with a copy of the process [as by 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1. provided in non-bailable actions, 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 1.] thereon, [in the English tongue, and written in words at length in a legible hand and character, 5 G. 2. c. 27. s. 1.] and if defendant does not appear at the return thereof, or within [four, 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1. altered, 5 G. 2. c. 27. s. 1. to] eight days after, then on affidavit of personal service made, [before any judge or commissioner of the court for taking affidavits, or before the proper officer for entering common appearances in such court, or his lawful deputy, 5 G. 2. c. 27. s. 1.] to be filed gratis (id. ibid. as well as 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1.) [and in which the offer of bank of Eng. notes in payment (fractional parts of 20*l.* only excepted) should be negatived according to 38 G. 3. c. 1. s. 8. &c. supra, comme sembler; see the words process as aforesaid in 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1., which process there referred to, is adopted as to non-bailable actions by 51 G. 3.

c. 124. s. 1. See above, and 8 Stat. Rev. ed. 1888, note b, sed quare] may enter a common appearance, or file common bail for defendant, and proceed thereon as if the appearance had been entered or bail filed by defendant, 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1. as confirmed and amended by 5 G. 2. c. 27. s. 1., and 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 1.

24. In non-bailable actions, no special writ [see 1 Bar. & Ald. 393.] nor process therein specially expressing the causes of action, shall be issued from any court to compel any person to appear in such court thereon; and all proceedings had on any such writ are void, 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 1.

25. Every attorney or officer of such court issuing any such process shall forfeit 10*l.* to the party grieved, who may recover the same by action of debt or information in any court of record at Westminster, with full costs of suit without essoin, &c. or more than one imparlance allowed, 5 G. 2. c. 27. s. 5.

26. No attorney, bailiff, or other person shall charge on such defendant more than 5*s.* for serving copy of such process issuing from any superior court, or more than 1*s.* from any inferior court, id. s. 2.

27. In particular franchises and jurisdictions the proper officer shall execute process, id. s. 3.

28. On every copy of process so served, shall without fee be written an English notice to such defendant, of the meaning of such service, viz. 'A. B., you are served with this process, to the intent that you may by your attorney appear in H. M.'s court of — at the return thereof, being — the day of —, [as the case may be,] in order to your defence in this action,' id. s. 4.

29. In actions in inferior courts for less than 15*l.*, exclusive of costs except in actions on bills or notes [see ante pl. 19.], copies of process shall be served, and proceedings had as in actions for less than 40*s.* in such courts under 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1. 19 G. 3. c. 70. s. 1. confirmed by 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 3. Cox. [till end of Sept. after 1 Nov. 1823.] 57 G. 3. c. 101. s. 1.

30. Where the cause of action in such courts (having jurisdiction) amounts to 15*l.* or upwards, the same affidavit shall be filed, and proceedings had as directed by 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 2. pl. 20., 19 G. 3. c. 70. s. 2. and 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 4.

31. All enactments heretofore passed for recovery of debts in certain jurisdictions, which may have authorized arrests for less than 15*l.*, exclusive of costs, (except on bills or notes, see pl. 19.) are repealed 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 3. [so in 19 G. 3. c. 70. s. 3. as to debts less than 10*l.*]

32. In actions by original or other writ and summons or attachment thereupon, in any action against persons not having privilege of parliament, no distringas shall issue for default of appearance, but defendant shall be served personally with the summons or attachment, at the foot of which a notice to defendant of its meaning shall be written, [see the form at the end of the section]; but if it appear to the court or to a judge (of the court) from whom such process shall issue, or into which it is returnable in vacation, that defendant could not be personally served with such summons or attachment, and that such process had been duly executed at the abode of such defendant, the plaintiff may, by leave of court or order of such judge, sue out a writ of distringas to compel his appearance to be served personally if possible; or if he cannot be met with, written notice thereof [see the form at the end of this section] shall be left at his dwelling-house or other place where distringas is executed; and if such defendant do not appear at return of original or other writ, or of distringas, or in eight days after the return thereof, then on affidavit of personal service of summons, or attachment and notice at foot thereof, or of due execution of distringas and notice thereof made before any judge, or commissioner of affidavits of the court, or before proper officer for entering common appearances therein, or his deputy, and filed gratis, plaintiff may enter a common appearance for defendant, and proceed thereon as above, 51 G. 3. c. 124. s. 2.

'C. D. (naming the defendant) you are served with this process at the suit of A. B. (naming the plaintiff or plaintiffs) to the intent that you may appear by your attorney in H. M.'s court of — at Westminster at the return hereof, being the — day of —, in order to your defence in this action; and take notice, that in default of your appearance, the said A. B. will cause an appearance to be entered for you, and proceed thereon as if you had yourself appeared by your attorney.'

'In the court of — [specifying the court in which the suit shall be depending,] between A. B., plaintiff, and C. D., defendant, [naming the parties,] take notice, that I have this day distrained upon your goods and chattels for the sum of forty shillings, in consequence of your not having appeared by your attorney in the said court at the return of a writ of —, returnable there on the — day of —; and that in default of your appearing to the present writ of distringas at the return thereof, being the — day of —, the said A. B. will cause an appearance to be entered for you, and proceed thereon as if you had yourself appeared by your attorney. E. F. [the name of the sheriff's officer.]'

'To C. D., the above-named defendant.'

34. FOR MORE EFFECTUAL prevention of frivolous and vexatious arrests and suits, and to authorize levying poundage in certain cases, 43 G. 3. c. 46.

35. No person shall be arrested or held to special bail on process issuing out of any court within Eng. and Ire. for a cause of action not originally amounting to the sum for which he is now by law liable to be arrested, exclusive of any costs incurred in suing for or recovering the same or part thereof, 43 G. 3. c. 46. s. 1. [QU. if this is in force as applicable to 51 G. 3. c. 124.?] ]

36. Any person arrested on mesne process within Eng. or Ire. may, in lieu of giving bail to sheriff, deposit in his hands, by delivering to him, his under-sheriff, or other officer appointed for that purpose, the sum indorsed on the writ by virtue of the affidavit to hold to bail in the action, together with 10*l.* to answer costs incurred up to and at return of the writ, and also any further sum paid for the king's fine on an original writ, and shall thereupon be discharged from that action; in which case the sheriff shall, at or before the return of the writ, pay into court the sum so deposited with him; and thereupon, in case defendant shall afterwards duly put in and perfect bail, the sum so deposited and paid into court shall, by order thereof, on like motion, be paid over to plaintiff, who shall be thereupon authorized to enter a common appearance, or file common bail for defendant, if he thinks fit; such payment to be made subject to such deductions, if any, from the 10*l.* deposited as above, as on taxation of plaintiff's costs, as well of the suit as of such application, is found reasonable, id. s. 2.

37. In all actions brought in Eng. and Ire., wherein defendant is arrested and held to special bail, and in which plaintiff shall not recover the sum for which defendant is so arrested, defendant shall be entitled to costs of suit, taxed according to custom of the court, provided that it be made appear to their satisfaction, on motion, and hearing the parties by affidavit, that plaintiff had not probable cause for causing defendant to be held to special bail for such sum, and if they shall thereupon by rule direct such costs to be allowed to defendant; and plaintiff, on such rule made, shall be disabled from taking out execution for the sum recovered in any such action, unless it exceed, and then in such sum only as it exceeds, the amount of defendant's taxed costs; and if it is less than the amount of such taxed costs, then defendant, after deducting the money recovered in such action from such costs, may take out execution for the latter, as defendants may now by law have execution for costs in other cases, id. s. 3.

38. In all actions brought in Eng. or Ire. on any judgment recovered in any court in Eng. or Ire., plaintiff shall not recover costs, unless the court, or a judge thereof, otherwise order, id. s. 4.

39. In every action in which plaintiff is entitled to levy under an execution against the goods of defendant, he may also levy poundage, fees, and expences of execution, above the sum recovered by the judgment, id. s. 5.

40. Every defendant arrested on mesne process out of any of H. M.'s courts of record at Westminster or Dublin, and imprisoned thereon after return thereof, may, in vacation-time only, and on due notice given to plaintiff's attorney, put in and justify bail before any justice or baron of the same court, who may, if he thinks fit, thereupon order a rule to issue for allowance of such bail, and further, order defendant to be discharged by supersedeas, or otherwise, according to practice of the court, as may be done by order of court in term-time, id. s. 6.

41. FOR AMENDING THE LAW with regard to the course of proceeding on indictments and informations in K. B. in certain cases, 48 G. 3. c. 58. [See s. 2. tit. OFFENCE; s. 3. tit. BAIL.]

42. Whenever any person is charged with any offence for which he may be prosecuted by indictment or information in K. B., not being treason or felony, and the same is made appear to any judge of the court, by affidavit or by certificate of an indictment or information filed against such person in that court for such offence, such judge may issue his warrant under his hand and seal, and thereby cause such person to be brought before him or some other judge of K. B., or some justice of peace, in order to his being bound to H. M., with two sufficient sureties, in a sum expressed in the warrant, conditioned to appear in such court at the time therein mentioned, and to answer to all indictments, &c. for any such offence; and if he neglect to become bound, such judge or justice may commit him to the common gaol of the county, city, or place where the offence was committed, or where he was apprehended, there to remain till bound as above, or discharged by order of the court in term-time, or of a judge thereof in vacation; and the recognizance to be thereon taken shall be returned and filed in such court, and continue in force till the acquittal, or, in case of conviction of such person, till he has received judgment, unless he is sooner ordered to be discharged, id. s. 1.

43. Where any person, either by such warrant of commitment, or by writ of cap. ad resp. issued out of K. B., is committed to or detained in gaol for want of bail, the prosecutor shall cause a copy of such indictment, &c. to be delivered to such person, or to the gaoler of the gaol wherein he is detained, with a notice thereon indorsed, that unless he shall, within eight days from delivery thereof, cause an appearance, and also a plea or demurrer, to be entered in that court to such indictment, the government of H. M. and against the peace and security of his subjects, 57 G. 3. c. 19. s. 24.

28. All the said societies, &c. and every other society now or hereafter established, the members whereof shall be required or admitted to take any oath or engagement which shall be an unlawful engagement within 37 G. 3. c. 123., and 52 G. 3. c. 104., or to take any oath not authorized by law; and every society, &c. the members whereof, or any of them, shall take or in any manner bind themselves by any such oath, &c. on becoming, or in order to become, or in consequence of being members of such society; and every society, &c. any member whereof shall be required or admitted to take, subscribe, or assent to, or shall take, &c. any test or declaration not authorized by law, in whatever manner such taking, &c. shall be performed, whether by words, signs, or otherwise; either on becoming, or in order to become, or from being a member of any such society; and every society, that shall appoint or employ any committee or delegates, representatives, or missionaries, to meet or communicate with any other society, or with any committee, delegates, &c. of such other society, &c. or to induce any persons to become members thereof, shall be deemed unlawful confederacies within 39 G. 3. c. 79., and may be prosecuted according to that act, and every person who, after passing this act, shall become a member of any such society, or shall act as a member thereof; or shall directly or indirectly maintain correspondence with any such society, committee, delegate, &c. or member thereof, as such, or who shall, by contribution of money or otherwise aid, abet, or support such society, or any members, &c. thereof, as such shall be deemed guilty of an unlawful confederacy, within 39 G. 3. c. 79., pl. 1. and shall be proceeded against according to that act, id. s. 25.

29. Nothing in this act shall extend to any society of freemasons in conformity to the rules prevailing in such societies, provided such lodges shall comply with the regulations of 39 G. 3. c. 79. relating to such lodges; nor to any declaration to be taken, subscribed, or assented to by the members of any society, the form of which shall have been first approved and subscribed by two justices, and confirmed by the major part of them at a general or quarter sessions of the peace, pursuant to that act; nor shall extend to any meeting or society of the people called quakers; or to any meeting or society formed for purposes of a religious or charitable nature only, and in which no other matter or business shall be discussed, id. s. 26.

30. Any person who shall knowingly permit any meeting of any society hereby declared to be an unlawful confederacy, or of any branch or committee thereof, to be held in any house or apartment, building, or other place to him belonging, or in his occupation, shall for the first offence forfeit 5l., and for any offence after date of his conviction for such first offence, be deemed guilty of an unlawful confederacy, in breach of this act, id. s. 28.

31. Two justices, on evidence on oath that any meeting hereby declared to be an unlawful confederacy, or any meeting for any seditious purpose hath been held at any house, room, or other place licensed for the sale of ale, beer, wine, or spirituous liquors, with the knowledge of the person keeping such place, may adjudge the licence forfeited; and the person so keeping such house shall, after date of adjudication and notice thereof, be subject to all penalties for any act done after that day, which he would be subject to if such licence had then expired, id. s. 29.

32. All penalties exceeding 20*l.* incurred in Eng., Wa., or Ber., may be recovered by action of debt at Westminster, and in Scot. in the court of session; and it shall be sufficient to declare in Eng., and conclude in Scot. that "the defendant is indebted to plaintiff in the sum of l. (the sum demanded in such action) being forfeited by an act made in the 57th year of the reign of G. 3., intitled," [state title of act]; and plaintiff or pursuer, if he recover, shall have full costs; and any pecuniary penalty not exceeding 20*l.*, and for the recovery whereof no provision is before contained, may be recovered before any justice (or justices) in a summary way; and in case it is not forthwith paid, such justice shall, by warrant directed to any constable or other peace-officer, cause the same to be levied by distress and sale, with costs; and if no sufficient distress can be had, shall commit the offender to the common gaol or house of correction, for not exceeding six nor less than three calendar months; but no person shall be sued for any pecuniary penalty, unless such prosecution or action be brought within three calendar months id. s. 30. All penalties when recovered shall be applied, one moiety to the plaintiff or to the informer, and the other moiety to H. M., id. s. 31.

33. Any action brought against any justice in Eng., constable, peace-officer, or other person, for any thing done in pursuance hereof, shall be commenced within three calendar months, and the venue be laid in the proper county; also the defendant may plead the general issue; and if brought after the time limited, or the venue laid in any other place, then the jury shall find a verdict for defendant; and in such case, or if they find a verdict for defendant on the merits, or if the plaintiff shall be nonsuit or discontinue, or have judgment against him on demurrer, defendant shall have double costs, id. s. 32.

34. Every action or suit in Scot. shall in like manner be commenced within three calendar months, and the defender under like circumstances shall have treble costs, 57 G. 3. c. 19. s. 33.

35. Convictions by any justices and adjudications of forfeitures of licences, in pursuance of this act, shall be in the several forms set forth in the schedule, id. s. 34.

36. Nothing in this act shall take away any provision already made by law, for suppression or punishment of any offence described herein, id. s. 35. And no person shall be prosecuted under this act for having been before 31st March, 1817, a member of any society or club declared hereby to be an unlawful confederacy, if he shall not have acted as a member after that time; but nothing in this act shall extend to prevent any prosecution, by indictment or otherwise, for any offence within the meaning thereof, which might have been so prosecuted if it had not been made; provided that no person convicted or acquitted of any offence against this act shall be again prosecuted for the same offence; and nothing herein shall extend to discharge any person in custody at the passing this act, or who, having been in custody, shall have been discharged on bail or recognizance, from any prosecution which might have been had against him, if this act had not been made, id. s. 36.

37. In case any prosecution commenced for any offence against 39 G. 3. c. 79. or this act, either by action or information before any justice or justices as in s. 30. pl. 32. the attorney-general in Eng., or lord-advocate in Scot., may order such action, &c. to be stayed; and in case of any judgment or conviction, any secretary of state, by order under his hand, may stay the execution thereof, or mitigate or remit any fine or part thereof, id. s. 37.

38. Where any house, shop, or other building whatever, or any part thereof, shall be destroyed or in any manner damaged, or where any fixtures thereto attached, or any furniture, goods or commodities whatever, which shall be therein, shall be destroyed, taken away, or damaged, by the act of any riotous or tumultuous assembly of persons, or of any person or persons engaged in or making part of such riotous, &c. assembly, the inhabitants of the city or town, if it be a county of itself, or is not within any hundred, or otherwise the inhabitants of the hundred in which such damage shall be done, shall yield full compensation in damages to the persons injured, which damages may be demanded and recovered under 1 G. 1. c. 5., id. s. 38. [see further on this head, Riot.]

40. FOR MORE EFFECTUALLY preventing seditious meetings and assemblies, 60 G. 3. c. 6. ss. 1—25. 33—40., [ss. 26—32. are in pari materia with, and re-enact 39 G. 3. c. 79. s. 15., &c. and are placed with those enactments, ante pl. 17—22.; but this act expires at the end of the session next after 24 Dec. 1824.; see s. 40. pl. 74.]

41. No meeting of any description of persons exceeding fifty, (other than a meeting of any county or division thereof, called by the lord-lieutenant, governor, or custos rotulorum, or the sheriff of such county, or by the sheriff or steward depute, or substitute, or convener of the county or stewartry where it is holden, or by five or more acting justices of the county, &c. or place where such meeting is holden, or any meeting of any riding or division of a county having different ridings, &c. called by five or more justices thereof; or any meeting called by the major part of the grand jury of the county where such meeting shall be held at the assizes for the county, or of any city, borough, or town corporate, called by the mayor or other head-officer thereof; or any meeting of any ward or division of any city called by the alderman or other head-officer of such ward or division, or any meeting of any corporate body) shall be held for the purpose or on pretext of deliberating on any public grievance, or on any matter of trade, manufacture, business, or profession, or on any matter in church or state: or of considering or agreeing to any petition, complaint, declaration, resolution, or address on the subject thereof, unless in the parish or (where a parish is divided into townships, having separate overseers of the poor,) then in the township within which the persons calling such meeting shall usually dwell; nor unless notice in writing of the intention to hold such meeting, and time and place of holding it is delivered personally to some justice residing in or near such parish or township, and usually acting for the division in which it is situate, six days at least before such meeting is proposed to be holden, nor unless it is subscribed by seven householders at least, usually resident within the parish, &c. where such meeting shall be proposed to be holden, nor unless the respective abodes and descriptions of such persons be inserted in such notice, id. s. 1.

44. The justice to whom such notice is delivered, may alter the time and place of meeting fixed in such notice, or either of them, and may fix any other convenient time, not more than four days after, and any other convenient place within the same parish or township, in which case he shall notify in writing every such alteration, and either give such notification to the person delivering the notice, or leave it within two days after delivery of such notice, at the specified abode of any one of the seven subscribers thereof, which meeting, if held, shall not be held at any other time or place than those so fixed, 60 G. 3. c. 6. s. 2.

45. No meeting held at the original (or altered time or place,) shall be adjourned to any subsequent time, or other place, and if so holden by way of an adjourned meeting for deliberating, as in s. 1. pl. 41. is an unlawful assembly, id. s. 3.

46. No person, (except justices of peace, sheriff, undersheriffs, constables, or other peace officers, or persons acting in their aid) shall attend any meeting whatever exceeding 50 persons, holden for the purposes in s. 3. unless such person (where the meeting is held for any county, riding, division, or stewartry) is a free, copy, or householder, heritor, or inhabitant, usually residing in the county, &c. for which the meeting is holden, or a freeman or member of the corporation, (if the meeting be of any corporate body,) or an householder or inhabitant, usually resident, or freeholder or copyholder having 50*l.* per annum in lands, of which he has been 12 months in possession, in the city, borough, or town corporate, parish or township, (as the case may be), within and for which any such meeting is holden; but nothing herein shall extend to any member of parliament attending such meeting in any county or place for which he shall be serving in parliament, nor to any voter for any city, borough, or place, attending any meeting thereof called by the head officer, id. s. 4.

47. Every person not qualified, as in s. 4. pl. 46. who shall attend any meeting for the purposes specified in s. 3. shall be punished by fine, and not exceeding 12 months imprisonment, at discretion of the court in which he is convicted, id. s. 5.

48. All justices, sheriffs, mayors, and head officers within their respective jurisdiction, where any meeting for the purposes in s. 3. specified, is holden or proposed to be holden, may proceed to the place of meeting, and there do all things which the case may require; or the law enable to be done; and may require and take the assistance of any number of constables, or other peace officers within the district or place in which such meeting is held, and of other persons in their aid when necessary, id. s. 6.

49. Every meeting held in pursuance of such notice, which notice shall purport, that any matter by law established may be altered, otherwise than by authority of king, lords, and commons, in parliament assembled, or shall tend to stir up the people to hatred or contempt of H. M., his heirs, or successors, or of the government and constitution of the realm as by law established, is an unlawful assembly, id. s. 7.

50. If any person shall attend any meeting held for the purposes in s. 3. pl. 45. specified, contrary to the provisions hereof, any one or more justices, or the sheriff or under-sheriff of any county, or the mayor, or head officer, or any justice of a city, or town corporate within which it is held, may make or cause to be made proclamation in H. M.'s name, as in s. 9. pl. 51. commanding every person unlawfully attending such meeting immediately and peaceably to depart therefrom, and every such person not so departing within a quarter of an hour is guilty of felony, and may be transported for not exceeding seven years, id. s. 8.

51. The order and form of proclamation is thus, viz.: the justice, sheriff, &c., or other person authorized as in s. 8. pl. 50. to make the same, shall among, or as near the persons assembled as he can safely come, with a loud voice command, or cause to be commanded silence, while he makes, or causes to be made proclamation as follows:

Our sovereign lord the king chargeth and commandeth every person here assembled, who is not a [freeholder, heritor of —, freeman of —, member of —, householder of —, or inhabitant usually residing, or freeholder in —, or copyholder in —, naming the county, riding, division, stewartry, city, borough, town, body corporate, parish, or township, as the case may be], or who is not entitled to attend this meeting, immediately to depart from this meeting to his lawful business. God save the King. id. s. 9.

52. When any such proclamation has been made, any person lawfully attending such meeting may apprehend any person not entitled to attend, who shall not, on making such proclamation forthwith depart, and may carry him before any justice of the county, city, &c. within which such meeting is held, id. s. 10.

53. Any one or more justices for any county, or the sheriff or under-sheriff thereof, or any mayor, head-officer, or justice of any city, or town corporate, within which any meeting shall be held, or persons shall assemble to hold any meeting contrary to this act, or where any persons not entitled to attend shall not depart for a quarter of an hour after such proclamation made, may make proclamation in H. M., name, as in s. 12. pl. 54. to command all persons there assembled to disperse and peaceably to depart to their habitations or lawful business, and if 12 or more such persons continue together for half an hour after such proclamation made, every person so continuing is guilty of felony, and may be transported for seven years, id. s. 11.

54. The order and form of making the following proclamation is the same as in s. 9. pl. 51.

Our sovereign lord the king chargeth and commandeth all persons here assembled, immediately to disperse themselves and peaceably to depart to their habitations, or to their lawful business. God save the King. id. s. 12.

55. If one or more justices present at any meeting requiring such notice, shall think fit to order any person or persons attending the same in any manner contrary to this act, or who shall thereat proceed to propound or maintain any proposition for altering any thing by law established, otherwise than by authority of king, lords, and commons, assembled in parliament, or shall wilfully or advisedly make any proposition, or hold any discourse for the purpose of stirring up the people to hatred or contempt of the person of H. M., his heirs, or successors, or of the government and constitution as by law established, to be taken into custody, and dealt with according to law; and if any such justice or peace officer acting under his order are forcibly obstructed in taking such persons into custody, proclamation shall be made as in s. 12. pl. 54., after which any 12 or more persons continuing together are guilty of felony, and may be transported for seven years, 60 G. 3. c. 6. s. 13.

56. Every person who shall, with force and arms, wilfully oppose, or in any manner hinder or hurt any justice, or other person authorized to make proclamation, as in s. 8. pl. 50., or person acting in aid of either of them, who shall begin to proclaim, or be endeavouring to make either proclamation as above, whereby it is not made: and all persons so assembled to whom any such proclamation should or ought to have been made if not so hindered, who shall, to the number of 12 or more continue together, and not disperse in half an hour after such hindrance, having knowledge thereof; and every person who shall wilfully hinder or hurt, or endeavour to hinder, &c., any justice or other magistrate, peace officer, or person acting in their aid, in apprehending or detaining any person in execution of this act shall be guilty of felony, and liable to seven years' transportation, id. s. 14.

57. If any of the persons assembled at any meeting held contrary to this act, or which shall become an unlawful assembly under the same, shall happen to be killed or hurt in dispersing, apprehending, or detaining them by reason of their resistance thereto, every such justice, sheriff, undersheriff, mayor, head-officer, magistrate, constable, peace-officer, and person aiding them, shall be indemnified, id. s. 15.

58. Nothing herein extends to meetings wholly holden in rooms, id. s. 16.

59. Nor to meetings in any county, stewartry, &c., or place returning any M. P. after the issuing and before return of any writ for election for such county, &c., or place, id. s. 17.

60. No person shall attend any meeting soever held for any purpose in s. 3. pl. 45. specified, armed with any gun, pistol, sword, dagger, pike, bludgeon, or offensive weapon, on pain of fine and imprisonment (not exceeding two years) at discretion of the court before which he is convicted; but this does not extend to justices, sheriffs, &c. as in s. 15. pl. 45. attending the same, id. s. 18.

61. No person shall attend, proceed to, be present at, or return from any meeting holden for any purpose or pretext in s. 3. pl. 57. specified, with any flag, banner, or ensign, or displaying any device, badge, or emblem, or with music, or in military array or order, on like pain, as in s. 18. pl. 60. id. s. 19.

62. Sheriffs and stewards-depute and substitute, justices of peace, magistrates of royal burghs, and all other inferior judges and magistrates, and all constables and peace officers of every county in Scot. shall have the same powers in Scot. as justices and peace officers under this act in other parts of U. K., id. s. 20.

63. Justices in general or quarter sessions (where expedient for preventing tumultuous meetings) may divide any parish or township within their jurisdiction, having a population not exceeding in their judgment 20,000 inhabitants, into two or more divisions, for all the purposes of this act, and may assign the boundaries thereof; a registry of which divisions and boundaries shall be entered with the clerk of the peace of the county or division in which such parish, &c. is situate, and a duplicate thereof shall be transmitted to the churchwardens and overseers, or to the minister and elders, or kirk session of the parish, &c. so divided, to be kept with the books thereof; and copies thereof shall be put up, and in case of removal replaced on the church door; and each division shall be deemed a separate parish or township within this act, but shall not contain a population which consists in the judgment of such justices of less than 10,000 persons, id. s. 21.

64. Every extra-parochial place is a parish or township within this act, id. s. 22.

65. Any meeting may be held under this act in the parishes of St. John and St. Margaret, Westminster, within one mile of the gate of Westminster-Hall [see 57 G. 3. c. 19. s. 23. pl. 26.], except in Old or New Palace Yard, during sitting of parliament, id. s. 23.

66. Nothing herein shall legalize any notice, meeting, or act done thereat in pursuance of such notice, or the attendance of any person, which would be contrary to law if this act had not been made, id. s. 24.

67. Or prevent any prosecution for any offence within this act which might have been prosecuted before its passing, unless the offender has been previously prosecuted under this act, id. s. 25.

68. All penalties exceeding 20*l.* incurred under this act in Eng. or Ire. may be recovered by action of debt in any H. M.'s courts of record at Westminster and Dublin respectively, and in Scot. in court of session, and it shall be sufficient to declare in Eng. and Ire., and in Scot. to conclude, that defendant is indebted to plaintiff or pursuer in the sum of £. (being the sum demanded by such action), being forfeited by an act made in the 60th year of the reign of his present majesty, intituled, "an act [inserting the title]," and if plaintiff recovers in the action he shall have full costs, and any pecuniary penalty hereby imposed not exceeding 20*l.*, for recovery of which no provision is above contained, may be recovered before any justice for the county, &c. or place where it is incurred, or the person having incurred it shall happen to be, in a summary way, and if not forthwith paid, such justice shall, by warrant under hand and seal directed to any constable or other peace officer, cause it to be levied by distress and sale of offender's goods, together with all costs thereof, and if no sufficient distress can be had, shall commit the offender to the common gaol or house of correction for such county, &c. or place for not exceeding six nor less than three calendar months; provided that no person shall be prosecuted or sued for any pecuniary penalty hereby imposed unless the prosecution be commenced or action brought within three like months, 60 G. 3. c. 6. s. 33.

69. All pecuniary penalties hereby imposed shall, when recovered either by action in any court or summarily before any justice, be applied one moiety to the plaintiff or informer, and the other to H. M., id. s. 34.

70. The justice or justices by whom any offender is convicted under this act, shall cause the conviction to be made out thus, viz.

"Be it remembered, that on this—day of—in the—year of the reign of—, A. B. of— is duly convicted before me (or us, as the case may be),—of H. M. justices of the peace for—in pursuance of an act passed in the 60th year of the reign of K. Geo. the third, intituled, "An act [set forth the title], for that the said A. B. after the passing of the said act on—at—did, contrary to the said act [here specify the offence against the act, as the case may be], wherefore I, [or we, as the case may be], the said—do adjudge, that the said A. B. do pay the sum of— as a penalty for his said offence." id. s. 35.

71. Actions brought against any justice or other person in Eng. or Ire. for any thing done in pursuance hereof, must be commenced within six calendar months, the venue being local, defendant may plead general issue, giving this act and the special matter in evidence; and if the action is not so brought, or venue not so laid, the jury shall find for defendant; in which case, or if he has a verdict on the merits, or if plaintiff is nonsuit or discontinues after appearance, or has judgment against him on demurrer, defendant shall have double costs, id. s. 36.

72. Every such action in Scot. shall be brought within six calendar months in the court of session, and defendant may plead that the matter complained of was done in pursuance of this act, which with the special matter may be given in evidence, and if not so brought shall be dismissed; in which case, or if defendant is assoltized, or the prisoner shall suffer suit to fall asleep, or if decision is against him on the relevancy, defender shall have double costs, id. s. 37.

73. No person shall be prosecuted under this act for any offence against it, except within six calendar months of the fact, id. s. 38.

74. Act commences within London and 20 miles thereof from 24th Dec. 1819, in all other parts of the Kingdom from 3d Jan., 1820, for five years from the 24th Dec., 1819, and till the end of the then next session, id. s. 40.

ATTAINT. See JURY.

(STATUTE expired.)

1. FOR WRITS of attain to be brought against jurors for untrue verdicts, 11 H. 7. c. 24. [CON. 12 H. 7. c. 2. 19 H. 7. c. 3. 11 H. 8. c. 11. ALL EXP.]

(STATUTES in force.)

1. ATTAINT SHALL BE granted upon inquests in plea of land or of any thing touching freehold, 3 E. 1. c. 38.

2. ATTAINT SHALL BE had as well in plea real as personal, and it shall be granted to the poor who affirm that they have nothing whereof to make fine, and to others by easy fine, 34 E. 3. c. 7.

3. A WRIT OF ATTAINT will lie as well on the principal as on the damages in writs of trespass, and the chancellor may grant such writs without speaking to the king, and in all cases, whether the damages be paid or not, 1 E. 3. st. 1. c. 6.; so in trespass moved with or without writ if the damages adjudged pass 40*l.*, 5 E. 3. c. 7. and whatever the damages may be, 28 E. 3. c. 8.

4. ATTAINTS for false verdicts given in the city of Lincoln shall be tried in the county of Lincoln, 13 R. 2. st. 1. c. 16. [SUPPRESSED BY 3 H. 5. st. 2. c. 5. which see next pt.]

5. ATTAINTS for false verdicts given in the county of the city of Lincoln shall be tried in the county of Lincoln, 3 H. 5. st. 2. c. 5.

6. In assizes, juries and other inquests to be taken before the mayor and bailiffs, or the sheriffs of the county of the city of Lincoln between party and party, if any do complain of false oath made by such assizes, &c. a writ of attain shall be granted to him directed to the sheriff of the county of Lincoln, and into K. B. or C. P., the record shall be sent by writ, and the sheriff of the county of Lincoln shall array a panel of the jury of such attain of the people of the county of Lincoln, and H. M.'s justices shall take such jury notwithstanding such city is made a county of itself, id. ibid. [NOTE, by the recital of this act it appears that the castle and ward of Lincoln, and the walls and ditches of the same are not within the city. See the charter, 11 H. 4.]

7. FOR PUNISHING false pleas in writs of attain against jurors, 11 H. 6. c. 4.

8. Plaintiffs in attain shall recover damages and costs against jurors, 11 H. 6. c. 4. s. 1.

9. FOR REGULATING proceedings in writs of attain, 15 H. 6. c. 5. [Old practice in attain recited, 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 1.] AMD. 18 H. 6. c. 2.

10. CONCERNING perjury and punishment of untrue verdicts, 23 H. 8. c. 5. s. 1. [CON. 33 H. 8. c. 17., 37 H. 8. c. 23.; REV. and MADE PERP. 13 El. c. 25.]

11. On untrue verdict before judges of record, extending to 40*l.* value, but not concerning jeopardy of man's life, the party grieved shall have a writ of attain against every juror, and against the party having judgment on such verdict; and summons, re-summons, and distress infinite shall be awarded therein against the petit and grand jury and the party; the number and qualification of such jurors being the same as is now in attain; viz. a freehold estate of 20 marks per ann. out of ancient demesne, 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 2., 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 1. and comm. semb. out of the cinque ports, 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 1.; and see the former qualifications for jurors in attain of 20*l.* per ann. freehold as above, id. ibid., and of 20*l.* per ann. in gavelkind lands, 18 H. 6. c. 2., and that jurors not so qualified should be challenged by plaintiff, 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 1., and that the act did not extend to cities or boroughs, id. s. 3.

12. Open proclamation shall be made in court on the distress so delivered of record as above, 15 days being given between the teste and return of such distress, which shall be made on the lands of the grand jury, 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 2. [and no sheriff, bailiff of franchise, or coroner in attain of plea of land of 40*l.* or more yearly value, or in detinue for deeds concerning the same, or in personal actions of 40*l.* value or upwards, shall return into court less issues than 40*l.* at the first, 100*l.* at the second, and the double at every other writ of distress against the jurors so impanelled, on penalty of 10*l.* to H. M., and 10*l.* to the plaintiff, 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 1.] see 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 5. pl. 19.

13. If the party defendant, or the petit jury, or any of them, do not appear, the grand jury shall be taken against the defaulters; but if any of the petit jury appear, the plaintiff [may challenge jurors not qualified, 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 1., qu. if now exp.?] shall assign the false serement [oath] of the first untrue verdict, and the jury have no other answer, (if the writ, process, &c. are good, and if plaintiff has not been nonsuit, discontinued, or had judgment against them in the same attain,) except the general issue, that they swore truly, and the party shall plead that they gave true verdict, or other sufficient bar; and 24 of the grand jury shall then enquire whether the first jury gave true verdict or no, 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 2.

14. On foreign plea pleaded by any such defendant, the judgment, if against him, shall be final, but shall not prejudice the other defendants, 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 2.

15. Where there are not sufficient qualified jurors in the shire or place where the attain taken, a tales shall be awarded into the next shire, 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 7. [semble superseding, 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 4., and the penalty by the sheriff of 10*l.* to H. M. and 10*l.* to the plaintiff for neglect therein].

16. Attain shall be had according as in this act ordained, to all grieved by untrue verdicts of any inheritance in descent, reversion, or remainder, or of any freehold in reversion or remainder, 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 7.

17. The penalty on every petty jurymen attainted is 20*l.* each; one moiety whereof shall be levied to use of H. M. by ca. sa., f. fa., or elegit, or action of debt, and the other moiety to the use of the party suing the attain, 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 3. and s. 8.

18. They shall be also severally fined at discretion of the justices; are disabled from their oaths; shall not be accepted in any court; and the plaintiff in attain succeeding after plea pleaded shall have judgment to be restored to what he has lost, with damages and costs, id. s. 4.

19. Outlawry or excommunication of plaintiff shall not be pleaded; day shall be given as in dower, [see ACTION (REAL)] without essoin, &c. [see old regulation of giving day, 5 E. 3. c. 6.]; and on default of appearance by grand jury or any of the tales, on first distress, defaulter forfeits 20*l.*; on the second, 40*l.*; and on every other, id.; and the attain is maintainable while two jurors live, 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 5. [See as to the sheriff's return, 15 H. 6. c. 5. s. 1. pl. 11.]

20. Where false verdict is given in personal action for less than 40*l.*, the same remedy is given by attain; but grand juror's qualification is five marks a-year out of ancient demesne, [QU. if also out of cinque ports? see s. 2. above,] or 100 marks in goods and chattels; and each juror's penalty on such conviction is 5l. in moieties to H. M. and informer, with fine, as in s. 4., 23 H. 8. c. 3. s. 6.

21. Plaintiff, on nonsuit or discontinuance, shall be fined at discretion of the justices, id. s. 7.; but this, on their release, shall not affect other plaintiffs, id. s. 8.

22. Attaints must be sued in K. B. or C. P., which may award a trial at nisi prius [and see same enactment, 5 E. 3. c. 6.], and every petty juror may appear by attorney, id. s. 8.

23. Judgment of restitution to the party suing, and execution for the same to be had, and like judgment for defendant or tenant to be discharged of restitution as before this act, in case of a grand attaint hath been used, id. s. 8.

24. Writ of attaint shall conclude after the teste, with a "per statulum." 23 H. 8., &c. id. s. 9.

25. Attaints may be sued in London, either on this statute, or on the London act, 11 H. 7. c. 21. id. s. 10.

ATTORNIES AND SOLICITORS.

1. EVERY freeman that oweth suit to the county, tithing, hundred, or wapentake, or to a court baron, may make an attorney to do those suits for him, 20 H. 3. Stat. Merton. c. 10.

2. PERSONS impleaded before the justices of C. P., or K. B., or before justices assigned to take assizes, or in any county before sheriffs, or in any court baron, may make a general attorney to sue for them in all pleas in the circuit of justices moved against them during the circuit; which attorney shall have full power in all pleas moved during the circuit, till the plea be determined, or his master remove him, yet shall they not be thereby excused from serving in juries and assizes before such justices, 13 E. 1. (West. Sec.) c. 10. s. 2.

3. NEITHER THE barons of exchequer, nor our justices, shall receive any attorneys, but in pleas that pass before them, in benches and places where assigned by us; and their clerks and officers shall receive none; and if they do, the admission shall be void, saving to the chancellor, and chief justices to admit them as heretofore, Stats. incert. temp. xi. 1. rol. 8vo. ed. 101.

4. FOR REGULATION of attorneys, 4 H. 4. c. 18.

5. All attorneys shall be examined by the justices, and by their discretion put into the roll, and those who are by them approved, shall swear truly to serve in their offices, and make no suit in a foreign county; and the other attorneys shall be put out by like discretion of the justices, and their masters shall have notice thereof, lest they be prejudiced thereby, and as any die or cease, the justices shall appoint others, being virtuous, learned, and sworn as above; and any attorney notoriously found in default shall forswear the court, and never after be received to make suit in any court of H. M.; and this ordinance shall be holden in the exchequer, at discretion of the treasurer and barons, id. ibid.

6. FOR ALLOWING defendants to make attorneys, in writs of præmunire facias, 7 R. 2. c. 14. [see 15 H. 6. c. 7. pl. 11.]

7. They who depart the realm with H. M.'s licence, being of good fame, may, before their departure have a patent from the chancellor, (with advice of the justices), enabling them to make general attorneys to answer for them in writs of præmunire as in other writs and complaints, in which case express mention shall be made at all times of writs and complaints of præmunire, and those attorneys may make attorneys under them, 7 R. 2. c. 14.

8. NO steward, bailiff, or minister of lords of franchises who have return of writs, shall act as an attorney therein, 4 H. 4. c. 19.

9. CONCERNING reversal of outlawries in certain cases, 7 H. 4. c. 13.

10. Persons openly known to be impotent and infirm and outlawed, may be examined by any justice of C. P. or K. B. or baron of exchequer, who may in their discretion record their attorney in this case, but in writs of ca. sa., the common law shall hold place, id. ibid.

11. ALL PERSONS, religious and secular, may, under their seals, make their attorneys general to plead for them in every hundred and wapentake within the realm, and every steward, bailiff, or minister of any hundred, &c. doing contrary thereto shall forfeit 10*l.* to H. M., 15 H. 6. c. 7.

12. EVERY attorney who hath not his warrant entered of record in all his suits wherein process of copias and exigent is awardable the same term in which the exigent is awarded, or before and upon that be attainted by examination of any judge of the same court, shall forfeit for every offence 40*s.* to the king, 18 El. 6. c. 9. [see rest of the statute, tit. APPEARANCE. pl. 4.]

13. THERE SHALL BE but six common attorneys in Norfolk, six in Suffolk, and two in Norwich, to be admitted by the two chief justices, on penalty of 20*l.* to offenders, to be enquired of by justices of peace, 33 H. 6. c. 7. [see quare if Exp.]

14. TO REGULATE the delivering in of warrants of attorney, 32 H. 8. c. 30. ss. 2, 3., 18 El. c. 14. s. 3., 4 & 5 A. c. 16. s. 3. [see rest of these statutes, JEOFAILS.]

15. All attorneys shall deliver their warrants of attorney to the proper officer, to be entered of record for every suit in which they are attorneys in or before the same term of which the issue is entered of record, on penalty to H. M. of 10*l.* for every default therein, 32 H. 8. c. 30. s. 2. with imprisonment at discretion of the court, id. s. 3.

16. All attorneys in any court of record shall deliver in the warrant of attorney to be entered and filed according to law, on pain to forfeit 10*l.*, one moiety to H. M., and the other to the officer to whom the warrant should be delivered, and to suffer imprisonment by discretion of the court, 18 El. c. 14. s. 3.

17. Plaintiff's attorney shall file his warrant of attorney with the proper officer of the court where the cause is pending the same term he declares, and defendant's attorney shall file his warrant the same term he appears, under the penalties in former statutes, 4 & 5 A. c. 16. s. 3. [Practice is otherwise, Tidd, 7th ed. 109., see the last two pl., and 25 G. 3. c. 80. ss. 13, 17. STAMPS (ATTORNEY).]

18. FOR REFORMING the multitudes and misdemeanors of attorneys and solicitors at law, and to avoid unnecessary suits and charges at law, 3 Jac. 1. c. 7.

19. No attorney, solicitor, or servant to any, shall be allowed by his client fees given to counsel, or for copies, unless he have tickets thereof signed by such as receive such fees; and he shall also give to his client true bills of all the charges of suit under his own hand, before he can charge him with payment thereof; and if he delay his client's suit for gain, or demand by his bill allowance for money which he has not disbursed, the latter shall recover against him costs and treble damages, and he shall be for ever disabled from being an attorney or solicitor, id. s. 1.

20. None shall be admitted attorneys in courts of record but such as have been brought up therein, or otherwise well practised in soliciting causes, and found skilful and of honest disposition; and none but such shall hereafter be suffered to solicit causes in such courts, and no attorney shall suffer another to follow a suit in his name on pain that each of them shall forfeit 20*l.* to be divided between the king and party grieved, and the attorney shall be disabled from being such, id. s. 2., [and see 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 5., pl. 27. and s. 10. pl. 36.]

21. IF ANY PERSON convicted of forgery, or of wilful and corrupt perjury, shall practise as an attorney, solicitor, or agent in any suit, in any court of law or equity in Eng. [not extending to Scot. s. 5.], the judges of the courts where such suit is brought shall, on complaint or information thereof, examine the matter in a summary way in open court, and if his offence is proved shall cause him to be transported for seven years, as felons in other cases are transported, 12 G. 1. c. 29. s. 4, 5. [See rest of this statute, tit. ARRESTS. pl. 29., &c. COURTS (INFERIOR).]

22. FOR BETTER REGULATION of attorneys and solicitors, 2 G. 2. c. 23. (semble superseding 4 H. 4. c. 18.) [CON. 12 G. 2. c. 13. s. 3., 22 G. 2. c. 46. s. 2. MADE PERP. 36 G. 2. c. 19. s. 75. AMD. 6 G. 2. c. 27. s. 2., 12 G. 2. c. 13. ss. 4—10., 22 G. 2. c. 46. ss. 3—19., 23 G. 2. c. 26. s. 15., 25 G. 3. c. 80. ss. 10—12., 49 G. 3. c. 28. PUBLIC Clause, s. 2.]

23. No person shall act as an attorney, or sue out process, or carry on or defend any action or proceeding in the name of any other person in the courts of K. B., C. P., or exchequer, or of the duchy of Lancaster, or in the great sessions in Wa., or in the counties palatine of Chester, Lancaster, and Durham, or in any other court of record in England, wherein attorneys have been accustomedly admitted and sworn, unless he shall take the oath in s. 13. pl. 24., 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 1.

24. The judges of the said courts, or any one or more of them shall, before they admit such person to take the said oath, examine and inquire touching his capacity; and if they are satisfied of his due qualification, shall administer to him the oath in s. 13. pl. 21. viz.

'I, A B, do swear that I will truly and honestly demean myself in the practice of an attorney, according to the best of my knowledge and ability: So help me God,' id. s. 13.; and after that shall cause him to be admitted an attorney in such court, and enrolled without fee, other than 1*s.* for administering the oath; which admission shall be written on parchment, in English, in a common legible hand, and signed by the judge, (the lawful stamp, being first impressed thereon), and shall be delivered to such person, id. ss. 2, 6.

25. No person shall act as a solicitor, or sue out process, &c. in the name of any other person in any court of equity, viz. either in chancery, court of equity, or exchequer chamber, court of the duchy chamber of

Lancaster at Westminster, or courts of the counties palatine, or in any other inferior courts of equity in Eng., unless he take the oath in s. 14. pl. 26., and shall be admitted and enrolled in such courts where he shall act as solicitor, 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 3.

26. The master of the rolls, two masters in chancery, the barons of exchequer, chancellor of the duchy, and judges of the other courts of equity, or any one or more of them, shall before they admit any person to take such oath, examine and enquire touching his capacity, and if satisfied therein, shall administer to him the oath in s. 14. ; viz.

'I, A B, do swear that I will truly and honestly demean myself in the practice of a solicitor according to the best of my knowledge and ability: So help me God,' id. s. 14. ;

and shall cause him to be admitted a solicitor in such court of equity, and his name to be inrolled as such without any fee, other than 1s. for administering the oath; which admission shall be written on parchment in English in a common hand, and signed by such master of the rolls, &c. whereon a proper stamp shall be first impressed, and shall be delivered to the person admitted, id. ss. 4. 8.

27. No person shall act as an attorney or sue out process, &c. as in s. 1. pl. 43. in the name of any other person in any courts of law, unless he have been bound by contract in writing to serve as a clerk for five years to an attorney duly sworn or admitted in some or one of the above courts; and that such person, during such five years, shall have continued in such service; and also, unless such person after expiration of such five years shall be examined, sworn, admitted, and inrolled as herein required, id. s. 5. [similar provisions for courts of equity, id. s. 7.]

28. Every person so bound shall within three months after date of such contract, cause an affidavit to be made and sworn of the actual execution of such contract by such attorney or solicitor and by himself, in which affidavit shall be specified their respective names and places of abode with the date of such contract, which affidavit shall be filed within such three months in the court where such attorney or solicitor hath been inrolled with the proper officer, who shall sign a memorandum of the day of filing such affidavit at the back or bottom thereof, 22 G. 2. c. 46. s. 3.

29. No person so bound shall be admitted an attorney or solicitor in any court, before such affidavit so marked shall be openly read therein, id. s. 4.

30. The following officers shall file such affidavits; viz. in chancery, the senior clerk of petty bag-office, or deputy; in K.B., the chief clerk or deputy; in C.P., the clerk of the warrants or deputy; in exchequer, the king's remembrancer or deputy; in duchy chamber of Lancaster at Westminster, the chief clerk or deputy; in counties palatine of Chester, Lancaster, and Durham, and in great sessions of Wa., the respective prothonotaries and their deputies, id. s. 5.

31. Every such officer or deputy filing such affidavit, shall keep a book for entry of the substance thereof, specifying the names and abodes of the attorney or solicitor, and clerk, and of the person swearing the affidavit, and days when sworn and filed, with the date of the articles; every such officer taking 2s. 6d. only for filing, and the books may be searched in office hours without fee, id. s. 6.

32. No attorney or solicitor shall retain any clerk bound as in 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 5. pl. 27., after discontinuing, or during such time as he shall not actually practise as an attorney or solicitor, id. s. 7.

33. Every person so bound shall continue and be actually employed by such attorney or solicitor, or his agent, in their proper business during such term, id. s. 8.

34. And before admission shall file, with the proper officer, an affidavit, of himself or his master, of such actual service during such term, id. s. 10.

35. Where such attorney or solicitor, to whom any such person is so bound, shall die, or discontinue practice, or if such contract shall, by consent of parties, be cancelled, or in case such clerk shall be legally discharged by any rule or order of the court in which such master shall practise, before expiration of such term, and such clerk shall be bound by another contract in writing to serve, and shall accordingly serve, in manner above-mentioned, as clerk to any other practising attorney or solicitor, during the residue of such five years, then such service shall be deemed as good as if the clerk had continued to serve his original master for the same term, so as an affidavit be made and filed of the execution of such second or other contract within the time and in like manner as before directed concerning the original contract, id. s. 9., and 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 12.

36. Any attorney in any such court of law, or solicitor in any such court of equity, with consent of any attorney in any of the other courts in writing signed by such attorney, and in the name of such attorney, may sue out process, or carry on or defend any action or proceeding in such court, notwithstanding he is not sworn or admitted an attorney thereof, 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 10. [see 3 J. 1. c. 7. s. 2. pl. 20.]

37. Nothing herein shall authorize any judge to admit any greater number of attorneys than allowed by the ancient usage of the court, 3 J. 1. c. 7. s. 11.

38. No attorney or solicitor shall have more than two articulated clerks at one time, id. s. 15.

39. The prothonotaries of C.P., of the courts of the counties palatine, and of great sessions in Wa. and secondary of K.B., may have three clerks at one time; who, after having served a five years' clerkship, may be examined, admitted, and enrolled attorneys, &c., as in s. 2. pl. 22. id. s. 16.

40. If any sworn attorney of any of the said courts of law shall knowingly permit any other person to prosecute or defend any action in his name, not being a sworn attorney or solicitor, the person convicted thereof shall be disabled to act as an attorney, and his admittance is void, id. s. 17. [Quære, if the application is made to the court in a summary way, as in 22 G. 2. c. 46. s. 11. pl. 68.]

41. The proper officers [see them enumerated, 22 G. 2. c. 46. s. 5. pl. 30.] of the superior courts of law and equity, and such officers of the inferior courts of law and equity as the judges thereof shall appoint, shall without fee enrol the name of every person admitted an attorney or solicitor in those courts under this act, and the time when admitted, in alphabetical order; to which rolls all persons shall have free access without fee, id. s. 18.

42. Any person admitted an attorney in any of the courts in s. 1. pl. 23. mentioned, may be admitted a solicitor in all or any of the courts of equity in s. 3. pl. 25., without fee for the oath, or stamp on the parchment of admission, if the examiners in s. 4. pl. 26. are satisfied with his capacity to act as such solicitor, id. s. 20.

43. Any person admitted a solicitor in any of the courts of equity in s. 3. pl. 25. may be admitted in all or any such courts, or in inferior courts of equity, without fee for the oath, or stamp on the parchment of admission, if the examiners in s. 4. pl. 26. are satisfied with his capacity to act therein, id. s. 21.

44. Any person sworn, admitted, and enrolled a solicitor, in any court of equity at Westminster, under 2 G. 2. c. 23. may be admitted an attorney of K.B. or C.P. without fee for oath, or stamp on the parchment of admission, if the judges of those courts, or any one of them, shall on examining him as in 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 2. pl. 24. be satisfied that he is duly qualified to act as an attorney, 23 G. 2. c. 26. s. 15.

45. Any person admitted an attorney in any of the courts of record at Westminster, may be admitted to practise as such in any inferior court, provided he be qualified to be so admitted according to the usage thereof, 6 G. 2. c. 27. s. 2.

46. Every process for arrest and every writ of execution, or some label annexed, and every warrant on such process, shall before service or execution be subscribed or indorsed with the name of the attorney, clerk in court, or solicitor, by whom such process &c. is sued out; and where such attorney, &c. is not the person immediately employed by the plaintiff in the suit, then also with the name of the person so immediately employed; and every copy of any writ served upon any defendant shall, before service, be subscribed with the name of the attorney or solicitor immediately employed, 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 22.

47. Warrants made out on any such process shall not be vitiated by want of such indorsement, but such process and execution, and all proceedings thereon, shall be valid, provided the writ whereon such warrant is made out be regularly subscribed or indorsed; and every sheriff or other officer who shall make out any such warrant without subscribing or indorsing the name of the attorney, clerk in court, or solicitor, who sued out the same, shall forfeit 5*l.* to be assessed as a fine by the court, out of which such process shall issue, one moiety to H.M., and the other to the party grieved, 12 G. 2. c. 13. s. 4.

48. No attorney or solicitor shall maintain any action for fees, charges, or disbursements, at law or in equity, till the expiration of one month after he shall have delivered to the party charged, or left for him at his dwelling house or last place of abode, a bill of such fees, &c., written in a common legible hand, and in English, (except law terms, and names of writs,) and in words at length, (except times and sums,) and subscribed by his own hand, 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 23., 12 G. 2. c. 13. s. 5. [and see old regulation, 3 J. 1. c. 7. s. 1. pl. 19.]

49. Every attorney, clerk in court, and solicitor, may write his bill of fees, &c. with such abbreviations as are commonly used in the English language, 12 G. 2. c. 13. s. 5.

50. And upon application of the party chargeable by such bill, or of any authorized person on his behalf, to the chancellor, master of the rolls, or to any of the said courts, or to a judge or baron of the court in which the business contained in the bill, or the greatest part thereof in value has been transacted, and upon submission to pay the sum, which on taxation shall appear to be due, the chancellor, &c. may refer such bill, (though no action is pending touching the same,) to be taxed by the proper officer, without any money being brought into court; and if the attorney or solicitor, or party chargeable by such bill, having due notice, neglect to attend such taxation, the officer may proceed to tax the bill ex parte, (pending which reference no action shall be commenced touching the said demand,) and on taxation of such bill the party shall pay to the attorney or solicitor, or to any person by him authorized, that shall be present at such taxation, or to any other person as the court shall direct, the sum found due, which payment shall be in discharge of the bill; and in default thereof, the attorney or solicitor shall in like manner be liable to an attachment, or process of contempt, or such other proceeding at the party's election, as he would have been subject to had this act not been made; and the said courts shall award the costs of such taxation to be paid by the parties according to its event, viz. if the bill taxed be less by one-sixth than that delivered, the attorney, &c. shall pay the costs; but if it be not less, the court in their discretion shall charge the attorney or client in regard to the reasonableness or unreasonableness of such bills, 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 23.

51. The 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 23. does not extend to bills of fees and disbursements due from any solicitor, attorney, or clerk in court, to another solicitor, &c. which remain as before that act, 12 G. 2. c. 13. s. 6.

52. Every person who, in his own or another's name, shall sue out any process, or prosecute or defend any action, suit, or proceedings in any courts of law or equity, as an attorney or solicitor, for or in expectation of fee or reward, without being admitted and enrolled, shall forfeit 50*l.*, to the use of the prosecutor, and cannot maintain any action for his fees or disbursements therein, 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 24.

53. The penalties inflicted by this act may be recovered by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information, in any of the courts of record at Westminster, or in the counties palatine, or in great sessions of W.a., or at assizes or quarter sessions for the county or division where the offence is committed, by any person suing for same, within 12 months after the offence, in which action, &c. no essoins, &c. and but one imparlance shall be allowed, nor shall it be removed before judgment, or stayed by certiorari, habeas corpus, or other writ, id. s. 25.

54. Nothing herein shall extend to the examination, swearing, admission, or enrolment of the six clerks, or their sworn clerks, or the waiting clerks of the six clerks, or the cursitors of chancery, or clerks of petty bag office, or to the clerks of the king's coroner and attorney, [see next pl.] or of the filicers in K.B. or C.P., or of the attornies of the court of duchy-chamber of Lancaster, or of exchequer at Chester, or of the mayor and sheriff's-court of London, who may be admitted, &c. and practise as before this act, id. s. 26.

55. Clerks of the king's coroner, and attorney of K.B. [vidg. vocat. master of crown office, Tidd, 7th ed. 37.] regularly admitted as such clerks, may be admitted to practise as attornies in K.B., and in any other of the courts, in 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 1. pl. 23. comm. semb. mentioned, in the name and with the consent in writing of some sworn attorney thereof, signed by him as in s. 27. pl. 56., &c. of that act provided. 49 G. 3. c. 28. s. 1.

56. Nothing in these acts shall extend to the examination, &c. as in s. 26. pl. 54. of the attornies or clerks of the offices of the king's or treasurer's remembrancer of the pipe, or of pleas in the court of exchequer at Westminster, who may be approved, sworn, admitted, and practise in such court of exchequer; or may practise in any other court of record above-mentioned, in the name and with the consent of some sworn attorney in such court, (being in writing signed by him,) and any person enrolled an attorney or solicitor in any of the above courts, may practise and solicit in the said respective offices as has been heretofore done, 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 27. 22 G. 2. c. 46. s. 19. s. p.

57. Nothing in this act shall extend to the examination, &c. as in s. 26. pl. 54. of the solicitors of the treasury, customs, excise, post-office, salt or stamp duties, or of any other branch of the revenue, or of the city of London, or of the assistant to the council for affairs of admiralty and navy, who may be admitted and practise in their respective offices only, as before this act, id. s. 28.

58. But none of the six clerks, or of the other persons enumerated in 2 G. 2. c. 23. ss. 26—28. pl. 54—57., 22 G. 2. c. 46. s. 19. pl. 56. shall be permitted, in his own or another's name, to sue out any writ or process, or commence, carry on, or defend any action or proceedings in any of the said courts, for fee or reward, as a solicitor or attorney, except as in s. 12. pl. 60., unless he shall, for the purposes of this act, cause his name to be enrolled in the court in which he is such clerk, &c. or in the court in which he shall so prosecute or defend any such suit, &c. with the proper officer; and shall annually, during such time as he shall practise, obtain a certificate marked with the proper stamp, according to the place of his residence, as directed with respect to sworn attornies or solicitors, on pain of like penalties and incapacities, as in s. 7. of this act, 25 G. 3. c. 80. s. 10. [See rest of this statute, STAMPS (ATTORNEY).]

59. No officer or clerk of any of the courts aforesaid, [semble those referred to in the last pl.] except those in s. 12. pl. 60. excepted, shall in his own or any other's name, sue out any writ or process, or commence, carry on, or defend any suit or other proceedings therein, for or in expectation of reward as a solicitor, &c. unless such officer or clerk shall cause his name to be enrolled or registered in the court in which he is such officer, or in that in which he shall so commence, &c. such suit, &c. with the proper officer therein, and shall annually, during such time as he shall so practise, obtain a proper certificate, [as in pl. 58. to the end.] 25 G. 3. c. 80. s. 11.

60. Nothing herein shall subject to payment of the stamp duties hereby imposed on certificates of attornies or solicitors, any officer or clerk of any of the courts referred to in s. 10. pl. 58. who is charged with land-tax in respect of his office in such court, by reason of his being employed in the management of any suit or other proceeding therein, relating to the business of his office only, and wherein such officer is not also employed by the party to such suit, &c. or by any solicitor, &c. for or in expectation of reward over the fee payable to such officer in respect of his office, id. s. 12.

61. Any person admitted a sworn clerk in the six clerks' office, or articulated to serve as a clerk for five years to a sworn clerk therein, and acting in such service for three years or more, and then being admitted and acting as a waiting clerk, during the residue of the five years, may be admitted a solicitor in equity, as in 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 8. pl. 26. 22 G. 2. c. 46. s. 16.

62. If the sworn clerk to whom such clerk is articulated dies, or if the articles are vacated by consent of both parties, or if the clerk is legally discharged by rule or order of chancery, before the five years are expired, then if the clerk by contract in writing, be bound to and shall actually serve as a clerk to any other such sworn clerk, or to any other solicitor, such service is as good as if performed with original master, id. s. 17.

63. No such sworn clerk shall have more than two clerks, including the clerk entered on the roll kept by the secretary of the master of the rolls, id. s. 18.

64. Every person not admitted as an attorney or solicitor as above, who shall commence, defend, or carry on any action or other proceedings in the county court in any county of Eng. shall, for every offence forfeit 20*l.* recoverable with costs by the party who shall sue for the same in any court of record, within 12 months after the offence, 12 G. 2. c. 13. s. 7.

65. Quakers who have served clerkships, and are in other respects qualified as above, may be admitted and enrolled as attornies or solicitors, on taking their solemn affirmation, instead of the oaths in 2 G. 2. c. 23. s. 13. or 14. pl. 24, 26. id. s. 8.

66. No attorney or solicitor shall during his confinement in any prison, or within the rules thereof in his own name, or in that of any other, sue out any writ or process, or commence or prosecute any suit in any courts of law or equity; and all proceedings therein shall be void and he, and any other attorney, &c. permitting him to commence any suit in his name shall be struck off the roll, and incapacitated from acting as such in future, id. s. 9.

67. Nothing herein shall prevent any attorney, &c. so confined, from carrying on any suit commenced before his confinement, id. s. 10.

68. If any sworn attorney or solicitor shall act as agent for any person not qualified to act as an attorney, &c. or shall suffer his name to be made use of on the account, or for the profit of an unqualified person, or shall send any process to such person, thereby to enable him to appear, or practise in any respect as an attorney, &c. knowing him not to be qualified, then, on complaint thereof in a summary way, proved on oath to the satisfaction of the court from whence any such process issued, the offending attorney shall be struck off the roll, and for ever disabled to practise as an attorney or solicitor, and the court may commit the unqualified person so practising as above to the prison of the court for not exceeding one year, id. s. 11.

69. No person shall act as a solicitor, attorney, or agent, or sue out any process at any general, or quarter sessions of the peace within this kingdom in any matter criminal or civil, unless he shall have been admitted an attorney of one of the courts of record at Westminster, and enrolled according to law, and unless he shall so continue entered on the roll at the time of his acting in the above capacity, but every person who shall so act, not being admitted and enrolled as above, shall incur a penalty of 50*l.* to be recovered by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information, in any court at Westminster, by any person who will sue within 12 months after the offence, with treble costs, and any attorney who shall permit any person not so admitted to make use of his name in the above courts shall forfeit 50*l.*, to be recovered in like manner, id. s. 12.

70. Nothing herein shall deprive the attornies of the duchy of Lancaster, or of the courts of great sessions of W.a. or the county of the counties palatine from acting in their respective jurisdictions, id. s. 13.

71. No clerk of the peace, under-sheriff, or their deputies respectively shall act as a solicitor, attorney, or agent, or sue out process at any general or quarter sessions to be held for the county or place where he shall execute his office, under penalty of 50*l.* to be recovered as in s. 12. pl. 69. id. s. 14.

72. To AMEND the several acts for regulation of attorneys and solicitors, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 48. ss. 1, 2, and s. 4. [see s. 3, in NOTARY PUBLIC.]

73. After 8th June 1821, in case any person who has taken, or shall take the degree of bachelor of arts, or of law, at either of the universities of Oxford, Cambridge, or Dublin, shall at any time after taking his degree be bound by contract in writing to serve as a clerk for three years to an attorney, solicitor, or six-clerk, duly sworn and admitted according to 2 G. 2. c. 22. and 7 G. 2. Ir. c. 5. or this, or any other act in force for regulation of attorneys and solicitors, in some or one of the courts of law or equity in those acts mentioned, and shall continue for three years in such service, during the whole of which time he shall continue and be actually employed by such attorney, solicitor, or six-clerk, or his agent, in the proper business of an attorney or solicitor, and shall cause an affidavit, or being a quaker, a solemn affirmation also, of himself, or of his master, to be duly made and filed, that he has actually so served and been employed during the whole term of three years, as required by 2 G. 2. c. 23., 22 G. 2. c. 46., and 7 G. 2. Ir. c. 5. with respect to persons required by those acts to serve for five years, shall be qualified to be sworn, or take his solemn affirmation, and be admitted and enrolled as an attorney or solicitor respectively, according to the nature of his service, in the respective courts of law or equity, as fully as any person having been bound and served five years, is qualified to be sworn, or take affirmation, and to be admitted or enrolled under the above, or any other act for regulation of attorneys or solicitors in Eng. any thing in any of those acts notwithstanding, id. s. 1.

74. After such 8th June, if any person who now is or hereafter shall be bound by contract in writing to serve as such clerk, as in s. 1. pl. 73. for five years in manner mentioned by any act now in force relating to service of persons intended to be admitted as attorneys or solicitors in Eng. or Ire. shall actually be and continue as pupil to any practising barrister, or person practising as a certificated special pleader in Eng. or Ire. for any part of that term, not exceeding one year, the judge or other sufficient authority to whom he shall apply to be admitted as attorney or solicitor as above, on affidavit or affirmation of such clerk, and such barrister or special pleader to be duly made and filed, and on being satisfied that such applicant had actually been and continued with, and had been employed as pupil by such practising barrister or special pleader as above, but not otherwise, may admit him as attorney or solicitor in like manner as is now done in cases where the clerk has served part of his clerkship with the agent of the person to whom he had been bound, id. s. 2.

75. Nothing herein extends to any person who has taken or shall take such degree of bachelor of arts, unless his degree is taken within six years after his first matriculation in either of the universities in s. 1. pl. 73. nor to any person who shall take, or has taken such degree of bachelor of law, within eight years after it; nor to any person bound by contract in writing to serve as a clerk to any attorney, solicitor, or six-clerk under this act, unless so bound within four years next after the day of his taking such degree, id. s. 4.

ATTORNTMENT.

1. ALL GRANTS or conveyances, by fine or otherwise, of any manors or rents, or of the reversion or remainder of any messuages or lands, shall be good without attornment of the tenants, 4 & 5 A. c. 16. s. 9.

2. But no such tenant shall be damaged by payment of rent to any such grantor or conisor, or by breach of any condition for non-payment of rent, before notice given him of such grant by the grantee or conusee, id. s. 10.

3. ALL ATTORNTMENTS of tenants to strangers, of any hereditaments within Eng., Wa., or Ber., shall be void, and the possession of the lessors shall not be affected thereby; provided that nothing herein shall affect any attornment made pursuant to some judgment at law, or decree or order of a court of equity, or made with consent of the lessor, or to any mortgagee after the mortgage is forfeited, 11 G. 2. c. 19. s. 11.

AUCTION AND AUCTIONEER.

II. Exemptions of certain Sales from Auction Duty.

1. SALES BY AUCTION of estates or chattels, made by order of the court of chancery or exchequer; or of great sessions in Wa.; or by any order or decree of the courts of session or exchequer in Scot.; or of the East India or Hudson's Bay companies; or of the commissioners of customs or excise, board of ordnance, or commissioners of the navy or victualling offices; or by the sheriff, for the benefit of creditors, in execution of judgment; or of goods distrained for rent, or non-payment of tithes: so of effects of bankrupts sold by assignees; of goods imported by way of merchandize from any British colony in America, the same being of the growth, produce, or manufacture of such colony, on the first sale thereof on account of the original importer, to whom they were consigned, and by whom they were entered at the custom-house, so as such sale be made within twelve months after importation; [but coffee may be sold duty free at any time while it remains warehoused, under 43 G. 3. c. 132., by 52 G. 3. c. 53. s. 1.] so of ships or their cargoes condemned as prize, and sold for the benefit of the captor; so of ships or goods wrecked or stranded, sold for the benefit of the insurers or proprietors; so of any goods damaged by fire, and sold for the benefit of the insurers, or by trustees of Scotch insolvents appointed under 12 G. 3. c. 72.; so of any auction to be held on account of the lord or lady of the manor, for granting any copyhold or customary messuages, lands, or tenements for the term of a life or lives, or any number of years; so of any auction for the letting or demising any messuages, lands, or tenements for the term of life or lives, or any number of years, to be created by the person on whose account such auction shall be held; so of the sale of any wood, coppice, produce of mines or quarries, or materials for working the same; or of any cattle and live or dead stock, or manufactured produce of land, so as such sale of woods, coppices, produce of mines or quarries, cattle, corn, stock, or produce of land be made whilst they continue on the lands producing the same, and by the owner of such lands, or proprietor of or adventurer in such mines or quarries, or by their steward or agent, 17 G. 3. c. 50. ss. 11—13., 19 G. 3. c. 56. ss. 13—15. [as AMD. by 52 G. 3. c. 53. s. 1.]

2. Piece goods wove or fabricated in this kingdom, and sold by auction on account of the manufacturer or first purchaser, entire in the piece or quantity as taken from the loom, in lots of the price of 20*l.* or upwards, 29 G. 3. c. 63. s. 1.

3. Such exemption shall not take place, unless the sale is carried on at same place, entered at next excise-office, and unless the goods are openly shewn at the time and place of sale, id. s. 2.

4. The auctioneer shall, at every such public sale, besides the bond now given on receiving his licence, [see 42 G. 3. c. 93. s. 14., and 43 G. 3.

c. 130. s. 1. infra, pl. 4.] shall give further bond in 5000*l.*, with two sureties, to H. M., to be taken by any two commissioners of excise or their appointee, that he will, within 14 days after every such sale, deliver at the next excise-office an account of the lots sold, of the price of each lot, with the amount of the money bid at such sale; and that he will not sell by auction any goods woven out of this kingdom, or woven in this kingdom, if not sold in the entire piece, and in lots, and on the account as in s. 1. pl. 2., without paying the proper duty, 29 G. 3. c. 68. s. 3.

5. If it appear that the obligee has acted contrary to the true intent of such bond, the excise commissioners may put it in suit, id. s. 4.

6. Goods imported from Yucatan in South America, 30 G. 3. c. 26. s. 1.

7. Whale oil, 32 G. 3. c. 41.

8. Elephant oil, (viz. oil produced from sea-cows or sea-elephants,) 41 G. 3. (U.K.) c. 42.

9. Whalebone, ambergris, and head-matter; all skins of seals and other sea animals; elephants' teeth, palm-oil, dying-wood, drugs, and other articles for dyers' use; all mahogany and other unmanufactured wood for the use of cabinet-makers and other manufacturers, imported in British ships from Africa [or America], 42 G. 3. c. 93. s. 3., or any British settlement abroad, shall be free of excise duty on the first sale thereof by auction, by or for the account of the original importer to whom the same were consigned, and by whom they were entered at the custom-house, so as such sale be made within twelve months after such goods are imported, and the same be sold by a licensed auctioneer, 32 G. 3. c. 41.

13. Corn and grain of every sort, flour and meal, and all beef, pork, hams, bacon, cheese, and butter, imported into G. B. shall be free of duty on the first sale thereof by auction, on account of the original importer to whom the consignment and by whom entry was made, so as such sale be made within 12 months after importation by some duly licensed auctioneer, 41 G. 3. (U.K.) c. 91. s. 8.

16. West India produce brought into the West India docks in the port of London, and whereof entry is not made in seven days after arrival (according to 42 G. 3. c. 113. ss. 15, 16.), shall, when sold by order of the W. I. Dock Co. directors to pay customs, duties, and charges, be exempt from auction duty, 47 G. 3. s. 2. c. 65.

17. Sales by auction of any estates or chattels of H. M. made by order of the commissioners appointed under 55 G. 3. c. 55. [KNOWN PROPERTY, &c.] are exempted from auction duty, 55 G. 3. c. 55. s. 12.

III. Duties on Licences to be taken out by Auctioneers. DUTY.

On every licence to be taken out by every auctioneer, 43 G. 3. c. 69. sch. (A) tit. Licences - - - - - 0 6 0

ADDITIONAL, 55 G. 3. c. 30. sch. (A) tit. id. (continued to 5th July 1822, 59 G. 3. c. 32.) - - - - - 0 6 0

(Besides the following duties, if he sell gold or silver plate.)
On every licence to be taken out by every person trading in, vending, or selling any gold and silver plate or any goods or wares in which any quantity of gold exceeding 2 dwt. and under 2*oz.* weight, or any quantity of silver exceeding 5 dwt. and under 30 oz. weight in any one separate ware or piece of goods, shall be manufactured, 43 G. 3. c. 69. sch. (A) tit. Licences - - - - - 2 6 0

ADDITIONAL, 55 G. 3. c. 30. sch. (A) tit. id. (expiring 5 July 1822, 59 G. 3. c. 32.) - - - - - 2 6 0

IV. Exemptions (from the Duties on Venders of Gold and Silver manufactures only.)

1. No person trading in or selling gold or silver watches, and not selling any gold and silver plate, &c. as above, shall be liable to the duty of 2*l.* 6*s.* by 55 G. 3. c. 30. granted, 59 G. 3. c. 32. s. 2. [Quære, this does not appear to exempt them from the old duty under 43 G. 3. c. 69.]

2. To obviate disputes touching the quantity or weight of gold or silver contained in any piece of goods, all goods sold or offered for sale, or taken in pawn, or delivered out as gold and silver respectively shall be deemed such within 43 G. 3. c. 69. and 55 G. 3. c. 30., 59 G. 3. c. 32. s. 3.

V. General Regulations.

1. No person shall act as an auctioneer or seller by commission at the sale of, or shall sell any estate, goods, or effects soever, by outcry, knocking down of hammer, candle, lot, panel or other mode of sale by auction, or whereby the highest bidder is deemed the purchaser, without first taking out a licence, in which his true name and abode shall be specified, and paying for the same the duties above mentioned, besides other duties to which he may be liable for trading in or selling any gold or silver plate; which licences, if taken out within the limits of the London chief excise office for selling within such limits, or in any other part of Eng. or Wa., shall be granted under the hands and seals of two or more commissioners, or of such persons as they shall appoint, and the duties shall be paid at such chief office; and if taken out without those limits for selling by auction also out of them, they shall then be granted by the collectors and supervisors of excise of the district, and the duty shall be paid to the collector granting the same, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 3.

2. The same regulations are in force where a licence is taken out within limits of chief office of excise in Scot., and the same distinction exists between licences so taken out, and those taken out in any part of Scot. out of those limits, id. ibid.

3. Such licence shall be renewed annually, 10 days at least before expiration of 12 calendar months, after taking it out or paying down the duties at the above mentioned times and place; and every person not licenced, who shall offer to sell by auction without a licence or without renewing same yearly, shall, if the offence is committed within the limits of the London chief excise office, forfeit 100*l.*, and 50*l.* if without those limits, id. s. 4.

4. Every auctioneer acting in that capacity within the limits of the London chief excise office, shall, on recovering his licence, give security by bond to H. M., viz. himself in 1000*l.*, and two sureties in 200*l.* each, to be taken by the commissioners of excise, or their officers appointed to deliver out the licences conditioned to deliver within 28 days after each sale, to the proper officer at the said chief excise office, an exact account in writing of the total amount of money bid at each sale; of the several articles sold, with the prices of each and what articles were bought in by the owner or by his direction in writing, witnessed by the latter, and shall at the same time pay the duties then due; which money he may return out of the produce arising by such sale or deposit made, or otherwise recover the same by action against his employer, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 7., 42 G. 3. c. 93. s. 14., 43 G. 3. c. 130. s. 1., [The 43 G. 3. c. 130. s. 1. amends the mistake of 100*l.* for 1000*l.*, in 42 G. 3. c. 93. s. 14., by inserting 1000*l.*]

5. Every auctioneer or his clerk at the sale, shall make oath to the truth of such account before such commissioners, or one of them, or before such person as they shall appoint, and if the auctioneer giving such bond shall neglect to deliver in his account, or to make payment of the duties, or if it shall appear that the account delivered in was not just, or that the auctioneer has acted contrary to the bond and this act, the said commissioners may cause such bond to be put in suit, unless they find cause to forbear, and in case of a verdict against defendant, such licence shall be void, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 7.; 17 G. 3. c. 50. s. 6.

6. Any auctioneer acting as such in G. B. without the limits of such chief office, shall give like security by bond, himself in 500*l.* and two sureties in 50*l.* each, to be taken by commissioners of excise in Eng. and Scot. respectively, or by any two of them, or their officer appointed for that purpose, or by the excise collectors, conditioned to give a like account, and make payment of the duties within six weeks after each sale; and every regulation for securing, &c. the duties in the chief excise office in London, shall be observed in all others parts of G. B., 42 G. 3. c. 93. s. 15., 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 8., 17 G. 3. c. 50. s. 7.

7. The commissioners may deliver up the bond, if the obligor has acted according to this act for the year of his licence, but if the contrary, may prosecute the same, (unless they find sufficient cause to forbear,) and if a verdict is given against defendant, his licence is void, and he himself is disabled from ever after having such a licence, and is liable to penalties for acting under colour thereof, 17 G. 3. c. 50. s. 6.

8. The duties shall be charged on the auctioneer immediately after knocking down the hammer or other closing of the bidding, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 2.

9. And shall be paid when the account of the sales is delivered, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 7., 17 G. 3. c. 53. s. 6.

10. Auctioneers not paying the above duties in legal time, shall forfeit double the duty unpaid; and if in 14 days after conviction and execution issued, no sufficient goods shall be found whereon to levy the whole penalty, and it remain unpaid at end of that time, or if any breach of the bond is committed, then the commissioners of excise may put the bond in suit against him and his sureties, (unless they find sufficient cause to forbear same,) and if the verdict or judgment be against him, his licence is void, 38 G. 3. c. 54. s. 2.

11. If auctioneer makes any overpayment on account of auction duty, he may, within 12 months after, lay complaint before commissioners of excise, or justices of peace, within whose respective jurisdiction such sale was made, who, after hearing the same and the evidence of witnesses on oath, may relieve him of the overpayment, 38 G. 3. c. 54. s. 3. [The payment of this sum appears provided for, 51 G. 3. c. 95. s. 1. pl. 18.]

12. Auctioneer may make it a condition of sale that the duty or any part thereof, shall be paid by the purchaser over and above the price bidden, and on refusal to pay such duty on demand by auctioneer, the bidding is void, 17 G. 3. c. 50. s. 8.

13. Agreements between buyer and seller or other person touching payment of the duties are good, so as they do not extend to lessen the full duty to be paid, id. s. 9.

14. Every auctioneer selling by auction within limits of chief excise office in London, shall deliver at the chief office of excise a two days' notice in writing, signed by him, specifying the day when the auction will begin, and shall then, or in 24 hours after, also deliver a catalogue signed by himself or his known clerk, enumerating all the articles to be sold at such auction; and every auctioneer selling by auction in any part of G. B. without those limits, shall give a like notice three days before sale begun, to the collector of excise of the walk, or to the nearest excise office, with a catalogue in the like time, on 20*l.* penalty for selling by auction without these requisites, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 9.

15. Every auctioneer shall, within 28 days after the day specified in notice as the day of any sale within the limits of such chief excise office, deliver at the same in London a declaration in writing sworn to by himself or acting clerk, expressing whether the sale took place or not, or whether any article in the catalogue was bid for or sold; and if he has given such notice of any sale without such limits, a like declaration shall be made in like manner, in six weeks after the day fixed for the sale, to the collector of excise of the walk, on penalty of 50*l.* for neglect or refusal, to be recovered or mitigated by any laws of excise, or by action of debt, or information in the courts at Westminster, or in exchequer in Scot.; one moiety to H. M. and the other to the informer, 32 G. 3. c. 11. s. 1.

15. Any auctioneer, acting as such, in Eng. or Wa. out of the limits of the chief excise, &c. and not being prepared to deliver in such account to the collector of excise in whose walk such notice was delivered, and sale by auction made, may deliver in his account, in six weeks after such sale, at the chief excise office in London, with a true copy of the notice and catalogue by him before delivered to the collector, on penalty of 20*l.* for neglect in delivery of either of the latter, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 10.

16. Where sale is rendered void, in 12 months after, for want of title in the beneficial owner, the auctioneer who has paid the duty, or such owner, may lay complaint before the commissioners of excise or justices of peace of place where the sale was made, (or if the sale is rendered void after 12 months, then in 3 months after discovery of the want of title,) who, after hearing the same and the evidence of witnesses on oath, may relieve the party of any overpayment, 28 G. 3. c. 37. s. 19. 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 11. [Note, no express limitation of time for receiving complaints, as in 54 G. 3. c. 82. s. 21, for Ire.]

18. The above commissioners and justices of peace respectively, shall then grant their warrant to the proper collector of excise, requiring him to pay out of the auction duties, to the party so relieved, the full sum so proved to have been overpaid, 51 G. 3. c. 95. s. 1.

19. Every auctioneer selling any estates or effects seized by sheriff or under-sheriff, for benefit of creditors in execution of any judgment obtained, shall specify in his catalogue the particular estates and effects to be sold, and the exact sum to be levied under such execution; and the sheriff, &c. shall sign every catalogue, and certify at the foot thereof, that the articles enumerated were really the property of the defendant, and were actually seized in execution of judgment had against him, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 16.

20. So, in sales of bankrupts' effects, the catalogue shall specify the articles to be sold, and the assignee or assignees shall sign the same, and certify that the articles enumerated were really the property of the bankrupt at time of suing forth the commission, id. ibid.

21. Where the real owner of any estate or effects, put up to sale by auction, shall become the fair purchaser by his own or agent's bidding, the commissioners and collectors of excise respectively shall make allowance to him of the duties on such bidding, 17 G. 3. c. 50. s. 10, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 12.

21. But a notice in writing, signed by the owner or by his agent actually employed in managing the sale, and by the intended bidder declaring that the latter is appointed by the former, and has agreed to bid at the sale on behalf of the seller, must be given to the auctioneer before such bidding, and verified by his oath as to the fairness of the transaction to the best of his knowledge; and on any dispute as to whether such purchase by the owner was not made by collusion, or to lessen the full sum paid, the proof of the fairness of the transaction shall lie on the auctioneer, and in case of failure in such proof, or in case of unfair practice, no such allowance as in last pl. shall be made, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 12, 28 G. 3. c. 37. s. 20, 42 G. 3. c. 95. ss. 1, 2, & 17 G. 3. c. 50. s. 10.

22. A like notice, verified in like manner, and subject to the same rules, shall be given where the steward or known agent of the owner buys in for him, 42 G. 3. c. 95. s. 1.

23. No such allowance shall be made unless such notice is produced by the auctioneer to or left with the proper collector or officer of excise, id. s. 2.

24. These respective catalogues, so signed and certified, shall be produced by every auctioneer, with his account, to the proper officer of excise hereby appointed to record the latter, before it shall be passed or allowed, with a penalty of 20*l.* on the sheriff or assignees respectively for false insertion in such catalogues of estates, not the property of the debtor or bankrupt, or for neglecting to certify therein the true sum to be levied on certifying a false sum, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 16.

25. Every auctioneer employed to sell goods damaged by fire, and sold by order of and for the benefit of the insurers, shall specify the particular goods to be sold in the catalogue, which shall be signed by the insurer or insurers, certifying that the sale is really for their benefit, which catalogue, so signed, shall be produced by the auctioneer to the like proper officer, before he is permitted to pass his account under penalty of 20*l.* on the insurers for any false insertion of other goods or omission to insert in the catalogue the real goods sold, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 17. [see the exemption from auction duty in case of sales of goods damaged by fire, pl. 1.]

26. The penalties imposed by these acts, and by 42 G. 3. c. 95., to be recovered or mitigated by such means as any such penalties may be recovered or mitigated by any excise laws, or by action of debt or information in courts at Westminster, or of exchequer in Scot., and to go one moiety to H. M. and the other to the informer, 17 G. 3. c. 50. s. 15, 19 G. 3. c. 56. s. 18, and 43 G. 3. c. 130. s. 2.

AVOWRY.

1. THE ACTS for avowries, 7 H. 8. c. 4., 21 H. 8. c. 19., [and recitals in s. 1. of both acts.]

2. Recoverers in a recovery, their heirs and assigns, may distrain for rents, services, and customs, and make avowry or justify the same; and may maintain quare impedit for advowsons appendant to manors and lands so recovered, if any disturbance thereof is made, 7 H. 8. c. 4. s. 2.

3. Every avowant, and other person, making avowry or cognizance, or justifying as bailiff to any other person in replevin or second deliverance for any rent, custom, or service, [or for damage feasant 21 H. 8. c. 19. s. 3.] if the avowry, &c. is found for him, or if plaintiff is otherwise barred shall recover such damages and costs as the plaintiff would have done, had he recovered therein, 7 H. 8. c. 4. s. 3., and 21 H. 8. c. 19. s. 3.

4. If the lord distrain on any manors, lands, or tenements for any such rents, customs, or services, and replevin thereof is sued, he may avow, or his bailiff may make cognizance or justify for taking the distresses on such lands, &c. so holden, as in lands, &c. within seignory, alleging therein such lands to be holden of him, without naming any person certain to be tenant thereof, or making avowry, &c. on any person certain, and so in writs of second deliverance, 21 H. 8. c. 19. s. 2.

5. The said plaintiff and defendant in writs of replegiare, or second deliverance, shall have like pleas and aid prayers, in such avowries, &c. (except pleas of disclaimer), as if the avowry, &c. had been at common law, id. s. 4.

6. And shall have like joinder of persons in aid to either party, as at common law might join in replegiare, or second deliverance, as well with as without process, with like pleas, (except of disclaimer), and advantages as at common law, id. s. 5.

7. FOR MORE SPEEDY and effectual proceeding upon distresses and avowries for rent, 17 C. 2. s. 7. and recital in s. 1. [Ext. to the C. P. of the counties palatine of Lancaster and Durham, to the great sessions for the county palatine of Chester, and of Wales, 19 C. 2. c. 3.]

8. Where plaintiff in replevin is nonsuit before issue joined in any courts at Westminster, and the defendant makes a suggestion in nature of an avowry, or cognizance for such rent to ascertain the court of the cause of distress, the court shall on his prayer award a writ to the sheriff, to inquire by the oaths of 12 men, as to the sum in arrear at the time of distress taken, and the value of the goods or cattle distrained; and thereupon 15 days' notice of the sitting of such inquiry shall be given to plaintiff or his attorney; and on return of such inquisition, the defendant shall have judgment to recover the arrears of rent, if the goods distrained amount to that value, or if not, for so much as the value of the goods distrained amounts to, with full costs of suit, and execution by fi. fa., elegit, or otherwise, as by law required, 17 C. 2. c. 7. s. 2.

9. If plaintiff is nonsuit after cognizance or avowry made, and issue joined, or if verdict is against him, then the same jurors shall at prayer of defendant inquire concerning the amount of the arrears, and the value of the goods distrained, and thereupon defendant shall have judgment for such arrears, or for so much thereof as the goods, &c. distrained amount to, with like costs and execution, id. ibid.

10. If judgment in any of the above courts be given on demurrer for the avowant or cognizant for rent, the court shall on defendant's prayer award a writ to inquire of the value of the distress, and on the return thereof, the avowant shall have a like judgment and execution for the rent alleged in his avowry to be in arrear, if the goods distrained amount to that value; and if they shall not, then for their amount with costs, id. s. 3.

11. In all the above cases where the value of any distress is not found to equal the full value of the arrears distrained for, the party to whom they are due, his executors or administrators may from time to time distrain again for the residue thereof, id. s. 4.

12. DEFENDANTS in replevin may avow, or make conusance generally, that the plaintiff in replevin, or other tenant of the lands whereon such distress was made, enjoyed the same under a grant or demise at such a certain rent during the time wherein the rent distrained for incurred, which rent was then and still remains due, or that the place where the distress was taken was parcel of such certain tenements held of such honor, lordship or manor, for which tenements the rent, relief, heriot, or other service distrained for was at the time of such distress, and still remains due, without further setting forth the grant, tenure, demise, or title of such lessors, or owners of such manor, and if the plaintiff in such action shall become nonsuit, discontinue his action, or have judgment against him, the defendant in replevin shall recover double costs, 11 G. 2. c. 19. s. 22.

Provided, that on 12 months' notice after 1732, and on payment of all principal and interest due to them on orders, tallies, &c. such yearly fund shall cease, (s. 6.) and on payment of all sums and all interest due, and on redemption of the annuity hereby granted to the bank, then such corporation shall cease, 7 A. c. 7. s. 7. [Rev. 12 A. st. 1. c. 11. s. 23., 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 3.]

10. The proviso in 7 A. c. 7. s. 5 & 6. contained, shall be Rer., and the bank shall remain a corporation and enjoy such yearly fund of 100,000*l.* for ever, but such subject to the powers of redemption herein-after contained, 12 A. st. 1. c. 11. s. 23.

11. Proviso for the redemption of such fund, (s. 24.) and on its redemption the bank shall determine, (s. 25.) 12 A. st. 1. c. 11. [Rev. 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 3.]

12. The provisos in 7 A. c. 7. ss. 6, 7., and 12 A. st. 1. c. 11. ss. 24, 25., and all other acts for determining the fund of 100,000*l.*, on the notices and payments in the said act mentioned, shall be Rer., and the corporation and fund shall remain for ever, and enjoy all other abilities, and advantages, whereunto they are entitled, and all which are hereby confirmed, together with the privilege of exclusive banking, 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 3.

13. Provided that on payment of all sums for principal and interest due to the bank, and on one year's notice after 1st Aug. 1764, the yearly fund of 100,000*l.* shall cease, id. s. 4. [See 21 G. 3. c. 60. s. 13. pl. 58.]

14. The treasury shall, without farther warrant, direct their warrants yearly for the payment of the said 100,000*l.* to the contributors of the said 1,200,000*l.* and the auditor of receipt of exchequer, and all other officers of the exchequer, shall issue the monies without fee, and under the penalties inflicted upon any officer for diverting any money appropriated by this act, 54 G. 3. c. 20. s. 22.

15. The corporation so to be made shall not borrow under their common seal any farther sum than 1,200,000*l.* so that they shall not at any one time owe more, unless by act of parliament, upon funds agreed in parliament; and if any more shall be borrowed under the common seal, every member of such corporation shall, in their private capacities, be liable in proportion to their several shares, to the repayment of such monies with interest: and in such case an action of debt may be maintained in any of the courts of record at Westminster, by the creditors, to whom any such security under the common seal of the corporation shall be made, against all or any of the members of the corporation, in proportion to their shares, wherein judgment may be recovered, as if security were given in their private capacities, any agreement to the contrary notwithstanding, id. s. 26. [See 54 G. 3. c. 20. s. 20. pl. 26., and 3 G. 1. c. 8. s. 39. pl. 47.]

16. The corporation shall not trade, or suffer any person in trust for them to trade with any of the effects of the corporation, in the buying or selling of any merchandises or goods; and every person so trading, or by whose order such trading shall be made, shall forfeit treble the value of the goods and merchandises traded for, to such person as will sue for the same, in the courts of record at Westminster, id. s. 27.

17. But the corporation may send bills of exchange, and in buying or selling bullion, gold or silver, or in selling goods pawned to them, and not redeemed within three months after the date, or such goods as shall be the produce of lands purchased by the corporation, id. s. 28.

18. All bills obligatory and of credit, under the seal of the corporation, may, by indentment thereon under the hand of the proprietors, be assigned, and the assignee may sue in his own name, id. s. 29.

19. If the governor, or other members of the corporation to be established, shall, upon account of the corporation, purchase any lands or revenues belonging to the crown, or lend to their subjects any money by way of anticipation on any part of the revenue, other than such part only on which a grant of loan shall be granted by parliament, then the said governor or members so consenting to lend, shall be liable treble the value of such sum, to be recovered by the crown, or the assignee of the crown, in any court of record at Westminster, and the residue to be disposed of by parliament, id. s. 30.

20. Nothing in 54 G. 3. c. 20. s. 21. pl. 47. shall subject the bank to any penalty for diverting any money to pay bills of exchange accepted by, or by the direction of the treasury, and such penalties as shall be not specifically lent on the credit of any branch of the revenue, 53 G. 3. c. 22. s. 6.

21. Provided an account of all money so advanced or lent shall be annually laid before parliament, id. s. 7. [See now 54 G. 3. c. 70.]

22. Assignments, fines and losses against such corporation, upon account of any suits to be brought against them, shall not be permitted, and shall be returned into the exchequer, the officers of the exchequer may, out of the yearly sum of 100,000*l.* detain so much as such suits, damages, fines or losses amount unto, 54 G. 3. c. 20. s. 31.

23. If any person shall obtain a judgment against the corporation, and shall bring execution thereupon unto the officers of the exchequer, then such officers shall pay the sum in the execution adjudged to the plaintiff or his assigns; and detain so much of the yearly sum of 100,000*l.* as the debt shall amount unto, id. s. 32.

24. Any member of the house of commons may be a member of this corporation, the 54 G. 3. c. 7. s. 67. notwithstanding, id. s. 33.

25. During the continuance of this bank, no other bank or fellowship in name of a bank, shall be erected or permitted by act of parliament, 54 G. 3. c. 20. s. 38.

26. The bank may borrow by bills (over 1,200,000*l.* to which they were at first limited) any sum not exceeding the sum subscribed, under an obligation of paying the said bills in money upon demand; and in default thereof, on demand made to the bank between nine and twelve in the forenoon, and the default proved by affidavit in writing before one of the barons of the exchequer, the said bills to be paid at the exchequer, out of the first money due unto the bank, other than the fund of 100,000*l.* per ann. But these bills shall be distinguished from the bills contained within the said 1,200,000*l.* and expressed to be made by virtue of this act, id. s. 30. [See 54 G. 3. c. 20. s. 20. pl. 15. and 54 G. 3. c. 7. s. 67. pl. 48.]

27. The capital stock and fund of the bank shall be exempt from taxes, id. s. 31.

28. Bank stock shall be adjudged in all courts of law and justice to be personal and not real estate, and shall go to the executors or administrators of any person dying possessed thereof, and not to his heirs, id. s. 32.

29. No contract or agreement made, either by word of mouth or in writing, for buying or selling of any bank stock, or for transferring the property thereof, either in trust or otherwise, shall be good in law or equity, or binding on either party, unless the same is actually registered in the books of the bank by the officer thereunto appointed within seven days, and actually transferred within 14 days next after the same was made, id. s. 34.

30. No act of the bank shall forfeit the stock thereof, but the same shall remain safe and entire, but subject to their debts, id. s. 35.

31. It shall be felony without clergy to forge or counterfeit the common seal of the bank, or any sealed bank-bill, or any bank-note, or to alter or erase such bills or notes, id. s. 36.

32. The officers of the exchequer shall keep accounts of all monies appropriated to the bank, either upon the fund of 100,000*l.* per ann. or any other parliamentary funds, or for tallies belonging to the bank; and shall duly direct, record, and make payment thereof, under the penalty of loss of place, incapacity, and double damages, id. s. 37.

33. In case of judgment of forfeiture given against the bank, the yearly payments out of the exchequer, and all the estate belonging to the bank, shall be vested for three years in 24 persons, to be chosen by the bank, who shall have power to receive, sue for or recover the monies due to the bank, as if no such judgment had been given; and to pay and discharge the debts and contracts due at the time of such judgment. After which the surplus shall be divided amongst the several members: and then the said yearly payments shall be vested in the particular members, in proportion to a list thereof to be made by the said trustees, who shall be assignable in a book to be kept by the officers of the bank, id. s. 38.

34. The bank may employ a clerk to copy the writs, orders, judgments, &c. in any the officers of the several courts of record at Westminster, paying as for a search only, id. s. 39.

35. No member of the bank shall be privileged a bankrupt, by reason of his stock in the bank; nor shall the stock be subject to foreign attachment by the custom of London or otherwise, id. s. 40.

36. The monies required out of the exchequer for the bank shall be divided among the members proportionally, for their particular use, once in four months, (3 months before) 54 G. 3. c. 20. s. 41. 54 G. 3. c. 20. s. 20. pl. 26.

37. The debts of the bank shall never exceed their capital stock, and the property of improving the several members, so far as that the bank received will amount to satisfy the debts to any persons, who shall not cover the same shall be void, id. s. 42. [See now 54 G. 3. c. 7. s. 67. pl. 48.]

38. In all future decisions not above two-thirds of the members of the governing body shall be chosen, id. s. 43.

39. The governor and company of the bank of England shall have power to repeal all statutes which they shall think shall not, for or in part of 420,000*l.* being the last part of 820,000*l.* authorized to be borrowed, with interest for such 420,000*l.* after the rate of seven per cent. shall not be obliged to make dividends of the monies to be received by them by virtue of any tallies or orders subscribed into their stock in pursuance of 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 20. but at such times only as shall be ordered by a general court, 12 & 15 W. 3. c. 12. s. 14.

40. There shall be added to the stock of the bank 2,201,171*l.* 10*s.*, which before such addition consisted only in the like sum; so that the whole capital stock now shall amount to 4,402,743*l.*, and the new subscribers shall be incorporated with the present members of the bank, and be taken to be one body politic and corporate, by the name of "The Governor and Company of the Bank of England," 7 A. c. 7. s. 1.

41. The said capital stock shall be assignable in the same manner as the original stock, s. 2. [see 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 7. pl. 5.]

42. The bank is to pay into the exchequer 400,000*l.* before 25th Aug. 1709, id. s. 5.

43. The stock and funds of the bank, and the interest of every member therein, shall be exempted from taxes, and shall be deemed a personal estate, and shall not be liable to foreign attachment, id. s. 62.

44. The original fund of 100,000*l.* before mentioned, and all profit, benefit and advantage arising out of the management of such corporation, the charges of managing the business of the bank only excepted, shall be applied to the uses of all the members of the bank, according to their respective interests, id. s. 63. (see 2 B. & J. 620.)

45. The bank may at any time reduce their capital stock by dividends, taking care that the total of their debts do not exceed the value of their capital; and in case the governor and company by any dividend shall reduce their capital, without proportionably reducing the total of the debts, so that the value of their capital shall not be sufficient to answer their debts; in such case, the particular members who shall receive such dividend, shall be severally liable, so far as the shares by them received shall extend, to pay the debts which shall remain due to any persons who may sue for the same, (besides treble costs,) by action of debt, or upon the case, &c. id. s. 65. [see 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 20. s. 49. pl. 37.]

46. The said governor and company may call in any sums of money which they, in a general court, shall think necessary, to be paid by their members proportionably, which shall have before been divided out of the said capital of 4,402,743*l.* And in case any member shall neglect to pay his share at the times appointed by notice in the London Gazette, and fixed upon the Royal Exchange, the governor and company may stop the dividends of such members, and also the transfers of their shares, and charge the defaulters with interest at six per cent.; and in case the principal and interest be not paid in three months, they may sell the stock of such defaulters, to pay the same, id. s. 72. [see 3 G. 1. c. 8. s. 45. pl. 50.]

47. The bank, as they shall see cause, may call for, from their members, in proportion to their respective interests in the capital stock, any sums of money, as in a general court shall be judged necessary; and all executors, &c. shall be indemnified in paying the same; and if any member shall neglect to pay his share of the monies so called for, at the time appointed by notice in the London Gazette, and fixed upon the Royal Exchange, the bank may not only stop the dividend of such member, and apply the same towards payment of the money so called for, but also stop the transfers of the share of every such defaulter, and charge him with an interest of 5*l.* per cent. per ann. for the monies so by him omitted to be paid, till payment thereof; and if the principal and interest shall be three months unpaid, the bank shall sell so much of such defaulter's stock as will satisfy the same, rendering the overplus to the proprietors; and the bank may, in a general court, when they shall adjudge their affairs will admit thereof, cause any sum of money, so called in, to be divided amongst the then members, in proportion to their respective shares in the capital stock, 3 G. 1. c. 8. s. 58.

48. The bank may borrow money on any contracts, &c. under their common seal, or upon credit of their capital stock, at such interest as they shall think fit, though it exceed the interest allowed by law, and give such security as shall be to the satisfaction of the lenders; and they may contract with any persons, upon such terms as they shall find necessary, for the better enabling them to perform such things as they are to do in pursuance of this act, and take subscriptions from such persons for that purpose; and such contracts, &c. shall not be chargeable with stamp-duties, id. s. 59. [see 5 & 6 W. 3. c. 20. s. 26. pl. 17, 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 20. s. 30. pl. 26.]

49. No member of the bank, for any thing in this act contained, shall be disabled from being a parliament man, or liable to be a bankrupt, id. s. 43. [see 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 8. pl. 53.]

50. The bank may, in a general court, make such addition to their stock (in regard to their undertaking to discharge exchequer bills or by any of, herein mentioned) as they shall think fit; and so much or knowing declared shall be deemed capital stock, and the members who shall have a share in such stock, may transfer the same in the method, &c. prescribed by any statute or charter now in force for assignments, 3 G. 1. c. 8. s. 45.

51. Transfers of bank stock shall not hereafter be made liable to any higher duties than are now payable for the same, id. s. 51.

52. No other bank shall be established or allowed by parliament, and no body corporate whatsoever, or any other persons united in partnership exceeding the number of six persons, in Eng., shall borrow or take up any sum of money on their bills or notes payable at demand, or at any less time than six months, during the continuance of such privilege to the bank, who shall remain a corporation, with such privilege of exclusive banking subject to redemption in the terms in ss. 3, 4. pl. 12, 13., aforesaid, 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 5.

53. No person, in respect of his being governor, deputy-governor, director, manager, or member of the said company, or for having any share therein, or for any thing to be by him done in the affairs of the said corporation, shall be disabled from serving as a member of parliament, or be subject to any penalty for not qualifying himself to execute his trust in the affairs of the said corporation, as persons who take any place of profit or trust are subject unto, or be liable to be a bankrupt, id. s. 8. [see 3 G. 1. c. 8. s. 13. pl. 49.]

54. If any person shall forge, counterfeit, or alter any bank note, bank bill of exchange, dividend warrant, or any bond or obligation under the common seal of the said company, or any indorsement thereon, or shall offer or dispose of any such forged, &c. note, &c., or demand the money therein contained of the said company, or any their servants, knowing such note, &c. to be forged, &c. with intent to defraud the said company or any other person, every person so offending and convicted shall be deemed guilty of felony, and shall suffer death, id. s. 11. [see 15 G. 2. c. 79. pl. 70., 1 G. 4. c. 92. pl. 118.]

55. If any officer or servant of the said company, intrusted with any note, bill, dividend warrant, bond, deed, or any security, money, or other effects, belonging to the said company, or having any bill, &c. of any other person deposited with the said company, or with him as a servant of the said company, shall secrete, embezzle, or run away with any such note, &c. or any part of them, every officer or servant so offending and convicted, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and shall suffer death, id. s. 12.

56. Whenever a court of directors is summoned, and the governor and deputy-governor shall happen to be absent for two hours after the usual time of proceeding to business, the directors then met being at least thirteen, may choose a chairman and proceed to business, and their proceedings shall be as valid as if the governor or deputy-governor were present, 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 13. [see 24 G. 2. c. 4. ss. 21, 22. pl. 67.]

57. The bank of Eng. shall continue one body corporate and politic, and shall for ever enjoy the entire yearly sum of 100,000*l.*, together with perpetual succession and privilege of exclusive banking, and all other privileges to which they are entitled, subject to such directions as are in former acts, and their charters contained, and the redemption hereafter mentioned, 21 G. 3. c. 60. s. 10.

58. No other bank than the bank of Eng. shall be established by parliament, and no body corporate or other persons united in partnership, exceeding six in number, shall in Eng. borrow or take up any money on their bills or notes payable at demand at less time than six months, during the continuance of such exclusive banking by such governor and company, who shall remain a corporation, subject to redemption, the following terms, viz. in one year's notice after 1 Aug. 1812, and on repayment of the 3,200,000*l.* by this act borrowed, and all arrears of the 100,000*l.* per ann., and all principal and interest due to them on such tallies, exchequer orders, bills, or parliamentary funds, to which they may be entitled when such notice is given, id. s. 12. [See as to making bills, &c. by persons in partnership, 6 A. c. 23. s. 9. 7 A. c. 7. s. 61. 3 G. 1. c. 8. s. 44. Bills and Notes.]

59. Any vote or resolution of house of commons signified by the speaker in writing, and delivered at public office of the said governor, &c. shall be deemed good notice under this act, 3 G. 1. c. 8. s. 55. 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 10., 21 G. 3. c. 60. s. 15.

60. To regulate the qualifications of the elections of the governor, deputy-governor, directors, and others of the bank of Eng., 6 A. c. 32.

61. All such sums as the bank shall hereafter call in from their members for the circulation of exchequer bills, issued under 5 & 6 A. c. 13. Exp., shall, as received, as far as 1,001,771*l.* 10*s.*, be taken and deemed as the capital principal stock for the qualifying any person to be elected governor, deputy-governor, or director, or to vote at general courts, id. s. 1.

62. Nothing herein shall restrain the bank from calling in from their members any further sums, which they are entitled by the said act to do, id. s. 2.

63. To disable any person to be governor, deputy-governor, or director of the bank of Eng., and a director of the East India company at the same time, 9 A. c. 7. s. 11.

64. In future elections of governor, deputy-governor, or directors of the bank of Eng. and East India company, all persons who shall be elected governor, deputy-governor, or director of the bank, shall, for the years for which elected, be deemed incapable of being elected a director of the East India company; and every person elected a director of the East India company, shall, during the year for which chosen, be incapable of being governor, deputy-governor, or a director of the bank, 9 A. c. 7. s. 11.

65. To enable the bank of Eng. and others to lend money on South Sea stock, 12 A. st. 2. c. 3. s. 10.

66. The bank and all other persons, natives, or foreigners, or corporations, may advance such sums to the South Sea company as they think fit on the credit of South Sea stock, and subject to such conditions and redemptions, and with such agreements, as in 10 A. c. 19. contained, 12 A. st. 2. c. 3. s. 10.

67. For enabling the bank of Eng. to hold general courts and courts of directors in the manner herein mentioned, 24 G. 2. c. 4. ss. 21, 22.

68. The governor and company, in any general court, may transact any business without administering the oaths and affirmation, or subscribing the declaration appointed by their charter, unless required thereto by nine or more of the proprietors, qualified to vote, then present, id. s. 21.

69. When any court of directors shall be met according to summons, and shall be satisfied that the governor or deputy-governor will not be present, so as to hold such court, or in case such governor, &c. is absent after the usual time of proceeding to business, such court may choose a chairman, who may also preside at a general court of any then summoned, and proceed to business, and their transactions shall be as valid as if such governor, &c. had been present, id. s. 22. [See further, 15 G. 2. c. 13. s. 17. pl. 56.]

70. For the more effectual preventing the forging of the notes, or bills of the bank of Eng. and for preventing the obtaining a false credit by the imitation of the notes and bills of the said bank, 13 G. 3. c. 79. [And, 52 G. 3. c. 138. ss. 5, 6. for rest of this title and act, TOLERS.] [Bankers and others exempted from the penalties of this act for any infringement of its provisions before 1st Nov. 1816. 53 G. 3. c. 139. Exp.] [See as to the forgery of bank notes, 41 G. 3. (U. K.) c. 39., 45 G. 3. c. 89. tit. FORGERY, and as to the imitation of the new bank notes, 1 G. 4. c. 92. pl. 118.]

71. Every person, other than the officers, workmen, servants, or agents of the bank of Eng. to be authorized and appointed for such purpose by the bank, and for their use only, who shall make, or use, or cause to be made or used, or shall knowingly assist in the making or using, or without being so authorized, shall knowingly have in his custody, without lawful excuse, the proof whereof shall lie on the party accused, any frame, mould, or instrument for making paper, with the words, "bank of Eng." visible in the substance, or shall make, or cause to be made, or knowingly assist in the making of paper with such words so visible in the substance, or if any person, except as before excepted, or who shall by any contrivance procure the words, "bank of Eng." to appear visible in the substance of any paper whatever, or knowingly assist therein, shall be adjudged a felon, and suffer death without clergy, 13 G. 3. c. 79. s. 1.

72. Every person not so authorized, who shall engrave, cut, etch, or scrape in mezzotinto, or who shall procure to be engraved, &c., or knowingly assist in engraving, &c. upon any plate of metal, or mixture of metals, or upon wood or other material, any promissory note, inland bill, or bill of exchange, or blank promissory note, &c. or part of a promissory note, &c., containing the words, "bank of Eng." or "bank post bill," or any words expressing the amount, or part thereof, in white, on a black ground, or shall use any such plate so engraved, &c. or any other instrument in the making any such promissory note, inland bill, or bill of exchange, or blank promissory note, &c. or part of such a note, &c., and every person without being so authorized, who shall knowingly have in his custody any such plate or instrument, or shall knowingly and wilfully alter or publish any such promissory note, inland bill, or bill of exchange, shall, on conviction, be committed to the common goal of the county or place where the offence was done, for not exceeding six months, id. s. 2.

73. This act shall not extend to persons who, being possessed of any such notes, shall only carry the same to the issuers, drawers, acceptors, or indorsers thereof respectively, or who shall use means to compel the payment thereof, id. s. 3.

74. Every person who shall engrave, cut, etch, scrape, or by any other means make, or shall procure to be engraved, &c. or shall knowingly assist in the engraving, &c. in or upon any plate of copper, or other metal, or mixed metals, or wood or other material, or upon any plate, any words, or figures, or characters, the impression of which shall resemble, or be apparently intended to resemble the whole, or any part of the notes of the bank of Eng. called bank notes, or bank post bills, or shall contain any word or number, figure, or character in white, on a dark ground, without authority in writing from the bank, to be produced and proved by the party accused, or shall (without such authority) use any such plate, wood, or other material so engraved, &c. or shall use any other instrument or device, for making or printing upon paper, or other material, any words, &c. which shall be apparently intended to resemble the whole or part of any such notes or bills, or any word, &c. in white, on a dark ground, or if any person shall, without such authority, knowingly have in his custody any such plate, instrument, or device, or shall wilfully utter, publish, or dispose of any paper, or other material, containing any such words, &c., or shall knowingly or willingly have in his custody or possession any such paper, or other material, with any such words, &c. as aforesaid, (without lawful excuse, the proof whereof shall lie on the party accused,) shall, on conviction according to law, be adjudged a felon, and be transported for 14 years, 52 G. 3. c. 138. s. 5.

75. This act shall not apply to any paper or writing whatsoever, other than such as resemble such notes or bills, containing an impression from any plate, or other device, with white letters on a dark ground, which were previous to the passing of this act in any person's custody, id. s. 6. Exp.

76. To remove doubts respecting promissory notes of the bank of Eng. for payment of sums under 5*l.*, 37 G. 3. c. 28. [Exp. as to s. 2, 3.]

77. All promissory and other notes for the payment of money issued by the bank, payable to bearer, notwithstanding they shall be issued for sums under 5*l.*, shall be good in law, id. s. 1.

78. For confirming and continuing for a limited time the restriction contained in the minute of council of the 26th February 1797, on payments of cash by the bank, 37 G. 3. c. 45. [Con. 37 G. 3. c. 91. And, and Con. 38 G. 3. c. 1. these three acts Con. 42 G. 3. c. 40., 43 G. 3. c. 12., 44 G. 3. c. 1., 54 G. 3. c. 59., 55 G. 3. c. 28., 56 G. 3. c. 40., 58 G. 3. c. 37., and 59 G. 3. c. 49. s. 1. until 1st May 1823, and the bank prohibited from paying any notes in cash under certain notices given by them, 59 G. 3. c. 23., which is Con. until 1st May 1823, by 59 G. 3. c. 49. s. 1. and further provision for the resumption of cash payments made. 59 G. 3. c. 49. ss. 1—9. 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 26. ss. 1—5. 5.] See the rest of these last two acts, Con.

79. "Whereas it was deemed expedient by minute of privy council, of 26th Feb. 1797, to restrain the bank from making payments in cash, and whereas the bank, in pursuance thereof, had forborne so to do, and it is necessary to confirm the said minute, and indemnify the bank, and others concerned therein," be it enacted, that all acts done by the governor and company of the bank of Eng., in pursuance of said minute, shall be confirmed, and all persons concerned in doing them indemnified, and all suits, &c. touching any matter discharged by this act shall be void, 37 G. 3. c. 45. s. 1.

80. The bank shall not issue any cash in payment of any demand, except according to this act; and during the continuance of such restriction on cash payments, no action or suit shall be prosecuted against the bank, to compel payment of any note of the bank payable on demand, or otherwise, than on demand, which they are willing to exchange for any note of equal amount, payable on demand; or to compel the payment of any sum by the bank which they are willing to pay in their own notes, expressed to be payable on demand; and the bank, during the continuance of such restriction, may apply to the court wherein any such action shall be brought, to stay proceedings therein in a summary way; and in case such action shall be brought to compel payment of bank of Eng. notes payable on demand, the bank may apply to such court to stay, and such court shall stay all proceedings therein, until the expiration of the time hereby limited for the continuance of such restriction; and, on like application, in case of any such action to compel payment of any such notes, payable otherwise than on demand of any other debt, such court shall stay all proceedings therein, on payment of such sum as shall appear justly due, or which might be recovered in such action, by delivery of bank of Eng. notes for the amount, payable on demand, if the party is willing to accept the same in such notes, but if not, such court shall order all such proceedings to be stayed until the expiration of such restriction; provided, that where it is necessary, in order to ascertain the amount of any demand on the bank, that any proceedings should be had, such court may permit such proceedings to be had for such purpose, in a summary way, as the case may then require, and as shall be consistent with such restriction, provided that no costs shall be recovered against the bank in any such actions, unless the court shall be of opinion that the same was necessary for ascertaining the amount of the demand, or the title thereto, and in such case the court may direct payment of such costs by the bank, in bank of Eng. notes, payable on demand, if the party is willing to accept them, but if not, then the court shall stay all proceedings to compel payment of such costs, until the expiration of such restriction, 37 G. 3. c. 45. s. 2. 37 G. 3. c. 91. s. 1. 38 G. 3. c. 1. s. 1.

81. This act shall not restrain the bank from issuing of cash in payment of debts under 20*s.*, or in payment of so much of any larger debt as shall be a fractional part of 20*s.* over and above the residue of the debt; nor from issuing cash for service of the army, navy, or ordnance, in pursuance of an order in council, stating the special purpose for which the same is required, and the necessity thereof, all which orders

108. Every person who shall, in Scot., commit any offence hereby constituted a misdemeanor, shall be liable to be punished by fine and imprisonment, or either of them, as the judge who shall try such offender shall direct, 51 G. 3. c. 127. s. 4. [but see pl. 111.]

109. In all cases where any sum is ordered, decreed, or adjudged to be paid by any court of law or equity, in the U.K., or by usage or practice thereof is allowed to be paid for staying proceedings by any party to any other party, or into any court, or into the hands of any officer of any court; such payments in G. B. in bank of Eng. notes, and in Ire. in bank of Ire. notes, payable on demand to the amount therein expressed, shall be deemed good in law; and in all cases where any money is payable out of any such courts, or by any officer thereof in discharge of his duty, payment of such sums by such officers in G. B. in bank of Eng. notes, and in Ire. in bank of Ire. notes payable on demand, shall also be deemed good in law, 52 G. 3. c. 50. s. 7.

110. In all cases where any sum of money is directed to be levied in execution of any judgment or decree whatever by any process of any court of law or equity, or under any distress or proceeding for the recovery of rent, or of any penalty recoverable by distress and sale of goods, the levying officer shall accept, if in G. B., such bank of Eng. notes, or if in Ire. such bank of Ire. notes payable on demand, to the amount in such notes expressed in payment of the sum directed to be levied; and such officer shall not be compellable to pay the sum so levied into any court, or to any person otherwise than, if in G. B., in such notes of the bank of Eng., and if in Ire. in such notes of the bank of Ire.; and after such levying as aforesaid, no person shall, by any further proceedings, compel the levying of such sums, or so much thereof as shall be paid in such notes, id. s. 8.

111. In all such cases, every person paying any such notes into any court, or into the hands of the officer of any court as aforesaid, or to any person levying money under any distress, or under the authority of any court, shall, if required, indorse the notes so paid, and also specify the causes, proceeding, or distress, under which the same were paid, and shall also verify the same to be notes of the bank of Eng. if in Eng., or of the bank of Ire. if in Ire., as the case may be, by affidavit stating them to be such notes to the best of the party's knowledge and belief; and every person so indorsing such notes, shall be liable to pay to the person to whom the same were paid out of any court, or by any such officer, or under any distress, the full amount of any such notes as may prove to be forged, id. s. 9., and every person who shall commit in Scot. any offence hereby constituted a misdemeanor, shall be liable to like fine and punishment as in Eng., id. s. 10.

112. To ESTABLISH further regulations respecting advances by the bank of Eng. for the public service, and the purchase of government securities by the bank, 53 G. 3. c. 76.

113. The governor and company of the bank of Eng. shall not lend or advance to H. M. any sum whatever, upon the credit of any exchequer or treasury bills, or other government securities, or otherwise, without the express permission of parliament, id. s. 1.

114. When any application for any advance for the public service authorized by parliament is to be made, the same shall be made in writing by the first lord of the treasury, or by the chancellor of the exchequer, to the governor, or deputy-governor of the bank, to be by them laid before the court of directors, and a copy of all such applications made in the course of every year, ending 5th Jan., together with a copy of the minutes of the proceedings of such court, on such application, and the answer of the court thereto shall be laid before both houses of parliament by the proper officer of the bank, within 14 days after 5th Jan. in each year, if parliament is then sitting, or otherwise, within 14 days after the then next sitting, id. s. 2.

115. But this act shall not prevent the bank from purchasing exchequer or treasury bills, or other government securities, which they may now do, or from advancing at the receipt of the exchequer, any sum not exceeding what shall be necessary to make good the deficiency of consolidated fund, at the close of any quarter ending on 5th Apr., 5th July, 10th Oct., or 5th Jan., on the credit of any exchequer bills under the 57 G. 3. c. 48. and 59 G. 5. c. 19., issued by the treasury, id. s. 3.

116. When any exchequer or treasury bills, are in the course of payment, on the credit of which the bank had previously advanced money, and which are in their hands, the bank may, in lieu of such bills, accept others granted towards the supplies of the year on which such bills so in a course of payment shall have been charged, id. s. 4.

117. The bank shall, from time to time, cause an account in writing to be taken and attested by the proper officer, of the amount of all exchequer or treasury bills, or other government securities which have been purchased by the bank, on which any sum shall have been advanced for the public service by the bank, in each year ending 5th January, showing whether any and what amount of such bills, &c. before the making up of such accounts, have been paid off, and what amount thereof shall then be in their hands, and lay the same before both houses of parliament at the times in s. 2, pl. 114. stated, id. s. 5.

118. For the further prevention of the forgery or counterfeiting bank notes, 1 G. 4. c. 92. [see 15 G. 3. c. 79. pl. 70.]

119. Whereas the bank of Eng. have formed a new plan for printing bank notes, in which the groundwork will be black, or coloured, or black and coloured line work, and the words bank of Eng. will be placed at the top in white letters upon a dark ground, such ground containing white lines intersecting each other, and the sum of each note in the body thereof will be printed in black and red register work, and the back of the note will distinctly show the whole contents, except the number and date, in order to prevent the imitation thereof, be it enacted, that every person, (other than the servants and agents of the bank, to be appointed by them, and for their use only,) who shall engrave, cut, etch, scrape, or by any other art or device make, or who shall cause to be engraved, &c., or shall knowingly assist in the engraving, &c. in or upon any plate of copper, or other metal, or mixture of metal, or upon wood or other materials, or on any plate whatsoever, for the purpose of producing an impression of all, or any part of a bank note, or blank bank note of the bank of Eng. of the description aforesaid, without an authority in writing from the bank, or who shall use any such plate, or any other instrument or contrivance for printing any such bank note, blank bank note, or part of a bank note of such description, or who shall, without such authority, knowingly and without lawful excuse have in custody any such plate or instrument, or who shall knowingly utter or publish any such blank bank note, or part of such bank note, shall be a felon, and be transported for 14 years, id. s. 1.

120. Every person who shall engrave, cut, etch, scrape, or by any other art or device make, or cause to be engraved, &c., or who shall knowingly assist in the engraving, &c. in or upon any plate of copper, or other metal, or mixtures of metal, or upon wood or other materials, or on any plate whatsoever, any line work, as or for the groundwork of a promissory note or bill of exchange, the impression taken from which shall be intended to resemble the ground-work of a bank of Eng. note of the description in s. 1, pl. 119. or any device, the impression taken from which shall contain the words bank of Eng., in white letters on a dark ground, either with or without white or other lines therein, or which shall contain in any part the sum of such note or bill, in black and red register work, or which shall show the reversed contents of a note or bill, or of any part thereof, or which shall contain any word, figure, character, or pattern, intended to resemble the whole or part of the matter or ornament of any bank note of the description in s. 1, pl. 119. or which shall contain any word, number, figure, or character in white, on a dark ground either with or without white or other lines therein intended to resemble the amount in the margin or other part of a bank of Eng. note, without an authority in writing from the bank, to be produced and proved by the party accused; and every person who shall without such authority use any such plate, or other instrument or contrivance for the making or printing upon paper or other material, any word, figure, character, or pattern intended to resemble the whole or part of the matter or ornaments of any such note of the description in s. 1, pl. 119., or any word, figure, &c. in white on a dark ground, either with or without white, or other lines apparently intended to resemble the sum in the margin, or other part of a bank of Eng. note, and every person who shall without such authority have in his custody any such plate or instrument, or shall knowingly and wilfully utter or publish, &c. any paper or other material containing any such words, figures, characters, or patterns, or shall knowingly have in custody any paper or other material, containing any such words, &c. (without lawful excuse, the proof whereof shall lie on the person accused) shall be a felon, and be transported for 14 years, id. s. 2.

121. All notes of the bank of Eng. of the description in s. 1, pl. 119. wherein the name of any authorized signer of such notes shall be impressed by machinery provided by the bank, shall be deemed as valid, as if they were subscribed in the hand-writing of such signers, and shall be deemed bank notes within all the laws and statutes, and be described as bank notes in all indictments and proceedings whatsoever, id. s. 3.

BANKS OF RIVERS, &c.

1. To PREVENT THE cutting or breaking down the bank of any river or sea bank, 6 G. 2. c. 37. s. 5. [CON. by 10 G. 2. c. 52. s. 2. 17 G. 2. c. 40. s. 4., 24 G. 2. c. 57. s. 3. MADE PER. 31 G. 2. c. 12. s. 3.]

2. Every person who shall unlawfully and maliciously break, or cut down the bank of any river, or any sea bank, whereby lands shall be overflowed or damaged, shall on conviction be adjudged guilty of felony, and shall suffer death without clergy, 6 G. 2. c. 37. s. 5.

3. FOR MORE EFFECTUAL punishment of persons removing materials used for securing marsh, or sea walls, or banks, 10 G. 2. c. 52. s. 5.

4. If any person shall unlawfully cut off, draw up, or remove and carry away any piles, chalk, or other materials driven into the ground, and used for securing any marsh, or sea walls, or banks; any justice residing near the place, on complaint or information on oath by him administered, may summon the accused, or issue his warrant to apprehend and bring before him the party so accused or suspected, and on his appearance, or neglect to appear, may proceed to examine the matter, and on due proof by confession or oath of one witness, determine the same, and convict the offender, who shall thereupon forfeit 20*s.* one moiety to the informer, and the other to the overseer for the use of the poor of the parish, to be levied by distress and sale of his goods, and for want of sufficient distress such justice shall commit him to the house of correction to hard labour for six months, 10 G. 3. c. 59. s. 5.

5. FOR MORE EFFECTUALLY preventing the cutting of starr or bent, 15 G. 2. c. 53. ss. 6-8.

6. If any person shall by day or night, without the owner's consent, cut, pull up, or carry away any starr or bent planted on the sandhills, on the north-west coasts of Eng. especially of Lancashire, to prevent them from being blown on the adjacent lands, any justice of the county or place where the offence is committed, on complaint or information on oath, may summon, and in default of appearance issue his warrant to apprehend, and on proof by his confession, or on oath of one witness, may convict the accused, who shall thereupon forfeit 20*s.* one moiety to the informer, and the other to the owner of the sand-hills, to be levied by distress and sale of goods by warrant of such justices, and in default thereof, the justice shall commit the offender to the house of correction to hard labour for three months; and every such offender, a second time convicted, shall be committed to the house of correction for one year, there to be whipped and kept to hard labour, id. s. 6.

7. If any starr or bent be found in the possession of any person within five miles of any such starr, bent, or sand-hills, such person being convicted as in s. 6. shall be deemed the cutter and puller therefrom, and shall forfeit 20*s.* one moiety to the owner of the sand-hills, to be levied as above, and for want of sufficient distress, shall be committed to the house of correction to hard labour for three months, id. s. 7.

8. Nothing in this act shall restrain any person from the exercise of any ancient prescriptive right to cut starr or bent on the sea coasts in Cumberland, id. s. 8.

BANKS FOR SAVINGS.

1. TO ENCOURAGE the establishment of banks for savings in Eng., 57 G. 3. c. 130. Public Act, s. 28. [Am. 58 G. 3. c. 48., 1 G. 4. c. 83.]

2. If any number of persons who have formed or shall form any society in Eng. for the purpose of establishing any institution in the nature of a bank, to receive deposits of money for the benefit of the persons depositing the same, and to accumulate the produce of so much as shall not be required by the depositors, their executors, or administrators, to be paid in the nature of compound interest, and to return the whole or part of such deposit and the produce thereof to the depositors, &c. deducting only out of such produce the necessary expenses of the bank, according to such rules as shall have been established for that purpose, but deriving no benefit from any such deposit or the produce thereof, shall be desirous of having the benefit of this act, such persons shall cause the rules, orders, and regulations of such institution, to be entered and filed in manner herein-after directed, and thereupon shall be entitled to the benefit of this act, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 1.

3. No such institution shall have the benefit of this act unless the rules, &c. shall be entered in a book to be kept by an officer of such institution, and which book shall be open at all seasonable times for the inspection of the persons making deposits; and unless such rules, &c. shall be fairly transcribed on parchment, and such transcript deposited with the clerk of the peace for the county or place wherein the institution is, which transcript shall be filed by such clerk with the rolls of the sessions, without fee; but nothing herein shall prevent any alteration in such rules, &c. or the making of new ones, but such new rules, &c. alterations, or amendments, shall not be in force until the same shall be entered in such book, and a transcript deposited with such clerk of the peace as aforesaid, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 2.

4. No such institution shall have the benefit of this act, unless it is a rule thereof that no treasurer, trustee, or manager, or persons having control in the management, shall derive any benefit from any deposit made therein, but that the depositor shall have the sole benefit of such deposit and the produce thereof, except such salaries, allowances, and other necessary expenses provided by the rules for managing the same, and for remuneration of their officers, exclusive of the treasurer, trustees, and managers, and who shall not have any benefit whatsoever therefrom beyond their actual expenses for the purposes of such institution, id. s. 3.

5. All rules, &c. made and in force for the management of any such institution duly entered in such book, and deposited with such clerk as in s. 2. pt. 3., shall be binding on the several members and officers of such institution and the depositors therein, all of whom shall be deemed to have notice of such rules by such entry and deposit, and such entry, or the transcript of such rules deposited with such clerk, or a copy thereof proved to be true, shall be evidence of such rules, and no certiorari shall be brought to remove such rules into any court of record, and every copy of such transcript shall be made without fee, except only the actual expence thereof, and shall be stamp-duty free, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 4.

6. Whenever a transcript of the rules of any institution requiring the benefit of this act, and the 57 G. 3. c. 130. has been deposited with the clerk of the peace pursuant to the said act, the same shall be signed by two trustees thereof, and be by such clerk laid before the general or quarter sessions holden next after, and such justices then present, after due examination thereof, may reject such parts thereof as shall be repugnant to the acts, or allow and confirm the transcript, or such parts thereof as shall be conformable to them; provided that such justices shall signify such rejection by the words "rejected," or "disapproved," written opposite such rule, and signed by the chairman of such sessions; and such rules as shall be so rejected, shall not be in force from the time of such rejection; provided such clerk do, within ten days next after such rejection or disapproval, give notice thereof in writing to the two trustees by whom the transcript shall be signed, 58 G. 3. c. 48. s. 17.

7. In case the managers shall receive any deposit from or for the benefit of any person under the age of 21 years, the managers may pay to such person his share, notwithstanding his or her incapacity, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 5.

8. Any friendly society may subscribe the whole or any part of the funds of such society through their treasurer, steward, or other officer, into the funds of any institution which shall take the benefit of this act, and which shall be willing to receive the same, under such terms as shall be specially provided for that purpose by the rules of such institution; provided that the receipt of the treasurer or other officer of such friendly society shall be a sufficient discharge, and the institution in which such deposit shall be made shall not be responsible for any misapplication of any such money, stock, or security, id. s. 6.

9. The trustees of any charitable institution or society in Eng. may subscribe the whole or any part of their funds through their treasurer, steward, or other officer, into the funds of any saving bank, provided the majority of the trustees of such saving bank shall consent to receive the same, and under such conditions as they may provide; provided that the receipt of the treasurer or other officer of such charitable institution or society for any money, stock in the public funds, or other security paid, transferred, or delivered, according to the requisition of such treasurer, &c. apparently authorised to require such payment, &c. shall be a good discharge for the same; and the saving bank receiving such deposit shall not be responsible for the misapplication of any such money, &c. or for any want of authority in the party receiving such payment, &c. 1 G. 4. c. 83. s. 12.

10. If any treasurer or other officer or person who shall be entrusted with the receipt or custody of any money deposited for the purposes of such institution, or any dividend accruing thereby, shall be required by the rules to become bound with sureties for the due execution of his trust in the sum by such rules required, such security shall be given by bond to the clerk of the peace, or to the town clerk of the place, without fee; and in case of forfeiture, the persons authorised by the rules shall sue on such bond in the name of such clerk at the cost and for the use of the institution, fully indemnifying such clerk from all costs in respect of such suit, and no such security so given shall be liable to stamp-duty, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 7.

11. All money, goods, effects, securities for money, or other obligatory instruments, evidences, or muniments, and all other effects, and all rights and claims belonging to such institution, shall be vested in the trustees for time being for use thereof, and of the respective depositors therein, their executors or administrators, and on the death or removal of any trustees, shall vest in their successors for the same estate, interest, and trusts, without any conveyance whatever, except transfers of stocks and securities in the public funds of G. B., and also shall, for all the purposes of suit, criminal and civil, at law and in equity, be deemed, and in all proceedings be stated to be the property of the trustees of such institution, in their names, without further description; and such persons shall bring and defend any action or prosecution, civil and criminal, in law or equity, touching such property, right, &c. belonging to such institution, and shall in all such cases sue and be sued in their own names as trustees of such institution, without further description; and no such suit or prosecution shall abate by the death or removal of any of such trustees, but the same shall be proceeded in by the successor in the names of the persons commencing the same, and such successors shall pay and receive like costs as if such suit, &c. had been commenced in their names for the benefit of or to be reimbursed by such institution, id. s. 8.

12. No trustee or manager of any such institution shall place any money deposited by any depositor therein, or any interest arising therefrom in the hands of any banker, or on any personal security, except such sums as shall necessarily remain in the hands of the treasurer to answer the exigencies of such institution, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 9.

13. The trustees of any institution taking the benefit of this act, may pay into the bank of Eng. any money, not less than 50*l.*, to the account of the commissioners for the reduction of the national debt, upon the declaration of two of such trustees that such monies belong exclusively to the institution paying the same; and the cashiers shall receive all such monies, and place the same into a new account, to be raised in the names of such commissioners, in the books of the bank, to be denominated "The Fund for the Banks for Savings," id. s. 10.

14. Previous to any payment being made into the bank of Eng., the person applying for that purpose shall, in all cases, produce to the officers of such commissioners in London, an order in the form marked A, [new form given in lieu, 58 G. 3. c. 48. sched. A.] under the hands of two trustees of the institution making the payment; and on the production of such order to such officer, he shall grant his certificate in the form marked B. [new form given, 58 G. 3. c. 48. sched. B.], and he shall thereupon grant debenture, id. s. 11. [Rep. as to issuing debenture and new provisions, 1 G. 4. c. 83. s. 1. pl. 39.]

15. The said commissioners shall cause all the monies paid into the bank in pursuance of this act to be invested in the purchase of bank annuities in their names, and to be carried to the separate account before provided; and the interest thereon shall, in like manner, be invested in the purchase of bank annuities, id. s. 14.

16. The debentures issued under this act shall not be transferable, but shall continue the property of the institution on whose account originally issued, and until paid off, id. s. 15.

17. No debenture, nor any order by this act required of the trustees, shall be subject to any stamp-duty whatever, and if any such debenture shall be lost or destroyed, such commissioners, upon satisfactory proof and good security given, shall direct the officer to grant a duplicate debenture, under the regulations aforesaid, id. s. 16.

18. If any order or declaration produced to such officer, for the purpose of paying monies into the bank to the account of such commissioners, shall contain any matter which shall be false or untrue, then the sum so paid shall be forfeited to the commissioners, id. s. 17.

19. An account of all monies received by the commissioners for national debt, from trustees of institutions, shall be by them annually, on 25th March, laid before parliament, or within 14 days after the commencement of the then next session, if parliament not then sitting, id. s. 18.

20. The privilege of paying money into the bank, and of receiving debentures for the same, shall be restricted to such institutions only, which shall by some rule provide, that the sums paid by one person in one year, and applied to the purchase of the aforesaid debentures, shall not exceed 100*l.* in the first year, and 50*l.* in every year afterwards, in the whole, from each depositor, except in cases where friendly societies shall become depositors; and the commissioners for the reduction of the national debt, previous to such payment, shall require the production of such rule, certified by two trustees, and any other proof they may think necessary, id. s. 19. [see pl. 36.]

21. On every change of a trustee, the preceding trustee or trustees, their executors or administrators, shall forthwith transfer all stocks and annuities belonging to such institution in the public funds to their successors, or to their successors and any continuing trustees as the case may be, so as to vest the same in them; and in case any sale or transfer of any part of such stocks shall be directed according to the rules of the institution, the same shall be made by the trustee in whose name the same shall stand, or by some person by such trustee, duly authorized by letter of attorney duly executed, and where such sale shall be made under any such letter, such letter shall not be subject to the stamp-duty, id. s. 20.

22. All persons who shall receive any part of the money, or effects, or funds of any such institution, or shall in any way be intrusted with the management thereof, or of any securities relating to the same, their executors, administrators and assigns, shall, on demand made pursuant to an order of the committee of such institution, or of any other delegated authority, or at any general meeting of the managers thereof, give in his account to such committee, &c. or to such other person appointed to receive them, to be examined and allowed or disallowed by such committee or managers, and shall, on like demand, pay over all monies remaining in his hands, and assign and transfer or deliver all securities, effects, or funds taken or standing in their names, or being in their custody, to such persons as aforesaid; and in case of any neglect so to do, the trustees of such institution may exhibit a petition to the general or quarter sessions for the county or place, and the justices there shall proceed thereon in a summary way, and make such order thereon on hearing all parties as shall seem meet, and which shall be final; and all assignments, sales and transfer, made in pursuance of such order, shall be good, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 21.

23. No member of any friendly society shall, by reason of such person becoming a depositor in any such institution, be considered as liable to any penalty or disability, declared by the rules of such friendly society, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 22.

24. In case any depositor in the funds of any institution taking the benefit of this act shall die, leaving any sum in such funds, or any dividends due thereon exceeding 20*l.*, the same shall not be paid to any person, as his representative, but upon probate of the will or letters of administration; provided, where the whole estate or effects of any such deceased depositor, for which any such probate or letters shall be granted, shall be under the value of 50*l.*, no stamp-duty shall be chargeable thereon, nor upon any legacy or residue thereof bequeathed, nor upon any share of the estate or effects to be paid under such probate or letters; provided that, in every such case, the person claiming such probate or letters free of stamp-duty, shall exhibit to the court, or person granting the same, a certificate of the amount of the share and interest of any deceased depositor therein; which certificate shall be granted in the form settled by the rules of the institution, and signed by such persons as shall be directed therein; and every such certificate shall be taken as evidence of the amount or value of such shares and interests of such deceased depositor, id. s. 23.

25. In all cases where the whole estate and effects of any deceased depositor, in respect of which any letters of administration may be granted pursuant to 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 23. pl. 24., shall be under 50*l.* no stamp-duty shall be charged on the administrator's bond for the due administration of the effects, nor upon any affidavit or document connected therewith, but the same shall be free of stamp-duty in like manner, and under the like regulations as in such act provided, with respect to such letters of administration; and no receipt, draft, or order, nor any appointment of any agent, nor any certificate or revocation of such appointment, nor any other instrument or document by that or this act required, shall be subject to any stamp-duty, 1 G. 4. c. 83. s. 16.

26. In case any depositor in any such institution shall die, leaving a sum in the funds thereof, which with the interest shall not amount to 20*l.*, the trustees or managers shall, if no will is proved, or letters of administration taken out within six calendar months after his death, pay the same according to the rules of such institution; and if no such rules on that behalf, they shall pay and divide the same amongst the persons entitled, according to [22 & 23 C. 2. c. 10., 29 C. 2. c. 30.] the statutes of distributions, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 24.

27. The payment or transfer of any money or securities by any such institution, to any persons having such letters or probate duly granted, and appearing to be in force, shall be valid with respect to any demand of any other person, as the lawful representative of such depositor, against such institution, or the treasurer, trustees, or managers thereof, but such representatives shall have a remedy for money, &c. so paid, &c. against the party who received the same, id. s. 25.

28. Whenever any trustees or managers of any saving bank shall, after the expiration of six months from the decease of any depositor, have paid and divided any sum not exceeding 20*l.* amongst the persons appearing to them entitled to the effects of such deceased intestate depositor, according to the statute of distributions, such payments shall be valid with respect to any demand of any other person as next of kin to such deceased intestate depositor, or as his lawful representative against the funds of such saving bank, or the treasurer, trustees, or managers thereof; but such next of kin or representative shall have remedy against the persons who received the same, 1 G. 4. c. 63. s. 17.

29. No power, warrant, or letter of attorney granted by any person, as a trustee of any institution established under this act, for the transfer of any share in the public funds standing in his name, nor any such power, &c. given by any depositor to any other person authorizing him to make any deposit of any sum on his behalf, or to sign any document required by the rules to be signed, or to receive back any sum deposited therein, or any interest thereon, nor any receipt given for any dividends in any public stock, or interest of exchequer bills, nor any receipt, nor any entry in any book of receipts for deposits by any depositor, his executor or administrators, assigns or attorneys, from the funds of such institution, shall be liable to stamp-duties, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 26.

30. No arbitration bond or bond of reference, nor any award, order, or determination of any arbitrator or umpire, made under the general rules of any institution, filed as required by 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 2. pl. 3., shall be subject to any stamp-duty, 58 G. 5. c. 48. s. 18.

31. Where provision is made by any rule of any such institution filed as s. 2. pl. 3. required, for reference by arbitration of any matter in dispute between such institution, or any person acting under them, and any depositor therein, or any executor, administrator, next of kin, or creditor of any deceased depositor, or any person claiming to be one such, then the same shall be preferred to an arbitrator named according to such rules, &c. and whatever award, &c. he shall make according to such rules, &c. shall bind all parties and be conclusive, 57 G. 3. c. 130. s. 27.

32. The schedules to 57 G.3. c. 130. annexed shall be Rep., and in all cases where by such act the forms thereto annexed marked A. and B. are required to be used, the forms hereto annexed marked A. and B. shall be used instead, 58 G.3. c. 48. s. 1.

33. The commissioners for the reduction of the national debt upon the application of the trustees of any saving banks, in manner herein-after mentioned, may in lieu of paying off the principal and interest of any such debentures in money, cause their agents (being also cashiers,) to transfer such an amount of either 3 per cent. consolidated or reduced bank annuities, or bank annuities of 5l. and 10s. per cent., as shall by computation produce, as herein-after directed, the like amount in money as the amount of the principal and interest of such debentures, out of any account standing in the names of the commissioners into the names of any two of the trustees, whenever the same shall be required in the order of the trustees, in lieu of paying such debentures in money, id. s. 6.

34. Before any such annuities shall be transferred from the account of the commissioners, such annuities shall be first converted into money by the computation of the officer, according to the average price of either of such three stocks at the option of the trustees as expressed in their order, which shall be exhibited at the office of such commissioners under any act now in force, on the day of the delivery of the order, such price being the average price on the day preceding, id. s. 7.

35. Whenever any 3 per cent. consolidated or reduced bank annuities, or 5l. and 10s. per cent. bank annuities, shall be required by such trustees to be transferred, such officer shall grant his certificate for that purpose, according to the form marked F. 2. to this act annexed, a duplicate whereof shall be transmitted by such officer to the bank of Eng.; and upon production and delivery of the said certificate at the bank, the agent of the commissioners shall transfer from such commissioners the amount and description of stock therein stated into the names of two trustees of such saving bank, as shall be described in such certificate, id. s. 10.

36. The privilege of paying money into the bank, and of receiving debentures for the same, shall be restricted to such institutions only, which shall, by their rules, provide that the sums paid by any person who shall pay by ticket or number, without disclosing his name, shall not exceed 10l. in one year; and the commissioners for the reduction of the national debt, previous to the payment of any sum into the bank, shall require the production of such rule certified under the hands of two of the trustees or managers, and any other proof which they may think necessary, id. s. 14. [see pl. 20.]

37. The privilege of paying money into the bank, and of receiving debentures for the same, shall be extended to such institutions as may have been established previous to the passing of 57 G.3. c. 130., or who may have since formed or may hereafter form their rules according to such act and this act; and the trustees of such institutions may invest any funds already accumulated, in debentures, in manner authorized by the acts, id. s. 15.

38. In cases where any banks for savings have been or shall be established in any town, and other smaller banks in the neighbourhood, as branch banks thereof, and such branch banks shall pay any sums into the bank in any such town, as a central bank, the trustees of such central bank may pay into the bank, in manner prescribed by 57 G.3. c. 130. s. 10. pl. 15., along with the monies belonging to such central bank, any sum belonging to such branch bank; provided that the treasurers of such branch banks shall certify to the treasurer of such central bank, that the amount contributed by one subscriber to such branch bank in one year, does not exceed the proportions required by s. 14. pl. 36., of this act, id. s. 16.

39. So much of 57 G.3. c. 130. and 58 G.3. c. 48., or either of them, whereby the issuing of any debenture by the commissioners for the reduction of the national debt, is required upon payment of money into the bank of Eng. to their account by the trustees of any saving bank, and also so much as relates to the renewal of such debentures, or to the payment of the principal or interest of such debenture, or to the transferring of any bank annuities in lieu of paying off the same, [57 G.3. c. 130. ss. 12, 13., and 58 G.3. c. 48. ss. 2—5. 7—9. 11, 12.] shall be Rep. 1 G.4. c. 83. s. 1.

40. On the payment of any money into the bank of Eng., to the account of the commissioners of the national debt, by the trustees of any saving bank, under the 57 G.3. c. 130. s. 10. pl. 13. and 58 G.3. c. 48. ss. 14—16. pl. 36—38., as therein directed, the officer of such commissioners shall issue a receipt signed by one of the cashiers of the bank, for the amount of such payment, carrying interest at the rate of 3 per cent. per diem, from the day of payment inclusive, and payable with the principal at the bank whenever required, or drawn for as hereby directed, and such receipt shall be dated on the day of such payment, and be in the form directed by such commissioners, and the principal and interest of any sums mentioned in such receipt, shall be payable out of the money standing in the name of such commissioners in the books of the bank, 1 G.4. c. 83. s. 2.

41. All interest payable on any money mentioned in any such receipt, upon 20th Nov. and 20th May in each year after the date thereof, shall be computed by the officer of such commissioners, and be yearly placed to the credit of the saving bank which paid such money, within 30 days after, and shall be carried to the account of such saving bank, and thenceforth carry interest as principal so paid into the bank; and a receipt in the form approved of by such commissioners shall be signed by their officer, and issued by him half-yearly, within 30 days after the 20th Nov. and May, (and which shall be dated on the 21st Nov. or May,) for the amount of such interest; provided that no interest shall be computed on the fractional part of a pound of the half-yearly balance in the books of such commissioners, on account of any saving bank, on 20th Nov. or May; and provided the managers and trustees of any saving bank may direct that all interest payable to any depositor in such saving bank, shall twice in a year be calculated by such trustees, and be carried to his credit, and become principal and carry interest as other principal money deposited in such bank, id. s. 3.

42. Before the trustees of any saving bank, shall make any order or draft for payment by the said commissioners of money under 57 G.3. c. 130., or 58 G.3. c. 48., or this act, they shall make and execute an appointment under the hands and seals of four of them, and attested by two managers, authorising some person named therein to be agent for receiving all money required by such trustees to be paid by such commissioners, and such appointment shall be produced by such agent to the officer of such commissioners, 14 days prior to the payment of any sum on account of any such saving bank, and be deposited with such officer, and such appointment shall be made in such form and under such regulations as shall be directed by such commissioners or their officer, id. s. 4.

43. The trustees of any savings bank by whom any such appointment is made and executed, or their survivors, may revoke the same by any certificate or other instrument under hand and seal, attested by two managers, and in such form and under such regulations as shall be approved by such commissioners or their officer; and in case of the death of all such trustees, except one, such survivor, together with any others of the trustees, not exceeding four; and in case of the death of them all, any others of such trustees, not exceeding four, shall make and execute a like appointment, appointing the same or another person to be such agent, and such revocation, and his appointment shall be produced to the officer of such commissioners within 14 days at the least before the payment of any sum to the person therein named, and shall remain with such officer, id. s. 5.

44. The trustees of any saving bank may (by order or draft in writing signed by two of them and attested by two others, or two managers, or two witnesses, according to the form directed by such commissioners,) require the whole or part of the principal sum standing in the books of such commissioners to their credit, to be paid to the agent named in some such appointments, as in s. 1. pl. 42., and lodged with the officer of such commissioners, and then in force, and such draft or order shall be addressed to such commissioners, and on production of the same to such officer he shall, within five days after, indorse thereon, and sign an order in the form directed by such commissioners for the payment of the sum required, together with the interest due on the same up to the day preceding the date of such order of such officer, and which order of such officer shall, before it is issued, be entered and countersigned by the clerk making such entry, and addressed to the cashier of the bank of Eng. who shall pay the amount to the party mentioned in such order of the trustees, and whose signature shall be a good discharge to the bank, and all payments made under such orders shall be deemed payments made by such commissioners to such trustees according to the numerical order and priority of date in which the original receipts for money deposited on account of such saving banks have been issued to the trustees, as in s. 2. mentioned, id. s. 6.

45. If one of such trustees who made and executed such appointment as in s. 4. shall appear in person at the office of such commissioners, and require payment of any money which might be received by the agent named in such appointment, and if he shall produce a draft or order signed by two trustees, and if his identity is satisfactorily ascertained, the officer of such commissioners may pay the sum required by such draft to him in like manner as to such agent, id. s. 7.

46. All sums due on the 20th Nov. 1820, or the 20th May 1821, or in any subsequent year, for interest upon any debenture issued under 57 G.3. c. 130. or 58 G.3. c. 48., before 1st Aug. 1820, and outstanding on any such days, shall, within thirty days, be placed to the credit of the respective saving banks on whose account they were issued, and the interest shall be consolidated with that which shall accrue on every 20th Nov. or 20th May on all sums then standing on the account of such saving banks under this act, 1 G.4. c. 83. s. 8.

47. The trustees of any saving bank on whose account any such outstanding debentures have been issued [by order under the hands of two of them in the form directed by such commissioners, and on production of the debenture to which such order shall refer, severally indorsed with the names and under the hands of the same two trustees who shall sign such order) may, at any time, draw on such commissioners for the payment in money of the whole or any part of the principal sum contained therein, together with the interest due thereon, and such trustees may, in lieu of receiving the whole of such principal and interest, or part thereof, in money, accept from the officer of such commissioners a receipt for the whole or any part of the same under this act, dated either on or after the 21st Dec. 1820, and such officer shall indorse such order of the trustees for payment of such debenture in money, or issue a receipt carrying interest at 3*d.* per cent. per diem. (according to this act) for the sum required by the trustee's orders, and the money contained in such receipt shall be carried to the account of such trustees as if the same had been an original deposit under this act, and shall be subject to all the regulations of this act, and of 57 G. 3. c. 130. and 58 G. 3. c. 48. as hereby altered, and all debentures so paid or exchanged shall be cancelled and void, 1 G. 4. c. 83. s. 9.

48. Receipts may be given for money due on renewed debentures, if required between 1st Aug. and 21st Dec. 1821, id. s. 10. Exp.

49. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the trustees of any saving bank from receiving payment in stock of any one or more debentures which may be outstanding at the time when this act passed, according to the regulations of 57 G. 3. c. 130. and 58 G. 3. c. 48. if they require the same, id. s. 11.

50. In all cases where any joint stock or property of the depositors in any saving bank in Eng. may be increased by any change of stock, or by any rate of interest paid on any debentures or receipts, beyond the rate of interest payable to such depositors by the original rules, &c. of such bank, or by other means, the trustees of any such saving bank may make such rules, &c. for the application of the increased stock or property amongst such depositors, either by way of increased interest or by bonus or increase of capital, or by both, as such trustees, and managers at any general meeting duly convened shall think proper, and such trustees and managers at any other general meeting so duly convened may revoke or annul any such rules, &c. relating thereto, and make others as they think fit, id. s. 13.

51. Whenever the sum to be drawn by the trustees of any saving bank shall amount to 2000*l.* or more, the draft or order shall be signed by not less than four of them, and their respective signatures shall be separately attested by one manager of such saving bank, or some other credible persons, and any manager or person attesting the signature of one shall not attest that of another of such four trustees, id. s. 14.

52. In case any debenture issued under 57 G. 3. c. 130. or 58 G. 3. c. 48. shall be or has been lost, destroyed, or defaced, the commissioners for the reduction of the national debt on the application of two trustees on behalf of the saving bank, on whose account such debenture was originally issued, and on proof or oath, or otherwise to the satisfaction of such commissioners of the date, contents, and value, and of the circumstances of the loss, &c. thereof, may order their officer to issue to such applicants, on giving such security as may be required, a receipt carrying interest, as in s. 24 pl. 40., for a sum equal to the principal and interest due on the debenture so lost, &c. and such sum shall be carried to the account of such trustees as if it was an original deposit under this act, and shall be subject to the regulations thereof, and of the acts aforesaid, id. s. 16.

53. All the regulations and provisions of this act relative to money paid into the bank of Eng. and debentures issued on account thereof, shall be applicable to payments so made and debentures issued under 59 G. 3. c. 138. for friendly societies, id. s. 18. [see FRIENDLY SOCIETY.]

54. The commissioners for the reduction of the national debt may employ clerks to execute this act, and the 57 G. 3. c. 130. and 58 G. 3. c. 48., and the treasury may pay them out of the supplies granted for the year any reasonable allowances for their labour, and may likewise pay all necessary charges incurred by the executors of this and the said acts, id. s. 19.

55. This act and 57 G. 3. c. 130. and 58 G. 3. c. 48. to be deemed one act, id. s. 20.

BANKRUPT.

(STATUTES repealed and expired.)

1. FOR THE relief of creditors by making compositions with their debtors in case two-thirds in number and value agree, 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 18. [Rev. 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 29.]

2. TO PREVENT frauds frequently committed by bankrupts, 4 & 5 A. s. 17. [Exp. 5 & 6 A. s. 28. Con. 7 A. c. 26. Exp.]

3. TO EMPOWER commissioners in commissions of bankrupts issued since 24th June 1706, and on or before 28th June 1716, to make certificates for bankrupts, and the lord-chancellor, lord-keeper, or commissioners of the great-seal, or two judges to confirm the same, notwithstanding 4 & 5 A. c. 17. and 5 & 6 A. c. 22. are expired, and continue a clause in a former act for adjusting accounts between bankrupts and their debtors, 3 G. 1. c. 12. Exp.

4. FOR BETTER preventing frauds committed by bankrupts, 5 G. 1. c. 24. [Con. 11 G. 1. c. 29. s. 1. 13 G. 1. c. 27. s. 2. Exp.]

5. FOR THE relief of bankrupts where certificates were not allowed by 5 G. 1. c. 26. which is Exp. 3 G. 2. c. 29. Exp.

1. AGAINST such persons as do make bankrupts, 34 & 35 H. 8. c. 4 [NOTE. This act does not appear to be acted upon, and most of its provisions are incorporated in 13 El. c. 7., which see pl. 17, and see also 5 G. 2. c. 30. pl. 58.]

2. "Whereas divers persons, craftily obtaining great substance of other men's goods, do suddenly flee to parts unknown, or keep their houses, not minding to restore to their creditors their debts; be it ENACTED, that the lord chancellor, or keeper of the great seal, the lords treasurer, president, privy seal, and other of H. M.'s privy council, the chief justices of either bench, or 3 of them, whereof the lords chancellor, treasurer, president, or privy seal to be one, on complaint in writing by any persons grieved concerning the premises, shall, under this act, take such orders, as well with the bodies of such offenders, as also with the lands, tenements, fees, annuities, and offices which they have in fee-simple, fee-tail, term of life or years, or in the right of their wives, according to such offenders' interest therein, and also with their money, goods, and debts wheresoever found or known, and shall cause such their lands, fees, goods, debts, &c. to be searched and appraised and make sale of the same, or otherwise order, for the true satisfaction of their creditors, viz. to each such creditor in proportion to his debt, and all things done by such lords in writing, signed by them, under this act, shall be good in the law against such offender, his heirs and executors for ever, as though the same had been done by him by writing enrolled in H. M.'s courts of record, 34 & 35 H. 8. c. 4. s. 1.

3. If after any such offence done, and complaint thereof made, any party grieved suspecting any of the goods or debts of such offender to be in custody of any person, or any person to be indebted to such offender, do make relation thereof to such lords, then such lords shall, by virtue hereof, convene afore them by any process they think fit all persons so suspected, and on their appearance shall examine them on oath touching such matters; and if such persons shall not disclose the truth, then on proof thereof made by witness, examination, or otherwise, such persons shall forfeit the value of all goods by them concealed, to be recovered by such means as such lords shall deem proper, and shall go to, and amongst the creditors, in satisfaction of their debts, in the rate aforesaid, id. s. 2.

4. Every person who shall keep his house, or flee to parts unknown, or who fraudulently by covin or collusion shall demand any debt, or other thing, of any such offender, other than such as he can prove to be due before such lords, shall forfeit double the value of such demand, to be levied, recovered, and employed as in s. 2. pl. 3., id. s. 3.

5. Every person who keeping his house, or flying to parts unknown, with intent to delay or defraud his creditors, shall by collusion suffer any other person to recover against him any debt, &c. without just cause, proceeding bonâ fide, then on complaint thereof made, such lords shall convene afore them such recoverer, and on proof of such collusion, all the goods of such offender so recovered shall be chargeable towards payment of the debts of his creditor, so always as such false recoveries shall not be in force, or any execution therein had, of, or upon any goods, or lands of such offender, until all his just debts be full paid, and nevertheless after such payment, as well the body of such offender, as his lands and goods, shall be liable to the execution of such recovery, id. s. 4.

6. If any person indebted shall withdraw out of the realm into any foreign country, with intent to defraud his creditors, then on complaint in writing concerning the premises made, such lords shall award proclamations to be made in such places as to them seems meet, commanding such offender, in H. M.'s name, to return into the realm and yield his body to such lords, or one of them; and if such person, within 3 months next after he shall have knowledge of such proclamation, do not repair and yield his body as aforesaid, then he shall be deemed out of the king's protection, and also all his goods, lands and debts, shall be, by the order of such lords, distributed amongst his creditors in equal rates, and every person who shall willingly hold to embezzle or convey any such person, his goods, out of this realm, shall suffer such imprisonment and pay such fine to H. M. as such lords deem fit, id. s. 5.

7. If the debts of any of the creditors of any such offenders be not fully satisfied, such creditors may have their remedy for the recovery of the residuum of the same against such offender by such means as they might afore this act, and such creditors shall only be barred under this act, of such portion only of such debts as shall be paid unto them, by such lords as aforesaid, 54 & 55 H. 8. c. 8. s. 6.

8. TOUCHING ORDERS for bankrupts, 13 EL. c. 7. [AMD. 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 1. [which is EXT. 56 G. 3. c. 137.] further AMD. 21 J. 1. c. 19., which is in part REP. as to s. 2. 10 A. c. 15. and EXPL. as to how far certain persons, being members of certain public companies, are liable to the bankrupt laws, 13 & 14 C. 2. c. 24., and as to certain cases of partnership, 10 A. c. 15., see now 5 G. 2. c. 30. pl. 58.]

9. Every merchant or other person using or exercising the trade of merchandize by way of bargaining, exchange, re-change, bartry, chevisance, or otherwise, in gross or in retail, or seeking his trade offliving by buying and selling, and being subject born of this realm, or any of H. M.'s dominions, or denizen, who shall hereafter depart the realm, or begin to keep his house, or otherwise absent himself or take sanctuary, [sanctuary abolished, 21 J. 1. c. 28. s. 7.] or suffer himself to be arrested for any debt or other thing not grown or due for money delivered, ware sold, or any other just and lawful cause or good consideration, or who shall suffer himself to be outlawed, or yield his body to prison, [or who fraudulently shall procure himself to be arrested, or his goods or money attached or sequestered, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 2.] or depart from his dwelling-house, [or who shall make any fraudulent grant or conveyance of his lands, tenements, or goods, to the intent that his creditors, being subjects born as aforesaid, may be defrauded of 13 EL. c. 7. s. 1.] [defeated or delayed the recovery of 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 2.] their just debts, [or, being arrested for debt, shall after such arrest lie in prison [six months, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 2. [2 months, 21 J. 1. c. 19. s. 2.] or more, upon that arrest or on any other arrest or detention in prison for debt, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 2.] shall be accounted a bankrupt, 13 EL. c. 7. s. 1., 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 2.

10. The like commissions directed by 13 EL. c. 7. to be issued against any bankrupt therein, as described for their lands, tenements, fees, offices, annuities, goods, and debts, shall be pursued against such property of any bankrupts herein described according to the intent of such act, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 3.

11. Every person using the trade or merchandize by way of bargaining, &c. or seeking his living by buying and selling, or that shall use the trade of a scrivener, receiving other men's monies or estates into his trust or custody, who shall either by himself or others, obtain any protection other than such as shall be lawfully protected by the privilege of parliament, or shall prefer to H. M., or any of his courts, any petition or bill, thereby endeavouring to compel his creditors to accept less than their just debts, or to procure time or longer day of payment than what was given by their original contract, or being indebted to any person in 100*l*. shall not pay the same within 6 months after due, and the debtor be arrested for the same, or within 6 months after an original writ sued out to recover such debt and notice thereof given, REP. 10 A. c. 19. s. 1.] or being arrested for debt shall afterwards lie in prison 2 months or more on that or any other arrest for debt, [or being arrested for 100*l*. shall, after such arrest, REP. 10 A. c. 15. s. 1.] escape out of prison, [or procure his enlargement by putting in common or hired bail, REP. 10 A. c. 15. s. 1.] shall be accounted a bankrupt, and in cases of arrest, or lying in prison for debt, from the time of the first arrest, 21 J. 2. c. 19. s. 2.

12. The like commissions, orders, benefits, and remedies, which are provided by 13 EL. c. 7., and 1 J. 1. c. 15., against bankrupts, or concerning their lands, goods, and debts, shall be pursued against persons herein expressed to be bankrupts, and their lands, &c. as if made bankrupts by such acts, 21 J. 1. c. 19. s. 3.

13. And the like orders, &c. provided by this act against bankrupts and their lands, &c. or the discovery thereof, shall be had against persons declared by 13 EL. c. 7., and 1 J. 1. c. 15., to be bankrupts, and against their lands, &c. as if made bankrupt by this act, id. s. 6.

14. This act, and all other acts heretofore made against bankrupts, shall extend to strangers born, as well aliens as denizens, as effectually as to natural born subjects, both to make subject to the bankrupt laws, as also to make them capable of the benefits thereof, id. s. 15.

15. No persons whatsoever, who shall adventure or put in any money in the East India Company or Guinea Company, or into any joint stock by them to be raised for carrying on their trade, or into any stocks for carrying on the Royal Fishing Trade, and shall receive their dividends in fish, goods, or merchandizes, in specie, and shall sell or exchange the same, shall by reason thereof be esteemed a merchant or trader within the statutes for bankrupts, or be liable to the same, 13 & 14 C. 2. c. 24. s. 3. [see 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 39, 40. pl. 101, 102.]

16. Provided that such persons who shall so trade in any other way than in such companies and Royal Fishing Trade, shall be liable to the statutes for bankrupts by reason thereof as fully as if this act had never been made, id. s. 4.

17. The lord chancellor of Eng., or lord keeper of the great seal, on complaint to him made in writing against any such person being in prison, shall, by commission under the great seal, name and assign such persons as he deems fit, who, or the most part of whom, shall, by virtue of this act and such commission, take, by their discretion, such order with the body of such person wheresoever found, as well by imprisonment as also with all his lands, tenements, hereditaments, freehold and copyhold, which he shall have in his own right before he became a bankrupt; and also with the land, &c. he shall have purchased for money or otherwise jointly with his wife or children to his only use, or of or for such use as such offender then shall have in the same, which he may lawfully depart withal, or with any person in trust for such offender, and also with his money, goods, and debts, wheresoever found, and cause such lands, &c. fees, annuities, offices, goods, and debts, to be searched and appraised, and by deed indented, enrolled in one of H. M.'s courts of record, to make sale of such lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and of all deeds, writings, and evidences, touching only the same belonging to such offender or debtor, and also of all fees, annuities, offices, and goods, or otherwise to order for the true payment of such creditors, rate and rate alike, according to the quantity of their debts, and all orders, sales, and bargains done by such persons so authorized shall be good in law against such offender or debtor, his wife, heir, children, and such person, as by such joint purchase with such offender, shall have any estate or interest in the premises, and against all others claiming under such offender by any act done after his bankruptcy, and also against lords of the manors whereof such copyholds are holden, their heirs, successors, and assigns, 13 EL. c. 7. s. 2.

18. Every person to whom any such sale of such copyhold or customary lands shall be made, shall, before he enters or takes the profits of the same, compound with the lords of manors of whom holden for the fees accustomed to be paid therefore; and, after such composition, such lords at the next court holden for such manor, shall not only duly grant unto the vendees upon request, the same lands by copy of court roll of the same manor for such estate as to them shall be so sold, reserving the ancient rents and services, but also in the same court admit them tenants of the same, and receive their fealty accordingly, id. s. 3.

19. Such of the commissioners as shall put such commission in execution shall, on request by the bankrupt, not only make a true declaration to him of the bestowing of his lands, debts, goods, &c. so paid to their creditors, but also make payment of the overplus to him, his executors, administrators, or assigns; and such bankrupt, after the full satisfaction of his creditors, shall have power to recover the residue of the debts to them owing, 13 EL. c. 7. s. 4. 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 15.

20. If after such act or offence committed, and complaint thereof made to such commissioners so appointed as in s. 2. pl. 17. by any party grieved in the premises, suspecting any of the goods or debts of such offender to be in the custody of any person, or any person to be indebted to such offender, do make relation thereof to such commissioners, they shall call before them by such means as they think fit, all persons so suspected, and on their appearance examine them, as well on oath as otherwise, touching such suspicions for the knowledge of such goods and debts, 13 EL. c. 7. s. 5.

21. If such persons upon such examination do not declare the whole truth of such things, as they shall be examined on, to their knowledge, or deny to swear, then such persons upon due proof thereof to be made before such commissioners, or the most part of them, by witness, examination, or otherwise, shall forfeit double the value of all such goods and debts so concealed, and not wholly declared to be levied by such commissioners of the lands, &c. and goods of such person by such means as in s. 2. pl. 17. limited for the principal offender; and such forfeitures shall be employed to and for the payment of such creditors in such rate as in s. 2. declared, id. s. 6. [See as to the power of imprisonment of any such offender, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 10. pl. 34.]

22. If, at any time before or after, such persons shall keep their houses, depart the realm, or otherwise absent themselves, or suffer themselves to be arrested, outlawed, or yield their bodies to prison, any persons do fraudulently by collusion, claim, recover, or detain any debts, goods, lands, or tenements, by writing, trust, or otherwise, which were or shall belong to such offender, other than such he can prove to be due of right for money paid, wares delivered, or other just consideration, before such commissioners, and the same to proceed bona fide; such person shall forfeit double as much he shall so claim or detain, to be levied, and recovered, and employed as in s. 6. pl. 21. id. s. 7. [See as to concealing trust estates, &c. 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 21. pl. 81.]

23. If the creditors of any such bankrupt shall happen to be satisfied and paid their debts, and there shall then remain any overplus of such forfeitures of such double values, one moiety thereof shall be paid by such commissioners to H. M., and the other shall go to such commissioners, to be by them distributed amongst the poor within the hospitals in every city, town, or county, where any such bankrupt shall happen to be, id. s. 8.

24. If any such person so indebted shall withdraw himself from his usual mansion-house, then on complaint thereof made to such commissioners or the more part of them, they shall award five proclamations in H. M.'s name upon five sundry market days in such place near where the bankrupt commonly dwelt, commanding him to return and yield his body before such commissioners at the time and place by such proclamation appointed, and if such person do not according to such proclamation repair and yield his body as aforesaid, he shall be deemed out of H. M.'s protection; and every person who shall willingly help to hide or convey, or receive, or detain secretly any person so demanded, shall suffer such imprisonment, and pay such fine to H. M., as the chancellor (being thereof informed by such commissioners) shall deem convenient, 13 El. c. 7. s. 9.

25. If the creditors of such offenders, who so depart the realm, keep their houses, or otherwise absent, or withdraw themselves, or suffer themselves to be arrested or outlawed, or yield themselves to prison, be not fully paid, or otherwise contented for their debts by the means before specified, they shall have their remedy for the recovery and levying of the residue thereof against such offenders in like manner as before this act; and such creditor shall only be barred by virtue of this act of such part of their debts as shall be paid to them by order of such persons as aforesaid, and no more, id. s. 10. [But see now 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 9. pl. 68.]

26. Provided, that if any person declared bankrupt under this act, shall afterwards purchase any lands, &c. offices, fees, or goods, or that any lands, &c. offices, &c. shall revert to him, being bankrupt, before his debts be fully satisfied, paid, or otherwise agreed for, then such lands, &c. offices, &c. shall be by such commissioners bargained, sold, and extended towards the payment of his creditors, in such like manner as other his lands, &c. which he had when first declared bankrupt, might have been, id. s. 11.

27. This act shall not extend to any land, &c. free or copy, which shall be assured by any such person before he became a bankrupt, so always that such assurance be made bonâ fide, and to the use of the bankrupt only, or of his heirs; and that the party to whose use the same shall be made, be not at or before such assurance made privy or consenting to the fraudulent purpose of the bankrupt to deceive his creditors, id. s. 12.

28. Any creditors of such bankrupt within four months after such commission sued forth, and until distribution made by the commissioners for the payment of the bankrupt's debt, shall partake and join with the other creditors that sued forth the same for satisfaction of their debts, they so coming in contributing to the charge of such commission; and if such creditors do not come in within four months, such commissioners shall have power to distribute, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 4. [See now 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 25. pl. 85.]

29. If any person so becoming bankrupt shall convey to any of his children or other person, any manors, lands, &c. offices, fees, annuities, leases, goods, or transfer his debts to another's name; except the same shall be purchased, conveyed, or transferred for, or on the marriage of any of his children with the parties named, being of years of consent, or for some valuable consideration, the commissioners, or the major part of them, to be appointed on this behalf [under 13 El. c. 7. s. 2. pl. 17.] shall bargain, sell, grant, convey, demise, or otherwise dispose thereof, in like manner as if such bankrupt had been actually seized thereof, or the debts were in his own name, of the like estate and interest to his own use at such time as he became bankrupt; and every such grant, &c. shall be good in law against the offender, his heir, executors, administrators, assigns, and children, and persons, as shall be subject to this act, and against all other persons claiming by, from, or under such offender, or the persons to whom such conveyance shall be made by him, or by his procurement, id. s. 5.

30. Such commissioners may call before them, or the major part of them, such bankrupt, and if on lawful warning left, or made in writing at three several times at the dwelling-house where such bankrupt, his wife, or family, for the most part of his abode, did lodge or remain within one year next before he became bankrupt, such bankrupt shall not appear before the commissioners, they may order him to be proclaimed a bankrupt at any public place they deem fit, warning him to appear before them at some appointed time, and if on five such proclamations so made, such bankrupt shall not appear before such commissioners, they may award a warrant to such persons as they deem fit, to apprehend and bring him before them wheresoever found, in place privileged or not, to be examined by them, id. s. 6.

31. Such commissioners may examine the offender touching the lands, tenements, goods, debts, bills, bonds, books of account, and such other things as may tend to disclose his estate, or secret grants, conveyances, and cloining of his lands, &c. goods and debts, id. s. 7.

32. If such offender shall refuse to answer fully every interrogatory so ministered unto him, the commissioners may commit him to some imprisonment, until he shall better conform himself, id. s. 8.

33. If on such examination such bankrupt shall commit perjury tending to the hurt of his creditors of 10*l.* or more, he shall be indicted thereof in any of H. M.'s courts of record, and on conviction shall stand in the pillory for two hours, and have one ear nailed thereto, and cut off, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 6.

34. If any person, known or suspected to have, or detain any part of the lands, &c. goods, or debts, of such bankrupt, or to be indebted to him, shall, after warning given to come before the commissioners to be examined according to 13 El. c. 7. s. 5. 6., refuse so to do, or shall not come at the time appointed, having no lawful impediment, (such as shall be admitted by such commissioners, and signified to them at the time of assembling,) or on a second such warning, shall not come, having no such lawful impediment, as aforesaid, or being come shall refuse to be sworn, and to answer such interrogatories as shall be administered unto him, according to such act, or this act, then such commissioners may commit all persons so refusing to be sworn and answer, to such prison as they deem fit, and also direct their warrants to such persons as they deem fit, to apprehend such person as shall refuse to come before them, and bring him before them, to be so examined, and on his refusal to come or to be examined, may commit him to such prison as they deem proper, there to remain without bail, until he shall submit to be so examined, id. s. 10.

35. Such witnesses so sent for shall have their costs and charges allowed them in the discretion of such commissioners, the same to be borne rateably by the creditors, according to their debts, and if any person, other than the bankrupt shall either by subornation, unlawful procurement, or other means, or by his own consent, commit perjury, by his deposition to be taken before such commissioners, or the more part of them, then such person, and all persons that shall corruptly procure such wilful perjury shall be indicted thereof in any of H. M.'s courts of record, and on conviction shall incur such forfeiture, and receive such punishment as by 5 El. c. 9. limited for such offences, id. s. 11.

36. Sums forfeited under this act, shall be sued for and recovered by the creditors only, or any of them that will sue for same by action of debt, or information, &c. in any court of record, and the sums so recovered, after deducting the costs, shall be divided amongst the creditors towards payment of their debts, id. s. 12.

37. The commissioners of bankrupts, or the greater part of them, shall have power to grant and assign, or otherwise order or dispose of all debts due, or to be due to or for the benefit of such bankrupt by what persons soever due, or in what form soever to the use of the creditors, and the same disposition of such debts shall vest the property in the persons to whom it shall be assigned by the commissioners, as fully as if the bill, bond, statutes, recognizances, judgment, or contract, whereupon such debts shall arise, had been made to the persons to whom the same shall be so assigned; and after such assignment, neither the bankrupt, nor any other to whom such debt shall be due, shall recover the same, nor make discharge thereof; neither shall the same be attached as the debt of the bankrupt, or such other person, according to the custom of the city of London, but the party to whom the same shall be assigned, shall have remedy to recover the same, in the name of the person to whom the same shall be so assigned or ordered, as the party himself might have had, id. s. 13.

38. Provided that no debtor of the bankrupt be hereby endangered for the payment of his debt bonâ fide to such bankrupt, before he shall know that he is a bankrupt, id. s. 14.

39. No persons or bodies corporate, joint stock, or other companies having in their custody or possession any goods or effects belonging to any person who shall become bankrupt shall be endangered by reason of the delivery thereof, truly and bonâ fide, to such person, or his order, before they knew or understood that such person was become bankrupt, 56 G. 3. c. 177. s. 1.

40. In all cases where it shall be proved that any person acting on the behalf of any such bodies or companies, in the paying of any debt, or in the delivery of any goods or effects, understood or knew that the person to whom such debt was paid, or such goods or effects delivered had become bankrupt, such body or company shall be deemed to have understood and known the same, id. s. 2.

41. If any action is brought against any commissioner authorized under 13 El. c. 7. pl. 17. or any other person having authority under any commission authorizing such commissioner for any thing done by force thereof, and of this act, they may plead not guilty, or otherwise justify that the act complained of was done by authority of this statute, and of 13 El. c. 7. without expressing other matter of circumstance in such acts contained, and without showing their commission authorizing the same, and the plaintiff may reply de injuriâ, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 16.

42. And on issue joined, the same shall be tried by verdict of twelve men, and on the trial the whole matter shall be given on both parties in evidence, and if verdict shall pass in such issue for the defendant he shall have his costs, id. s. 16.

43. If after any such commission issued and dealt in by the commissioners, the bankrupt shall happen to die before distribution of his estate and effects under this act, and 13 El. c. 7. or either of them, such commissioners shall nevertheless proceed as if he were living, 1 J. 1. c. 15. s. 17.

44. All statutes and laws heretofore made against bankrupts, and for relief of creditors, shall be beneficially construed for the relief, &c. of the creditor, 21 J. 1. c. 19. s. 1.

45. "Whereas by former laws the commissioners have power to examine bankrupts and persons suspected of detaining bankrupt's goods, but some doubts have been made whether they can examine bankrupt's wives," (s. 5.): he it ENACTED, that after such time as any person shall by such commissioners be declared a bankrupt, such commissioners may examine on oath the wife of such bankrupt for the discovery of the estate and goods of such bankrupt concealed or disposed of by such wives, or by any other person, and that such wives shall incur the same danger and penalty for not coming before such commissioners, or for refusing to be sworn and examined, or for not disclosing the truth upon such examinations as by such former laws has been made and provided in like cases, id. ss. 5, 6.

46. Every bankrupt who shall, on his examination before such commissioners, be found fraudulently or deceitfully to have conveyed away his goods, lands, offices, fees, or other estate, to the value of 20*l.* to hinder the execution of this or any other statute relating to bankrupts, or to defraud his creditors, and shall not on such examination discover, (and if it lie in his power) deliver such estate so fraudulently or deceitfully conveyed away, or by his means detained from such commissioners, unto them, or who cannot show to them that he has sustained some casual loss, whereby he is disabled to pay what he then owed, shall be indicted for such fraud or abuse at the assizes or general sessions holden for the county or place where he shall become bankrupt, and if on such indictment such bankrupt is convicted, he shall be set in the pillory for two hours, and have one of his ears nailed thereto and cut off, id. s. 7. [see as to embezzlement, &c. of effects or books, 5 G. 2. c. 50. s. 1. pl. 59.]

47. In execution of such commission such commissioners or any person appointed by them by their warrants under hand and seal, may break open the house, chambers, shop, warehouses, doors, trunks, or chests of such bankrupt, where any of his goods or estate shall be suspected to be, and seize upon and order the body, goods, ready money, and other estate of such bankrupt as by former bankrupt laws appointed, whether it be by imprisonment or otherwise, as such commissioners shall think fit, id. s. 8.

48. Such commissioners shall examine on oath or by any means they think proper, any person for the discovery of the truth of the several debts due to all such creditors as shall seek relief under the commission, and all creditors having security for their debts by judgment, statute, recognizance, specialty with or without penalty, or other security, or having no security, or having made attachments in London or other place by virtue of any custom of the goods of such bankrupt whereof there is no execution or extent executed on any lands, &c. goods, or other estate of such bankrupt before he became bankrupt, shall not be relieved on any such judgment, &c. for any more than a rateable part of their just debts with the other creditors without respect to any penalty or greater sum contained therein, id. s. 9.

49. If it shall happen any the lands, goods, debts, or other estate of any bankrupt to be extended after his bankruptcy by any person under pretence of his being an accountant, or any way indebted to the king, such commissioners shall examine on oath whether such debt were due to such accountant upon any bargain or contract originally made betwixt such accountant and the bankrupt, the said debtor or accountant, and his servants, and if it was made originally to, and with any other person than such debtor or accountant, or for the trust of any other person, such commissioners may order and dispose of all such lands, goods, and debts so excluded for the use of the creditors, and such orders shall be available against such extent, and all persons claiming thereunder, and the persons to whom such lands and goods so extended shall be bargained, sold, or assigned by such commissioners, shall have good remedy to recover the same against such person who shall detain the same, id. s. 10.

50. If any person who shall become bankrupt shall, at the time of his bankruptcy, have by consent of the owner in his possession, order, or disposition, any goods whereof he shall be the reputed owner, and take on himself the sale or disposition thereof as owner thereof, such commissioners may cause the same to be sold for the benefit of the creditors as fully as any other part of the estate of such bankrupt, id. s. 11.

51. Such commissioners shall by deed indented, and enrolled within six months after the making thereof, in some of H. M.'s courts of record at Westminster, grant, bargain, sell, and convey any manors, lands, &c. whereof any bankrupt is or shall be seized of any estate in tail, possession, reversion, or remainder, and whereof no reversion or remainder is in H. M. of the gift of H. M., his progenitors, or heirs, to any person for the relief of the creditors of such bankrupts, and all such grants, &c. shall be available in law to such persons and their heirs against such bankrupts and their issue, and against all persons claiming from or under such bankrupts after he shall become bankrupt, and against all persons whom such bankrupt by common recovery, or other means might out off from any remainder, reversion, rent, profit, title, or possibility, in such manors, lands, &c. 21 J. 1. c. 19. s. 12.

52. If any person who shall become bankrupt, shall at any time convey or assure any lands, tenements, hereditaments, goods, or other estate, unto any person, upon condition of redemption on a day to come, by payment of money or otherwise, such commissioners, or the major part of them, shall, before the time of the performance of the condition, assign, under their hands and seals, such person as they shall deem fit to make tender of money or other performance, according to the nature of such contract, as fully as the bankrupt might have done; and after such tender or performance, such commissioners may dispose of such lands, &c. so granted, &c. on condition to and for the benefit of the creditors, as fully as they may dispose of any other estate of such bankrupt, id. s. 13.

53. No purchaser for a good and valuable consideration, shall be impeached under this or any other act, against bankrupts, unless the commission be sued forth against such bankrupt within five years after he shall become a bankrupt, id. s. 14.

54. The discharge of any bankrupt by force of any act relating to bankrupts, from the debts due by him at time of his bankruptcy, shall not be construed to discharge any other person, who was then partner with such bankrupt, or then stood jointly bound, or had any joint contract with such bankrupt for the same debts, from which he was so discharged; but such partners, &c., obligors, and joint contractors, shall remain liable to pay such debts, and perform such contracts, as if such bankrupt had never been discharged, 10 A. c. 15. s. 3.

55. FOR EXPLAINING and making more effectual the several acts concerning bankrupts, 7 G. 1. st. 1. c. 31.

56. "Whereas merchants take bills, bonds, promissory notes, or other securities for their monies, payable at future days," be it ENACTED that all persons who shall give credit on such securities to any persons who shall become bankrupt, on a good and valuable consideration bona fide for money, or other thing whatsoever which shall not be payable at or before the time of such person's becoming bankrupt, shall be admitted to prove their several bills, &c. as if they were payable presently, and not a future day; and they shall be entitled to a proportionable share of such bankrupt's estate with the other creditors, deducting only a rebate of interest, and discounting such securities payable at a future time, at the rate of 5 per cent. per ann. for what he shall so receive, to be computed from the actual payment thereof, up to the time when such security would have been due, id. s. 1.

57. Such bankrupts shall be discharged from all such securities, and shall have the benefit of all acts in force concerning bankrupts, as fully as if such money was due before the bankruptcy, (id. s. 2.); proviso that such creditors shall not be petitioning creditors, id. s. 3. [R. 5 G. 2. c. 50. s. 22. pl. 82.]

58. TO PREVENT the committing of frauds by bankrupts, 5 G. 2. c. 30. [CON. 9 G. 2. c. 18. s. 2., 16 G. 2. c. 30., 24 G. 2. c. 57. s. 8., 31 G. 2. c. 35. s. 2., 4 G. 3. c. 36., 12 G. 3. c. 57., 16 G. 3. c. 80., 21 G. 3. c. 29. s. 8., 26 G. 3. c. 80. s. 2., 28 G. 3. c. 24. s. 2., 34 G. 3. c. 57., and MADE PERP. 37 G. 3. c. 124.; AMD. 19 G. 2. c. 32. (called Sir John Barnard's Act), 24 G. 2. c. 57. s. 8—10., 46 G. 3. c. 135. (Sir S. Romilly's Act), 49 G. 3. c. 121, which is not to extend to Scot. id. s. 15., and R. 5. and the punishment of death inflicted by s. 1. of this act, 1 G. 4. c. 115.]

59. If any person shall become bankrupt within the meaning of the bankrupt acts, [see pl. 9—16.] and against whom any commission of bankrupt, under the great seal, [see pl. 17.] shall issue, whereunder he shall be declared bankrupt, shall not, within 42 days after notice in writing left at his usual place of abode, or on personal notice, in case he shall be then in prison, and on notice given in the London Gazette that such commission hath been issued, and of the time and place of a meeting of the commissioners, or the major part of them, surrender himself to such commissioners, and sign such surrender, and submit to be examined on oath or affirmation, by such commissioners, and in all things conform to the statutes now in force against bankrupts, and also on his examination fully and truly disclose all his effects and estates real and personal, and how and to whom, or upon what consideration, and at what times, he disposed of or assigned any of his goods, estate, or effects (and all books, papers, and writings relating thereto) of which he was possessed or any ways interested, or which any person hath in trust for his use, at any time before or after such commission, or whereby such person or his family may derive any advantage, benefit, or profit, except only such part of his estates and effects as have been disposed in the way of his trade, and except such monies as have been laid out in his ordinary family expenses, and also upon such examination deliver up to such commissioners such part of his, the said bankrupt's goods, estate, and effects, and all books, papers, and writings relating thereto, as at the time of such examination shall be in his power (the necessary wearing apparel of himself, his wife, and children only excepted), that then such bankrupt, in case of any default and wilful omission in not so surrendering and submitting to be examined, or in case he shall embezzle, or remove, or conceal any part of his estate, real or personal, to the value of 20*l.*, or any books of account, papers, or writings relating thereto, with intent to defraud his creditors, and being thereof convicted by indictment or information, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and suffer as in cases of felony without clergy, or of any statute in relation to felons; and in such cases such felon's goods and estate shall go and be divided amongst his creditors seeking relief under such commission, 5*G. 2. c. 30. s. 1.* [R*ef.* as to the punishment of death, and transportation for life, or for such term, not being less than seven years, as the court shall adjudge, or in case the court shall think fit, imprisonment only, or imprisonment and hard labour for seven years in the common gaol, house of correction, or penitentiary house substituted instead, 1*G. 4. c. 115. ss. 1, 2.*]

60. Such commissioners shall appoint within such 42 days for the bankrupt to surrender and conform as aforesaid, not less than three meetings; the last of which shall be on the forty-second day hereby limited for such bankrupt's appearance; and three weeks' notice shall be given in the Gazette of the time and place of such meetings, 5*G. 2. c. 30. s. 2.*

61. The lord chancellor may enlarge the time for such person surrendering himself, and discovering his effects, not exceeding 60 days, computed from the end of forty-two days; so as such order for enlarging the time be made six days before the time on which such person was to surrender himself, and make such discovery as in s. 1. aforesaid, id. s. 3.

62. Every such bankrupt, after assignees shall be appointed, shall deliver upon oath, or affirmation, before one of the masters of chancery, or justice of peace, unto such assignees, all his books of accounts and writings, not seized by the messenger of the commission, or not before delivered up to the commissioners, and then in his power, and discover such as are in the power of any other person that any ways concern his estate; and every such bankrupt not in prison, shall, after such surrender, attend such assignees, upon reasonable notice in writing given to him, or left at his usual abode, in order to assist in making out the accounts of his estate, id. s. 4.

63. Such bankrupt having so surrendered, shall, at seasonable times before the expiration of such 42 days, or such further time as shall be allowed to finish his examination, as in s. 3. pl. 61. be at liberty to inspect his books, papers, and writings, in the presence of such assignees, or of some person appointed by them, and to bring with him two persons, and to make out such extracts and copies from thence as he thinks proper, the better to enable him to make full and true disclosure of his estate and effects, and in order thereto such bankrupt shall be free from all arrests or imprisonments of any of his creditors in coming to surrender, and from his actual surrender to the commissioners for such 42 days, or such further time as shall be allowed him to finish his examination, provided such bankrupt was not in custody at the time of such surrender or submission to be examined; and in case such bankrupt shall be arrested for debt, or on any escape warrant, coming to surrender to the commissioners, or after such surrender, within the time aforesaid, then on producing such summons or notice under the hands of such commissioners or assignees to arresting officer, and verifying such signatures, and giving a copy thereof, he shall be discharged forthwith, and every officer who shall detain such bankrupt, after producing and verifying such summons or notice, shall forfeit to such bankrupt *5*l. for every day he shall detain him, to be recovered by action of debt, in any court of record at Westminster, in the name of such bankrupt, with full costs, id. s. 5.

64. In case any bankrupt is in prison at the time of issuing any such commission, and is willing to surrender, and submit to be examined, according to this act, and can be brought before such commissioners and creditors for that purpose, the expence thereof shall be paid out of such bankrupt's estate and effects; but in case such bankrupt is in execution, or cannot be brought before the commissioners, then the acting commissioner shall attend such bankrupt in custody and take his discovery, as in other cases, and the assignees shall appoint one person to attend such bankrupt, and to produce to him his books, papers, and writings, in order to prepare his last discovery and examination, a copy whereof the assignees shall apply for, and the bankrupt shall deliver to them, or their order 10 days before such last examination, id. s. 6.

65. Every bankrupt in custody at the time of his last examination, although charged in execution, shall be brought up to be examined in the same manner as when in custody on mesne process, and the pawler is hereby indemnified for bringing him up on the commissioners' warrant, 49*G. 3. c. 121. s. 15.*

66. All persons so become bankrupt, who shall, within the time limited by this act, surrender to the acting commissioners, and in all things conform as in this act directed, shall be allowed, out of the net produce of all the estate received in the following percentage, viz.

5 l.	If, after such allowance made, such estate shall produce enough to pay the creditors in the pound,	10 l.	and so as such allowance does not in the whole exceed	200 l.
10 l.		12 l. 6 d.		250 l.
10 l.		15 l.		300 l.

which allowance shall be paid by the assignee of the commissioners; and every such bankrupt shall be discharged from all debts owing by him at the time of his bankruptcy; and if such bankrupt shall afterwards be arrested or impleaded for any debt due before his bankruptcy, he shall be discharged on common bail, and may plead in general that the cause of such action or suit did accrue before he became a bankrupt, and may give this act and the special matter in evidence; and the certificate of such bankrupt's conforming, and the allowance thereof according to this act, shall be sufficient evidence of the trading, bankruptcy, commission, and other proceedings precedent to obtaining such certificate; and a verdict shall thereupon pass for defendant, unless the plaintiff can prove that such certificate was obtained unfairly and by fraud, or can state any concealment by such bankrupt to the value of 10*l.*; and if a verdict pass for the defendant, and the plaintiff shall be nonsuited, or judgment be given against him, the defendant shall recover his full costs, 5*G. 2. c. 30. s. 7.* [See as to the notice of intention to dispute the bankruptcy, &c. 49*G. 3. c. 121. s. 10. pl. 124.*]

67. Provided that if the net proceeds of such bankrupt's estate do not produce enough to pay the creditors, who have proved their debts, 10*l.* in the pound on their respective debts, after all charges first had and deducted, then such bankrupt shall not be allowed 5 per cent. out of such estate, but only so much as the assignees and such commissioners shall think fit to allow, not exceeding 3 per cent. id. s. 8.

68. Provided that if a commission of bankruptcy shall issue against any person who shall have been discharged by virtue of this act, or shall have compounded with his creditors, or delivered to them his estate and effects, and been released by them, or discharged by any insolvent act, then the bodies only of such persons shall be free from arrest under this act, but his future estate and effects shall remain liable to his creditors as before this act, his tools of trade, necessary household-goods and furniture, and necessary wearing-apparel of himself, his wife and children only excepted, unless his estate shall produce, clear of all charges, sufficient to pay every creditor under the commission 15*l.* in the pound on their respective debts, id. s. 9. [See as to the allowance of certificate to a bankrupt, assignee of another bankrupt, 49*G. 3. c. 121. s. 6. pl. 120.*]

69. No discovery, on oath or affirmation, made by any bankrupt of his estate and effects, pursuant to this act, shall entitle him to its benefits, unless the major part of such commissioners shall, in writing under their hands and seals, certify to the lord chancellor that such bankrupt had made a full discovery of his estate, and in all things conformed to this act, and that there does not appear any reason to doubt the truth of such discovery, or that the same is not a full discovery of all such bankrupt's estate and effects; and also unless four parts in five in number and value of the creditors of such bankrupt, who shall be creditors for not less than 20*l.* respectively, and who have duly proved their debts under the commission, or some other person by them duly authorized, shall sign such certificate, and testify their consent to such allowance and certificate, and to such bankrupt's discharge under this act, to be also certified by such commissioners, but who shall not certify the same till they have proof by affidavit or affirmation in writing of such creditors, or of the person by them authorized signing for them, and of the authority by which any such person was authorized to sign such certificate for any creditor, which affidavit or affirmation, together with such warrant or authority to sign, shall be laid before the lord chancellor, with such certificate, in order for allowing and confirming the same; and unless such bankrupt shall make oath or affirmation in writing, that such certificate and consent of creditors was obtained fairly and without fraud; and unless such certificate shall afterwards be allowed and confirmed by the lord chancellor, or by such two justices of K. B., C. P. or barons of exchequer at Westminster, to whom the consideration of the certificate shall be referred by the lord chancellor; and any of the creditors of such bankrupt may be heard before such respective persons aforesaid against the making and confirmation of such certificate, and no commissioner shall sign such certificate until four parts in five in number and value of such creditors have signed, id. s. 10. [See as to letters of attorney from creditor residing abroad 24*G. 2. c. 57. s. 10. pl. 112.*]

70. The signature and consent of three parts in five in number, and value of the creditors of the bankrupt, who shall be creditors for not less than 20*l.* respectively, and who have proved their debts under the commission, or some other person by them duly authorized, to the allowance and certificate and discharge of such bankrupt, shall be as available for his benefit as such signature of four parts in five in number and value would have been before the passing of this act, and such signature, &c. of three parts in five, as aforesaid, shall be sufficient to authorize all acts to be done by the lord chancellor, and the commissioners in such commission, and all others for the benefit of the bankrupt, which under any prior act of parliament would have been authorized by the signature, &c. of four parts in five, in number and value of such persons, 49 G. 3. c. 121. s. 18.

71. All bonds, bills, contracts, and other security whatsoever made or given by any bankrupt or other person unto or to the use of or in trust for any creditor, or for the security of any debt, or part thereof, due at the time of his bankruptcy, between the time of his becoming bankrupt, and his discharge, as a consideration to consent to or sign any such allowance or certificate shall be void; and the monies thereby secured, shall not be recoverable, and the party sued on such contracts may plead the general issue, and give this act, and the special matter in evidence, 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 11.

72. The benefits of this act shall not extend to any bankrupt who shall on the marriage of any of his children have advanced above 100*l.* value, unless it can be proved by the bankrupt's books, or otherwise, by oath or affirmation before the major part of the commissioners, that he had at the time thereof, over and above the value so advanced remaining in goods, debts, ready money, or other estate, real and personal, sufficient to pay in full all his debts, or who shall have lost in any one day 5*l.* or in the whole 100*l.* within 12 months next preceeding his bankruptcy in playing cards, dice-tables, billiards, tennis, bowls, shovel-board, or in or by cock-fighting, horse, or foot-races, or other pastime or game, or by bearing a share in wagers, or by betting on the side or hands of such as do play, ride, act, or run as aforesaid, or within one year before he shall have lost 100*l.* by contracts for the purchase, sale, refusal, or delivery of any stock of any company or corporation, or any shares in the public funds, or government securities, where such contract was not to be performed within the week from the time of making the same, or where the stock, &c. bought was not actually transferred, &c. in pursuance thereof, id. s. 12.

73. Where any bankrupt who has obtained his certificate from the commissioners, and which has been allowed and confirmed as in s. 10. pl. 59., shall be taken in execution, or detained in prison, for any debt due before his bankruptcy, by reason that judgment was obtained before such certificate was allowed, &c. a judge of the court, wherein judgment was so obtained, on production of such certificate allowed and confirmed, shall order any sheriff, bailiff, or gaoler, who has such bankrupt in his custody, under such execution to discharge him without paying any fee, and such gaoler, &c. is hereby indemnified for so doing, id. s. 13.

74. Upon certificate made under the hands and seals of such commissioners, that such commission is issued, and such person proved to become bankrupt, any judge of K. B., C. P., or baron of exchequer, or any justice of peace for Eng., Wa., and Ber., shall, on application made, grant his warrant, under hand and seal, for arresting such persons, and committing them to the gaol of the county, where such person shall be taken, there to remain until removed by order of such commissioners by warrant under hand and seal, and the gaoler shall receive such person, and forthwith give notice to commissioner in such commission named thereof, who shall forthwith send a warrant to such gaoler for delivering such bankrupt to some person in such warrant named, who shall bring him to the commissioners to be examined, and make such discovery as in s. 1. pl. 59., and such commissioners, by such or another warrant, may take and seize the goods and effects of such bankrupt, the necessary wearing apparel of himself, his wife, and children excepted, and his books, papers, or writings then in his custody, or that of any other person in any prison whatsoever, id. s. 14.

75. If any such person so apprehended shall, within the time allowed by s. 1. 2. pl. 59, 60., submit to be examined, and conform in all things, as if he had surrendered, as by act required, he shall nevertheless have the benefit of this act, as if he had voluntarily surrendered himself, id. s. 15.

76. The major part of the commissioners may examine by word of mouth, or by interrogatories in writing, such bankrupt and such persons duly summoned before or present at any meeting of such commissioners, touching all matters relating to the person, trade, dealing, estate and effects of such bankrupt, and any act of bankruptcy by him committed, and reduce into writing the answers of such verbal examinations, which examination so taken down, the party examined shall sign and subscribe; and in case any such bankrupt or persons shall refuse to or shall not fully answer to satisfaction of the commissioners all lawful questions so put to them, or shall refuse to sign his or their examinations so reduced into writing, (not having any objection to the wording thereof, or otherwise to be allowed by the commissioners,) such commissioners by warrant under hand and seal may commit him to any prison, there to remain until such person shall submit and answer fully, and sign such examinations, id. s. 16.

77. When any such persons shall be so committed for refusing to answer, or for not fully answering questions or interrogatories put to them, such questions shall be specified in the warrant of committal, id. s. 17.

78. If any persons so committed by such commissioners under this or any other act concerning bankrupts, shall bring any habeas corpus to be discharged, and on return thereof it shall appear that the warrant was insufficient, by reason whereof the party might be discharged, the court or judge before whom such party shall be brought, by habeas corpus, shall by rule, order, or warrant, commit such person to the same prison until he shall conform as aforesaid, unless it shall appear to such court or judge, that all lawful questions put to the party have been fully answered; or in case such committal was for not signing such examination, unless it shall appear to such court or judge, that such party had a good reason for refusing to sign the same, and every keeper of any gaol, or gaoler who shall wilfully suffer such bankrupt or person to escape from prison, or go without the walls or doors thereof until discharged as aforesaid, shall forfeit 500*l.* on conviction, by indictment or information to the use of his creditors, 6 G. 2. c. 30. s. 18.

79. Such gaoler shall, on request of any creditors of such bankrupt who has proved his debt under such commission, and on producing a certificate thereof, under hands of the commissioners, (which such commissioners shall grant gratis), forthwith produce such person so committed to any such creditors, requesting the same, and every such gaoler who shall refuse to show, or shall not forthwith produce such person so committed, and being in his actual custody at such time, shall forfeit for such his wilful neglect and refusal 100*l.* for the use of the creditors, to be recovered by action of debt in the courts of record at Westminster, in the names of the creditors so requesting to see such prisoner, id. s. 19.

80. All persons who shall at any time after time allowed to such bankrupt to surrender and conform voluntarily, come and make discovery to the assignees, or the commissioners of any part of such bankrupt's estate, not before come to the knowledge of the assignees, shall be allowed five per cent. and such further reward as the assignees and major part of the creditors in value present at any meeting shall think fit, to be paid out of the neat proceeds of such bankrupt's estate, which shall be recovered by such discovery, and shall be paid to the person so discovering the same by the assignees, who shall be allowed the same in their account, id. s. 20.

81. All persons who shall have accepted of any trust, and shall wilfully conceal any estate, real or personal of such bankrupt from the creditors, and shall not within 42 days after such commission issued, and notice given in the London Gazette, disclose such trust and estate in writing to one of the commissioners or assignees, and likewise submit to be examined by such commissioner if required, and truly discover the same, shall forfeit 100*l.* and double the value of the estate so concealed to the use of the creditors, to be recovered by action of debt in the courts of record at Westminster, in name of the assignees of such commissioners, with full costs to either party, id. s. 21.

82. So much of 7 G. 1. st. 1. c. 51. as prevents such creditors as in s. 1. pl. 56. of that act mentioned, from petitioning for a commission against any bankrupt shall be Rev. and such persons allowed so to do, id. s. 22.

83. No commission of bankrupt shall issue upon petition of any creditor, unless the debt of the creditor, or of two or more persons, being partners petitioning for the same, shall amount to 100*l.* or upwards, or unless the debt of two creditors amounts to 150*l.* or upwards, or of three or more to 200*l.* or upwards, and unless the petitioning creditor shall, before the same is granted, make an affidavit or affirmation in writing before a master in chancery, (which oath or affirmation he is hereby empowered to administer, and which shall be filed with the proper officer), of the truth of such debts, and likewise give bond to the lord chancellor in the penalty of 200*l.* conditioned for proving of their debts, as well before the commissioners as upon trial at law, if such commission shall be contested, and also for proving the party a bankrupt at the time of taking out such commission, and further therein to proceed as herein directed; and if such debts shall not be really due, or if after such commission taken out, the party cannot be proved a bankrupt, when the same was issued, but if, on the contrary, it shall appear that such commission was taken fraudulently or maliciously, the lord chancellor may, on petition of the party grieved, examine into the same, and order satisfaction to him for the damages sustained, and if there shall be occasion, may assign such bond to such party so petitioning, who may sue in his own name thereon, id. s. 23.

84. If any bankrupt shall, after commission issued against him, pay to the party suing out the same, or otherwise deliver goods, or any other satisfaction or security for his debt, so that such party shall privately have more in the pound than any other creditors, such payment or delivery shall be deemed such an act of bankruptcy, whereby on due proof thereof such commission may be superseded, and the lord chancellor shall award to any other creditor petitioning another commission, and such person so taking such goods, or other satisfaction, shall forfeit his whole debt and all he has so received; and he shall deliver up to the same, or the full value, to such person as the commissioners acting under the new commission, shall appoint in trust to be divided amongst the other creditors, according to their respective debts, 5 G. 2. c. 50. s. 24.

85. The petitioning creditor obtaining any commission, shall at his own costs prosecute the same, until the assignees shall be chosen of such bankrupt's estate and effects; and the commissioners named as such commission shall, at the meeting for the choice of assignees, ascertain such costs, and, by writing under their hands, direct the assignees to pay the same out of the first money or effects of such bankrupt that shall be got in, and every creditor may prove his debt, under any such commission, without paying any contribution on account of such debt, id. s. 25.

86. The commissioners, or any commission of bankrupt, or the major part of them, shall forthwith, after they have declared the person against whom such commission issued, a bankrupt, cause a notice thereof to be given in the London Gazette, and appoint a time and place for the creditors to meet, which within the city of London, or the bills of mortality, shall be in the Guildhall, [Rer. as to Guildhall, and new buildings to be erected, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 95. s. 1. pl. 145.] in order to choose assignees of the estate and effects of such bankrupt; and at such meeting they shall admit creditors who live remote from such place of meeting to prove their debts by affidavit or affirmation, and also permit any person duly authorized by letter of attorney from such creditors' oath or affirmation being made of the due execution thereof, either before a master in chancery, ordinary, or extra-ordinary, or before the commissioners in vacuo, (which they shall administer) and in case of creditors who reside abroad, such affidavit or affirmation to be made before a magistrate of the place where they reside, and shall, together with such letter of attorney, be attested by a notary public, to vote in the choice of such assignees, instead of such creditors, and the commissioners, or the major part of them, shall assign such bankrupt's estate and effects unto such persons as the major part, in value of such creditors, according to the debts then proved shall choose; and the assignees so chosen shall keep one distinct book of account, wherein shall be entered all sums or other effects, got in or received out of such bankrupt's estate to which every creditor who shall have proved his debt, shall at all times have free resort for inspection, id. s. 26.

87. Provided no creditor nor other person on his behalf shall be permitted to vote in the choice of assignees, whose debt shall not amount to 10*l.* or upwards, id. s. 27.

88. Where it shall appear to such commissioners that there hath been mutual credit given by, or mutual debts between the bankrupt and any other person, at any time before his bankruptcy, such commissioners, or such assignees, shall state the account between them, and set one debt against another, and what shall then appear to be due on either side shall be claimed, and paid on either side respectively, id. s. 28. [see 46 G. 3. c. 135. s. 3., 49 G. 3. c. 121. s. 1. pl. 115.]

89. Every person who shall before the acting commissioners, in any commission of bankrupt, by affidavit or affirmation exhibited to them, depose or affirm that any sum is due to him from any bankrupt which is not really due, or that more is due than really is, knowing the same not to be due, and that such oath, &c. is false, shall, on conviction by indictment or information, suffer the pains and penalties inflicted by statutes now in force against wilful perjury, and forfeit double the sum so sworn or affirmed to be due, to be recovered as other forfeitures are upon penal statutes after conviction, and which shall be equally divided amongst all the creditors, id. s. 24. [see 24 G. 2. c. 57. s. 9, 10. pl. 111, 112.]

90. Such commissioners, when they see cause, may immediately appoint one or more assignees of the estate, &c. or part thereof, who may be removed at the meeting of the creditors, for the choice of the assignees if they, or major part in value of them, (whose debts amount respectively to 10*l.* or more) then present, and of persons duly authorized as in s. 26. pl. 86. *as*foresaid deem fit; and such assignees, who shall be so removed, shall deliver up and assign all the estate and effects of such bankrupt, which came to their possession, or was assigned to them by such commissioners, unto such other assignees so chosen, and which shall as effectually vest in such new assignees as if the first assignment had been made to them by the commissioners, and every such first assignees, who shall refuse or neglect by 10 days next after notice given of the choice of new assignees, and of their consent to accept such assignment signified to them in writing under their hands to make such assignment and delivery, shall respectively forfeit 200*l.* to be divided amongst the creditors towards satisfaction of their debts, in such manner as the estate of such bankrupt ought to be divided and to be recovered by action of debt or information in any of the courts of record at Westminster by such person as the commissioners, or the major part of them, shall appoint to sue for same with full costs, and wherein no privilege, protection, &c. or more than one imparlance shall be allowed, id. s. 30.

91. * Whereas it may become necessary that assignments to be made pursuant to the choice of creditors should be vacated, and new ones made of the debts and effects unreceived and not disposed of by the then assignees to other persons chosen by the creditors: be it enacted, that the lord chancellor, on petition of any creditors, may make such order therein as he thinks fit; and if a new assignment shall be ordered, such debts, effects, and estate of such bankrupt shall be thereby legally vested in such new assignees, who may sue for same in their own names, and discharge any action or suit, or give any acquittance for such debts as effectually as the former assignees might have done, in case no new assignment had been made; and such commissioners shall cause public notice to be given in the two London Gazettes that immediately follow the removal of such assignee and the appointment of the new one, that such assignee is removed, and such other appointed in his stead, and that persons indebted to such bankrupt's estate do not pay any such debt to any such assignee so removed, 5 G. 2. c. 38. s. 31.

92. Before the creditors proceed to the choice of assignees, the major part in value of the creditors then present, shall direct in what manner, how, and with whom, and where the monies received out of the bankrupt's estate shall be paid in, and remain until divided amongst the creditors as hereby directed, to which rule such assignees shall conform as often as 100*l.* is received, and shall be indemnified for so conforming, id. s. 32.

93. If the major part of the creditors of any bankrupt shall not, before they proceed to choose assignees, direct in what manner, how, and with whom, and where the monies arising from the bankrupt's estate shall be placed, according to 5 G. 3. c. 30. s. 32., pl. 92. the major part of the commissioners shall, after the assignees have been chosen, and at the same meeting, make such direction, and the assignees shall conform to their order as often as 100*l.* is received by them from such estate, and shall be and are hereby indemnified for so doing, provided such commissioners shall not direct it to be paid into their or their solicitor's hands, or into any banking-house or house of trade where they or their solicitor are concerned as partners or otherwise, 49 G. 3. c. 121. s. 5.

94. If such assignees shall retain in their hands, or otherwise employ for their benefit, any money part of such bankrupt's estate contrary to this act, and of 5 G. 3. c. 30., they shall be charged in their accounts interest at the rate of 20*l.* per cent. per annum, on all money so retained for the time it is so retained contrary to said acts, and the commissioners shall charge such assignees with such sum accordingly, id. s. 4.

95. Persons so chosen assignees shall, after the expiration of four months, and within twelve months from the time of issuing such commission, cause 21 days' notice to be given in the Gazette, of the time and place the commissioners and assignees intend to meet to make a dividend, at which time the creditors, who have not before proved their debts, shall prove the same; which meeting for the city of London, and all places within the bills of mortality, shall be at Guildhall, [see pl. 86.] and upon every such meeting, the assignees shall produce to the commissioners and creditors then present, just accounts of all their receipts and payments touching such bankrupt's estate, and of what shall remain out-standing, and the particulars thereof, and shall, if the creditors require the same, be examined on oath, or affirmation before such commissioners touching the truth of such account, and in such account such assignees may retain all money paid by them in prosecuting such commission, and all other just allowances; and the commissioners shall order such part of the neat produce of the said bankrupt's estate in the hands of the assignees as they shall think fit, to be divided amongst the creditors, and shall make such order for a dividend in writing, and shall cause one part of such order to be filed amongst the proceedings under the commission, and shall deliver unto each of the assignees a duplicate of such order, which order shall contain an account of the time and place of making such order, and the sum total of the debts proved, and of the money remaining in the hands of the assignees, and how much in the pound is then ordered to be paid; and the assignees in pursuance of such order, and without any deed of distribution, shall forthwith make such dividend, and take receipts in a book from each creditor, for his share of the dividend, and such order and receipt shall be a full discharge to such assignee, for what he shall pay pursuant to such order, 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 33.

96. The assignees, with the consent of the major part in value of the creditors present at any meeting pursuant to notice in the Gazette, may submit any difference between such assignees and any person whatsoever, by reason of any matter relating to such bankrupt, or his estate, to the determination of arbitrators to be chosen by the assignees and the major part in value of such creditors, and the party with whom they have such difference, and shall perform the award of such arbitrators, or otherwise compound the matter in difference, in such manner as the assignees with such consent shall think fit; and the same shall be binding on all the creditors of such bankrupt, and the assignees are hereby indemnified for what they shall fairly do according to such direction, id. s. 34.

97. Any assignees so chosen may, with like consent as in s. 34. pl. 96. of the creditors present at a meeting held for that purpose, pursuant to such notice as in s. 34. *as*foresaid, make composition with any persons, debtors, or accountants to such bankrupt, where the same shall be reasonable, and take such part as can be gotten in full discharge of such debts and accounts. 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 35.

98. After such bankrupt has obtained his certificate and the same shall be confirmed as in s. 10. pl. 69. directed, he shall be obliged to give his attendance upon notice in writing given to him, or left at his usual abode, by the assignees thereby requiring him to attend them, in order to settle any account between such bankrupt and any debtor or creditor of his estate, or to attend any court of record to be examined touching the same, or for such other business as may be necessary for getting in such bankrupt's estate and effects, for which attendance he shall have 2s. 6d. per diem, to be paid by such assignees out of his estate, and in case such bankrupt shall refuse to attend or to assist in such discovery without good cause to be shown to the commissioners to be by them allowed, (such assignees making proof thereof, upon oath or affirmation, before the commissioners), the commissioners shall issue a warrant to such persons as they shall think proper, for apprehending such bankrupt, and him to commit to the county gaol, there to remain in close custody until he shall conform to the satisfaction of the commissioners, and be by them or the order of the lord chancellor, or by due course of law, discharged; and such gaoler shall keep such person in close custody, within the walls of the prison, under the penalties in s. 19. pl. 79. mentioned for suffering such prisoners to escape, id. s. 36.

99. Within 18 months after the issuing of any such commission the assignees shall make a second dividend, in case the estate was not wholly divided upon the first, and shall cause notice to be inserted in the Gazette, of the time and place the said commissioners intend to meet to make a second dividend, and for the creditors who shall not before have proved their debts to come and prove the same; and at such meeting every assignee shall produce upon oath or affirmation his accounts, and what upon the balance shall appear to be in his hands, shall by like order of the commissioners be forthwith divided; which second dividend shall be final unless any suit shall be depending, or any part of the estate standing out that cannot be disposed of, or that the major part of the creditors shall not have agreed to be sold, or unless some future estate of the bankrupt shall afterwards come to the assignees, in which case the assignees shall, as soon as may be, convert such future estate into money, and shall, within two months after, by the like order of the commissioners, divide the same, id. s. 37.

100. No suit in equity shall be commenced by assignees, without the consent of the major part in value of the creditors present at a meeting pursuant to notice in the Gazette, id. s. 38.

101. Bankers, brokers, and factors, shall be liable to the statutes concerning bankrupts, id. s. 39.

102. No farmer, grazier, or drover, or receiver-general of taxes, shall be entitled as such to the benefits given by this act, or be deemed a bankrupt, id. s. 40.

103. Upon petition of any person, the lord chancellor may order commissions, depositions, proceedings, and certificates, relating to any bankruptcy, to be entered of record; and in case of the death of the witnesses proving such bankruptcy, or in case such commissions or other things shall be lost, a copy of the record of such commissions or things, signed and attested as herein is mentioned, may be given in evidence to prove such commissions and bankruptcy, or other things; and all certificates which have been allowed and entered of record, or a true copy of every certificate signed and attested as herein is mentioned, shall and may be given in evidence in any courts of record, and without further proof taken to be a bar and discharge against any action by any creditor of such bankrupt, for any debt contracted before the issuing of such commission; unless any creditor of the person that hath such certificates shall prove that such certificate was fraudulently obtained, in which case costs shall be allowed to either party as in common cases, and the lord chancellor shall appoint a place near the inns of court where the matters aforesaid shall be entered of record, where all persons shall be at liberty to search, and the lord chancellor shall, by writing, appoint a proper person, who shall (by himself or deputy, to be approved by the lord chancellor by writing) enter of record such commissions and other things, and have the custody of the entries thereof; and also appoint such fee for his labour therein, as the lord chancellor shall think reasonable, not exceeding what is usually paid in like cases; and the person so to be appointed, and his deputy, shall continue to enter of record all the matters aforesaid, and to have the custody of the same so long as they shall behave themselves well; and shall not be removed but by order in writing under the hand of the lord chancellor, on good cause therein specified, id. s. 41.

104. And in case such person shall die or be removed, the lord chancellor shall, by writing, appoint another person to enter the same of record, who shall have the custody of the entries thereof and receive the like fee for his labour therein, id. s. 41.

105. There shall not be paid out of the estate of the bankrupt any monies for expenses in eating or drinking of the commissioners or of any other persons at the times of the meeting of the commissioners or creditors; and no schedule shall be annexed to any deed of assignment of the personal estate of such bankrupt from the commissioners to the assignees; and if any commissioner shall order such expence to be made, or eat or drink at the charge of the creditors, or out of the estate of such bankrupt, or receive above 20s. each commissioner for each meeting; every such commissioner shall be disabled to act in any commission of bankrupts, 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 42.

106. The commissioners shall not be capable of acting until they respectively shall have taken an oath to the effect following, viz.

I, A. B. do swear that I will faithfully, impartially, and honestly, according to the best of my skill and knowledge, execute the several powers and trusts reposed in me as a commissioner in a commission of bankrupt against ——— and that without favour or affection, prejudice or malice. So help me God. id. s. 43.

which oath any two of the commissioners may administer to each other, and they shall keep a memorial thereof signed by them among the proceedings on each commission, id. s. 44.

107. No commission of bankrupt shall abate by the death of H. M. but shall continue in force; and if it shall be necessary to renew any such commission, by reason of the death of the commissioners, or any other cause, such commission shall be renewed, and but half the fees usually paid shall be paid for such renewed commission, id. s. 45.

108. All bills of fees or disbursements demanded by any solicitor employed under any commission of bankrupt, shall be settled by one of the masters of chancery, and what such master shall certify as due, shall be paid and no more, and the master who shall settle such bill, shall have for his care in settling the same, as also for his certificate thereof, 20s. id. s. 46.

109. No bonâ fide creditor of any bankrupt for goods bonâ fide sold to such bankrupt, or for any bill of exchange bonâ fide drawn, negotiated, or accepted by such bankrupt in the usual course of trade, shall be liable to refund to the assignees of such bankrupt's estate, any money which, before the suing forth of such commission, was bonâ fide and in the usual course of trade received of such bankrupt, before the person receiving had notice that he was become a bankrupt or insolvent, 19 G. 2. c. 32. s. 1. [see 46 G. 3. c. 135. s. 1. pl. 113., 49 G. 3. c. 121. s. 2. pl. 118.]

110. The obligee in any bottomry, or respondentiâ bond, and the assured in any policy of insurance, made upon valuable consideration bonâ fide, shall be admitted to claim; and after the loss or contingency has happened, to prove their debt and demands in respect of such bond or policy, in like manner as if the loss or contingency had happened before the issuing of the commission of bankruptcy against such obligor or insurer; and shall have a proportionable dividend of such bankrupt's estate; and every person against whom any commission of bankruptcy shall be awarded, shall be discharged of the debt owing on every such bond and policy, and shall have the benefit of the statutes against bankrupts, in like manner as if such loss or contingency had happened, and the money due in respect thereof had become payable before the time of the issuing of such commission, id. s. 2.

111. Where any person shall fraudulently swear, or depose, or affirm before the commissioners named in any commission of bankruptcy, or by affidavit or affirmation exhibited to them, that a sum is due to him from any bankrupt, which shall not be so in fact, and shall in respect of such fictitious debt sign a certificate for such bankrupt's discharge, then, unless such bankrupt shall before such discharge is signed by the commissioners, by writing signed by him, and delivered to one of such commissioners or one of his assignees, disclose such fraud and object to the debt, such certificate shall be void, and such bankrupt shall not be entitled to be discharged or to have any of the benefits by 5 G. 2. c. 30. conferred. 24 G. 2. c. 57. s. 9. [see 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 29. pl. 89.]

112. Where any creditor of a bankrupt resides in foreign parts, his letter of attorney, attested by a notary public, shall be sufficient evidence of the power of the person thereby authorized to sign such certificate, id. s. 10.

113. In commissions of bankrupt hereafter to be issued, all conveyances by, all payments by and to, and all contracts and other dealings by and with any bankrupt, bonâ fide, made and entered into more than two calendar months before the date of the commission, shall, notwithstanding any prior act of bankruptcy, be good and effectual as if no such prior act of bankruptcy had been committed, provided the persons so dealing with such bankrupt had not, at the time of such conveyance, &c. any notice of any prior act of bankruptcy by such bankrupt, or that he was insolvent, or had stopped payment, 46 G. 3. c. 135. s. 1.

114. All persons with whom any bankrupt shall have bonâ fide contracted any debts before the date and suing forth commission, which if contracted before any act of bankruptcy might have been proved under such commission, shall notwithstanding any prior act of bankruptcy committed by the bankrupt, be admitted to prove such debts, and stand creditors under such commission, as if no such prior act of bankruptcy had been committed; provided such creditors had not, at the time when such debts were contracted, any notice of such prior act of bankruptcy, 46 G. 3. c. 135. s. 2.

115. In all cases where, under commissions of bankrupt hereafter to be issued, it shall appear that there has been mutual credit given, or mutual debts between the bankrupt and another person, one debt or demand may be set off against another, notwithstanding a prior act of bankruptcy committed before such credit was given, or such debt contracted; provided such credit be given two calendar months before the date and suing forth of such commission, and provided the person claiming the benefit of such set-off had not, at the time of such credit, given any notice of such prior act of bankruptcy committed by the bankrupt, or that he was insolvent, or had stopped payment; provided that the issuing of a commission against such bankrupt although the same shall be afterwards superseded, or the striking the docket for the purpose of issuing a commission, whether the same shall thereupon actually issue or not, shall be deemed notice of a prior act of bankruptcy for the purposes of this act, if an act of bankruptcy had been committed when such commission was issued or such docket struck, 46 G. 3. c. 135. s. 3. [REL. as to that which makes the striking of the docket notice of a prior act of bankruptcy, 49 G. 3. c. 121. s. 1.] [See 5 G. 2. c. 50. s. 28. pl. 48.]

116. All persons who shall be duly found bankrupts under any commission of bankrupt, shall, on obtaining their certificates, be discharged from all debts by this act made provable under the same, and shall have the benefit of all acts in force concerning bankrupts, as if such secret acts of bankruptcy were committed prior to contracting such debts, 46 G. 3. c. 135. s. 1.

117. No commission of bankruptcy shall be avoided by reason of any act of bankruptcy committed by the person, or any of them, against whom such commission issued prior to the contracting of the debt of the petitioning creditors, or any of them, if they had no notice thereof when the debt was contracted, but the same shall be valid, id. s. 5.

118. All executions and attachments against the lands and tenements, or goods of the bankrupt bona fide executed more than two calendar months before the date and issuing of the commission of bankruptcy shall be valid, notwithstanding any prior act of bankruptcy had been committed; provided that at the time of levying the same, the person at whose suit such execution, &c. issued, had no notice of such prior act of bankruptcy committed by the bankrupt, or that he was insolvent, or had stopped payment; provided that the issuing of a commission, although afterwards superseded, shall be deemed notice of an act of bankruptcy, having been committed when the commission issued, 49 G. 3. c. 121. s. 2.

119. The commissioners shall in no case declare a dividend upon admission only of a certain sum in the hands of the assignees, but shall require them to deliver on oath a statement in writing of all monies received by them respectively, on what accounts, and how employed, and shall examine the same, compare the receipts with the payments, and ascertain the balances that have been from time to time in their hands, and enquire why sums appearing to be in hand are retained; and thereupon shall declare a dividend on the remaining sum, specifying in their order the sum allowed to be retained, and why so allowed, and not divided, id. s. 5.

120. In case a commission of bankrupt shall issue against any person who is an assignee of the estate of any bankrupt, and who is at that time indebted to such estate in 10*l.*, or upwards, for money in his hands as assignee, and wilfully retained or employed for his own benefit, the certificate of conformity, when obtained by such bankrupt assignee, shall only free such assignee from arrest and imprisonment, but his future estate and effects shall remain liable for so much of his debt to such bankrupt's estate as shall not be paid by dividends under such commission, together with lawful interest for the whole debt, the tools of trade, necessary household goods, furniture, and wearing apparel of such bankrupt, his wife and children only excepted, id. s. 6. [See as to allowance of certificate on a second commission against the same person, 5 G. 2. c. 50. s. 9. pl. 68.]

121. On application by the assignees, or any five or more of the creditors, who have proved their debts under the commission or notice given to the assignees of such intended application, the commissioners may, when it shall appear beneficial to the bankrupt's estate, direct the whole or part of such monies as have been paid in for the purpose of division amongst the creditors, or have been retained to answer any claim duly entered on the proceedings under such bankruptcy, or any dividends ordered to be retained by the assignees, to be invested in exchequer bills for benefit of such creditors and claimants, and shall also direct with whom and where such exchequer bills shall be kept, and may cause them to be sold when it may be proper, and direct the proceeds thereof to be laid out again in exchequer bills, to be applied to the benefit of such creditors and claimants as such commissioners deem fit, subject however to the control of the lord-chancellor, id. s. 7.

122. In cases of commissions hereafter to be issued, where at time of issuing the same, any person shall be surety or liable for any debt of the bankrupt; such person, if he has paid the debt or any part thereof in discharge of the whole, (although the same may have been paid after such commission issued,) and the creditor shall have proved his debt, shall stand in the place of such creditor, and if such creditor has not proved, such person may prove his demand in respect to such payment as a debt under the commission, not disturbing the former dividends, and may receive dividends proportionably with the other creditors, although he became so liable after an act of bankruptcy committed by such bankrupt; provided, that such person had not, when he became so liable, any notice of any act of bankruptcy by such bankrupt committed, or that he was insolvent or had stopped payment; provided, that the issuing of a commission, although afterwards superseded, shall be deemed notice, and every person, against whom any such commission shall be awarded and who shall obtain his certificate, shall be discharged of all demands at the suit of every such person having so paid, and being hereby enabled to prove, or to stand in the place of such creditor with regard to his debt on such suretyship or liability, in like manner as if such person had been creditor before the bankruptcy for the whole debt for which he was surety or was so liable, 49 G. 3. c. 121. s. 8.

123. Every person who shall give credit to any persons, who shall become bankrupt upon a valuable consideration bona fide for any money which is not due at the time of, or before such bankruptcy shall be admitted to prove their debts, and be entitled to receive proportional dividends equally with other creditors out of such bankrupt's estate deducting only thereout a rebate of interest, for what they so receive, at the rate of 5 per cent. per ann. under commissions in Eng. and 6 per cent. per ann. in like cases in Ire., to be computed from when received, up to the time when payable by contract, id. s. 2.

124. In actions brought by or against any assignees, the commission of bankrupt and the proceedings of the commissioners under the same, shall be evidence to be received of the petitioning creditors' debt, and of the trading and bankruptcy of such bankrupt, unless the other party shall, before pleading thereto, if debt, or before issue joined, if plt., give notice in writing to such assignee, that he intends to dispute such matters or any of them; and where such notice is given, if such assignee shall prove the matter disputed, or the other party admit it, the judge before whom the cause is tried, shall grant a certificate thereof, if he deems it fit, and such assignee shall be entitled to the taxed costs occasioned by such notice, and such costs shall, if the assignee has a verdict, be added to his costs, and if the other party shall obtain a verdict, shall be deducted from the costs of such other party, which he would otherwise receive, id. s. 10. [See 5 G. 2. c. 50. s. 7. pl. 66.]

125. In suits in equity instituted by or against assignees, such commission and proceedings under same shall be evidence, to be received of the like facts as in s. 10. against all the other parties to such suits, unless such parties, some or one of them shall within ten days after rejoinder in the cause, give notice in writing to the assignee of their intention to dispute such matters; and where such notice shall be given, if the assignee shall prove the matter disputed, the taxed costs occasioned thereby shall be paid by the parties giving such notice to the assignee, and the service of such notice may be proved by affidavit on the hearing of the cause, id. s. 11.

126. No action shall be brought by any creditor who has proved any debt under the commission against the assignees, for any dividend declared by the commissioners thereunder; but where the assignees refuse or omit to pay such dividends, the creditors shall petition the lord chancellor for payment thereof, who shall, on hearing such petition, not only order payment of such dividend, but also in all cases where justice requires shall order payment of interest for the time such dividend was withheld, and of costs, id. s. 12.

127. Creditors, who have brought any action, or instituted any suit against any bankrupt for any demands which arose prior to his bankruptcy, or which might be proved as a debt under any commission issued against him, shall not prove a debt under such commission, or have any claim entered on the proceedings under it, without relinquishing such action or suit, and all benefit from the same, and the proving or so claiming a debt under any commission by any creditor, shall be deemed an election to take the benefit of such commission with respect to such debt; provided such creditor shall not be liable to pay the costs of the bankrupt or his assignees in such action or suit; and provided, that where any such creditor has brought any action or suit against such bankrupt jointly with another person, his relinquishment of such action, &c. shall not affect such action, &c. against such other person, id. s. 14.

128. All persons who shall effect any policy of insurance upon ships, goods, or other effects, with any person as subscriber or underwriter who shall become bankrupt, shall be admitted to prove any loss, to which such bankrupt is liable in respect of his subscription, although the party effecting the policy is not the party beneficially interested in such ships, goods, &c.; provided the party really interested is not in that part of U.K. where the commission issued, under which such loss is to be proved, id. s. 16.

129. Any annuity creditor of any bankrupt, whether secured by bond or covenant, or bond and covenant, or however else, and whether there shall or shall not be or have been any arrears of such annuity at or before the bankruptcy, may prove under the commission as a creditor to the value thereof, which value such commissioners shall ascertain, and the certificate of every bankrupt, under whose commission such proof shall be or might have been made, shall be a discharge of such bankrupt from all demands in respect of such annuity, and the arrears and future payments thereof, in the same manner as such certificate would discharge all other debts proved under such commission, 49 G. 3. c. 121. s. 17.

130. In all cases where a commission of bankrupt shall be sued forth against any person who is entitled to any lease or agreement for a lease, and the assignees shall accept the same, and the benefit therefrom, as part of the bankrupt's estate and effects, the bankrupt shall not be deemed liable for the rent accruing due after such acceptance, or for the non-performance or non-observance of the covenants, &c. therein contained; provided that in all such cases the lessor or person agreeing to make such lease, his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns, if the assignees decline on being required so to do, to determine whether they will or will not so accept the same, may apply by petition to the lord chancellor, praying that they may either so accept or deliver up the lease, or agreement for a lease, and possession of the premises demised or intended to be demised, who shall make such order therein as shall seem just, and which shall bind all parties, id. s. 19.

131. For more effectually securing the payment of the debts of traders, 47 G. 3. S. 2. c. 74.

132. When any person, being at the time of his death a trader, within the meaning of the bankrupt laws, shall die seised of or entitled to any estate or interest in lands or hereditaments or other real estate which he shall not by his will have charged with or devised subject to the payment of his debts, and which would have been assets for the payment of specialty debts, in which the heirs were bound, the same shall be assets to be administered in courts of equity for the payment of both simple contract and specialty debts, and the heirs at law and devisees of such debtor shall be liable to all the same suits of all creditors, whether on simple contract or specialty as heretofore in case of creditors by specialty in which the heirs were bound; provided that in the administration of assets by courts of equity under this act, all creditors by specialty in which the heirs are bound, shall be paid their full debts before the simple contract creditors are paid any part of their debts, 47 G. 3. S. 2. c. 76. s. 1.

133. This act shall not repeal the 33 G. 2. [Tr.] c. 14., id. s. 2.

134. FOR PREVENTING inconveniences arising in cases of merchants and such other persons as are within the description of the statutes relating to bankrupts being entitled to privilege of parliament, and becoming insolvent, 4 G. 3. c. 35. [Am. 15 G. 3. c. 124. s. 1—2, 7—8.] [for the rest of this statute, see PARLIAMENT.] 52 G. 3. c. 144.

135. Any single creditor, or any two or more creditors being partners, whose debts shall amount to 100*l.* and upwards, or any two creditors whose debts amount to 150*l.* and upwards, or any three or more creditors whose debts amount to 200*l.* and upwards, of any person deemed a merchant, banker, broker, factor, scrivener, or trader within the description of the acts relating to bankrupts having privilege of parliament, may at any time, upon affidavit made and filed on record in any of H. M.'s courts at Westminster by such creditor or creditors, that such debt or debts is or are justly due to him or them respectively, and that he or they verily believe that such debtor, is such merchant, banker, &c. within the said acts, sue out of the same court summons or an original bill and summons against such merchant, banker, &c. and serve him with a copy thereof; and if such merchant, banker, &c. shall not within 2 months after personal service of such summons, [affidavits of the debt or debts being duly made and filed,] pay, or secure, or compound for such debt or debts to the satisfaction of such creditor or creditors, or enter into bond in such sum, with two such sureties, as any of the judges of the court whence such summons issued shall approve, to pay such sum as shall be recovered in such action, together with all costs therein given, he shall be deemed a bankrupt from the time of service of such summons, and any creditor may sue such commission against such person, and proceed thereon as against other bankrupts, id. s. 1.

136. If any such merchant, banker, &c. shall commit any act of bankruptcy, any creditor may sue out commission of bankrupt against him, and the commissioners may proceed in usual manner notwithstanding privilege of parliament, id. s. 3.

137. Nothing in this act shall subject any person entitled to the privilege of parliament to arrest during the time of such privilege, except in cases made felony by acts relating to bankrupts, id. s. 4.

138. When any summons, or original bill and summons shall be sued out against any person deemed a merchant, banker, &c. within the description of the acts relating to bankrupts having privilege of parliament, and such affidavit duly made and filed, and such bond entered into by such merchant, banker, &c. as in 4 G. 3. c. 35. s. 1. pl. 135. mentioned: such merchant, banker, &c. shall within 2 months after the personal service of such summons, cause an appearance to be entered to such action in the proper court, and on default shall be adjudged a bankrupt from time of the service of such summons, and the creditors may sue out a commission, and proceed thereon as in case of other bankrupts, 45 G. 3. c. 124. s. 1.

139. When any decree or order is pronounced in any cause depending in the courts of chancery or exchequer at Westminster, or any order is made in the matter of bankruptcy or lunacy against any person being a merchant, banker, broker, factor, scrivener, or trader, within the meaning of the statutes relating to bankrupts having privilege of parliament, thereby ordering such person to pay any money to any person, or into the bank in name of the accountant-general of the court of chancery in trust in any cause depending there, or in the matter of such bankruptcy or lunacy, or to the deputy remembrancer of the exchequer, in trust as aforesaid, and such order is disobeyed, the same having been duly served, then the party interested in enforcing the payment of such money, may apply to the court where such decree or order was pronounced, or in the matter of such bankruptcy or lunacy, to fix a pre-emptory day for payment of such money pursuant to the terms of such order or decree, and such day shall be appointed accordingly by an order made in such cause, and if such merchant, banker, &c. having privilege of parliament, being personally served with such order eight days before the day appointed for payment of such money, shall neglect to pay the same, he shall be deemed a bankrupt from the time of the service of such last mentioned order, and the creditors may sue out a commission and proceed thereon as against other bankrupts, id. s. 7.

140. Provided that this act shall not subject any person entitled to privilege of parliament to be arrested during term of such privilege, but such persons shall continue to be exempt, as if this act had not been made, id. s. 8.

141. Whenever a commission of bankruptcy shall be awarded against a member of the house of commons, and under which he shall be declared bankrupt, such member shall be and remain during 12 calendar months, from the time of issuing of such commission, incapable of sitting and voting in the house of commons, unless within such period such commission is superseded, or the creditors proving under same are paid in full all their debts; provided that debts disputed by such bankrupt shall be considered for the purposes of this act paid, if he shall within such time enter into bond with two sureties, to be approved by the commissioners under the commission, to pay such sums as shall be recovered in any proceeding at law or in equity concerning such debt, together with such costs as may be given in the same, 52 G. 3. c. 144. s. 1.

142. If such commission shall not be superseded within such time, or the debts so satisfied as in s. 1., then the commissioners, or the major part of them, named in such commission, shall immediately after the expiration of such time, certify the same to the speaker of the house of commons, and thereupon the election of such member shall be void, and such speaker during any recess, whether by prorogation or adjournment, immediately on receiving the same, shall cause notice to be given in The London Gazette, and in 14 days after insertion of such notice therein, shall issue his warrant to the clerks of the crown, to make out a new writ for electing another member in room of such as shall so vacate his seat; provided that such speaker shall not issue his warrant for such purposes unless such certificate shall have been delivered to him so long before the next meeting of the house for dispatch of business, as that the writ for the election may issue before the day of such next meeting of the house, id. s. 2.

143. Provisions of the 24 G. 3., sess. 2. c. 26., concerning the issuing of writs for elections during the vacancy of the office of speaker, or his absence out of the realm, shall be extended to this act, id. s. 3.

144. TO REPEAL SO MUCH OF 5 G. 2. c. 30. s. 26. as requires the meetings of the commissioners of bankrupt, to be holden in the Guildhall of the city of London, and for building offices in the said city, for the meetings of the commissioners, and for the more regular transaction of business in bankruptcy, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 95. Public clause, s. 22.

145. After recital of the appointment of William Courtenay, Stephen R. Lushington, Matthew Wood, Thomas Wilson, and Henry Wrottesley, esquires, by H. M. to be trustees to treat for the purchase of land, and to erect the buildings wherein the commissioners of bankrupts are to meet, and of the agreement made between them and the city of London, and of the provision in 8 G. 2. c. 30. s. 26. such provision is Rev. (id. s. 1.) but shall nevertheless continue in force until notice signed by the chancellor is inserted in the London Gazette, that such buildings are completed, and shall be called, "The Court of Commissioners of Bankrupts," (id. s. 2.) and from the time fixed in such notice, all public meetings under commissions of bankrupt in London, and all places in the bills of mortality, as well there fixed by such commissioners, as also all meetings of creditors under commissions which are held in pursuance of advertisement, shall be holden within the buildings referred to in such notice, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 95. s. 3.

146. The said ground, and all the buildings thereon, shall be vested in the said William Courtenay, &c. their heirs and assigns for ever, in trust for H. M., and that such ground and buildings may be applied to the purposes of this act, subject to such regulations as to the occupation thereof as the chancellor shall direct, id. s. 4.

147. When the said William Courtenay, &c. or any future trustee to be appointed as herein directed, shall die, or be desirous to be discharged from, or be incapable to act as a trustee under this act, and when the number of such trustees is reduced to three, the chancellor, by writing under his hand, may appoint another person in their stead, id. s. 5.

148. On such new appointment, such ground and buildings shall be conveyed so as to become legally vested in the surviving and new appointed trustees, or the new ones only, if no survivors, and their heirs and assigns for ever, upon the trusts in s. 4. pl. 146., declared, and such new trustees shall have all the same powers as those in whose places they are appointed to act, (id. s. 6.) such contract and purchase so made as in the recital to s. 1. pl. 145. mentioned, confirmed, (id. s. 7.) the expenses attending the erection of the buildings, the purchase of the land, &c. to be paid by the trustees out of the money advanced by the treasury to them, (id. s. 8.) and such trustees shall have, (subject to the regulations of the chancellor,) the direction of such buildings, for the occupation thereof, and for keeping the same in repair, and insured from loss by fire, (id. s. 9.) and such buildings shall not be occupied as a residence, except by a registrar and housekeeper, and shall be used only for the said public purposes, id. s. 10.

149. The lord chancellor may appoint a proper person to the office of registrar of the meetings of the commissioners of bankrupts, who shall be resident in such part of the buildings as the commissioners shall direct, and who shall also have an office in some convenient public part of the said buildings, and whose duty it shall be to attend in his office from 10 till 4 in the afternoon, and also during the setting of any commission of bankrupt, or the continuance of any meeting in bankruptcy holden in any part of such building, and during such other times as the lord chancellor shall direct, and such registrar shall keep a daily journal and registry of meetings in bankruptcy holden within such buildings, in which he shall enter the names of the bankrupt, the solicitor to the commission, the messenger, and number of the list of the commissions to which the commission is directed, and the names of the assignees, the hours of meeting, and the time to which any such meeting is adjourned, and a minute of the nature or purpose for which such meeting was held, and the amount of any dividend declared thereat, and the solicitor or clerk to the commission shall furnish the necessary information in writing, and the registrar shall also keep a book containing an entry or notice of all meetings which are appointed by public advertisement, either of the commissioners or creditors, which book shall be kept open in the office of the said registrar for public inspection during office hours without fee, and he shall also receive all fees and payments made payable under this act, and when such fees shall amount to 100*l.*, he shall pay the same into the bank of Eng. under an order of the court of chancery, in the name of the accountant-general, to an account entitled "Fund arising from fees in bankruptcy," to be invested in the 3 per cents in the name of the accountant-general with all accumulations thereof, to be carried to the like account, and such registrar shall, when required by the chancellor, or any two of the said trustees, render an account of his receipts and payments and money actually in his hands; and once yearly, between 5th April and 5th July (without being required) give a just account of all monies received and paid by him during the year, which account shall be audited and settled by the chancellor or his nominee, id. s. 11.

150. Such registrar shall, before he acts in execution of his office, give security to the satisfaction of the court for his duly accounting for, and paying over to the accountant-general monies received by him, and shall take and subscribe in open court the oaths of supremacy and abjuration, and also an oath for the faithful execution of this office, id. s. 12. [See the form in the act itself, which it was not deemed necessary to insert here.]

151. The lord chancellor may appoint a proper person to be housekeeper who shall reside in the buildings, id. s. 13.; and may remove the said registrar and housekeeper, when, by permanent sickness, misconduct, or other cause, he or she shall be deemed incompetent to discharge the duties of the office, id. s. 14.

152. There shall be paid to the said registrar a salary of 200*l.*, and to the housekeeper 50*l.* per year, and also a further sum of 50*l.* towards the expenses of a servant, besides coals and candles, id. s. 15.

153. There shall be taken from the bankrupt's estate the following fees, viz. for each meeting under each commission holden within such buildings by way of fee 10*s.*, and to the registrar for each such meeting 1*s.*, and for every search out of office hours made in such registry, unless by or by the order of the commissioners, 1*s.*, to be paid by the party searching, which fee of 10*s.* shall be received and accounted for by the registrar under this act, and he in full satisfaction for the use of such buildings, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 95. s. 16.

154. No meeting of the commissioners or creditors called by public advertisements under any commission of bankrupt, shall be held within the city of London except in such buildings, unless otherwise specially directed in writing by the major part of the commissioners named in such commission, id. s. 17.

155. How the money to be received under this act shall be applied, id. s. 18.; and in case the fees hereby directed are found insufficient to their purposes, the chancellor may increase them to any sum not exceeding 20*s.* for each meeting, id. s. 19.; and when the expenses under this act have been repaid, the fees shall be reduced, id. s. 20.

156. The commissioners acting under any commission of bankrupt may direct the messenger acting under their authority, to take into custody any person who shall be guilty of any riot or disturbance, or who shall interrupt the said commissioners in the exercise of their duty, and have such person taken before any alderman, or magistrate acting in the commission of the peace, to be dealt with according to law, and the warrant of such commissioners shall be a full indemnity to the messenger for so doing, id. s. 21.

BARRACKS.

(STATUTES repealed, expired, &c.)

1. FOR VESTING in barrackmaster-general estates held for barrack-service, with power to sell the same with consent of treasury, 45 G. 3. c. 69. [R.L.F. virtually by 48 G. 3. c. 122., and 57 G. 3. c. 9.]

2. FOR VESTING all estates and property occupied for barrack-service, in the commissioners for the affairs of barracks, and for granting them certain powers, 48 G. 3. c. 122. [R.L.F. virtually, 58 G. 3. c. 9. s. 1.]

1. FOR INVESTING certain commissioners appointed for examination of accounts, and expenditure relating to the office of barrackmaster-general, with necessary powers for that purpose, 47 G. 3. S. 1. c. 15. [Am. 48 G. 3. c. 89.]

2. Recital, that two commissioners were appointed by H. M.'s warrant of 18th Sept. 1806, to enquire into expenditure of money received by O. de Lancy, as superintendent-general of barracks, or as barrackmaster-general, or for service of barrack department, or by other person on his account, and to state all accounts relating to said receipt or expenditure, and to enquire into all contracts for building stores, &c. for such service, with the reasons why they were not performed, and to examine warrants and vouchers produced to verify such accounts; the commissioners so named shall meet in such places within the U.K. as they think fit, with or without adjournment; and persons shall attend them with all necessary books, papers, &c. or records, at the times and places appointed by their precept; the commissioners allowing them reasonable costs at their discretion, id. s. 1.

3. They shall take oath before chancellor of exchequer, or master of the rolls, for faithful execution of their powers, previous to exercising them, id. s. 5. [Where the form of oath is added.]

4. They may examine all persons summoned, as in s. 1., on oath or affirmation, administered by any one of them, id. s. 2.

5. Persons so summoned refusing to appear or to be sworn, or affirm, to answer questions, or produce any accounts, books, papers, writings, or records in their possession, relating to the subjects of the commissioner's inquiry, may be fined at discretion of court of exchequer, on application to the court by the commissioners or attorney-general, id. s. 3.

6. Prisoners in any prison of U.K. may be brought up by habeas corpus, awarded by judge of K.B. C.P. or baron of exchequer of the coif, to appear before the commissioners for examination, id. s. 4.

7. Persons wilfully giving false evidence before commissioners on oath or affirmation, are subject to the punishments of perjury, id. s. 6.

8. H. M. may appoint any person, not an M.P., to supply a vacancy in the above commission, and all powers of the act are vested in him after taking the oath of office appointed in s. 5., id. s. 7.

9. Commissioners shall have all the powers as to the examination of and control over accounts, and as to public and sub-accountants with which commissioners for auditing public accounts are invested, by 25 G. 3. c. 52., 39 G. 3. c. 83., 45 G. 3. c. 55., 46 G. 3. c. 111., 47 G. 3. s. 2. c. 39., 48 G. 3. c. 89. s. 3., but shall not present for declaration any account of a public or sub-accountant, or person set in super, or other person examined by them, 48 G. 3. c. 93. s. 5.

10. The commissioners from time to time, as the examination of the account is completed, shall transmit to the treasury a statement specifying the articles in charge, and discharge thereof, and the sums disallowed by them therein; and the treasury (if they approve the statement of such account,) shall transmit them to the "commissioners of public accounts," with their warrant to the latter to prepare same for declaration; who shall thereupon so make up the same, without further examination, unless it be thought necessary by them; in which case they must report their opinion to the treasury, and proceed in such examination; and shall set sums in super, which ought to be so set on the persons specified in such statements, or in the treasury warrant accompanying them, unless on further examination, as above, it appear to them that they ought not to be so set; and shall do all acts for declaration of such accounts, and for putting in charge all persons liable thereto, as public or sub-accountants, in order to secure the sums due to H. M. thereon, as if the said accounts had been originally examined, and statements thereof made by them, 48 G.3. c.89. s.1.

11. When it appears to the barrack-commissioners appointed under 47 G.3. S.1. c.13., that any persons ought to account for public money or stores, the commissioners shall transmit their names to the treasury, with the reasons for their opinion, that they should be made public accountants, and (if the treasury agree thereto,) they shall issue their warrant to the commissioners, or to commissioners for auditing public accounts, to require such persons to deliver their accounts regularly attended, within reasonable time limited, as if they had been returned in super, in any account declared before H. M.'s chancellor of exchequer, and commissioners shall proceed to examine and transmit such accounts as in s.1., id. s.2.

12. Actions against commissioners or other persons for any thing done under this act, must be within six calendar months; general issue may be pleaded, and the act and special matter given in evidence; if plaintiff is nonsuited, suffers discontinuance, or if there is judgment for defendant, the latter has treble costs, 47 G.3. S.1. c.13. s.8.

13. FOR VESTING ALL estates and property occupied for barrack service, in the comptroller of the barrack department, and for granting him certain powers, 57 G.3. c.9.

14. All messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, except copyholds, vested in barrack commissioners by 48 G.3. c.122. and all other such premises since purchased, or to be purchased or built for or by the comptroller of the barrack department, shall be vested in such comptroller, and his successor in constant succession, in trust for H. M., for the public service, 57 G.3. c.2. s.1. (and see old regulation, 48 G.3. c.122. s.1., 45 G.3. c.69. s.1.)

15. Premises are so vested, on the same terms as which they are now held, 57 G.3. c.9. s.2. (See old regulation, 48 G.3. c.122. s.2.)

16. Comptroller with consent of treasury, certified by hand-writing of one of their secretaries may sell or let any such premises, either by public auction or private contract, and do any other act in relation to them which shall be deemed beneficial to public service, and no contract shall be impeached, on account of no offer having been first made to owner of adjacent lands, 57 G.3. c.9. s.2. (See REP. regulations, 48 G.3. c.122. s.3., and 45 G.3. c.69. s.2.)

17. Purchase money of such premises shall be paid by purchaser to bank of Eng., and there placed to the account of the existing comptroller, or under other directions of treasury, and the receipt of any cashier of the bank shall be a sufficient discharge, 57 G.3. c.9. s.3. (and see 48 G.3. c.122. s.4., 45 G.3. c.69. s.3.)

18. The comptroller, styled, "The comptroller of the barrack department," may bring or defend actions in relation to such premises, or stores, &c. goods and chattels belonging thereto, or for any breach of contract made for barrack service, or relating to any of the affairs under his management, which shall not abate by his death, resignation, or removal, 57 G.3. c.9. s.4. (See 48 G.3. c.122. s.5. REP.)

19. The comptroller, deputy-comptroller, or assistant inspector-general of barracks, or any justice or magistrate, may administer oaths, and take affidavits to verify accounts and other matters relating to that department, 57 G.3. c.9. s.5. [See old regulation, 48 G.3. c.122. s.6.]

20. Money standing in name of comptroller at his death, resignation, or removal, shall rest in the comptroller for the time being, and after appointment of another comptroller in the latter, and so in succession, 57 G.3. c.9. s.6. [See old regulation, 48 G.3. c.122. s.7.]

21. Letters and packets addressed to comptroller of barrack department, on business relating to his office, or sent by him, or his deputy on such business, shall be free from postage, letter being under cover, with, "pursuant to act of parliament," and "barrack office," printed on same, with the name of the comptroller, his deputy, or other appointee, whose nomination for this purpose shall be certified to post-office, written under same, 57 G.3. c.9. s.7.

22. Every such comptroller, deputy, or clerk, sending under any of such covers, any writing, &c. not relating to the duties of the department, shall forfeit 100*l.* with full costs, to any person suing by action of debt, &c. or information in the courts at Westminster, without excoise, &c. or more than one impleading allowed, one moiety to go to informer, and the other to H. M., id. s.8.

23. Bodies politic or corporate, cofferies and trustees, for charitable, or other purposes, tenants for life, and in tail, husbands, guardians, trustees, attorneys, &c. or infants, lunatics, femes covert, &c. or other persons otherwise disabled to convey, may convey any lands, &c. to the comptroller, or contract for enfranchisement of copyhold, sale of reversions, grants of leases, &c., 57 G.3. c.9. s.9.

24. Purchase money shall be paid into the hands, or in the name of the deputy remembrancer of exchequer for the benefit of the owners of lands, thus under disability, &c. and shall be by him signed and certified to the barons of exchequer; which certificate shall be filed of record in the three courts of exchequer in Westminster, Edinburgh, and Dublin, and a true copy thereof, signed by the deputy remembrancer, shall be evidence for the purposes in s.11.; the money shall be paid by the deputy remembrancer into the banks of Eng., Scot., or Ire., as the case requires; and on filing his certificate, the lands, &c. are vested in the comptroller for H. M.'s use, id. s.10.

25. One or more of the barons of exchequer in Westminster, Edinburgh, or Dublin, of the degree of the coif, on reading the certificate directed in s.10. and receiving any further satisfaction deemed necessary, and on motion on behalf of the parties interested, may make orders for the application of the principal and interest of such purchase money, either by paying the same or part thereof to them, or by placing it in the funds, or on government or real securities, or for paying the dividends or interest thereof, or for laying out the principal in other lands, to be settled to the same uses, to which the sold property stood settled, at the payment of the purchase money and otherwise concerning the disposal of such money, and its interest for benefit of the parties, or appointing trustees for any such purposes, id. s.11.

26. On death or removal of such deputy remembrancer, all such stocks and securities vested in him, shall vest in his successor, without assignment or transfer, and all monies received as in s.10. pl. 24. shall be paid over to the latter, id. s.12.

27. The powers hereby given to the deputy remembrancer shall vest in H. M.'s remembrancer executing the office in person, id. s.13.

BASTARD.

(STATUTE repealed.)

1. TO PREVENT THE destroying and murdering of bastard children, 21 J.1. c.27. [REP. 43 G.3. c.58. s.5. which see FELONY.]

(STATUTES in force.)

1. HE IS a bastard who is born before the marriage of his parents, 20 H.3. c.9.

2. To the kings writ of bastardy, the bishops sought that one born before, as well as one after matrimony, should be legitimate, and the nobles answered they would not change the laws of the realm, 20 H.3. c.9.

3. PROCLAMATIONS before a writ be awarded to the bishop to testify bastardy, 9 H.6. c.11. (and s.1, 2.)

4. Where any plea shall be depending in which bastardy shall be alleged against any person party to the same, and thereupon an issue joined, which by law is to be certified by the ordinary, the judges where such plea is depending, before any writ of certificate pass out of the same court to the ordinary, shall make out a remembrance under their seals at the suit of the demandant, tenant, plaintiff, or defendant, reciting such issue so joined, and certifying to the chancellor that thereupon proclamation be made in the chancery by three months once in every month, that persons pretending any interest to object against the mulier may sue to the ordinary to whom writ of certificate shall be directed, to make their allegations and objections as the law of the church requireth; and such chancellor having notice of such remembrance and issue joined, and on request of the demandant or tenant, plaintiff or defendant, shall make such proclamation, and shall certify the same to the court where such plea is depending, and the judges of such court before proclamation made in the chancery shall make one like proclamation openly in court, and again after writ of proclamation returned by the chancellor, and shall then award such writ of certificate to certify on the issue joined, and if any writ of certificate be made or granted before all such proclamations made and certified, then such writ and the certificate of the ordinary thereupon shall be void, 9 H.6. c.11.

5. FOR SETTING the poor on to work and to avoid idleness, 18 EL. c.3. [CON. 3 C.1. c.4., and indefinitely, 16 C.1. c.4. AND. 13 & 14 C.2. c.12. ss.19—20. 6 G.2. c.31. s.4. The law of bastardy EXPL. and AND. 3 C.1. c.4. s.15., 49 G.3. c.68., 54 G.3. c.170. s.8.] [and see 50 G.3. c.51., and as to the legal settlements of bastards born in workhouses, 20 G.3. c.36. tit. POOR.]

6. Two justices of peace, whereof one is of the quorum, in the parish where any bastard is born, on examination of the cause may make order in their discretion, as well to punish the mother and reputed father as for the relief of the parish, and may make order for the keeping of such bastard, by charging such mother or father with the payment of money

weekly, or other sustentation for the child, and if after notice of such order by them subscribed the mother or reputed father shall not observe the same, they may be committed to the common gaol without bail, except they give surety to perform such order, or else personally to appear at the next general sessions and to abide the order there made, if any is made, and if not to abide the order before made, 18 El. c. 3.

7. All justices of peace within their several limits, and in their sessions, may do and execute all things concerning, 18 El. c. 3. that by justices in the several counties are by such act limited to be done, 3 C. 1. c. 4. s. 15.

8. THE CHURCHWARDENS and overseers of the poor of any parish where any bastard child is born, may seize so much of the goods and chattels, and of the annual rents and profits of the lands of the putative father and lewd mother as may be ordered by any two justices towards the discharge of the parish, to be confirmed at sessions for the bringing up and providing for such child, and the sessions may order such goods to be sold, and the profits of such lands to be received, or so much thereof as they think fit, by such churchwardens, &c. 13 & 14 C. 2. c. 12. s. 19. (Qu. Rep.)

9. Persons sued for any thing done under this act may plead the general issue, and if a verdict shall pass for the defendant, or if the plaintiff is nonsuited or discontinues, the defendants shall have treble costs, id. s. 20. [for rest of this act, see POOR, VAGRANT.]

10. No justice of peace shall send for any woman in order to examine her concerning her pregnancy, or compel any woman to answer questions concerning the same before she has been delivered, and one month after, 6 G. 2. c. 31. s. 4.

11. Every person who shall be adjudged the reputed father of any bastard child shall be chargeable with the payment of all reasonable charges incident to the birth of such child, and also to all costs of his own apprehension and of the order of filiation, which costs shall not exceed 10*l.*, and all such charges and costs shall be ascertained on oath before the quarter sessions making the order of filiation, 49 G. 3. c. 68. s. 1.

12. If any single woman shall declare herself with child, and that such child is likely to be born a bastard, and to be chargeable to any parish or extra-parochial place, and shall, in an examination to be taken in writing on oath before any justice of any county, or place wherein such parish, &c. shall lie, charge any person with having gotten her with child, such justice, on application made by any substantial householder of such extra-parochial place, or the overseer of the poor of such parish, may issue out his warrant for the apprehension of the person so charged, and for bringing him before such justice or any other justice of such county or place, and such justice shall commit such person to the common gaol or house of correction of the county or place, unless he give security to indemnify such parish or place, or enter into a recognizance with sufficient surety to appear at the next general or quarter sessions for such county or place, to abide and perform such order as shall then be made in pursuance of 18 El. c. 3. unless one such justice shall have certified in writing under his hand to such sessions that it hath been proved by oath of one witness that such single woman has not been delivered, or had been delivered within one month only previous to the day on which such sessions shall be holden, or unless two justices for such county or place shall have certified under their hands to the next, or where such woman has not been delivered as aforesaid, then to the next subsequent sessions, that an order of filiation had been already made, or that such order was not requisite on account of the death of such child, or other good reason, in each of which cases partly mentioned, such justices at such sessions may respite such recognizance to the next subsequent sessions, without requiring the personal attendance of the putative father so bound, or that of his surety, or in either of such two last mentioned cases, they may wholly discharge such recognizance, id. s. 2.

13. If any reputed father or any mother of any bastard on whom any order of filiation or maintenance shall have been made by the quarter sessions, or which has been made by two justices and confirmed at quarter sessions, or against which no appeal shall have been made to the sessions, shall neglect to pay any sum which he or she have been ordered to pay towards the maintenance and relief of any such child, any justice for the county or place in which such reputed father or mother shall happen to be, shall, on complaint made to him by one of the overseers of the poor of any parish liable to the maintenance of such bastard, or where such bastard shall then be, on proof on oath of such order and of such sum being unpaid, and of a demand of payment having been made and a refusal to pay, or that such father or mother hath left his or her abode and hath avoided such demand, issue his warrant to apprehend such father or mother, and to bring him or her before such justice or any other justice for the same county or place to answer such complaint, and if such father or mother shall not pay such sum as shall appear to such justice to be due, or shall not show good cause to the contrary, such justice shall commit him or her to the house of correction or the county gaol, there to be kept to hard labour for three months, unless such reputed father or mother shall, before the expiration of such three months, pay to one of the overseers of such parish the sum so due, and so from time to time as often as such father or mother shall neglect to pay any sum so ordered to be paid by such order, 49 G. 3. c. 68. s. 3.

14. All such expences and costs shall be wholly subject to the discretion of the justices or the quarter sessions making the order of filiation, who may order payment of the whole or part thereof; provided that the costs of apprehending the reputed father and of the order of filiation shall not exceed 10*l.* and for securing the payment of the same the provisions of 18 El. c. 3. shall be applied and put in execution, id. s. 4.

15. All persons aggrieved by any order of such justices under this act not originating in the quarter sessions, may appeal to the quarter sessions holden for the county where such order shall be made, on giving ten days' notice to the overseers of poor, on whose behalf the same was made of his intention so to do, and the cause thereof, and entering into recognizance, within three days after such notice, before a justice for such county or place, with surety conditioned to try such appeal, and abide the judgment and order, and pay such costs as shall be awarded by such sessions, which justices at their sessions shall, on proof of such notice given and recognizance entered into, determine such appeal, and give such relief and costs to the appellor and appellee as they judge meet, and which judgment and order shall be binding and conclusive, id. s. 5.

16. So much of 6 G. 2. c. 31. (viz.) ss. 1, 2, 3. as authorizes justices to commit reputed fathers before the birth of the bastard, shall be Rep., id. s. 6.

17. No appeal in any case relating to bastardy shall be brought or heard at the quarter sessions, unless such notice is given, and recognizance is entered into as aforesaid, id. s. 7.

18. All securities to be given or received for indemnifying any parish or place for the maintenance of any bastard, or any expences occasioned by such parish or place by reason of the birth or support of any bastard born within the same, shall be vested in the overseers of the poor thereof for the time being, and such overseers may sue for the same by their description of overseers, and any such action shall not abate by reason of any change of overseers pending the same, but the same may be proceeded in by such overseers for the time being as if no change had taken place, 54 G. 5. c. 170. s. 8.

19. THE PUNISHMENT of lewd women who have bastards, 7 J. 1. c. 4. s. 7. [Rev. and other provisions made, 50 G. 3. c. 57. s. 1.] [For the rest of 7 J. 1. c. 4., see VAGRANT.]

20. When a woman shall have a bastard child, which may be chargeable to the parish, two justices, before whom she may be brought, may commit her to the house of correction for not exceeding 12 calendar months, or less than six weeks, 50 G. 3. c. 51. s. 2.

21. Two justices at any petty session, for the division in which such parish is situated, upon their own knowledge, or a certificate duly authenticated from the keeper of the house of correction in which such woman shall have been confined for not less than six weeks, of her good behaviour, and of the expectation of her reformation, by warrant under hand and seal, may order such woman at the time in the warrant limited, to be discharged, id. s. 3. Nothing herein shall authorise any justices to commit any such woman to the house of correction, until she has been delivered for one calendar month, id. s. 4.

BEER AND ALE.

8. ALE brewers may bring their ale to the household of the king, queen, and princes, and to all archbishops, dukes, and other great men, in tuns, butts, pipes, hogsheds, or other vessels of larger quantity than in this act expressed; and all brewers may bring their ale to other men's houses in barrels, &c. bearing their true contents, 23 H.8. c.4. s.14., see rest of this act, Cooper.

9. FOR THE TRUE gauging of vessels brought from beyond the seas, converted by brewers for the utterance of beer and ale, 31 El. c.8. [Con. 3 C.1. c.4. s.19., and indefinitely, 16 C.1. c.4.]

10. No brewer shall put to sale any beer or ale in vessels brought from beyond seas, within the city of London or two miles thereof, before such vessels be lawfully gauged, and the true content set down on the same, by the beer and ale gallon, according to the standard by the master and wardens of the art of coopers of the city of London, or their deputies; nor shall sell any beer or ale in any such vessel in any other place in Eng. and W., before they are lawfully gauged, and the true content set down by the gallon thereon, by such as are appointed for that purpose, by 23 H.8. c.4., on pain to forfeit all such vessels wherein any beer or ale is put to sale contrary hereto, and the beer and ale therein to him that will seize the same, and 10*s.* for each such vessel, one moiety of which shall go to H. M. and the other to the informer suing by action of debt, &c. or information or otherwise, wherein no essoin shall be allowed, and there shall be paid to such master and wardens for gauging such vessels within the city of London, and such limits for each butt and pipe 1*d.*, for each puncheon, hogshend, and tierce one half-penny, and for each other vessel brought from beyond seas, wherein beer or ale is put to sale within such limits after the like rates, and there shall be taken for gauging such vessels without such limits, by the persons by 23 H.8. c.4. appointed, the same as those imposed above, id. s.1.

11. This act shall extend to English born and alien brewers, and every person hereby authorised to gauge any vessels may retain the same until the gauging money shall be paid, id. s.2.

12. The masters and wardens of coopers, or their deputies shall, within 48 hours after request made, come to any brewer's house within London and two miles compass thereof, where their casks are, and gauge and mark the same upon pain to forfeit 20*s.*, to be recovered by such party against the corporation of coopers by action of debt, in any court of record, id. s.3.

13. If any Scottish or any stranger shall bring from Scot. or beyond seas to such brewers, any foreign casks to be filled with beer, and will transport them to Scot., or beyond seas, then such brewer may fill the same without having them gauged or marked, and without incurring any penalty for the same, id. s.4.

14. NO BREWERS or retailers of beer or ale, shall take any more in the price thereof, on the sale of the same than the usual rates, saving that every common brewer shall take the excise due thereon over such prices, 12 C.2. c.24. s.35.

15. NO INNKEEPER or retailer of beer or ale shall be sued or impleaded for selling beer or ale at any other or higher prices than the prices heretofore limited and appointed, 1 W.&M. S.1. c.24. s.8., see 2 G.3. c.14. pl.31.

16. Brewers shall not make their own beer vessels, 23 H.8. c.4., see Cooper.

17. NO COMMON brewer, &c. shall use in brewing or working any beer or ale, any molasses, sugar, honey, or composition, or extract of sugar, upon penalty to forfeit all liquors wherein same is put, and 100*l.*, one moiety of such forfeitures to go to H. M., the other to the informer to be recovered by action of debt, &c. or information in the courts of record, wherein no essoin, &c. or more than one imparlance shall be allowed, so as such suit is commenced within six months after the forfeiture incurred, 1 W.&M. S.1. c.24. s.17., [see now 56 G.3. c.56. pl.54.]

18. FOR ASCERTAINING the measures for retail beer and ale, 11 & 12 W.3. c.15. [Am. 12 & 13 W.3. c.11. s.19.]

19. All innkeepers, alehouse-keepers, sutlers, victuallers, and other retailers of ale or beer, and all persons keeping any public-house and retailing beer or ale in any city, town, village, hamlet, or parish, or place within Eng., W., and Her., shall sell their ale and beer by a full ale quart or ale pint, according to the standard in the exchequer, or in proportion thereunto, in a vessel made of wood, earth, glass, horn, leather, or metal sized unto such standard, and stamped with its contents according to such standard, and shall not retail ale or beer in any other vessel on pain to forfeit from 10*s.* to 40*s.*, 11 & 12 W.3. c.15. s.1.

20. Every innkeeper, &c. who shall retail or sell any ale or beer in any vessel not so stamped, as in s.1., or who, in giving an account of his reckoning, shall refuse to give in the number of quarts or pints of ale or beer for which his demand is made, shall not, for default of reckoning being paid, detain any of the goods of such person from whom the same is due, but shall be left to his action at law for the same, 11 & 12 W.3. c.15. s.2.

21. The commissioners of excise shall provide an ale quart and pint, according to the standard in the exchequer, of brass, to be certified from the chamberlains of the exchequer, without fee, for the mayor or chief officer in each city, town, borough, and market-town, and shall deliver the same to such mayor or officer, who shall give a receipt for the same, to be by him safely kept, and on pain of default herein, such commissioners shall forfeit 5*l.* to be recovered as in s.6. pl.25. id. s.3.

22. The commissioners of excise may deduct from the money in their hands, the expences of providing such standard quarts, &c., id. s.4.

23. The mayor and chief officer of every city, &c. shall, on request, cause all such ale quarts and pints made of such material (as in s.1.) as shall be brought to him, to be measured with such standard and stamp the same with "W. R." and a crown, and shall be paid one farthing for each measure so stamped; and in case of neglect herein, shall forfeit 5*l.* to be recovered as in s.6. and shall also render to the party grieved his treble damages with costs to be sued for in the courts of record, wherein there shall be no protection, &c. or more than one imparlance, id. s.5.

24. All penalties hereby imposed shall go one half to the poor of the parish where the forfeiture is incurred, and the other to the informer, and shall be recovered upon oath of one witness, before one justice of the county or place, on prosecution within 50 days after the offence done, and such justice shall determine the same, and levy the penalty by warrant under his hand and seal, upon the goods of the offender, deducting from the overplus rendered to him reasonable costs, id. s.6.

25. This act shall not subject any person to any of such penalties, so as all such ale and beer as is sold by them to be spent out of the house is measured out by such standard, although such drink is carried away in another vessel, id. s.7.

26. Actions brought against any justice of peace, or persons employed by them, for any thing done under this act, shall be laid in the county where the act was done, and the defendant may plead the general issue, and give this act, and the special matter in evidence; and if a verdict is given for the defendant, or if the plaintiff is nonsuited, or discontinues, the defendant shall have treble costs, id. s.8.

27. The justices of peace at quarter sessions shall give this act in charge to the grand jury, id. s.9.

28. A saving for all colleges and halls of either of the universities of this kingdom, id. s.10.

29. The 11 & 12 W.3. c.15. shall not affect the right of the two universities for signing measures for ale or beer, 12 & 15 W.3. c.11. s.19.

30. TO PREVENT VEXATIOUS proceedings against brewers, victuallers and others, with respect to the prices of beer and ale, and for better securing the revenue on strong beer and ale, by preventing the mixing thereof, 2 G.3. c.14. [See 1 W.&M. c.24. s.8. pl.15.]

31. No brewer, innkeeper, victualler, or other retailer of strong beer, or ale, shall be sued or impleaded by indictment, information, action, or otherwise, for advancing the price of strong beer or ale in any reasonable degree, id. s.1.

32. Every brewer, &c. who shall mix or suffer to be mixed in any vessel, any strong beer, ale, or strong worts with any small beer, or small worts, or with water, after the excise officer has taken the gauge thereof, shall forfeit 50*l.*, id. s.2.

33. TO REPEAL 57 G.3. c.87. FOR ALLOWING the manufacture and use of a liquor prepared from sugar for colouring porter, 56 G.3. c.58.

34. The 51 G.3. c.87., and the duty on beer colouring imposed by 55 G.3. c.50. sched. A., tit. Licence, shall be REP., id. s.1.

35. No brewer or retailer of, or dealer in beer shall take into his custody or possession, or make, or use, or mix with, or put into any worts or beer any liquor extract, calx, or other material or preparation for darkening the colour thereof, other than brown malt, ground or unground, as commonly used in brewing: or shall take into or have in such custody, or use, mix with, or put into any worts or beer, any molasses, honey, liquorice, vitriol, quassia, coculus Indicus, grains of paradise, guinea pepper, opium, or any extract or preparation of molasses, &c., or any article or preparation soever, as a substitute for malt or hops, and if any such brewer, &c. shall so do, all such liquor extract, calx, molasses, &c., extract, or preparation soever, and all the worts and beer shall be forfeited, with the casks, vessels, and packages containing the same, and may be seized by any excise officer; and such brewer, dealer or retailer, shall, for every such offence, forfeit 200*l.*, id. s.2.

36. No druggist, or dealer in drugs, chemist, or other person, shall sell, send, or deliver, or cause or permit to be sold, &c. to any licensed brewer, or retailer of or dealer in beer, knowing him to be so licensed, or reputed so to be, or to any other person for, or on account of, or in trust for the use of any such brewer, &c. any liquor known by the name of or sold as colouring, from whatever materials made, or any other preparation other than unground brown malt, for darkening the colour of worts or beer, or any liquor or preparation as heretofore was, or hereafter shall be used for that purpose, or any molasses, &c. or extract or preparation thereof (as in s. 2.) or any article or preparation to be used in worts or beer, as a substitute for malt or hops respectively: and if any such druggist shall so do, all such colouring liquor and preparation used as a substitute for malt or hops, shall be forfeited, and may be seized by any excise officer, and the offender shall forfeit for each offence 500*l.* 1 W. & M. c. 24. s. 3.

37. All fines and penalties imposed by this act shall be sued for, recovered, or mitigated under the laws of excise, or by action of debt, &c. or information in any court at Westminster, or in exchequer in Scotland, and shall go one moiety to H. M., and the other to the person who shall inform or sue for the same, id. s. 4.

3. WHEN THE KING PRESENTETH to a benefice in another's right, his title shall be examined, 25 E. 3. st. 3. c. 3. CONF. and AMD. 13 R. 2. st. 1. c. 1. AMD. 4 H. 4. c. 22.

4. Whenever H. M. shall make collation or presentation to any benefice in another's right, his title shall be examined, and wherever before judgment given, the title be found untrue or unjust, the collation, &c. shall be repealed, and the patron who proved the false title shall have proper writs of it of chancery, 25 E. 3. st. 3. c. 3. s. 1.

5. If the king present to any benefice full of an incumbent, such presentee shall not be received by the ordinary until the king hath recovered his presentative by due process of the law in his own court; and if the king's presentee be otherwise received, and the incumbent put out without due process, such incumbent shall sue within a year after the induction of the king's presentee, 13 R. 2. st. 1. c. 1.

6. An incumbent ousted by the king's presentee without process, may begin his suit for the recovery of the benefice without the limitation of time, in 13 R. 2. st. 1. c. 18. contained, 4 H. 4. c. 22.

7. THE ORDINARY may counterplead the king's title for a benefice fallen by lapse, 25 E. 3. st. 3. c. 7.

8. When any archbishop, bishop, or other ordinary, has given a benefice of right devolute to him by lapse of time, and afterwards the king presents and takes suit against any patron which percase will suffer the king to recover without action tried in deceit of the ordinary, in such case, and in all other like cases where the king's right is not tried, the archbishop, &c. shall be received to counterplead the title of the king, and to have his answer, and show his right upon the matter, although he claim nothing in the patronage, 25 E. 3. st. 3. c. 7.

9. COGNIZANCE of the avoidance of benefices appertaineth to the ecclesiastical judge, 25 E. 3. st. 3. c. 8.

10. IN APPROPRIATION of benefices, provision shall be made for the poor and the vicar, 15 R. 2. c. 6. [CONF. and AMD. 4 H. 4. c. 12.] (See 1 Bla. Com. 384.)

11. In all licences made in chancery for the appropriation of any parish church, there shall be comprised, that the diocesan upon such appropriation shall ordain, according to the value of such church, a sum to be distributed yearly out of the fruits thereof, by those having such churches, to their proper use and their successors, to the poor of the said church for their sustenance for ever, and also that the vicar be sufficiently endowed, 15 R. 2. c. 6.

12. Appropriations made since 15 R. 2. c. 6. contrary thereto, if not reformed within the Easter next coming shall be void; exception for the church of Hadenham in the diocese of Ely, appropriated by license to the archdeacon of Ely and his successors to do divine service, there to keep hospitality and support other charges, 4 H. 4. c. 12.

13. All appropriations of vicarages, and the licenses thereof, since 1 R. 2. (although the owners thereof be in, or may come to possession thereof by such license,) shall also be void and disappropriated for ever, and on every appropriation a secular person shall be ordained vicar perpetual, canonically instituted and inducted in the same, and sufficiently endowed to do divine service, except the church of Hadenham in Ely, and no religious shall be made vicar in any church so to be appropriated, 4 H. 4. c. 12.

14. NO PROVISION or licence shall be granted for a benefice full of an incumbent, 7 H. 4. c. 8. on penalty of præmunire, 3 H. 5. st. 2. c. 4.

15. "Whereas it was ordained by 7 H. 4. c. 8. that no provision of the pope or any license of the king shall be available to any benefice full of an incumbent, and whereas such provisions and licenses have notwithstanding been granted," all incumbents of any benefices shall peaceably enjoy the same without molestation by colour of such provisions or licenses, and all licenses and pardons upon such provision shall be void, and all such grievous or molesters shall incur the pains of præmunire in 25 Ed. 3. st. 6. and 16 R. 2. c. 5. contained, and the party who shall sue such writ shall recover TREBLE damages on the conviction of the defendant, 3 H. 5. st. 2. c. 4.

16. ALIEN strangers shall not enjoy any benefice within this realm, 1 H. 5. c. 7.

17. "Whereas it was ordained in Rot. Parl. 1 R. 2. nu. 91. confirmed 13 R. 2. nu. 19. (not printed in the statute book) that no alien Frenchman should enjoy any benefice within this realm, and that when any priories, aliens conventual, or other benefice or office due by king's title shall be void, honest English persons should be put there," it is ordained that the said ordinances be firmly kept, except as to priors, aliens conventual, and also other persons having institution or induction, so that they be catholics, and find surety not to disclose the counsel or secrets of the realm, id. s. 1.

18. FOR RESTITUTION of the first fruits in time of vacation to the next incumbent, 25 H. 8. c. 11. (and ss. 1, 2.) [R.L.P. as to ss. 7, 8. 1 & 2 P. & M. c. 17. REF. 2 & 3 P. & M. c. 4. but REV. 1 El. c. 4. ss. 6, 24.]

19. The year for payment of first fruits shall begin and be accounted immediately after the avoidance of any benefice or spiritual promotions, and all tythes, fruits, oblations, obventions, and other profits belonging to any archdeaconry, parsonage, or other spiritual promotion, dignity or office, (chantries only excepted) within the king's dominion coming during the vacation of the same, shall belong to such person as shall be next presented, instituted, or admitted, and to his executors, towards payment of the first fruits, 28 H. 8. c. 11. s. 5.

20. If any archbishop, bishop, archdeacon or ordinary, shall take any tythes, obventions, &c. coming from any archdeaconry, &c. during its vacation, and doth not on request restore the same to the next incumbent, lawfully instituted, &c. or interrupt him to have the same, he shall forfeit treble the value of what he shall have so received, to go in moiety to the king and the incumbent, and to be recovered by action of debt, or information or otherwise, wherein no wager of law or essoign, &c. allowed, id. s. 4.

21. But such archbishop, &c. may retain so much of the tythes, obventions, &c. as shall amount to pay the person keeping the cure of such archdeaconry, &c. and also the collection of such tythes, &c. during the vacation, id. s. 5.

22. If any incumbent shall die, and before his death hath sowed his glebe lands with corn or grain, then he may make his will of the profits of such corn or grain, id. s. 6.

23. Every successor after the death of his predecessor, may, on one month's notice after induction, have the mansion house of such parsonage, vicarage, or other spiritual promotion, with the glebe belonging to the same not sown, for the maintenance of his household, deducting therefore his rent, id. s. 9.

24. If the fruits of the vacation be not sufficient to pay the curate's stipend for serving the cure during such vacation, it shall be paid by the next incumbent within 14 days after he has possession, id. s. 10.

25. FOR CONFIRMING and perpetuating augmentations made by ecclesiastical persons to small vicarages and curacies, 29 C. 2. c. 8. (and s. 1.)

26. Every augmentation reserved or made payable, &c. since 1st June, 12 C. 2. to any vicar or curate, or reserved by way of increase of rent to the lessors, but intended for the benefit of such vicar or curate, by any ecclesiastical person or persons out of any rectory impropriate or portion of tythes belonging to them, shall continue for ever, as well during the estate or term on which they are reserved as after its determination, and all such vicars or curates may have remedy for the same either by distress on the rectories, &c. or portions of tythes charged therewith, or by action of debt against the persons who should have paid the same, or his executors or administrators, any disability in the grantor or grantee, the statute of mortmain, or any other law or custom soever notwithstanding, id. s. 2.

27. No future augmentation shall be confirmed by this act, which shall exceed one moiety of the clear yearly value of the rectory impropriate out of which it is granted, id. s. 3.

28. Every archbishop, bishop, dean and chapter, shall cause all leases and grants of augmentation to be entered in a book of parchment to be kept by their registers, and every dean, &c. or other ecclesiastical person, shall cause every such deed of augmentation made by himself or his predecessors to be so entered, with a reasonable fee to the clerk not exceeding five shillings, which entry being examined by the archbishop, bishop or dean, and attested by them in the book as a true copy, and that the augmentation thereof was intended for such use, shall be a record, and attested copies thereof shall be good evidence for such vicars and curates, 29 C. 2. c. 8. s. 4.

29. Where any ecclesiastical person on renewal of any lease or estate has made any agreement for augmentation for the vicar or curate, he shall cause the substance thereof to be entered, as in s. 4, id. s. 5.

30. Such augmentation so entered shall continue for ever valid as if reserved by the lease, id. s. 6.

31. In any question arising on this act, the vicars and curates shall be entitled to the like favourable constructions and remedies as on the statutes for charitable uses, id. s. 7.

32. Any new lease of the premises on which such augmentation hath been granted, made without express continuance thereof, shall be void, id. s. 8.

33. Saving for leases of the parsonages of Stanton, in Notts, and Eccall, in Cornwall, id. ss. 9, 10.

34. TO PROMOTE THE RESIDENCE OF THE PAROCHIAL CLERGY by making provision for the more speedy and effectual building, repairing, or purchasing houses and other necessary buildings and tenements for the use of their benefices, 17 G. 3. c. 55. [commonly called Gilbert's act.] EXT. and AMD. 21 G. 3. c. 66. [See further, 55 G. 3. c. 147. post. this title.]

35. Whenever the parson, vicar, or other incumbent of any ecclesiastical living, parochial benefice, chapelry, or perpetual curacy, under the jurisdiction of the bishop or other ecclesiastical ordinary, whereon there is no house of habitation, or such house is become so ruinous, or is so mean that one year's neat income and produce of such living will not be sufficient to build, rebuild, or put the same, with the offices in sufficient repair, shall think fit to apply for the aid given by this act; such parson, &c. after having procured, from some workman, a certificate containing a state of the condition of the buildings on their glebes, and of the value of the timber and other materials thereupon, fit to be employed in such buildings or repairs, or to be sold, and also a plan and estimate of the work proposed to be done, (such state to be verified upon oath before some justice of peace or master in chancery), and laid the same, together with a particular account in writing, signed by him, and verified on oath, of the annual profits of such living, before the ordinary and patron, and obtained their consent to such proposed new buildings or repairs, by writing, under their hands, in the form in the schedule, to borrow at interest such money as the estimate shall amount unto, after deducting the value of timber or materials proper to be sold, not exceeding two years' neat income and produce of such living, after deducting all rents, stipends, taxes, and other out-goings, excepting only the salaries to the assistant curate, where such a curate is necessary; and as a security for the money borrowed, to mortgage the glebe, tythes, rents, and other profits and emoluments arising from such living, to such person who shall advance the same, by deeds, for 25 years, or until the money borrowed, with interest and such costs as may attend the recovery thereof, shall be fully paid, according to this act; which mortgage deed shall be made in the forms in the schedule, and shall bind every succeeding parson, &c. until the principal, interest, and costs are paid off, id. s. 1.

36. Such mortgagee shall execute a counterpart of such mortgage, to be kept by the incumbent, and a copy of every mortgage shall be registered in the office of the registrar of the bishop of the diocese, or other ordinary having episcopal jurisdiction, after having been first examined by him with the original; which officer shall register the same, and be entitled to demand and receive 5s. for such register; and such deed shall be referred to upon all occasions, the person inspecting the same paying 1s. for every search; and the said deed, or a copy thereof, certified under the hand of the registrar, shall be allowed as evidence, in case such mortgage deed shall be lost or destroyed, id. s. 2.

37. Whenever the principal and interest, directed to be paid to the mortgagee under this act, shall be in arrear forty days after due, such mortgagee may recover the same, and costs, by distress and sale, in such manner as rents may be recovered by landlords from their tenants, id. s. 3.

38. The money borrowed shall be paid to a person nominated to receive and apply the same for the purposes aforesaid, by the ordinary, patron, and incumbent, by writing under their hands, in the form in schedule, after such nominee has given a bond to the ordinary, with surety, in double the sum borrowed, conditioned for his duly applying and accounting for same according to this act; and his receipt shall be a discharge to the person advancing the money; and the nominee shall enter into contracts with proper persons for buildings or repairs approved by the ordinary, patron, and incumbent, and specified in an instrument written on parchment and signed by them, in the form in the schedule, and inspect and have the care of the execution of such contracts, and he money for such buildings and repairs according to such agreements, and shall take proper receipts and vouchers for the same; and as soon as such buildings or repairs shall be completed, and the money paid, shall make out an account of his receipts and payments, together with the vouchers for the same, and enter them in a book, fairly written, which shall be signed by him, and laid before the ordinary, patron, and incumbent, and examined by them; and when allowed, by writing under their hands, in the form in schedule, such allowance shall be a discharge to the person nominated, in respect to the said accounts; but if any balance shall remain in the hands of such nominee, the same shall be laid out in some further lasting improvements in building upon such glebe, or shall be paid in discharge of the principal debt, at the discretion of the ordinary, patron, and incumbent, or two of them, of which the ordinary to be one, by order signed by them, in the form in the schedule; and an account shall also be kept, made out, and allowed, of such further disbursements, in manner aforesaid; all which accounts, when made out and allowed, shall be deposited with the vouchers, in the hands of the registrar, and kept by him for the use of the incumbents, who may inspect the same, paying to such registrar or deputy 1s. for every inspection, 17 G. 3. c. 55. s. 4.

39. Every ordinary, before he signify his consent as aforesaid, shall cause an enquiry to be made and certified to him by the archdeacon, chancellor of the diocese, or other proper persons living in or near the parish where such buildings are to be made, in forms in the schedule, of the state and condition of such buildings at the time the incumbent entered upon such living; how long such incumbent had enjoyed such living; what money he had received or may be entitled to for dilapidations, and how he had laid out what he received; and if it appear that he had, by wilful negligence, suffered such buildings to go out of repair, then to certify the same to the ordinary, and also the amount of the damage which such buildings had sustained by the wilful neglect of such incumbent; and such incumbent, if the ordinary require it, shall pay the same into the hands of the nominee towards defraying the expenses of building and repairs, before the ordinary shall give his consent, id. s. 5.

40. The incumbent of every such benefice, where such mortgage shall be made, and his successors, shall pay the interest arising thereon, yearly, as the same shall become due, or within one month after, and also 5l. per cent. per ann. of the principal remaining due, by yearly payments; and such incumbent, who shall not reside 20 weeks in each year upon such living, computing from the date of the mortgage, shall, instead of 5l. per cent. per ann., pay 10l. per cent. per ann. of the principal by yearly payments, such payments to be made at the same time such interest shall be paid, until the whole principal and interest shall be fully paid; and every incumbent who shall pay only 5l. per cent. per ann. of such principal money, shall, at the time he pays the same, produce and deliver to the mortgagee a certificate under the hands of two rectors, vicars, or officiating ministers, of some parishes near adjoining, signifying that he had resided 20 weeks upon the said living, within the year for which such payment became due; which certificate shall be in the form in the schedule; and such incumbent shall annually, at his own expense, from the time such buildings shall be completed, insure, at one of the public offices established in London or Westminster, for insurance of houses, the house and other buildings upon such glebe, against accidents by fire, at a sum agreed on by the ordinary, patron, and incumbent; and in default of payment of either the principal or interest, or neglect of insurance, the ordinary may sequester the profits of the living till such payment or insurance be made, id. s. 6.

41. The incumbent of every living, the glebes, tythes, rents, and profits of which shall be mortgaged for the purposes of 17 G. 3. c. 55., shall pay such mortgagee, over the interest of the principal money due on such mortgage, 5l. per cent. if resident, or 10l. per cent. if non-resident, of the money originally advanced on such mortgage, until the whole principal money is discharged, 21 G. 3. c. 66. s. 1. [and see 55 G. 3. c. 147. s. 7. post. pl. 65, 66.]

42. That the payment of the year, in s. 6. mentioned, may be justly ascertained between the successor and the incumbent, avoiding such living, &c. in case any difference shall arise in adjusting the proportions, the same shall be determined by two indifferent persons, the one to be named by the successor, and the other by the person making avoidance, or his representatives in case of his death; and if such nominees are not appointed within two months after such death or avoidance, or if they cannot agree in adjusting such proportions in one month after appointed, the same shall be determined by some neighbouring clergyman nominated by the ordinary, whose determination shall be conclusive between the parties; which nominations and determinations shall be made according to the forms in the schedule, 17 G. 3. c. 55. s. 7.

43. Where there is no house of habitation upon any ecclesiastical living, exceeding 100l. clear annual value, or being one, the same shall be mean or in a state of decay, as in s. 1. pl. 55., and the incumbent shall not reside in the parish 20 weeks within any year, computing from 1st Jan., the ordinary may, with the consent of the patron, (in case the incumbent shall not think fit to lay out one year's income, where the same may be sufficient, to put the house in proper repair, or to make such application as aforesaid, for building, repairing, or rebuilding such parsonage-house), procure such plan, estimate, and certificate as in s. 1. pl. 35. directed, and at any time within the succeeding year, to proceed in the execution of this act, in such manner as the incumbent is authorised to proceed, and to make such mortgage as aforesaid, which shall be binding upon the incumbent and his successors, and he shall be liable to the payment of the interest, principal, and costs; and such incumbent and his representatives shall be liable to the proportion of the payments for the year which shall be growing at the time of the death or avoidance, which interest, principal, and costs, and proportion of payments, shall be recoverable against such incumbent, by action of debt, in any court of record, 17 G. 3. c. 33. s. 8.

44. All money recovered or received, by suit or compositions, from the representatives of any former incumbent, and not laid out in the repairs of buildings, shall go in part of the payments under such estimate; and all money thereafter to be recovered or received, in case the same cannot be had before such buildings are completed, and the money paid for the same, shall be applied, as soon as received, in payment of the principal then due, as far as the same will extend; or in case the said mortgage money shall have been discharged, such money arising from dilapidations, shall be paid into the hands of the nominee appointed as aforesaid, or of some other person nominated by the ordinary, patron, or incumbent, in case such nominee shall be dead, or shall decline to act therein, to be laid out in making some additional buildings or improvements upon the glebe, to be approved by the ordinary, patron and incumbent; and in the mean time, or in case such buildings shall not be necessary, then in trust to lay out the same in government or other good securities, and pay the interest thereof to the incumbent, id. s. 9.

45. Where new buildings are necessary to be provided for the habitation of the rector, vicar, or other incumbent, pursuant to the authority hereby given, the ordinary, patron, and incumbent, may contract, or authorise, if they shall think fit, the person nominated by them (as in s. 1. pl. 35.) to contract for the absolute purchase of any house, in a situation convenient for the residence of the rector or vicar, and not farther than one mile from the church; and also to contract for any land adjoining thereto, or to the house belonging to any parochial living, having no glebe lying near to the same, not exceeding two acres, if the annual value of such living, ascertained as aforesaid, be less than 100*l.* per ann., nor two acres for every 100*l.* per ann., if of greater value, and to cause the purchase-money for such house to be paid out of the money to arise under this act; in all which cases the said buildings and lands shall be conveyed to the patron and his heirs, in trust for the sole use of the incumbent, and shall be annexed to such church or chapel, and go in succession with the same for ever; but no contract, so made by the nominee, shall be valid, until confirmed by the ordinary, patron, and incumbent, by writing under their hands; and such purchase-deed shall be in the form in the schedule, and shall be registered as the other deeds are hereby directed to be registered, id. s. 10.

46. When such land lying near to the parsonage-house belonging to such living, or to be so purchased or exchanged, shall be thought fit to be taken as a convenience for the same, the purchase-money or equivalent shall be raised by sale or exchange of some part of the glebe or tythes of such living, which shall appear to the said ordinary, patron, and incumbent, most convenient; and such sale or exchange shall be by deed, in the form in the schedule, and registered as before directed, id. s. 11.

47. The governors of Queen Anne's bounty may advance, not exceeding 100*l.* in respect of each living, out of the monies for promoting the purposes of this act, as to any livings, exceeding the clear annual improved value of 50*l.*; and such mortgage shall be made for the repayment of the principal sums advanced, as before-mentioned, without interest; and where the annual value shall exceed 50*l.* the governors may advance not exceeding two years' income of such living, on such mortgage as aforesaid, and subject to the regulations of this act, and shall receive interest for the same, not exceeding 4*l.* per cent., id. s. 12.

48. Any college or hall in Oxford and Cambridge, and any other corporate bodies possessed of the patronage of ecclesiastical livings, may advance any money, of which they have disposal, to aid the purposes of this act, for the building, rebuilding, repairing, or purchasing, of any houses upon livings, under their patronage, upon the mortgage directed by this act for the repayment of the principal, without taking interest for the same, id. s. 13.

49. Whenever the patron of any living shall be a minor, idiot, lunatic, or feme covert, it shall be lawful for the guardian, committee, or husband of such patron, to transact the matters for such patron, who shall be bound thereby, id. s. 14.

50. All acts required to be done by the ordinary and patron shall be done by the ordinary alone, when such ordinary is the patron; and no deed, &c. made under this act, shall be charged with any stamp duty, or fee of office, except as herein mentioned, 17 G. 3. c. 33. s. 15.

51. Where any act is hereby required to be done by the ordinary, which shall be a body corporate aggregate, such act shall be done under the seal of such body corporate, id. s. 16.

52. Where the incumbent of any chapelry or perpetual cure is nominated by the rector or vicar, the consent of the latter with that of the patron of such rectory, shall be necessary in all matters wherein the consent of the patron is required, id. s. 17.

53. Whenever any controversy shall arise, touching the residence of the incumbent, the same shall be determined by the ordinary of the diocese, id. s. 18.

54. The patron, ordinary, and incumbent, or two of them, of which the ordinary to be one, by writing under their hands, may make such allowance to the person nominated by them, as in s. 1. for applying the money raised as they think fit, not exceeding 5*l.* for every 100*l.* laid out, id. s. 19.

55. Where the patronage of any benefice shall be in the crown, being above the yearly value of 20*l.* in H. M.'s books, the consent of the crown to the proceedings hereby authorized respecting such living shall be signified by the first commissioner of the treasury; but if such living not exceeding 20*l.* in H. M.'s books, such consent shall be signified by the lord high chancellor, &c.; or if such living shall be within the patronage of the crown in right of the duchy of Lancaster, then such consent shall be signified by the chancellor of such duchy, by writing under their respective hands, in the form in the schedule; and in all such cases where such deed is required to be executed by the patron as well as the ordinary and incumbent, such deed shall be valid, if executed by the ordinary and incumbent only, after such consent shall have been obtained from the first commissioner of the treasury, lord chancellor, &c., or chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster: provided such consent shall be registered at the register office, id. s. 20.

56. Any archbishop or bishop of any diocese, and any ecclesiastical corporation, sole or aggregate, being lord of any manor within which there shall be any waste or common lands, parcel of the demesnes thereof lying convenient for the house, and other purposes of this act, may grant a part of such waste lands, &c. in perpetuity for the purposes of this act, leaving sufficient common for the persons having right of common upon such wastes, &c. and obtaining consent of lessee of such lands, if being in lease, id. s. 21.

57. FOR ENABLING SPIRITUAL PERSONS to exchange the parsonage or glebe-houses, or lands belonging to their benefices, for others of greater value, or more conveniently situated for their residence and occupation, and for annexing such houses and lands so taken in exchange to such benefices, as parsonage or glebe-houses and lands, and for purchasing and annexing lands to become glebe in certain cases, and for other purposes, 55 G. 3. c. 147. [AMENDED BY 56 G. 3. c. 52, 1 G. 4. c. 6. s. 1. and R.E.P. as to s. 20. id. s. 2.]

58. The incumbent of any ecclesiastical benefice, perpetual curacy, or parochial chapelry, by deed indented and registered (as in s. 19.) and with consent of the patron of such benefice, &c. and of the bishop of the diocese, signified (as in s. 10.) may grant and convey to any person, and his heirs, or to any corporation, sole, or aggregate, and their successors, the parsonage or glebe house, with its out-buildings, yards, gardens, and glebe lands, pastures, rights of common, or way, or any part thereof belonging to the same, in exchange for any house, buildings, yards, gardens, and appurtenances, and lands, or either of them, whether lying within the local limits of such benefice, &c. or not, but being situate conveniently for actual residence or occupation by the incumbent, and being of greater value, or more conveniently situated, than the premises so to be given in exchange, and being freehold or copyhold of inheritance, or for life or lives holden of any manor belonging to the same benefice, 55 G. 3. c. 147. s. 1.

59. The incumbent may, by like deed and consent, (as in s. 10. pl. 70.) accept and take in exchange to him, and his successors for ever, from any person, &c. any other house and lands, &c. or either of them, being such freeholds, copyholds, &c., and of greater value or more conveniently situated, in exchange for such parsonage, &c., and which house and lands so taken in exchange shall for ever after such conveyance thereof be the parsonage and glebe-house, lands and premises of such benefice, and shall be annexed thereto, and enjoyed by the incumbent, and his successors respectively, without any licence or writ of ad quod damnum; and all copyholds so annexed shall become freehold, and no greater quantity than 30 statute acres of any such glebe lands shall be exchanged. The parsonage, &c. to be exchanged, in all exchanges for other lands, &c. made by owners having less than a fee therein, or being a corporation, or under legal disability, shall be of equal, or not of less value than the latter, id. ibid.

60. Where the lands, or any part thereof, to be conveyed in exchange to any incumbent, and to be annexed to such benefice, are exempt from the render of tithes in kind, or covered by any modus, composition, real or prescriptive, in lieu thereof, then the glebe, &c. to be conveyed in exchange by such incumbent, (unless otherwise agreed,) shall, after the exchange, be discharged from tithes in kind, or be subject to the same modus as the lands so conveyed in exchange to such incumbent, 55 G.3. c.147. s.2.

61. No incumbent shall be evicted from the house, &c. and premises so conveyed to him in exchange, by reason of any claim thereof through any title prior to that of or through any defect of title of the party conveying the same, but the latter may use all such remedies in trying his right to obtain possession of any house or premises granted in exchange by such incumbent, as he would have had in regard to recovering possession of that conveyed by him to such incumbent, id. s.3.

62. Any incumbent, &c. of any benefice, &c. (as in s.1.) of or to which any manor is parcel or appurtenant, and as parcel, &c. of which any lands or tenements have been usually granted or demised, or grantable, &c. by copy of court-roll or otherwise, for life or lives, or for term of years absolute or determinable on any life or lives, by deed indented and registered, as in s.19. pl. 80., with consent of patron and bishop testified, (as in s.10. pl. 70.), may annex to such benefice, &c. as glebe land or parsonage-house, all or any part of such lands or tenements, whether lying within the local limits thereof or not, which, after such annexation, shall cease to be so demisable by the incumbent, and shall become the glebe land and parsonage-house annexed to such benefice, &c. for ever, without licence or writ of ad quod damnum, but such annexation shall not annul existing grants or demises thereof, id. s.4.

63. Where there is no existing parsonage house on any benefice, or where the existing parsonage, or its outbuildings on any such benefice, shall be inconvenient, too small, or inconveniently situate, any person being seised in fee, (not being infant, lunatic, or feme-covert without her husband,) and any corporation sole or aggregate with or without confirmation, as case may require, with consent of incumbent, patron, and bishop, (as in s.10.) may convey by deed indented, and registered, &c. to any incumbent, (who may also accept the same,) any messuage, out-buildings, yard, garden, orchard, and croft, &c. right of way, or easement, whether lying within local limits of benefice or not, but being conveniently situate for actual residence of the incumbent, and the same shall become the parsonage-house, &c. of the benefice, to be enjoyed by the incumbent without licence or writ of ad quod damnum, after which annexation (with due registry of patrons' and bishops' consent, as in s.10.14.) the incumbent may take down the old parsonage, &c. and with like consent, apply the materials or the produce of their sale, to some permanent improvement of the benefice, but nothing herein shall enable infants, lunatics, or femes-coverts without their husbands to make any such conveyance, id. s.5.

64. The incumbent, &c. of any benefice, &c. (as in s.1.), the existing glebe of which does not exceed five statute acres may, with consent of the patron and bishop, (as in s.10.) purchase any lands not exceeding 20 statute acres in all, with the necessary outbuildings thereon, whether within the local limits of the benefice, &c. or not, so as the same be situate conveniently for building a parsonage or glebe-house and out-buildings, or for gardens or glebe thereof, and for actual residence by the incumbent, such land being either freehold or copyhold of inheritance, or for life or lives holden of any manor belonging to such benefice, and shall be annexed as glebe to such benefice, &c. and enjoyed by such incumbent, &c. without licence or writ of ad quod damnum, all copyholds so annexed becoming freehold, id. s.6.

65. Incumbent may also, with consent of patron and bishop, (as in s.10.) borrow, (besides the money authorized to be borrowed by 17 G.3. c.55. s.1.) such sums of money as are certified by a surveyor's valuation on oath, to be the value of the lands at their purchase, not exceeding two years' clear income of the benefice, after deducting all taxes, &c. except assistant-curate's salary if any, by mortgage by deed, (to be registered as in s.14. pl. 75.) of the tythes of the benefice for 25 years, or till the principal money, interest, and costs of recovery thereof are paid off; which mortgage deed shall bind the incumbent executing the same, and his successors, a counterpart of which shall be executed by the mortgagee, and kept by the incumbent, id. s.7.

66. The incumbent shall annually pay as well the interest of the principal, as also the further sum of 5*l.* per cent. per ann., of the principal originally advanced on the mortgage, and if not resident on the benefice 20 weeks per ann. 10*l.* per cent. per ann. till the whole thereof, with the interest, costs, &c. be paid off; and every incumbent who shall pay only 5*l.* per cent. per ann. shall, at time of payment, produce to the mortgagee a certificate of his 20 weeks' residence in that year, under the hands of two rectors, &c. or officiating ministers [of adjoining parishes; in default of which payment, the bishop may sequestrate till made, and if in arrear for 40 days next after the by the payment, the mortgagee may recover the same by distress as written on part as landlords recover rents in arrear, and any difference in respect of such principal and interest in case of avoidance otherwise shall be determined by two indifferent persons, sons, to be named by the person making avoidance, or his representatives, and the other by his successor, within two months after such avoidance, and if they cannot agree, the bishop shall appoint some neighbouring clergyman finally to decide between the parties, 55 G.3. c.147. s.7.

67. The incumbent of any benefice may, with consent of patron and bishop of diocese, or if in a peculiar, of the archbishop or bishop, to whom it shall belong, signified as in 55 G.3. c.147. s.10. pl. 70., apply money arising from sale of timber cut and sold from the glebe lands, scopyholds, &c. of the manor of the benefice towards the exchange or purchase of parsonage-house, or glebe lands under that act, 56 G.3. c.52. s.1.

68. The governors of queen Anne's bounty, may advance any sum not exceeding 100*l.* in respect of each benefice, &c. the clear yearly value of which does not exceed 50*l.*, without interest, on security of a mortgage, as in pl. 65., and may lend such benefice any sum not exceeding two years' yearly income thereof on like mortgage, with not more than 4*l.* per cent. interest, 55 G.3. c.147. s.8.

69. Any college or hall of Oxford or Cambridge, and any other corporate body, having ecclesiastical patronage, may lend any sums at their disposal, on such mortgage, with or without interest, for the convenience of the incumbent of any benefice within their patronage, id. s.9.

70. The consent of the patron and bishop shall be given to all such deeds of exchange, mortgage, or purchase, before the execution thereof by the incumbent, by their being made parties to and signing and sealing the same in the presence of two or more credible witnesses, who shall attest the same by indorsement, and that they were so signed, &c. previous to the execution thereof by the incumbent, id. s.10.

71. All the powers given by this act to the bishop of any diocese shall be exercised, as to peculiars, by the archbishop and bishop to whom they respectively belong, and not by the bishop of the diocese where they are locally situate, except where they belong to any other person or corporation than archbishops or bishops, id. s.11.

72. All owners of messuages, lands, &c. whether being a corporation sole or aggregate, or tenants in fee, or in fee-tail, or for life, and all guardians, trustees, &c. for charitable or other uses, and all husbands, or committees acting for such owners being infants, femes-coverts, or lunatics, or under other legal disability, by deed indented and registered, (as in s.19. pl. 80.), and with consent of incumbent, patron, and bishop, may grant any house, &c. or lands, &c. or either of them in exchange, for any such parsonage-house, &c. and glebe-lands, or may sell to such incumbent any lands not exceeding 20 statute acres, with necessary out-buildings, for a sum declared just on a valuation made, (as in s.15. pl. 76.) id. s.12.

73. Such parsonage, &c. so exchanged by the incumbent shall be vested in and settled on the same persons, and to and for the same uses, trusts, and limitations, with the same powers, &c. and incumbrances as the messuages and lands exchanged were settled upon before the exchange, or would have been settled if it had not been made; and all purchase money received on account of such lands, &c. belonging to any corporation, infant, feme-covert, lunatic, or other person under any disability, shall be paid into the bank in the name of the accountant-general of chancery, to be invested in the funds in his name, and the dividends paid to the persons entitled to the rents, &c. of the lands sold, until the same is laid out in purchasing the land-tax, or paying off incumbrances, or in the purchase of other lands, &c. to the same uses, id. ibid.

74. None of the persons named in s.12., shall convey more than five acres under this act, id. s.13.

75. Where any exchange or purchase shall be made under this act, six calendar months previous notice, describing the premises respectively to be given and taken in exchange or purchased, shall be given of the intention to make such exchange or purchase, by insertion thereof for three successive weeks in some county newspaper, and by fixing it on the door of the church shortly before the commencement of service, on three Sundays successively, id. s.14.

76. A map and valuation shall be made by a surveyor, approved by patron, bishop, and incumbent, on his oath, of all lands so to be exchanged or purchased, distinctly specifying the value of all timber growing thereon, of the rights of common, mines, &c. and of all other rights, &c. belonging to either of the premises, id. s.15.

77. In all cases of exchange and purchase under this act, the bishop on receiving such maps and valuation shall, if he so far approve of such exchange, &c. issue a commission of enquiry, under his hand and seal, directed to not less than six persons, of whom three shall be beneficed clergymen resident near such benefice, &c. and one a barrister of three years' standing, to be named by the senior judge of the last nisi prius commission for the county, (and if in Cheshire or Wilt., by the chief justice, or other justice of the great sessions in his absence, 55 G.3. c.55. s.2.) [if in Middlesex, by the Ch.J. or K.B. or of C.P. for the time being, 1 G.4. c.6. s.2.] whose return shall be made on actual inspection of the premises, with such map and valuation before them, and signed by a majority or by two of the said clergymen, together with such barrister; and no such exchange or purchase shall be made unless the return certify that it is proper to be made, and will promote the permanent advantage of the benefice, 55 G. 3. c. 147. s. 16., 56 G. 3. c. 52. s. 2., 1 G. 4. c. 6. s. 2.

78. If the patron of any such benefice, &c. is a minor, idiot, lunatic, or feme covert, the guardian, committee, or husband of every such patron, may execute such deeds, &c. for him, and shall bind him thereby, 55 G. 3. c. 147. s. 17.

79. Where the patronage of any such benefice, &c. is in the crown, and is above the yearly value of 20*l.* in H. M.'s books, the consent of the crown to the proceedings under this act respecting the same, shall be signified by the execution of the deeds by the first commissioner of the treasury, or if not exceeding 20*l. per ann.*, then by the lord chancellor's execution, or if within the patronage of the crown in right of the duchy of Lancaster, then by such execution by the chancellor of the duchy, id. s. 18.

80. One part of all deeds and instruments made and executed in pursuance of this act, with the maps and valuations, commissions of inquiry and returns thereto, shall, within twelve months after date, be entered in the office of the registrar of the diocese wherein the benefice, &c. (as in s. 1.) is locally situate; if within a peculiar, then with the registrar thereof, for preservation therein; (and such registrar shall sign a certificate of deposit, either on the same or a separate parchment,) which deeds, &c. shall be open to inspection at proper hours, and an office copy certified by the registrar, shall be evidence thereof in all courts; which he shall grant on request, and 10*s.* shall be paid him besides any stamp-duty for the commission and previous requisites; 5*s.* for depositing the same and certifying the deposit; 1*s.* for such search; and 6*d.*, besides stamp-duty, for every folio of 72 words of such office copy so certified, id. s. 19.

81. This act shall not repeal any act in force for improvement of any benefice, id. s. 21.

82. To SECURE SPIRITUAL PERSONS in the possession of benefices in certain cases, 59 G. 3. c. 40.

83. In every case which has occurred before passing this act where a spiritual person has obtained a dispensation to hold a benefice to which he had been presented, &c. or was to be licensed or collated with a benefice, which he had held with another benefice, by virtue of a former dispensation, without having in due time before resigned or vacated the other benefice so included in the former dispensation, and where for want of such due resignation, &c. the benefice held by the former, and intended to be secured to him by the subsequent dispensation, may have been rendered void, neither H. M. nor any other patron, such bishop having the right of nomination, presentation, license, or collation thereto by lapse or otherwise, shall present, &c. to such benefice so rendered void, id. s. 1.

84. The present incumbents of benefices so rendered void before passing this act may enjoy the same, as if the resignation of the other benefice held therewith by the former had been duly made prior to the subsequent dispensation, and as if the latter had been good in law, and shall be held the lawful incumbents thereof, and all their acts and deeds are valid, id. s. 2.

85. Proviso that the patron of such benefices so rendered void, may present to them on the death or other lawful avoidance of the spiritual person holding the same, id. s. 3.

BENEFIT OF CLERGY.

1. THE LIBERTIES of the church confirmed, and thereupon the archbishop of Canterbury promises to H. M. that benefit of clergy shall not extend to clerks secular or religious, convict of treason, or being a notorious thief, 4 H. 4. c. 3. [See 23 H. 8. c. 1. pl. 4.]

2. EVERY PERSON not being within orders, which hath once been admitted to his clergy, again arraigned of any such offence, shall not have his clergy, and every person so convicted for murder shall be marked with an (M) on the left thumb, and if for other felony with a (T), the same to be done in open court by the gaoler; provided that persons being in orders, being so convicted a second time, shall have a day given to produce their letters of orders, &c. and if they then fail, they shall lose their clergy, 4 & 5 H. 7. c. 13. [See BURNING IN THE HAND, post.]

3. PERSONS COMMITTING murder or felony in any hallowed place, or who, of malice prepensed, rob or murder any person in the highway or in his house, the owner, or dweller, his wife, child, or servant, being therein, and put in fear, shall not be admitted to his clergy, 4 H. 8. c. 2. s. 7. [See Quere, that see now 23 H. 8. c. 1. s. 3. post. pl. 5.]

4. No person committing petty-treason, murder, or felony, shall be admitted to his clergy, 23 H. 8. c. 1. s. 1, 2. [Ext. to persons guilty of the like offences, standing mute, or making peremptory challenge above 20, and to such offenders tried out of the county where the offence was done, 25 H. 8. c. 3., which is REP. 1 E. 6. c. 12. s. 10. but expressly REV. 5 & 6 E. 6. c. 10., CON. 28 H. 8. c. 1., and both acts MADE PERP. 32 H. 3. c. 3., AMN. us to the punishment of clerks convict claiming benefit of clergy, 32 H. 3. c. 3. s. 8., and EXT. to accessories in such crimes, 4 & 5 P. & M. c. 4.] [See 12 G. 3. c. 20., as to standing mute.]

5. After reciting the provision of 3 E. 1. c. 2., "that clerks convict of felony delivered to the ordinary shall not depart without purgation, (s. 1.) and the 4 H. 4. c. 3. pl. 1., and that such promise had not been performed (s. 2.);" it is ENACTED, that no person found guilty of any petit treason, or of wilful murder, of malice prepensed, or for robbing of any churches, chapels, or other holy places, or for robbing any person in his dwelling-house or place, the owner or dweller, his wife, children, or servants, then being within and put in fear, [and whether they be sleeping or waking, 5 & 6 E. 6. c. 9. see ROBBERY,] or for robbing any person about the highways, or for wilful burning of any dwelling-houses or barns, wherein any grain or corn shall happen to be, nor any person found guilty of any abetment, procurement, helping, maintaining, or counselling to the same, shall be admitted to the benefit of his clergy, but be excluded thereof, and suffer death as if they were no clerks; such as be in orders, if a subdeacon, or above, excepted, 23 H. 8. c. 1. s. 3. [This section supersedes 4 H. 8. c. 2. s. 1.]

6. Every such person within such orders of a subdeacon, &c. who shall be found guilty of any such offences, as in s. 1., or of any accessory thereto, and admitted to his clergy, and delivered to the ordinary for the same, shall not be suffered to any purgation, but shall be kept in perpetual prison by the ordinary during life, except he find two sureties by recognizance, before two justices of peace of the county where the offence of which he was convicted was committed, whereof one to be of the quorum that he shall be of good bearing against H. M., his laws, and subjects, himself in 40*l.*, and the sureties in 20*l.*, each; and no surety shall be taken unless he has lands, &c. of clear yearly value of 26*s.* and 8*d.*, or else be worth 20*l.* in moveable substance, and justices taking such recognizance shall certify the same to the K. B., within 4 months after taking the same, upon pain to lose 100*s.* id. s. 4., [but seem. RLP. 18 EL. c. 7. s. 2. pl. 20.]

7. Provided this act shall not give any benefit to any such persons who, after confession or judgment against them, for any felony, or murder, or outlawry, for such cause be admitted to clergy, and delivered to ordinary for same, but they shall remain in custody, and make no purgation upon such peril, and in such manner as used at common law before this act, id. s. 5.

8. Such ordinary may disgrace such convict, if he thinks proper, after the laws of the church, and send him so disgraced into custody into K. B., with a certificate under his seal testifying such disgrading, and the justices of K. B., having afore them the record of such persons, conviction, shall award judgment of death, and which shall be executed on him, and such ordinary shall be discharged against H. M. of any further custody of such convict, id. s. 6.

9. Because 23 H. 8. c. 1. only extends to persons found guilty by due courses of law; every person who shall be indicted of petit treason, wilful burning of houses, murder, robbery, or burglary or other felony, according to 23 H. 8. c. 1., and being thereupon arraigned shall stand mute, or challenge peremptory above 20, or not answer to the indictment, shall lose the benefit of his clergy, in like manner as if he had directly pleaded to such petit treason, &c. not guilty, and had been found guilty after the laws of the land, 25 H. 8. c. 3. s. 2.

10. Persons indicted of felony for stealing any goods, in any county in Eng., and thereupon arraigned and found guilty, and who stand mute, or challenge peremptory above 20, or will not on arraignment answer directly to the felony, shall lose the benefit of clergy, in like manner as if indicted, arraigned, and found guilty in the same county where the offence was done, if it appears to the justices before whom such felons or robbers be arraigned, by evidence given before them, or by examination, that the same felonies whereon they are so arraigned, had been such robberies or burglaries in the same shire where such offences were done, whereby they should have lost their clergy, by 23 H. 8. c. 1., in case they had been found guilty thereof in the same shire where such offences were so done, id. s. 3.

11. No person who shall be in due form attainted, or convicted of murder, or of poisoning of malice prepensed, or of breaking any house by day or night, any person being therein, [see post. pl. 19., 18 EL. c. 7. s. 1., and pl. 25., 39 EL. c. 15.] who shall be thereby put in fear, or of robbing any in the highway, or for feloniously stealing any horses, mares, or geldings, [extended to any horse, &c. 2 & 3 E. 6. c. 35.] or for feloniously taking of any goods out of a parish church, or other church or chapel, or being indicted or appealed of any such offences, and thereupon found guilty, or who shall confess the same on arraignment, or will not answer directly according to the laws, or shall wilfully stand mute, [see 12 G. 3. c. 20.] shall not be admitted to the benefit of clergy or sanctuary, and in all other cases of felony, all persons who shall be arraigned or found guilty, or shall confess or stand mute, or will not answer directly, shall have the benefit of clergy and sanctuary as he would before the 20th Ap., 1 H.8., 1 E.6. c.12. s.10.

12. The 25 H.8. c.5. shall be in full force the 1 E.6. c.12. s.10. notwithstanding. 5 & 6 E.6. c.10. s.3.

13. All persons within holy orders, which may have their clergy for any felonies, and shall be admitted to the same, shall be burnt in the hand, as lay clerks be accustomed, and shall incur all pains, dangers, and forfeitures, as be ordered for their offences of felony, as lay persons admitted to clergy, 39 H.8. c.5. s.8.

14. Every person who shall maliciously command, hire, or counsel any person to commit any petit-treason, or wilful murder, or to do any robbery in any dwelling-house, or near the highway in Eng., or other H.M.'s dominions, or within the marches of Eng. against Scot., or who shall wilfully burn any dwelling-house, or part thereof, or any barn, having corn or grain therein, who, being outlawed or arraigned, and found guilty, or otherwise attainted thereof, or, being arraigned thereof shall stand mute, or challenge peremptorily above 20 jurymen, or will not answer to such offence, shall not have his clergy, 4 & 5 P. & M. c.4. s.1.

15. Lords of parliament indicted of such offences shall be tried by their peers, id. s.2.

16. To TAKE AWAY the benefit of clergy from certain felonious offenders, 8 El. c.4. and s.5. [REPE. as to so much which relates to privily stealing from the person, viz. ss.1,2., 48 G.3. c.129. s.1., see FELONS and FELONY.] [see 18 El. c.7. s.5.]

17. Persons who upon arraignment of felony shall be admitted to their clergy, and shall, before such admission to clergy, have committed any offence whereupon clergy is not allowable, and not before indicted and acquitted, convicted, or attainted or pardoned, may be indicted, &c. or appealed, and used for the same as if no such admission of clergy had been, 8 El. c.4. s.4.

18. To TAKE AWAY clergy from offenders in rape and burglary, and an order for the delivery of a clerk's convict without purgation, 18 El. c.7.

19. Every person who shall commit any felonious rape, ravishment, or burglary, [see ante, pl.11., 1 Ed.6. c.12. s.10.,] and be found guilty, or who shall be outlawed for any of such offences, or upon arraignment confess the same, shall suffer death, and forfeit as in cases of felony without clergy, id. s.1.

20. Every person who shall be admitted to his clergy shall not be delivered to the ordinary, but after clergy allowed, and burning on the hand, shall be forthwith delivered by the justices who tried him, id. s.2.

21. The justices before whom any allowance of clergy is had, may detain the offenders allowed such clergy in prison, for any time not exceeding one year, id. s.3.

22. The unlawfully and carnally knowing and abusing any woman-child under 10 years old, shall be felony, and the offender thereof shall suffer as a felon without clergy, id. s.4.

23. Every person admitted to his clergy shall, notwithstanding, be put to answer all other felonies of which he may be indicted or appealed, and not being thereof before acquitted, convicted, attainted, or pardoned, and shall be arraigned, tried, and suffer such execution, as they should have done if, as clerks convict, they had been delivered to the ordinary, and there made their purgations, id. s.5.

24. No PERSON ROBBERY any house in the day time, although no person be therein, shall be admitted to his clergy, 39 El. c.15., and s.1.

25. No person who shall be found guilty by verdict, confession, or otherwise, for the felonious taking away in the day-time, of any money, goods, or chattels, being of the value of 5*s.* or more, in any dwelling-house, or houses, or part thereof, or any out-house belonging to and used with any dwelling-house, although no person shall be therein at the time of the felony committed, shall be admitted to his clergy, 39 El. c.15. s.2.

26. To TAKE AWAY clergy from some offenders, 3 W. & M. c.9. ss.1—5. 6—7. [CON. and EXPL. as to women, 4 & 5 W. & M. c.24. s.13., and both MADE PERF. 6 & 7 W.3. c.14. s.1.] [See rest of this act, FELONY.]

27. Every person who shall rob another, or feloniously take away any goods or chattels, being in any dwelling-house, some person being therein and put in fear, or shall rob any dwelling-house in the day-time, any person being therein, or shall comfort, aid, or hire any person to commit any of such offences, or to break any dwelling-house, shop, or warehouse thereunto belonging, or therewith used in the day-time, and feloniously take away any money, goods, or chattels of the value of 5*s.*, or more therein being, although no person shall be within such dwelling-house, &c., or shall counsel, &c., any one to commit burglary, being thereof convicted or attainted, or being indicted thereof, shall stand mute and not answer to the indictment, or shall peremptorily challenge above twenty jurymen, shall not have the benefit of clergy, 3 W. & M. c.9. s.1.

28. Persons indicted of any offence for which they are by any former act excluded from their clergy, if convicted thereof, or if they stand mute, or will not answer to the felony, or shall peremptorily challenge above twenty jurymen, or be outlawed thereon, shall not have their clergy, 3 W. & M. c.9. s.2.

29. If any person is indicted of felony for stealing any goods or chattels in any county within Eng., Wa., or Ber., and be thereof convicted, or attainted, or upon arraignment shall stand mute, and not answer to the indictment, or shall peremptorily challenge above twenty of the jury he shall be excluded from his clergy, if it appear on evidence, or examination before the justices, that the goods, &c. were taken by robbery or burglary, or in any other manner in any other county, whereof if he had been convicted by a jury of such other county, he is excluded by this or any former act from clergy, id. s.3. [See as to standing mute, 12 G.3. c.20. tit. FELONY.]

30. Where a man is convicted of any felony, for which he may demand benefit of clergy, if a woman is convicted of a like offence, upon her prayer to have benefit of this act, judgment of death shall not be given against her on such conviction or execution awarded on outlawry for such offence, but she shall suffer like punishment as a man that has his clergy allowed, viz. she shall be burnt in the hand in open court, and be imprisoned for not exceeding one year, id. s.6. [See 21 J.1. c.6. tit. WOMAN; and BURNING IN THE HAND.]

31. If any woman shall be convicted of felony, for which a man might have his clergy, and on her prayer shall once have the benefit of 3 W. & M. c.9. s.6., and shall be again convicted of any other felony, for which a man might have his clergy, such woman shall be excluded from the benefit of such statute, 4 & 5 W. & M. c.24. s.13.

32. A transcript certified by the clerk of the crown, of the peace, or of the assizes, containing the tenor of the indictment and the names of the persons who have had the benefit of clergy, or of this act, to the judges in any other county, shall be good proof that such person has had the benefit of clergy, or of this act, 3 W. & M. c.9. s.7. [see 34 & 35 H.8. c.14. FELON and FELONY.]

33. IF ANY PERSON is convicted of any such felony, for which he ought to have the benefit of clergy if this act had not been made, and shall pray to have the benefit of this act, he shall not be required to read, but without reading shall be allowed, taken, and reputed to be, and punished as a clerk convict, which shall be as effectual as if he had read as a clerk, 5 & 6 A. c.6. s.4.

BIGAMY. (See POLYGAMY.)

1. CLERKS BEING BIGAMISTS shall not be delivered to the prelates, but justice shall be executed upon them as on lay people, 4 E.1. S.3. c.5.

2. EVERY PERSON WHO by this statute or any other ought to have his clergy, the same shall be allowed, although he has been at sundry times married to single women, or to any widow, or two or more wives, 1 E.6. c.12. s.16.

BILLS AND NOTES.

(STATUTES expired and repealed.)

1. To RESTRAIN the negotiation of promissory notes and inland bills of exchange under a limited sum in Eng., 15 G.3. c.51. [MADE PERF. 27 G.3. c.16. s.1. REPE. 48 G.3. c.88. s.1.]

2. To RENDER VALID all acts done in the execution of three several orders in council relating to bills of exchange drawn by persons in Russia, and to freight of Russian, Swedish, or Danish ships, 41 G.3. (U.K.) c.46. EXP.

1. FOR THE better payment of inland bills of exchange, 9 & 10 W.3. c.17. [AMD. and for giving like remedy on promissory notes, as now used on bills of exchange, 3 & 4 A. c.9.]

2. All bills of exchange drawn in, or dated at, or from any trading city, or town, or any other place in Eng., Wa., or Ber., for 5*l.* or upwards, upon any person in London, or other trading city, &c. in which bills shall be expressed the value to be received, and drawn payable after date, after presentation and acceptance of such bills, which acceptance shall be by underwriting the same under acceptor's hand, and at the end of three days after such bills are due, the party to whom any such bills are made payable, his servant, agent, or assigns, shall cause such bills to be protested by a notary public, and in default of such notary, by any substantial person of the place, in the presence of two witnesses, refusal or neglect of payment being first made, which protest shall be written under a copy of the bill in the form following, viz.:

Know all men, that I, A B, on the — day of —, at the usual place of abode of the — said, have demanded payment of the bill, of which the above is a copy, which the said — did not pay, wherefore I, the said —, do hereby protest the said bill, dated this — day of —.

9 & 10 W.3. c.17. s.1.

Which protest within the day after it is made, shall be sent, or otherwise due notice given thereof to the party from whom such bill was received, who, on production thereof, shall repay the bill with interest and charges from day such bill was protested, and for which protest 6d. shall be paid, and in default of such protest made and sent, or due notice given, the person so failing shall be liable to all costs, damages, and interest, which shall thereby accrue, id. s.2.

3. If any such inland bill shall be lost or miscarried within the time limited for payment, the drawer shall give another bill of the same tenor with the first, the person to whom the same shall be delivered, first giving security, if demanded, to indemnify the drawer, if such lost bill be again found, id. s.3.

4. In case upon presenting of any such bills, as in 9 & 10 W.3. c.17. s.1. mentioned, the drawee shall refuse to accept the same, the party to whom such bill is payable, his servant, agent, or assigns, shall cause such bill to be protested for non-acceptance, as in case of foreign bills of exchange, for which protest no more than 2s. shall be paid, 3 & 4 A. c.9. s.4.

5. No acceptance of any such inland bill shall charge any person unless the same be by writing thereon; and if such bill be not accepted by under-writing or indorsement, the drawer shall not be liable to pay any costs, damages, or interest thereon, unless protest be made for non-acceptance, and within fourteen days after the same be sent, or otherwise notice thereof be given to the party from whom such bill was received, or left in writing at his usual place of abode; and if such bill be so accepted, and not paid before the end of three days after due, then no such drawer shall pay costs, damages, or interest thereon, unless such protest be made and sent, or such notice thereof given as aforesaid; nevertheless such drawer shall pay costs, damages, and interest on such inland bill, if any one protest be made of non-acceptance or non-payment, and notice thereof sent, given, or left as aforesaid, id. s.6. [See 1 & 2 G.4. c.78. s.2. *pl.*35.]

6. No such protest shall be necessary, either for non-payment or non-acceptance, unless the value be acknowledged to be received, and unless such bill be drawn for 20l. or upwards, and the protest hereby required shall be made by such persons who, by 9 & 10 W.3. c.17. s.1., are appointed to make protests of non-payment, id. s.6.

7. If any person doth accept any such bill in satisfaction for a former debt, the same shall be accounted a full payment thereof, if he doth not endeavour to get the same accepted and paid, and make protest either for non-acceptance or non-payment, id. s.7.

8. This act shall not discharge any remedy that any person may have against the drawer, acceptor, or indorser of such bill, id. s.8.

9. All notes in writing, that shall be made and signed by any person, bodies politic or corporate, or by the servant or agent of any corporation, bunker, goldsmith, merchant, or trader, who is usually entrusted to sign such notes for them, whereby such person or body shall promise to pay to any other person or body, or their order, or bearer, a sum mentioned in such note, shall be construed to be by virtue thereof payable to such person or body, to whom the same is made payable, and such note payable to any person or body politic or corporate shall be assignable or indorsable over, as inland bills of exchange, according to the custom of merchants, and the person or body to whom such sum by such note is payable, may maintain an action for the same against the person or body who or whose servant signed the same, as in cases of inland bills; and any person or body, to whom such note is assigned by indorsement thereon, may maintain his action for such sum against the party, who or whose servant signed the same, or against any indorser thereof, as in cases of inland bills, and in such action the plaintiff shall recover his damages and costs, and if such plaintiff is nonsuited, or if a verdict shall pass against him, the defendant shall have his costs against the plaintiff, and such plaintiff or defendant recovering may sue out execution for such damages and costs by capias, fi. fa., or clegit, 3 & 4 A. c.9. s.1.

10. Such actions shall be commenced and sued within the time appointed by statute of limitations, [21 J.1. c.16.] for commencing actions on the case, id. s.3.

11. No body politic shall have power by this act to issue notes other than as they might before this act, id. s.3.

12. During the continuance of the bank of Eng., no body politic or corporate other than such bank, and no persons united in partnership exceeding six in number in Eng., shall borrow or take up any money on their bills or notes payable at demand, or less than six months, 6 A. c.22. s.7., 7 A. c.7. s.61., 5 G.1. c.8. s.44., 15 G.2. c.13. s.5., 21 G.5. c.60. s.11.

13. TO RESTRAIN THE NEGOTIATION of promissory notes and inland bills of exchange under a limited sum in Eng., 17 G.5. c.30. [MAPS PRAT. 27 G.5. c.16., SUSSEX as to all bills and notes payable on demand to the bearer, 27 G.5. c.38., ALAN, and COV. 37 G.5. c.61., 37 G.5. c.120., 38 G.5. c.7., 39 G.5. c.9., 39 G.5. c.24., 39 G.5. c.47.,

39 & 40 G.5. c.107. s.8., 43 G.5. c.1., 44 G.5. c.4. s.1., 45 G.5. c.25., 55 G.5. c.6., and until two years after the expiration of the restriction on payments in cash, [which expire 1st May, 1823, 59 G.5. c.49.] [by the bank of Eng., 56 G.5. c.21.] [and see method of conviction, and other penalties, for issuing small notes, 48 G.5. c.88.]

14. All promissory and other notes, bills of exchange, or draughts, or undertakings in writing, being negotiable or transferable for payment of 20s., or above, and less than 5l.; or on which 20s., or above, and less than 5l. shall remain undischarged, issued in Eng., shall specify the names and places of abode of the persons to whom, or to whose order the same shall be payable, and shall bear date on or before the day of drawing or issuing the same, and be payable within 21 days after date, and shall not be transferrable after the time limited for payment, and every indorsement thereon shall be made before the expiration of such time, and bear date on or before the time of making thereof, and shall specify name and abode of the person to whom or to whose order the same is to be paid, and the signing of all such notes, bills, &c., and of every indorsement, shall be attested by one subscribing witness; and all such notes, bills, &c. shall be made in the form hereto annexed, (No. I. and II.); and all such notes, bills, &c. which shall be issued in Eng. in any other manner than as aforesaid, and every indorsement thereon, otherwise than as aforesaid, shall be absolutely void, 17 G.5. c.30. s.1.

15. The publishing, uttering, or negotiating within Eng. any such note, bill, &c. as in s.1. hereby permitted to be published, &c., and also the negotiating of such notes, bills, &c. after the time appointed for payment thereof, or before that time, in any other way than as aforesaid, is hereby declared to be prohibited under the like penalties as by 15 G.5. c.51. [now REP. by 48 G.5. c.88.] is directed with respect to notes or bills issued for any sum of 20s., or under, id. s.2.

16. All such notes now in existence declared to be payable on demand, and the powers, provisions, penalties, &c. of 15 G.5. c.57.(a) extended to this act, id. s.3. [(a.) This act is repealed and new provisions made, 48 G.5. c.88.]

17. The 15 G.5. c.51. [REP. by 48 G.5. c.88. s.1.] and the 17 G.5. c.30., so far as they relate to the making void of promissory notes, or draughts, or undertakings in writing, payable on demand to the bearer, for any sum less than 5l. in the whole, and also to restrain the publishing or uttering and negotiating any such notes, bills, &c. shall be suspended, 37 G.5. c.32. s.1.

18. If any person liable to the payment of any such notes, draughts, or undertakings in writing, as may be issued in pursuance of this act, neglect to pay the same in full by the space of three days [seven days, 37 G.5. c.61. s.2.] after demand made by the holder, any justice of peace for the county, city, or place where such person so refusing to pay shall reside, shall, on complaint by the holder, summon the party accused, and after his appearance, or in default thereof, on proof on oath of summons having been given, shall proceed to determine the complaint, and award such sum, together with such costs, not exceeding 20s., as to him shall seem meet to be paid by the person liable to the payment of such note, &c. and in case such person shall neglect to pay the sum so adjudged on being demanded, such justice, by warrant under hand and seal, may cause the same to be levied by distress and sale of the party's goods, together with all costs of such distress and sale, id. s.3. and 37 G.5. c.61. s.2.

19. TO RESTRAIN the negotiation of promissory notes and inland bills of exchange under a limited sum in Eng., 48 G.5. c.88.

20. The 15 G.5. c.51. for restraining the negotiation of small bills and notes, REP. id. s.1.

21. All promissory or other notes, bills of exchange, or drafts, or undertakings in writing, being negotiable or transferable for any sum, or any orders, notes, or undertakings in writing, being negotiable or transferable for the delivery of any goods, specifying their value in money less than

20s. in the whole, hereafter to be issued, shall be absolutely void, 48 G. 3. c. 88. s. 2.

22. Every person who shall publish or utter any such notes, bills, &c. (as in s. 2.) for less than 20s., or on which less than 20s. is due, and which shall be negotiable or transferable, or who shall negotiate or transfer the same, shall forfeit not exceeding 20s., or less than 5s., at the discretion of the justice who shall determine such offence, id. s. 3.

23. Any justice acting within the county or place where any offence against this act is committed, may determine the same within twenty days after such offence committed, in a summary way; and such justice, on information exhibited, or complaint on oath, shall summon the accused, and also witnesses on either side, and shall examine into the matter, and on proof by confession, or on oath of one witness (which oath justice may administer), shall convict the offender and adjudge the penalty, id. s. 4.

24. If any witness so summoned, on either side, neglect to appear at the time and place appointed, without reasonable excuse, to be allowed by such justice, he shall forfeit 40s., to be levied and paid as in s. 6. directed, id. s. 5.

25. The justice before whom any offender shall be convicted, shall cause the conviction to be drawn out as follows, viz.

'Be it remembered, that on the — day of — in the year of our Lord—, A. B. having appeared before me, [or us,] one [or more] of H. M.'s justices of the peace [as the case may be] for the county, riding, city, or place [as the case may be], and due proof having been made on oath by one or more credible witness or witnesses, or by the confession of the party [as the case may be] is convicted of [specifying the offence]. Given under my hand and seal [or our hands and seals] the day and year aforesaid.'

which conviction such justice shall cause to be returned to the next quarter sessions for the county, city, or place, there to be filed of record by the clerk of the peace, id. s. 6.

26. Such clerk of the peace for any county, city, or place, shall, on application made to him, cause a copy of any conviction filed by him under this act, to be forthwith delivered to the person applying, on payment of 1s., id. s. 7.

27. All penalties hereby inflicted shall be paid by the party convicted, as follows, one half to the informer, and the other to the poor of the parish where the offence was committed; and if any person shall neglect to pay the same, or to give sufficient security to prosecute any appeal against such conviction, such justice shall, by warrant under his hand and seal, levy the same by distress and sale of the offender's goods, together with all costs attending the same, returning the overplus to the owner, and which warrant of distress shall be in the form following, viz.

'To the constable, headborough, or tythingman of —

'WHEREAS A. B. of — in the county of — is this day convicted before me [or us] one [or more] of H. M.'s justices of the peace [as the case may be] for the county of — [or for the riding of the county of York,] or for the town, liberty, or district of — [as the case may be] upon the oath of — or — a credible witness or witnesses [or, by confession of the party, as the case may be] for that the said A. B. hath [here set forth the offence] contrary to the statute in that case made and provided, by reason whereof the said A. B. hath forfeited the sum of — to be distributed as herein is mentioned, which he hath refused to pay: these are therefore, in H. M.'s name, to command you to levy the said sum of — by distress of the goods and chattels of him the said A. B. and if within the space of five days next after such distress by you taken, the said sum, together with the reasonable charges of taking the same, shall not be paid, then that you do sell the said goods and chattels so by you distrained, and out of the money arising by such sale, that you do pay one-half of the said sum of — to — who informed me [or us, as the case shall be] of the said offence, and the other half of the said sum of — to the overseer of the poor of the parish, township, or place where the offence was committed, to be employed for the benefit of such poor, returning the overplus (if any) upon demand, to the said A. B. the reasonable charges of taking, keeping, and selling the said distress, being first deducted; and if sufficient distress cannot be found of the goods and chattels of the said A. B. wherewith to levy the said sum of — that then you certify the same to me, [or us, as the case shall be] together with this warrant. Given under my hand and seal [or, our hands and seals] the — day of —, in the year of our Lord —, id. s. 8.

28. Such justice may order such offender to be detained in custody until return of such warrant made, unless he shall give security to appear before such justice on some appointed day, (such day not exceeding five days from the taking of such security,) and which security may be taken by such justice, by way of recognizance or otherwise, id. s. 9.

29. If on such return made no distress can be had, such justice may commit such offender to the common gaol or house of correction of the county or place where the offence was done for three calendar months, unless the penalty is sooner paid, or until such offender shall give notice to the informer that he intends to appeal to the next quarter sessions for the county or place, and shall enter into recognizance before some justice, with two sureties, conditioned to try such appeal, and abide the order of, and pay such costs as shall be awarded by the sessions (which notice being not less than eight days before trial, such person may give) and the justices at such sessions, on proof of notice given, and recognizance entered into, shall determine such appeal in a summary way, and award costs to the appellant or appellee as they think proper, and their determination shall be final and binding, 48 G. 3. c. 88. s. 10.

30. No person shall be disabled from being a witness in any prosecution under this act, by reason of his being an inhabitant of the parish wherein such offence was done, id. s. 11.

31. No proceedings touching any conviction under this act shall be quashed for want of form, or removed by certiorari, or otherwise, to the courts at Westminster, id. s. 12.

32. Actions against any person for any thing done under this act shall be commenced and prosecuted within three calendar months after the fact committed, and be brought in the county where such fact was done, and the defendant may plead the general issue and give this act, and the special matter in evidence; and if it appears to have been so done in pursuance hereof, or if such action is brought after the time limited, or laid in the wrong county, the jury shall find for the defendant, or if the plaintiff is nonsuit, or discontinues his action after the defendant had appealed, or if on demurrer judgment shall be given against the plaintiff, the defendants shall have treble costs, with usual remedy to recover the same, id. s. 13.

33. TO REGULATE acceptances of bills of exchange, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 78.

34. If any person shall accept any bill of exchange payable at a banker's or other place without further expression, such acceptance shall be deemed a general acceptance; but if he shall in his acceptance express that he accepts the bill payable at a banker's or other place, and not otherwise or elsewhere, such acceptance shall be deemed a qualified acceptance, and the acceptor shall not be liable to pay the said bill, except in default of payment, when payment has been first demanded at such banker's or other place, id. s. 1.

35. No acceptance of any inland bill shall be sufficient to charge any person, unless such acceptance is in writing on the bill itself, or if there be more parts than one, on one of such parts, id. s. 2. [see 3 & 4 A. c. 9. s. 5. pl. 55.]

36. TO PROHIBIT the circulation of promissory or other notes, orders, undertakings, or obligations for the payment of any sum of money, or for any other consideration created and issued under or in the name of any public authority in France, 33 G. 3. c. 1.

37. Every promissory or other note, order, undertaking, or obligation, being negotiable by delivery created and issued by, and in the name of any public authority in France, whether the same be called assignats, or by any other denomination for the payment of money, or for rendering any other consideration to the holders of the same, or which shall purport to be so issued, shall be utterly void, id. s. 1.

38. Every person who shall utter, or publish, or pay, or cause to be uttered, &c. any such note, &c. (as in s. 1.) and being convicted thereof, either by confession or the oath of one witness, before a justice of peace for the county, city, or place where such uttering shall happen, shall forfeit from 5s. to 20s., to be levied as (in s. 4.) in respect of each such note, &c. so uttered, and the charges of recovery being first deducted, the same shall go, one moiety to the informer, and the other to the poor of the parish where the offence was done, id. s. 2.

39. Such notes, &c. received before 5th Jan. 1793, shall be paid on demand, (s. 2. Exp.)

40. Remedy in case of non-payment of such notes on demand, and penalty, 33 G. 3. c. 1. s. 3. Exp.

41. All pecuniary penalties hereby made payable shall be forthwith paid, and in case of neglect to satisfy the sum adjudged on being demanded, such justice shall, by warrant under hand and seal, cause the same to be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, together with the costs thereof, returning the overplus to the owner, id. s. 4.

42. All such offenders may be detained in custody until the return of the warrant of distress can be had, unless the party convicted shall give security to the satisfaction of such justice for his appearance on the day by such justice appointed for the return of such warrant, (such day not to exceed eight from the taking of such security,) which security shall be by way of recognizance or otherwise, id. s. 5.

43. If upon such return no sufficient distress can be had, such justice may commit such offenders to the common gaol or house of correction, for the county or place, for three calendar months, unless the penalty is sooner paid, or until the offender shall give notice to the informer six days before the trial, that he intends to appeal to the quarter sessions for the county or place, and shall enter into recognizance before such justice, with two sureties, conditioned to try such appeal, and abide the order of, and pay the costs awarded by such sessions, and the justices there, on due proof of such notice given, and recognizance entered into, shall determine such appeal in a summary way, and award costs to either party as they think proper, and their determination shall be final and binding, id. s. 6.

44. No proceedings under this act shall be quashed for want of form, or removed by certiorari or otherwise into the courts of record at Westminster, id. s. 7.

45. Actions against any person for any thing done under this act shall be commenced within three calendar months after the fact done, and shall be laid in the county where the fact was done, and the defendant may plead the general issue, and give this act and the special matter in evidence, and that the same was done in pursuance thereof; and if it appears to have been so done, or if such action was commenced after the time limited, or is laid in the wrong county, the jury shall find for the defendant; or if the plaintiff is nonsuited, or discontinues after appearance entered, or has judgment on demurrer against him, the defendant shall have treble costs, 53 G.3. c.1. s.8.

46. For the better observance of Good Friday in certain cases therein mentioned, 39 & 40 G.3. c.42.

47. Where bills of exchange or promissory notes become due on Good Friday, the same shall be payable on the day before, and the holders thereof may note and protest the same for nonpayment on the day preceding Good Friday, and which noting and protesting shall have the like effect as if such bills and notes had fallen due on such day, as in the case of bills and notes falling due on Sunday or Christmas-day, 39 & 40 G.3. c.43.

48. For preventing the forging and counterfeiting of foreign bills of exchange, promissory notes, and orders for the payment of money, 43 G.3. c.139. ss. 1, 2. [See rest of this title and statute, CORN.]

49. Every person who shall in any part of U.K. falsely make, forge, or counterfeit, or cause, or procure, to be falsely made, &c. or knowingly aid or assist in the false making, &c. of any bill of exchange, promissory note, undertaking, or order for the payment of money, purporting to be the bill of exchange, &c. (as above,) of any foreign prince, state or country, or of any minister employed in their service, or of any person or company of persons resident in any foreign country, or of any body corporate and politic, or body in the nature thereof, created by a foreign prince or country, with intent to deceive H.M., or any such foreign prince or country, or any such person or company, body corporate and politic, or body in the nature thereof soever, whether respectively resident, carrying on business, or being in any part of the U.K., or in any foreign country, and whether such bill, &c. be in the English or any foreign languages, or partly in both; or who shall in any part of U.K. tender in payment or exchange, or otherwise utter as true, any such false or forged bill of exchange, &c. knowing the same to be false, &c. with intent to defraud any of the persons mentioned above, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and on conviction shall be transported for not exceeding 14 years, id. s.1.

50. No person shall within U.K. engrave, cut, etch, scrape, or by any other means or device make or knowingly aid or assist in such engraving, &c. on any plate soever, any bill of exchange, &c. (as in s.1,) purporting to be the bill, &c. of any foreign prince, or country, or of any minister employed in their service, (as in s.1.) or any part thereof, without an authority in writing for that purpose from such foreign prince, &c. or from some person duly authorised to give such authority; or shall within U.K. without such authority, by means of any such plate, or other means soever, make or print any such foreign bill, &c. or any part thereof, or knowingly, wilfully, and without lawful excuse, (the proof whereof shall lie on the accused,) have in his custody any such plate or device, or any impression from the same; and offenders in any of the above cases, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and breach of the peace, and on conviction of the first offence shall be liable to imprisonment for not exceeding six months, or to be fined, or publicly or privately whipped, or to suffer one or more of the said punishments, and for the second offence to be transported to any of H.M.'s colonies or plantations for 14 years; but nothing herein shall alter any law in force for punishment of forgery, id. s.2.

51. Persons against whom any indictment under this act is found, shall not traverse it to a subsequent assizes, (id. s.4.) Certificates of former convictions under this act, shall be produced where persons are tried for second offence, (id. s.5.) Proceedings not quashed for want of form, or removed by certiorari into superior courts, (id. s.8.) Limitation of actions for acts done in pursuance hereof three calendar months: venue local, general issue may be pleaded, treble costs for debt on judgment against plt., (id. s.9.) [see post, CORN, these enactments at length.]

BISHOP.

3. For confirmation and establishment of the deprivation of certain bishops and deans in the beginning of H.M.'s reign, 39 El. c.8. [EXP.]

4. For election of bishops, and what seals and styles they and other spiritual persons exercising spiritual jurisdiction shall use, 1 E.6. s.3.

[CONF. 8 El. c.1. s.5. Rep. 1 M. S.2. c.2., which is Rep. 1 J.1. c.25. s.48., but this statute seems Exp. since 25 H.8. c.20. is Rev. 1 El. c.1. s.7.]

(STATUTES in force.)

1. REMEDIES FOR successors of prelates for wrongs done to their predecessors, 52 & 54 H.3. c.28.

2. If any wrongs or trespasses be done to prelates of the church, and they having pursued their rights be prevented with death before judgment given, their successors shall have actions to demand the goods of their church from such trespassers, and shall have like actions for things withdrawn by violence from their house and church lately before the death of their predecessors, though such predecessors did not pursue their right during their lives. And if any intrude on the lands or tenements of such religious persons during vacation, of which their prelates (his predecessors) died seised as in right of their church, their successors shall have a right to recover seisin, and damages shall be awarded as in assize of novel disseisin, 52 & 54 H.3. c.28.

3. THE KING SHALL not desire of bishops, pensions, prebends, churches, or corrodies, for his clerks or servants, but where he ought, 1 E.3. st.2. c.10.

4. THE TEMPORALITIES of the bishops shall not be seized by the king, without just cause, 1 E.3. st.2. c.2.

5. THE KING shall not cause to be taken into his hands the temporalities of archbishops, bishops, or others, without just cause, according to law and judgment thereupon given, 14 E.3. st.4. c.3.

6. HOW THE TEMPORALITIES of bishops, &c. shall be used in time of vacation, 14 E.3. st.4. c.4.

7. When vacancies of bishoprics and other prelaties happen, the escheators shall enter and cause the same to be well kept without doing waste or destruction in the manors, parks, ponds or woods, and sell no underwood, nor hunt in the parks or warrens, nor fish in the ponds, nor free-fishing, nor take fines of the tenants, but shall cause the same to be kept without doing damage thereto, id. s.1.

8. And if the dean and chapter of churches cathedral will render the value of the vacance, the chancellor and treasurer shall lease the same to them by good surety before all other, yielding the value of them as found by the remembrancer of the exchequer, or by inquest taken without fine; and in case they do not accord, then the chancellor and treasurer shall take order for the good preservation of such voidances, by escheators or other sufficient keepers, to answer to the king that which belongs to him without doing waste, id. s.2.

9. WHO SHALL DEMISE the temporalities of bishops, &c. during the time of vacation, 14 E.3. st.4. c.5.

10. The chancellor and treasurer taking unto them such of the council as to them seem best, shall let the vacations pertain to the king, to the dean, and chapters at a certain rent without fine, so as no escheator or other officer in the time of vacation shall have cause to enter, and do any thing in prejudice of the churches, saving to the king, advowsons of churches, escheats, reliefs and services of such fees, id. ibid.

11. BISHOPS' temporalities shall not be seized for contempts, 25 E.3. st.3. c.6.

12. The justices which shall give any judgment against any bishop for contempts upon writs of quare non admisi, or other causes, shall receive for such contempts a reasonable fine, when the party will offer it, and if need be, the chancellor and treasurer shall be called to the receipt of such fine, 25 E.3. st.3. c.6.

13. CONCERNING THE restraining of the payment of annates to the see of Rome, (and to regulate the intercourse of newly-elected bishops, &c. with such see), 23 H.8. c.20. [AMD. and CONF. (and all intercourse with such see in like cases prohibited, and for the election of bishops), 25 H.8. c.20. and s.1, 2. Rep. 1 & 2 P. & M. c.9., but Rev. by 1 E. c.1. s.7. The sentences between parentheses are framed from the purport of these acts. See the form of ordination of bishops, 5 & 6 E.6. c.1. CONF. 8 El. c.1. s.3.]

14. The unlawful payment of annates, or first-fruits, for any archbishopric or bishopric, or for any bulls to be obtained from the court of Rome for such purpose, shall utterly cease, and no person presented, elected, or postulated to any archbishopric or bishopric within this realm, shall pay such annates, or any other sum for the same, on pain to forfeit to the king all his goods and chattels, and all the temporal lands and possessions of the same archbishopric, &c. during the time which he who shall offend contrary hereto shall enjoy the same, id. s.1.

15. Persons commended to the court of Rome to be bishop of any diocese within this realm, and who shall be delayed by any means there, may be consecrated here in England by the archbishop of the province to which such bishop shall belong, so as such bishop be first presented to the archbishop by the king; and if any person named to be archbishop, shall be deprived by lack of any thing from the court of Rome, he may be consecrated two by bishops appointed for that purpose by the king; and every archbishop and bishop so presented and consecrated, shall be installed and accepted as such, and shall enjoy the spiritualities and temporalities of the province or diocese, satisfying to the king his accustomed duties, according to law, and his prerogative royal, 23 H. 8. c. 20. s. 2.

16. Every person presented, &c. to any archbishopric, &c. may pay to the see of Rome for his writings without any annates, 5l. per cent. on the value of the archbishopric, &c. id. s. 3.

17. No person shall be commended to the pope for the dignity or office of an archbishop or bishop within the king's dominions, nor shall send there for any bulls, breeves, palls, or other things requisite for an archbishop or bishop, nor shall pay any money for annates, or first-fruits, nor otherwise, for expedition of such bills, &c. but the same shall cease, id. ibid.

18. The king empowered to compound for, or moderate such annates, and what he shall do herein confirmed, id. s. 4.

19. The king empowered to withhold his assent to this act, for a limited time by letters patent, id. s. 5. [This act was ratified 9th July, 25 H. 8. A.D. 1533. See the 25 H. 8. c. 20. s. 1, 2. Reece's Hist. of English Law, vol. iv. p. 212, 8vo.]

20. The king and all his spiritual and lay subjects shall and may minister, or cause to be ministered throughout all the king's dominions, the sacrament and divine service, as they were heretofore accustomed, any censures, excommunications, interdicts, or any other process, notwithstanding, and no such censures, &c. shall by any prelates or other spiritual fathers be divulged or executed in this realm, id. s. 6.

21. At every avoidance of any archbishopric or bishopric, the king may grant to the dean and chapter of the cathedral churches, where the see of such bishopric shall be void, a licence under the great seal as of old time hath been accustomed, to proceed to election of an archbishop or bishop, with a letter missive, containing the name of the person which they shall elect; by virtue of which licence, the said dean and chapter shall with all speed elect the person named in the letters missive, to the dignity and office so void; and if they delay their election above 12 days next after such licence and letters missive to them delivered, the king shall nominate by letters patent under the great seal, such a person to such office and dignity as he shall think convenient; and every such nomination and presentment, if it be to the office and dignity of bishop, shall be made to the archbishop and metropolitan of the province where the see is void, if the see of the archbishopric be then full; and if it be void, then to such archbishop or metropolitan within the king's dominions as shall please the king; and if such nomination and presentment shall be made for default of election to the dignity or office of an archbishop, then the king, by letters patent under his great seal, shall nominate and present such person as he will dispose to have such office and dignity of archbishopric, to one archbishop and two bishops, or else to four bishops, 25 H. 8. c. 20. s. 4.

22. When any such presentment or nomination shall be made by the king, every archbishop and bishop, to whose hands such presentment and nomination shall be directed, shall with all speed invest and consecrate the person nominated and presented, and give and use to him all benedictions, ceremonies, and things requisite for the same, without suing at the see of Rome. And if the dean and chapter, after such licence, and letters missive to them directed, within such 12 days do elect the person mentioned in the letters missive, their election shall stand good; and the person elected, after certification made of the election under the common seal of the electors to the king, shall be reputed lord elected of the said dignity and office; and then making such oath and fealty to the king as shall be appointed for the same, the king by letters patent shall signify the said election, if it be to the dignity of a bishop, to the archbishop and metropolitan of the province if the see of the archbishop be full; and if it be void, then to any other archbishop within the king's dominions; requiring such archbishop to confirm such election, and to invest and consecrate the person elected to the office and dignity that he is elected unto, and to give and use to him all benedictions, ceremonies, and other things requisite for the same, without suing from the see of Rome; and if the person be elected to the office and dignity of an archbishop, then after such election certified to the king, the person elected archbishop shall be reputed lord elect to the said office and dignity; and after he hath made such oath and fealty only to the king as shall be limited for the same, the king by letters patent shall signify the election to one archbishop, and two other bishops, or else to four bishops within the king's dominions, to be assigned by the king, requiring them with all speed to confirm the election, and to invest and consecrate the person elected, and to give and use to him such benedictions, ceremonies, and other things requisite, without suing at the see of Rome, id. s. 5.

23. Every person being elected, presented, invested, and consecrated to the dignity or office of an archbishop, or bishop, according to this act, and suing their temporalities out of the king's hands, as hath been accustomed, and making oath to the king, as afore (s. 5.) rehearsed, shall be thronised or installed, as the case shall require, and shall take their only restitution out of the king's hands, of all the possessions and profits spiritual and temporal belonging to such archbishopric or bishopric, and shall be obeyed in all things, according to the name, title, degree, and dignity, that they shall be so chosen or presented unto, and do in every thing as any archbishop or bishop, without offending the prerogative and the laws, might at any time do, 25 H. 8. c. 20. s. 6.

24. If the dean and chapter of any cathedral church, after such licence delivered to them, proceed not to election, and signify the same within 20 days next after such licence shall come to their hands; or else if any archbishop or bishop, after any such election, nomination, or presentation shall be signified unto them by the king's letters patent, shall refuse, and do not confirm, invest, and consecrate with all due circumstance, every such person so elected, nominated or presented, within 20 days after the king's letters patent of such signification or presentation shall come to their hands; or else if any of them, or any other persons admit, maintain, allow, obey, do, or execute any censures, excommunications, interdictions, inhibitions, or other process or act, to the contrary, or let of due execution of this act, then every dean and particular person of the chapter, and every archbishop and bishop, and other person so offending contrary to this act, and their aids, &c. shall run in the penalties of the statute of præmunire, 25 E. 3. st. 5. c. 22 and 16 R. 2. c. 5, id. s. 7.

25. FOR THE NOMINATION OF SUFFRAGANS within this realm, 26 H. 8. c. 14. [REP. 1 & 2 P. & M. c. 8. REV. 1 EL. c. 1.]

26. The towns of Thetford, Ipswich, Colchester, Dover, Grilford, Southampton, Taunton, Shaftsbury, Mullin, Marlborough, Bedford, Leicester, Gloucester, Shrewsbury, Boston, Penwith, Bridgewater, Nottingham, Grantham, Hull, Huntingdon, Cambridge, and the towns of Pereh, Berwick, St. Germans in Cornwall, and the Isle of Wight, shall be accepted for sees of bishops, suffragans, to be made in the realm and in Wa., and the bishops thereof shall be called suffragans of this realm, 26 H. 8. c. 14. s. 1.

27. Archbishops and bishops disposed to have a suffragan, shall elect each for his own diocese, two discreet spiritual persons, and these present to H.M. by writing under their seals, requesting H.M. to give one of them such title, stile, and dignity of bishop, of such of the sees as the king shall deem fit, and the king may accordingly give to one of them the stile of bishop of such of the sees aforesaid, so it be within the diocese of the electing bishop, id. ibid.

28. Every person whom H.M. shall so choose shall be called bishop suffragan of the see to which named, id. s. 2.

29. After such title given, H.M. shall present such person by letters patent to the archbishop of Canterbury or York, according to the province in which the town, whereof he hath his title, is situated, declaring the name of such person, and the style of the bishopric wherein to he is nominated, and requiring such archbishop to consecrate such person, with all the requisites that belong to the office of bishop suffragan, id. s. 3.

30. Such person so presented and consecrated shall be accepted according to the stile and dignity he shall be so presented unto, and shall have such capacity, power, and pre-eminence, in as ample a manner, in execution of such commission, as by any such archbishops, &c. within their dioceses, shall be given to such suffragans, as heretofore, id. s. 4.

31. Every archbishop to whom H.M.'s letters patent as aforesaid shall be directed, having no lawful impediment, shall perform the contents of this act within 3 months after such letters shall come to their hands, id. s. 5.

32. No such suffragans shall take any profit of the sees whereof named, or execute any jurisdiction or episcopal authority therein or elsewhere, but only such as they shall be licensed to do, by any archbishop or bishop to whom they shall be suffragans, by commission under their seals, and every archbishop and bishop for their own diocese shall give such commissions to such suffragans as hath been heretofore accustomed, or else such as they shall deem requisite, and no such suffragan shall use any jurisdiction ordinary, or power, otherwise nor for a longer time than by such commission limited, on pain to incur the penalty of a præmunire according to 16 R. 2. c. 5, id. s. 6.

33. The bishop nominating such suffragan to H.M., or such suffragan himself, shall provide two bishops to consecrate him, with the archbishop, and bear their reasonable costs, but the residence of such suffragan over the diocese where he shall have commission, shall serve for his residence, as if he were resident upon his own benefice, id. s. 7.

34. Such suffragans may have two benefices with cure, id. s. 8.

35. GIVING AUTHORITY to H.M., upon the avoidance of any archbishopric or bishopric, to take into her hands certain of the temporal possessions thereof, reserving the same with parsonages impropriate and tithes, 1 EL. c. 19. (and s. 1.) [REP. as to s. 1. 1 EL. c. 19.]

36. On the avoidance of every archbishopric or bishopric within Eng. and Wa., and other H.M.'s dominions, H.M. may take into her hands as much of the honours, manors, lands, tenements, and other hereditaments, being parcel of the possession of any such archbishopric or bishopric, as the clear yearly value of all H.M.'s parsonages, appropriate and yearly tenths within the same amount unto and for the trial of the value of such honours, a commission may be directed to any person H.M. may deem proper to survey such honours, &c. lands, &c. and to certify the clear yearly value thereof into the court of exchequer, and after such certificate made, H.M. may give unto such archbishop and bishop, and his successors, so much of her yearly tenths, tithes, and parsonages appropriated within such archbishopric, &c. as shall be of equal or greater value as such honours, lands, &c. be so certified unto; and upon such grant made, and the same signified by H.M. to the treasurer and barons of exchequer, such honours, &c. as shall be so certified, shall be vested in H.M. and her successors, and be from thenceforth annexed to the crown, and within the survey of the exchequer, 1 El. c. 19. s. 2.

37. Nothing herein shall give liberty to H.M. to take from any such archbishopric, or bishopric, any mansion, or any demesne lands, commonly occupied with such mansion, or any lands or tenements, commonly used in the manurance, tillage, or manual occupation of any archbishop or bishop, id. s. 3.

38. General saving to all persons and corporations, other than such archbishops or bishops, all such estate, right, &c. which they had, or might, or could have, to any such honours, &c. in such condition as they were before this act, id. s. 4.

39. All gifts, grants, feoffments, fines, or other conveyance, or estates from the first day of this parliament, to be had or suffered by any archbishop or bishop, of any honours, lands, &c. being parcel of the possessions of his archbishopric or bishopric, or appertaining to the same, to any persons or corporations other than H.M., whereby any estate should pass from them, other than for 21 years, or 3 lives, from the times such lease, grant, or assurance shall begin, and whereupon the old accustomed yearly rent, or more, shall be reserved yearly, shall be utterly void, id. s. 5. [see 1 J. 1. c. 5. s. 2. post, pl. 41.] [This section is explained 39 & 40 G. 3. c. 41. tit. LEASIS.]

40. AGAINST the diminution of the possessions of archbishoprics and bishoprics, and for avoiding of dilapidations of the same, 1 J. 1. c. 3. [and s. 1.]

41. Every archbishop and bishop shall for ever be disabled at law to make, do, or suffer any act, whereby any of their manors, lands, or hereditaments, or any part, may be aliened, demised, charged, or conveyed to H.M., and all such alienations, &c. and all confirmations of the same, shall be void, id. s. 2. [see 1 El. c. 19. s. 5. ante, pl. 39.]

42. DECLARING THE MANNER of making and consecrating of the archbishops and bishops of this realm, to be good, lawful, and perfect, 8 El. c. 1.

43. [Recital of the ancient law, showing the authorities as do allow and approve the making and consecrating of archbishops and bishops, to be duly and orderly done according to the laws of this realm, id. s. 1, 2.]

44. The order for the consecration of archbishops, bishops, priests, deacons, and ministers set forth under 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 1. shall stand in full force and effect, id. s. 3.

45. All persons to be made, ordered, or consecrated archbishops, bishops, priests, ministers of God's word, or deacons, after the order and form prescribed in 5 & 6 E. 6. c. 1. shall be deemed rightly made and consecrated, id. s. 5.

BLASPHEMY.

1. FOR MORE EFFECTUAL suppression of blasphemy and profaneness, 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 32. [REPEAL as to denying the Trinity, 53 G. 3. c. 160. s. 2. which is EXT. to Ire., 57 G. 3. c. 70.]

2. Every person who having been educated in, or having made profession of the Christian religion within this realm shall, by writing, printing, teaching, or advised speaking, [deny any one of the persons in the Holy Trinity to be God. REPEAL 53 G. 3. c. 160. s. 2.] or shall assert or maintain that there are more gods than one, or shall deny the Christian religion to be true, or the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testament to be of divine authority, and being on indictment or information lawfully convicted thereof on oath of two witnesses, shall, for the first offence, be incapable to have or enjoy any office or employment, ecclesiastical, civil, or military, or profit thereby, and the offices, places, and employments enjoyed by such persons at the time of their conviction, shall be void; and on the second conviction of any such crime, shall be disabled to sue or prosecute any action or information in law or equity, or be guardian of any child, or executor or administrator of any person, or capable of any legacy or deed of gift, or to bear any office civil or military, or benefice ecclesiastical, and shall suffer three years imprisonment from the time of such conviction without bail, id. s. 1.

3. No person shall be prosecuted by virtue of this act for words spoken, unless the information be given on oath, before some justice, within four days, and the prosecution be within three months after the information, 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 32. s. 2.

4. Persons convicted of any such crimes shall, for the first offence, upon renouncing such offence or erroneous opinions in the court where convicted, within four months after conviction, be discharged from all penalties and disabilities incurred thereby, id. s. 3.

BLEACHING GROUNDS.

(STATUTE repealed.)

1. TO PREVENT the stealing of linen, fustian, and cotton goods and wares from fields, grounds, and other places used for whitening, bleaching or drying the same, 4 G. 2. c. 16. REPEAL 18 G. 2. c. 27. s. 1.]

1. FOR MORE effectually preventing the stealing of linen, fustian, and cotton goods and wares, in buildings, fields, grounds, and other places, used for printing, whitening, bleaching or drying the same, 18 G. 2. c. 27. [REPEAL as to so much as takes away the benefit of benefit of clergy from persons stealing cloth in places therein mentioned, and more effectually to prevent such felonies, 51 G. 3. c. 51.]

2. Every person who shall [by day or night, 18 G. 2. c. 27. s. 1.] feloniously steal any linen, fustian, calico, cotton cloth, or cloth worked, woven, or made of any cotton or linen yarn mixed, or any thread, linen or cotton yarn, linen or cotton tape, incl, filleting, laces, or any other linen, fustian, or cotton goods, laid or exposed to be printed, whitened, bowked, bleached, or dried in any whitening or bleaching croft, lands, fields, or grounds, bowking, drying, or printing-house or other building, ground or place used by any calico printer, whitster, crofter, bowker, or bleacher, for printing, whitening, bowking, bleaching, or drying of the same, to the value of 10s., or who shall aid or assist, or wilfully hire or procure another to commit any such offence, or who shall buy or receive any such goods, knowing them to be stolen, shall on conviction [be guilty of felony, and suffer death without clergy, REPEAL 51 G. 3. c. 41. s. 1.] [be transported for life, or for such term, not being less than seven years, as the convicting judge shall adjudge, or shall be imprisoned only, or imprisoned and kept to hard labour in the common gaol, house of correction, or penitentiary, for any term not exceeding seven years, 51 G. 3. c. 41. s. 2.,] 18 G. 2. c. 27. s. 1., 51 G. 3. c. 41. s. 2.

3. The court or judge who tries the offender may compute the punishment of death hereby awarded to transportation for fourteen years, on like terms as in case of other felons, 18 G. 2. c. 27. s. 2.

4. Every offender so ordered for transportation under this act, who shall break gaol, or escape thereout, or shall return from transportation without lawful cause, before the expiration of such term of 14 years, shall, on conviction thereof, suffer death as persons attainted of felony without clergy, id. s. 3.

BOATS.

(STATUTE expired.)

1. FOR REQUIRING ALL boats, barges, and other vessels of certain descriptions used on navigable rivers and on inland navigation in G. B. to be registered, 35 G. 3. c. 58. EXT.

(STATUTES in force.)

1. TO PREVENT the using of boats, wherries, and other such vessels of the description herein mentioned in smuggling, by declaring such boats and vessels found in certain ports and places, to be forfeited, unless licensed by the admiralty, 8 G. 1. c. 18. ss. 3—5. 23., [this title is framed from the preamble to s. 3.] [CON. by several acts, and MADE PERF. except as to licensing boats, (s. 5. which is EXT.) 49 G. 3. c. 20. s. 4. AMEND. 12 G. 1. c. 28. s. 14. EXT. to all boats with six oars in all parts of G. B., and within a certain distance of the coasts thereof, 19 G. 3. c. 69 ss. 3, 5, 6., 47 G. 3. s. 2. c. 66. ss. 3, 4, 7.,] [see as to licensing boats, post, 52 G. 3. c. 141., 55 G. 3. c. 163.]

2. Every boat, wherry, pinnace, barge, or galley, rowing, or made to row with more than four oars, found on the water, or in any bargehouse, workhouse, or other place within the counties of Middlesex, Surrey, Kent, or Essex, or on the Thames, either above or below London Bridge, or within the limits of the ports of London, Sandwich, or Ipswich, or of the members or creeks to them belonging, shall, with all her tackle and furniture, or the value thereof, be forfeited, and may be seized by any officer of customs or excise, 33 G. 2. c. 9. s. 16.

3. And the owner or person using or rowing such boat, &c. shall also forfeit 40s., and such seizure and forfeiture shall be prosecuted as hereby (s. 33.) directed, and after seizure and condemnation, the principal officers of customs at the port where the same is at the time of con-demolition, shall cause such boat, &c. to be wholly destroyed, and the tackle, &c. to be sold, and the produce divided as directed in s. 23, the charges of selling and destroying being first deducted, 8 G. 1. c. 18. s. 3.

4. The commissioners of customs may cause any such boat, &c. (excepted as in 8 G. 1. c. 18. s. 3.) which shall be seized for any reason in such act and section mentioned, to be used by any officer of customs, together with the tackle, &c. belonging thereto, the seizer being first paid his share, 12 G. 1. c. 28. s. 14.

5. This act shall not extend to any barge or galley belonging to H. M. or the royal family, or to any long-boat, yawl, or pinnace belonging to and used in the service of any merchant-vessel, or to any such boat, &c. as shall be licensed by the admiralty, 8 G. 1. c. 18. s. 4. [Exp. as to such licence.]

6. The 8 G. 1. c. 18. s. 3 & 4, and other clauses, &c. thereof, (not altered by this act,) so far as they relate to boats, &c. rowing, or built to row, with more than four oars within the counties and places therein mentioned, shall extend to all boats, &c. or other vessels rowing, or built to row, with more than six oars, which shall be found on the land or water within any harbour, port, or place, in any other part of G. B., or within two leagues of the coast thereof, subject to the exceptions in 8 G. 1. c. 18. s. 4, mentioned, 19 G. 3. c. 69. s. 3.

7. Nothing in this act shall extend to boats called tow boats, used in towing vessels belonging to licensed pilots within the port and jurisdiction of the city of Bristol, id. s. 5. and pl. 14.

8. Every boat belonging in whole or in part to, or whereof one half the persons on board are subjects of H. M., being rowed, or constructed to row, with more than six oars, found within the limits of any port in the U. K., or in any part of the British or Irish channels, or elsewhere on the high seas, within 100 leagues of the coast of G. B. or Ire., shall, with all her furniture, tackle and apparel, be forfeited, and may be seized by any officer of navy, army, marines, customs, or excise, 17 G. 3. S. 2. c. 66. s. 3.

9. Nothing in this act contained as to the number of oars in any boat, shall extend to boats employed in the whale fisheries, or belonging to merchant vessels of 250 tons burthen, nor to any life-boat, or boat used solely in inland navigation, id. s. 4.

10. Nothing herein, in relation to the number of oars with which any boat may be rowed or constructed to row, shall extend to any boat or vessel belonging to H. M., or in the service of government, or of the customs, or excise, id. s. 7.

11. Such penalties shall be prosecuted by bill or information in the courts at Westminster, or the court of exchequer at Edinburgh, wherein no essoin, &c. shall be allowed, and shall go one moiety to H. M., and the other to the party suing, 18 G. 1. c. 18. s. 23.

12. All vessels and boats forfeited by this act, may be seized by any officer of excise or customs, and shall be prosecuted and condemned as other vessels are to be by 5 G. 3. c. 22. (ss. 5, 6.); and when any vessel is forfeited under this act, and which is liable under any other act to be destroyed or used in H. M.'s service, the commissioners of customs or excise may, if the same is not necessary for H. M.'s service, direct the hull to be broken up and sold, and the produce divided, as the produce of the tackle, &c. of such vessels is to be; and no writ of delivery shall be prosecuted out of the court of exchequer for any such vessel so seized, and which under any former act is liable to be destroyed, unless the seizing officer shall neglect to proceed to trial and condemnation for three terms; and in that case, not without good security in double the value of the vessel, to return the same on condemnation, 19 G. 3. c. 69. s. 6.

13. To REGULATE THE MANNER OF licensing boats by the commissioners of customs, and the delivering up of licences in cases of loss, or capture of vessels licensed, and for enabling the commissioners to purchase certain boats at a valuation, 52 G. 3. c. 141. [See 55 G. 3. c. 165. pl. 24.]

14. Every boat, wherry, pinnace, barge, or galley, being rowed with, or constructed to row with more than four oars, belonging in whole or in part to H. M.'s subjects, or whereof one-half of the persons on board are H. M.'s subjects, found within the limits of any port of G. B., or of any part of British or Irish channels, or elsewhere on the high seas, within 100 leagues of the coast of G. B., or discovered to have been within such limits, the owners of which have not obtained a license for using such boat, &c. from the commissioners of customs in Eng. or Scot., as the case may be, or from the admiralty before the passing of 47 G. 3. S. 2. c. 66., shall, with all the tackle and furniture, be forfeited, and may be seized by any officers of navy, army, marines, customs, or excise; but nothing hereinbefore contained shall extend to any boat, &c. belonging to H. M., or royal family, or in service of the government, or of the customs, or excise, or to any long boat, yawl, pinnace, or other boat belonging to any square-rigged vessel in merchant's service, or to any other merchant vessel exceeding the burthen of 150 tons, not otherwise requiring a license for the use thereof, or to any boat employed in the whale fisheries, or any life-boat, or any tow-boat used in towing ships, belonging to licensed pilots within port and jurisdiction of the city of Bristol, or to any boat, &c. employed solely in inland navigation, 52 G. 3. c. 141. s. 1.

15. Every license which may be granted by such commissioners of customs for any boat, &c. rowing with six oars, or otherwise requiring a licence, shall contain a description thereof, the names of the owners, and their places of abode, and in what manner intended to be employed, or any particulars such commissioners may require to be inserted; and the owners of such boats, &c. shall also give bond to H. M. in double the value thereof, agreeable to 46 G. 3. c. 137., and on failure hereof such licence shall be void, and such boat, &c. shall be liable to seizure and prosecution, id. s. 2.

16. No licence shall be granted by the commissioners of customs for boats constructed to row with more than six oars; and if any such boat owned in whole or in part by, or whereof one-half of the persons on board are subjects of H. M., shall be found within the limits mentioned in s. 1. not licensed previous to the passing of this act, the same shall be forfeited, and may be seized by any officer mentioned in s. 1., and every such officer may arrest any person, being a sea-faring man, found on board such boat (not being a passenger) and convey him to a king's ship, or to any officer employed in the impress service, and such person, if fit, may be impressed into H. M.'s naval service, and continue therein under the regulations mentioned in 47 G. 3. S. 2. c. 66., and the officer arresting any such person shall be paid by the commissioners of customs for each man so impressed, not less than 5*l.*, or more than 20*l.*; but nothing herein, as to boats rowing with more than six oars, shall extend to such tow-boats within the port of Bristol, as in s. 1., or to any boats employed in the service of the East India company, or of the customs, or excise, or belonging to H. M., or any of the royal family, or to any life-boat, or boat solely used in inland navigation, or to any square-rigged vessel employed in the merchant's service, or to any other such merchant vessel exceeding 150 tons burthen, id. s. 5.

17. Whenever any licensed boat not belonging to any vessel, and being under fifteen tons' burthen, shall be lost, destroyed, seized, captured, sold, or any way disposed of, the licence of such boat shall be delivered to collector of customs at her own port within six weeks afterwards, or in case such licence is lost or taken by the enemy, due proof on oath shall be made thereof within the like period before the collector and comptroller of such port, which oath they shall administer; and in case such licence is not so produced or delivered up, or no proof made, the owner of such boat shall forfeit 50*l.*, id. s. 4.

18. Whenever any licensed ship or vessel exceeding fifteen tons' burthen, shall be lost, destroyed, seized, captured, sold, or otherwise disposed of, her licence, in case she was licensed for the coasting or fishing trade, only, shall be delivered up to the collector of customs at her own port within two months from the time she was so disposed of, or if she was licensed to trade to parts beyond the seas, within one calendar month after such loss, &c. shall come to the knowledge of the owner thereof, or if such licence was lost or taken by the enemy, due proof thereof shall be made on oath within the like periods before the collector and comptroller of such port, and which oath they may administer; and in case such licence is not produced and delivered up, or no such proof made, the owner and master of such vessel shall forfeit 50*l.*, if the burden of the vessel is fifteen tons and under 150 tons, and 100*l.* if of 150 tons or upwards; all licences required under this act shall be granted without any stamp or fee whatever, id. s. 5.

19. If the owner or master of any licensed vessel or boat lost, &c. (as in s. 5.) shall, prior to or after such disposal thereof, knowingly make use of the license granted for the same, in order to protect from seizure and prosecution any other vessel or boat, or if the owner or master of any vessel or boat licensed by the commissioners of customs, shall knowingly use such licence for any other vessel or boat than that for which granted, they shall forfeit 200*l.*, id. s. 6.

20. The commissioners of customs in Eng. or Scot. respectively, may purchase any boat, wherry, pinnace, barge, or galley, rowing with more than six oars, which has been licensed before the passing of this act, and the owners of such boats, &c. are required to dispose of their interests therein at a fair valuation; and in case of refusal to take purchase-money, such boat may be seized, id. s. 7.

21. Boats so purchased shall be employed in service of revenue, or destroyed, id. s. 8.

22. Any other boats belonging in whole or in part to, or whereof one half of the persons on board are H. M.'s subjects, and being in length thirty feet and upwards, constructed for rowing or sailing, or rowing and sailing, the length of which shall be greater than in proportion of one foot for every two inches of the width, to be measured by a straight line from the fore-part of the stem to the aftside of the transverse or stern-post aloft, and found within the limits in s. 1. aforesaid, shall be forfeited, and may be seized by any officer of the navy, army, marines, customs, or excise, unless the same being clinch-built shall have plank of not less than half an inch thick, and timbers of the following dimensions, (viz.) Every boat

Exceeding in length	30ft. } 35 } 40 } 45 }	and under of length of	35ft. } 40 } 45 } 50 }	Timbers of inches square	14 } 14 } 14 } 14 }	such timbers being	not more than	10 inches apart.
---------------------	---------------------------------	------------------------	---------------------------------	--------------------------	------------------------------	--------------------	---------------	------------------

but nothing herein contained as to boats of 50 feet in length, and upwards, shall extend to boats belonging to vessels exceeding 150 tons burden, licensed by such commissioners respectively, nor to life-boats, nor boats employed in the whale fisheries, or belonging to square-rigged vessels in the merchants' service, or any other merchant vessel exceeding 150 tons' burthen, or solely used in inland navigation, or employed in the service of government, or to boats licensed by the admiralty prior to the passing of 47 G.3. S.2. c.66., or by the commissioners of customs, prior to the passing hereof; but nothing herein enacted as to the length, width, or plank or timbers of boats, shall affect boats belonging to vessels returning from their first voyage, they leaving G.B. fourteen days after the passing of this act, 52 G.3. c.141. s.9. [See 55 G.3. c.163.]

23. Boats seized under this act, and all forfeitures hereby imposed, shall be managed, detained, sued for, condemned, distributed, recovered, and applied in Eng. or Scot., according to the laws of customs now in force and not hereby altered, id. s.10.

24. TO REGULATE THE ISSUING OF LICENCES to allow open boats to proceed to foreign parts, and for revoking the same when necessary, 55 G.3. c.163. [See 52 G.3. c.141. s.9. pl. 22.]

25. Three or more commissioners of customs may revoke licenses already issued for open boats not belonging to ships or vessels, allowing such open boats to proceed to foreign parts, and in future may either refuse licenses for such open boats, or limit the employment and navigation thereof, in any manner and within any limits and distance of the coasts of G.B. or Ire., as they think fit, whenever they deem it expedient to prevent smuggling and protect the revenue, id. s.1.

26. After such commissioners shall, by any order in writing under their hands, have revoked any licence, a copy of the order of revocation shall be left either with any one of the owners of such open boat, or the person having the care thereof, and after the delivery of such copy, the licence granted for such boat shall be void, and the owner shall deliver up such licence to the collector of customs at the port to which she belongs, within three months from day of the delivery of such order; or in case of such licence being lost or taken by the enemy, due proof shall be made on oath before such collector or comptroller, which oath they shall administer; and in case such licence shall not be delivered up, or no such proof made, the owner of such boat shall forfeit 20*l.*, or if such open boat shall be used or navigated after a copy of the order of revocation has been delivered, such boat may be seized by any officer of customs, id. s.2.

27. Penalties and forfeitures hereby imposed may be sued for, prosecuted, and disposed of, by such means as any penalty for any offence against the custom-laws may be, id. s.3.

BOOKS. (See LITERARY PROPERTY.)

(STATUTE repealed.)

ALIENS may import books to be sold, 1 R.3. c.9. s.12. [REP. 25 H.8. c.15. s.1.]

1. FOR PRINTERS and bookbinders, 25 H.8. c.15.

2. No person inhabitant within this realm shall buy to sell again any printed books brought from parts out of the king's obeisance, ready bound in boards, leather, or parchment, upon pain to forfeit for each book 6*s.* 8*d.*, id. s.2.

3. No person, tenant within this realm, shall buy therein of any stranger born, other than denizens, any printed books brought from beyond sea, except only by engross, and not by retail, on pain to forfeit 6*s.* 8*d.* for each book; such forfeitures to be levied of the buyers, and to go in moiety to H.M. and the party suing by bill or information in H.M.'s courts, wherein there shall be no essoin, &c. id. s.3.

4. If any of such printers or sellers enhance the price of such books in sale or binding, then on complaint to H.M., or unto the chancellor, treasurer, or chief justices of either bench, they or two of them, shall enquire thereof, by the oaths of 12 men, and by examination, and when the same enhancing is found, then the chancellor may reform the same, and limit the price, as well for the book as the binding, and the offender shall forfeit for each book sold at such enhanced price, 3*s.* 4*d.*, one half to H.M., and the other to the party grieved, 25 H.8. c.15. s.5. [See a similar provision, 8 A. c.18. s.4., which is REP. by 12 G.2. c.36. s.3.]

4. ALL MEN under 60 shall have bows and arrows for shooting, (id. s.1); men children, between 7 years and 17, shall have a bow and 2 shafts, (id. s.2); men about 17 years of age, shall keep a bow and 4 arrows, penalty 6*s.* 8*d.* (id. s.3.) shooting at rovers; shooting in yew bows; the inhabitants of every town shall cut butts and shoot at them, (id. s.4); sale of seasonable timber by one fletcher to another, (id. s.7); bowyers and fletchers, &c. not free of London, shall on commandment dwell elsewhere, (id. s.8); aliens shall not convey bows or arrows beyond the sea, (id. s.9); aliens shall not use shooting in long-bows, penalty forfeiture of bows, (id. s.10.) [These enactments, though obsolete, are unrepealed, and appear CON. 15 E.14.]

5. ALIEN merchants from the east, and Hanse Towns, shall bring bow-staves, under 12 E.4. c.2., and all acts for maintenance of archery, [CON. 15 E.14.]

6. FORFEITURES of those statutes shall go half to H.M. and half to the informer, id. ibid.

BRAZIER'S AND TINKERS.

1. AGAINST pewterers walking, 19 H.7. c.6. REP. MADE PERP., and AMD. 4 H.8. c.7. s.1. and 25 H.8. c.9. [which is CON. 28 H.8. c.9., 31 H.8. c.7. MADE PERP. 33 H.8. c.4. s.1.] AMD. 33 H.8. c.4.

2. No person using the crafts of pewterers or braziers, shall sell or change any pewter or brass, but only in open fairs or markets, or in their own dwelling-house, but if they be desired by the buyers of such ware, on pain to forfeit 10*l.* to H.M., 19 H.7. c.6. s.1. [half of the forfeiture given to the finder, 25 H.8. c.9. s.7. pl. 14.]

3. No person shall cast or work any pewter vessel or brass, but that it be as good fine metal as that cast or wrought in London, on pain to forfeit such bad pewter or brass, to go in moieties to H. M. and the finders; but this forfeiture shall not extend to brass or pewter in the possession of any person, other than the workers of the same, or such as have the same to sell, and being of the crafts or mysteries, 19 H. 7. c. 6. s. 2.

4. No person shall make any hollow wares of pewter, viz. salts and pots of pewter called lay metal, but after the assize of pewter lay metal wrought within London, and the makers of such wares shall mark the same. And all such wares, not well made, or not marked, found in the possession of the maker or seller shall be forfeited, and if sold the maker shall forfeit the value thereof, both forfeitures to go in moieties to H. M. and the finder, id. s. 3.

5. If any person buying or selling pewter or brass, use false beams or weights, he shall forfeit 20s. to go to H. M. and the party suing by action of debt, wherein no essoin or protection shall be allowed, and the offender shall forfeit his beams to the seizer thereof; and if such forfeiture not paid, the head officer of the place may put the offender in the stocks till the next market day, and then in the pillory during market time, id. s. 4. [REPE. as to the pillory, 56 G. 3. c. 158.]

6. The master and wardens of the craft of pewterers, within every city or borough, and where none such, the head officer of such city, &c. may appoint searchers within such city, &c. and the justices in each shire, at their Michaelmas session, shall assign two persons to search within such shire, except within such cities, &c. and of all unlawful pewter and brass by them found, the one half shall be to the searchers, and the other to H. M.; and if such masters and wardens do not so search, any person, having good cunning in such occupations, by oversight of such head officer, may search all places, and put this act in force, id. s. 5.

7. If any untrue metal or workmanship of tin or pewter be found, either in platters, or other wares, wherever made within this realm or without, and brought to be sold within the same, the mayor of London, and the master and wardens of the craft of pewterers of such city, may search for the same within such city, and the suburbs thereof, and in all other cities, boroughs, and towns, the mayors, or head officers, and wardens shall have like authority; and where no wardens be, the head officers of such cities and towns shall appoint persons to make search in the same; and if any such wares be found defective, and in possession of the seller, such seller shall forfeit the same, to go one moiety to H. M. and the other to the searchers or finders, 1 H. 8. c. 7. s. 2.

8. This act shall not be prejudicial to any person having grant from H. M. by letters patent of such forfeiture, id. s. 3.

9. No person inhabiting within this realm, shall buy or take by exchange any wares made out of this realm, of tin, or mixed with tin, as platters, or other thing made of tin or pewter, on pain to forfeit the same and the value thereof, the one-half to H. M. and the other to the finder, 25 H. 8. c. 9. s. 1. [see 35 H. 8. c. 4. s. 2. post, pl. 15.]

10. The master and wardens of the craft of pewterers, as well within London as elsewhere where they be, and where they be not, the head officer of the same city, borough, or town, may appoint persons to search and seize all such wares brought contrary to this act, id. s. 2.

11. If any person unlawfully withstands or disturbs such master or wardens, or such head officer in searching and seizing such wares as shall be brought into this realm contrary to 25 H. 8. c. 9. they shall forfeit 5*l.* the one-half to H. M. and the other to the party suing, by action of debt, &c. or information in any court of record, wherein no essoin, &c. shall be allowed, 33 H. 8. c. 4. s. 5.

12. No pewterer shall have any person to be his apprentice, being stranger-born, (REPE. 5 EL. c. 4. s. 2.) and no stranger-born shall use the craft of a pewterer, or work in any ware made of tin or pewter within this realm, on pain to forfeit 10*l.* and the tin or pewter so wrought, 25 H. 8. c. 9. s. 3.

13. No person born within this realm, occupying the craft of a pewterer, shall resort to strange countries to teach or exercise such craft, on pain to lose the benefit of an Englishman, id. s. 4.

14. As well the moiety of 10*l.* limited by 4 H. 8. c. 7. s. 1., reciting 19 H. 7. c. 6. s. 1., as also the moiety of all other forfeitures before expressed, shall be to the use of H. M. and the other moiety to the finder or person suing in any competent court, by action of debt, &c. or information, wherein no essoin shall be allowed, id. s. 7.

15. No person shall buy or take by exchange, or otherwise take into or within this realm, to the intent to sell, any such ware as in 25 H. 8. c. 9. rehearsed, made out of this realm, upon pain of like penalties to be levied as in such act expressed, 33 H. 8. c. 4. s. 2. [See 25 H. 8. c. 9. s. 1., note, pl. 9.]

11. FOR THE DUE making of bread, and to regulate the price and assize thereof, and to punish persons who shall adulterate meal, flour, or bread, 31 G. 2. c. 29. [Penalties by this act imposed appropriated, 32 G. 2. c. 18. s. 2. AMD. 3 G. 3. c. 11. (which is REPE. 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 1.) 13 G. 3. c. 62., 33 G. 3. c. 37., (which is REPE. 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 1.) 37 G. 3. c. 98., 39 & 40 G. 3. c. 74. ss. 1, 5. The 37 G. 3. c. 98., 39 & 40 G. 3. c. 98. ss. 2, 4., relate only to London, &c. and are therefore omitted as local. 30 G. 3. c. 73. (Pub. Act, s. 6.) 53 G. 3. c. 116. (Pub. Act, s. 15.)]

[NOTE. All these acts are REPE. as to so much of them as relates to the making and selling of bread where no assize is set, or the punishment of persons who adulterate meal, flour, or bread, or who sell bread deficient in weight, so far as respects the bread, &c. to be made and sold out of London, and the liberties thereof, and beyond the weekly bills of mortality, and ten miles of the royal exchange, where no assize is set, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 1.] [EXT. to Scot. 3 G. 5. c. 6.]

12. So much of 51 H. 3. intitled, assisa panis et cervisie, as relates to the assize of bread, and 8 A. c. 18., and all amendments by any subsequent acts, are repealed, 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 1.

13. The court, or persons hereinafter authorized, may set in any place within their respective jurisdictions, the assize and weight of all sorts of bread in such place made for or exposed to sale, and the price to be paid for the same, as often as they think proper. And in every assize of bread, respect shall be had to the price which the grain, meal, or flour, whereof such bread is made, bears in the market in or near the place for which such assize is set; making reasonable allowances to the makers of bread for sale, for their charges, labour, and profit, id. s. 2.

14. Where an assize of bread is set for any place, no person shall make for sale, or expose to sale, any sort of bread, except wheaten and household, otherwise brown bread, and such other sorts, as in such place are allowed to be made or sold by the court or persons authorized to set the assize: but where it hath been usual to make bread with the meal of rye, barley, oats, beans, or peas, or with the meal of any such different sorts of grain mixed together; or the court, &c. shall allow bread to be made with rye, &c. or the flour thereof, or the flour of any such different sorts of grain mixed together, such bread shall be there made and sold: and if any person offend in the premises, and be convicted, either by confession, or the oath of one witness, before any magistrate or justice, he shall forfeit not exceeding 40*s.* nor less than 20*s.* as such magistrate, &c. thinks fit, id. s. 3.

15. In every place for which an assize of bread shall be set, the assize and weight of the several sorts there made for sale, and the price, shall be set according to the tables herein set down, id. s. 4. [These tables superseded, and others given to be used out of London, &c. 53 G. 3. c. 116. s. 7. and Tab. Nos. 6, 7, 8.]

16. Every assize that shall be set in any city, &c. shall be set in avoirdupoise weight, of sixteen ounces to the pound, and in the proportions directed by the tables, or as near as may be, as to the several sorts of bread in this act specified; and the tables shall extend to bread made with the flour of wheat mixed with the flour of other grain, as also to bread made with the flour of other grain than wheat which shall be allowed to be made into bread in any place under this act; and the assize of all such mixed bread shall be set, as near as may be, according to such tables, 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 5.

17. The prices which the several kinds of grain and flour (fit to make the different sorts of bread) sell for in the markets in London, during the whole market, and not at particular times thereof, or on particular contracts only, shall be certified on oath, on some certain day in every week, as the court of mayor and aldermen of London appoint, by the meal weighers of the city of London, or such persons as such court shall direct; and also in some day in every week appointed by such court, be entered by such meal-weighers, &c. under their hands, in some book provided by the city of London, and kept at the town clerk's office: and the next day after every such price so certified, the assize and weight of all sorts of bread to be exposed to sale within the limits of their jurisdiction, and the price for the same, shall be set by the court of mayor and aldermen in London, if the said court then sit, and if such court shall not then sit, by the mayor; and the assize of bread so set in London, shall take place from such time as the said court shall order, and be in force for the city of London, and the liberties thereof, and the weekly bills of mortality, (the city of Westminster, and liberties thereof, the borough of Southwark, and weekly bills of mortality in the county of Surry excepted), until a new assize of bread in London be set; and after the setting of every such assize of bread in London, the assize so set shall, with all speed, be made public in such manner as the court of mayor and aldermen shall order: but before any advance or reduction in any week be made by the said court or mayor in the price of bread, such meal weighers, &c. shall leave in writing, at the common hall of the company of bakers in such city, a copy of every such return of the price of grain, meal, and flour, some time of the same day on which they make such return, that the company of bakers may, the morning of the next day after such return and entry made, and before any assize be set, have an opportunity to offer to the court of mayor and aldermen, &c. objections against any advance or reduction being that day made in London in the price of bread, id. s. 6.

18. The court of mayor and aldermen of every other city where there is such court, and when such court sits; and where there is no such court, or the same does not sit, the mayor, bailiffs, or other chief magistrates of every city, and in towns corporate, or boroughs, the mayor, bailiffs, aldermen, or other chief magistrates, or two justices where there is no mayor, &c. shall, as there is occasion, within their respective jurisdictions, cause the prices which the several sorts of grain, &c. (fit to make the different sorts of bread) sell for in the respective markets in or near such place, during the whole market, to be certified upon oath unto such court, or magistrates, in such manner, and by such persons, and on such day in every week, as such court, &c. shall appoint; and the price so certified shall be entered by the persons who certify the same in some book kept by them: and within two days after such price so returned, the assize and weight of bread for every such city, &c. and the price for the same shall be set by the court of mayor and aldermen of such city where there is such court, and the same shall sit; and when such court shall not sit, by the mayor thereof; and where there is no such court, by the mayor, bailiffs, or other chief magistrates thereof; and in towns corporate, and boroughs, by the mayor, bailiffs, aldermen, or other chief magistrates thereof; and by two justices where there is no such mayor, &c. and the assize and weight of bread, and price so set, in every such place, shall commence on such day in every week, and be in force for such time, not exceeding seven days from the setting such assize, and be made public in such manner, as such court or magistrates direct, id. s. 7. [See as to the way of ascertaining the price of grain in Scot., 3 G. 3. c. 6., and out of the bills of mortality, 53 G. 3. c. 116. ss. 1—6. post.]

19. If any two justices for the county at large set an assize of bread for any place within their jurisdictions, such justices may cause the price which grain, &c. (fit to make the several sorts of bread made for sale in such place) sells for in the corn market in or near such place during the whole market, to be certified on oath to them at their respective houses in such county or division, on such day in every week as they shall appoint, by the respective clerks of the market in or near such place, or such other persons as such justices shall appoint; and the price of grain, &c. so returned, shall be entered by the persons who return the same, in some book kept for that purpose; and within two days after such return of the price of grain, &c. to such justices, the price and assize of bread may be by them set, for not exceeding fourteen days; and the assize so set shall commence after every setting thereof, and be made public in such place for which the same is so set, in such manner as the justices shall order, id. s. 8. [See 53 G. 3. c. 116. ss. 7, 8, 9, 10.]

20. Any maker of bread for sale in any such other city, &c. or place where the price and assize of bread shall be set, may, in the day time, the next day after every return of the price of grain and flour, see the entry of the price of grain, &c. without paying any thing for the same; that every such maker of bread for sale, may have an opportunity on such next day after such entry, to offer to such court, chief magistrate, or justices, before any such assize be set, objections against any advance or reduction in the assize or price of bread in such other city, &c., 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 9.

21. No baker or maker of bread for sale shall be liable to pay any fee to any person for any assize of bread being set, altered or published, id. s. 10.

22. The form of the return, or the certificate of the price of grain or flour, shall be as followeth, viz.

[The prices of grain, meal, and flour, as sold in the corn market in — in the — of — the — day of — 18

The best wheat	-	-	-	-	at	by the bushel.
The second	-	-	-	-	at	by ditto.

To every of which returns the persons appointed to make the same, shall sign their names or marks, id. s. 11. [See other forms of returns, 53 G. 3. c. 116. Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4. and s. 3.]

23. When an assize of bread shall be set, the same shall be made public in the form following, viz.

[— to wit. The assize of bread set the — day of — for — to take place on the — day of — now next ensuing, and to be in force — for the said — of —.]

And in places where penny, twopenny, sixpenny, twelpenny, and eighteenpenny loaves shall be made, as followeth:—

	lb.	oz.	dr.
[The penny loaf wheaten is to weigh	-	-	-
Ditto household is to weigh	-	-	-
The twopenny loaf wheaten is to weigh	-	-	-
Ditto household is to weigh	-	-	-
The sixpenny loaf wheaten is to weigh	-	-	-
Ditto household is to weigh	-	-	-
The twelpenny loaf wheaten is to weigh	-	-	-
Ditto household is to weigh	-	-	-
The eighteenpenny loaf wheaten is to weigh	-	-	-
Ditto household is to weigh	-	-	-

And in places where quartern, half-peck, and peck loaves shall be made, then as follows:

	lb.	oz.	dr.	s.	d.
The peck loaf wheaten is to weigh	-	-	-	-	-
Ditto household is to weigh	-	-	-	-	-
The half-peck loaf wheaten is to weigh	-	-	-	-	-
Ditto household is to weigh	-	-	-	-	-

And the half-peck and quarter of a peck loaves of wheaten and household bread are to weigh in proportion to the weight a peck loaf of wheaten or household bread ought to weigh, and are to be sold according to the price a peck loaf of wheaten or household bread respectively is to be sold. And whenever any bread shall be ordered to be made by any such magistrate or justices, within their jurisdiction, with the flour of rye, barley, oats, peas, or beans, either alone or mixed with the flour of any other grain, the assize of such bread shall be made public in such manner as such magistrate or justices, who set the assize, shall direct, 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 12.

24. In places where any sixpenny, twelpenny, and eighteenpenny loaves shall be ordered or allowed to be made or sold, no peck, half-peck, or quarter of a peck loaves shall be allowed at the same time; that one of those sorts of loaves may not be sold for the other sort, to the injury of unwary people; upon pain that every one who offends in the premises be convicted, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding 40s. nor less than 20s., as the magistrate before whom he is convicted thinks fit, id. s. 13.

25. If for the better carrying into execution this act, the justices shall at any general or general quarter-sessions fix, that any hundred or place in the county, &c. ought to be considered as in any one particular hundred, riding, or division of such county, &c. that the assize of bread set for such particular hundred or place, may extend to such other hundred or place, they may do so, but by so doing, no justice of peace of any such county, &c. shall be excluded from acting as a justice in any hundred or division of any such county in which any such particular towns or places lie, or the assize for them is set, 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 14.

26. An entry shall be made by every clerk of the market or other person appointed to make such return and certificate, as hereby (s. 6, 7.) is directed, in some book to be provided and kept by them respectively for that purpose, of every return made in pursuance of this act, and of the rate at which the price, assize, and weight of bread shall from time to time be set within the jurisdiction of every such clerk of the market, &c. which book any inhabitant may inspect without fee, id. s. 15.

27. After an assize of bread set, no alteration shall be made therein in any subsequent week, unless when the price of wheat, or other grain, is returned as having risen threepence each bushel, more than the last return, or fallen threepence each bushel lower than the last return, id. s. 16.

28. If any meal-weigher, clerk of any market, or other person appointed to certify the price of grain and flour (as in s. 6, 7.) neglect to do any thing by this act required, or knowingly make any false certificate or return, or if any constable or peace-officer neglect to obey any warrant delivered to him of any magistrate or justice of peace, or to do any act requisite for the carrying this act into execution; every person so offending, being convicted, shall forfeit not exceeding 5*l.* nor less than 20*s.*, as the magistrate before whom he is convicted shall order, id. s. 17.

29. In case any buyers or sellers of or dealers in corn, grain, or flour, on request by the meal-weighers of the city of London in London, or by the clerks of the markets, or other persons appointed to certify the prices of grain, &c. from the markets within their jurisdictions, shall refuse to disclose to such meal-weighers, clerks of the markets, &c., the prices the several sorts of grain and flour are bona fide bought at or sold by or for them, at any corn market, or other place, where grain is usually publicly sold within the jurisdiction of such persons who request such account; or shall knowingly give in to any such meal-weigher, clerk of the market, &c. any false price of any grain, &c. bought or sold, or so agreed to be, or any price made by deceitful means, he or she so offending, being convicted by the oath of one witness, or affirmation of a Quaker, or on confession, shall forfeit not exceeding 10*l.* nor less than 40*s.*, as the magistrate shall order, id. s. 18.

30. If any such court, magistrate, or justice, who shall have ordered any return to be made of the price of grain, &c. within their respective jurisdictions, shall within three days after such return made, suspect that the same was not truly made, such court, &c. may summon before them any person who bought or sold, or is suspected to have bought or sold, or agreed to buy or sell any grain, &c. within their respective jurisdictions, or who is likely to give information concerning the premises, and may examine them upon oath, touching the prices the several sorts of grain, &c. were there bought at, or agreed so to be by them, at any time within seven days preceding the summoning of them; and if any person so summoned neglect to appear, (and proof be made on oath of such summons having been duly served,) or if any person so summoned appear, and refuse to answer lawful questions proposed by such court, &c. without some just excuse to be allowed of by such court, &c. he or she so offending, being convicted either by the oath of one witness, or confession before any such court, &c. shall forfeit not exceeding 10*l.* and not less than 40*s.* as such court, &c. shall order; and if any person examined upon oath wilfully forswear himself, he shall be subject to be prosecuted as for perjury, by indictment or information, and if convicted, be liable to the penalties of wilful and corrupt perjury; provided that the party so summoned be not obliged to travel above five miles from the place of his abode, id. s. 19. [See 53 G. 3. c. 116. s. 10, 11.]

31. Whenever any court, magistrate, or justices, order any bread to be made within their jurisdictions, of the flour of any other grain than wheat, or to be mixed with the flour of wheat, or to be made with the flour of any other grains, either separate or mixed together, all persons who make any bread for sale where such order is made, shall make bread with such mixed flour, in such manner as ordered by such court, &c. and shall make the same of such weight and goodness, and sell the same at such prices as such court, &c. order; upon pain that every person who offends in the premises and be convicted, shall forfeit not exceeding 5*l.* nor less than 40*s.*, id. s. 20.

32. The several sorts of bread made for sale, or sold or exposed to sale, shall be well made and in their several degrees, according to the goodness of the several sorts of flour whereof the same ought to be made, and no allum, or preparation or mixture in which allum is an ingredient, or any other mixture or ingredient, (except only the flour which ought to be put therein, and common salt, pure water, eggs, milk, yeast and barm, or such leaven as is allowed by the court or person who set the assize of bread for the place where such leaven is used; and where no assize is set, then such leaven as any magistrate within his jurisdiction shall allow,) shall be put into or used in making dough, or any bread to be sold, or as leaven to ferment any dough, or on any other account, in the trade of making bread; upon pain that every person, (other than a servant or journeyman,) who knowingly offends in the premises, and is convicted either by confession or the oath of one witness before any magistrate, shall forfeit not exceeding 10*l.* and not less than 40*s.* or shall by warrant of such magistrate be apprehended and committed to the house of correction, or some prison of the county or place where the offence is committed, or the offender apprehended, to be kept to hard labour, for not exceeding one month nor less than ten days, as such magistrate shall order; and if any servant or journeyman baker knowingly offends in the premises, and is convicted as aforesaid, he shall forfeit not exceeding 5*l.* and not less than 20*s.*, or shall by warrant of such magistrate be apprehended and committed to the house of correction, or some prison where the offence is committed, or the offender apprehended, to be kept to hard labour for not exceeding one month nor less than ten days, as such magistrate shall order; and such magistrate, out of the money forfeited when recovered, may cause the offender's name, place of abode and offence, to be published in some newspaper printed in or near the place where such offence is committed, 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 21.

33. No person shall knowingly put into any corn, or flour, which shall be ground, dressed, bolted, or manufactured for sale, either at the time of grinding, &c. or at any other time, any ingredient, mixture or thing, or shall knowingly sell or expose to sale, any flour of one sort of grain for the flour of any other sort, or any thing as mixed with the flour of any grain which shall not be the real flour of the grain the same ought to be, upon pain to forfeit not exceeding 5*l.* nor less than 40*s.*, id. s. 22.

34. No person shall knowingly put into any bread made for sale, any mixture of flour of any other grain than of the grain the same imports to be, and is allowed to be made of, or shall put into any bread made for sale, any other proportion of any other grain, or the meal or flour thereof, than is appointed by s. 3. pl. 14.; or any mixture or thing as flour which is not the genuine flour; upon pain to forfeit not exceeding 5*l.* nor less than 20*s.*, id. s. 23.

35. If any person who makes bread for sale, or sends out, sells or exposes to sale any bread, shall make, send out, sell, or expose to sale any bread deficient in weight, according to the assize set for such bread under s. 2. pl. 13., s. 12. pl. 25., he or she so offending and being convicted, shall forfeit not exceeding 5*s.* nor less than 1*s.* for every ounce deficient in the weight every such loaf ought to be of; and for every loaf wanting less than an ounce of the weight, a sum not exceeding 2*s.* 6*d.* nor less than 6*d.* so as such bread complained of in any city, town corporate, borough, liberty or franchise, or the jurisdiction thereof, or within the weekly bills of mortality, be brought before some magistrate having jurisdiction in the premises, and be weighed before him within twenty-four hours after the same is baked, sold or exposed to sale; and so as such bread complained of in any hundred or place, be brought before some justice of peace of such hundred or place, and be weighed before him within three days after the same is baked, sold or exposed to sale, unless it be made out to the satisfaction of such magistrate, on behalf of the party against whom such complaint is made, that such deficiency in weight wholly arose from some unavoidable accident in baking or otherwise, or was occasioned by some confederacy, id. s. 24. [See 48 G. 3. c. lxx., as to London, &c. 50 G. 3. c. 73. s. 1.]

36. Every person who makes for sale, or sells, exposes or sends out for sale, any bread, shall cause to be marked on every loaf the Roman letters after-mentioned, viz. upon every loaf sold, &c. as wheaten bread, a large W; and upon every loaf sold, &c. as household or brown bread, a large H; and every person who makes for sale, &c. any loaf of any sort of bread allowed to be made in pursuance of s. 3. of this act, not marked pursuant to this act, so as the same may on view be ascertained, under what denomination such loaf was made, and ought to be weighed, (except as to loaves rasped after the bespeaking or purchasing, by the desire of any person who orders the same,) shall forfeit not exceeding 20*s.* nor less than 5*s.* for every loaf not so marked, id. s. 25.

37. No baker or other person shall ask or take, for any bread which he sells or exposes to sale, any greater price than such bread shall be ascertained to be sold for by the court, magistrate or justices, authorised to set the price and assize of bread; and no baker or other person who makes any bread for sale, shall refuse to sell any loaf of any sort of bread in pursuance of this act allowed to be made, to any person who shall tender ready money for the same, at the price such bread by the assize is fixed at, when such baker, &c. has any loaf of such bread in his possession, to be sold, more than is requisite for the immediate necessary use of his own family or customers; and which it shall be incumbent on such baker or other person complained of, to prove before the magistrate to whom such complaint is made, if required by the party who makes such complaint; upon pain that every person convicted of such offence shall forfeit not exceeding 40*s.* nor less than 10*s.*, id. s. 26.

38. No person shall sell or offer to sale any bread of an inferior quality to wheaten bread, at a higher price than household bread is set at by the assize; and if any person offend in the premises, he shall forfeit for every such offence, on being convicted, either by confession, or by the oath of one witness, before any magistrate, 20s., 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 27.

39. Any magistrate or justice, and any peace-officer authorized by warrant of such magistrate, in the day time, may enter into any house, shop, stall, bakehouse, warehouse, or out-house, of any baker or seller of bread, to search for, view, weigh and try any bread there found; and if any bread be found wanting either in the goodness, or deficient in the baking or working, or in the due weight, or not truly marked, or of any other sort than allowed by this act; any magistrate or peace officer may seize the same, and such magistrate may dispose thereof as he thinks fit, id. s. 28. [See 48 G. 3. c. lxx. s. 1.]

40. If information be given on oath to any magistrate that there is cause to suspect that any miller who grinds grain for toll or reward, or any person who doth dress, bolt, or in any wise manufacture flour for sale, or any maker of bread for sale, doth mix or put into any flour ground for sale, any mixture, ingredient or thing, not the genuine produce of the grain such flour ought to be, or whereby the purity of any flour in the possession of any such miller, mealman or baker is adulterated; such magistrate, and any peace-officer authorized by warrant of any magistrate, in the day, may enter into any house, mill, shop, bakehouse, stall, bolting-house, pastry, warehouse, or outhouse, of any such miller, mealman, or baker, and search whether any mixture, ingredient or thing, not the genuine produce of the grain such flour ought to be, be mixed up with or put into any flour in the possession of any such miller, &c. either in the grinding the grain at the mill, or in the dressing, bolting or manufacturing thereof, or whereby the purity of any flour is in anywise adulterated: and if it appear that any offence hath been committed in any place allowed to be searched, such magistrate or officer so authorized may seize any flour deemed to have been adulterated, and all mixtures and ingredients found and deemed to have been used, or intended to be used in such adulteration; and such thereof as is seized by such peace-officer, shall be carried to some magistrate within whose jurisdiction the same was so seized: and if any magistrate to whom any thing seized under this act is brought, adjudge that any mixture or ingredients, not the genuine produce of the grain any such flour so seized ought to be, is put into such flour, or that the purity of such flour so seized was adulterated, such magistrate shall dispose of the same as he thinks proper, id. s. 29.

41. Every miller, mealman, baker, or seller of bread, in whose possession any mixture or ingredient is found, which is adjudged by any magistrate to have been lodged there, with intent to have adulterated the purity of flour or bread, shall, on being convicted, either by confession, or on the oath of one witness, before any magistrate, forfeit not exceeding 10*l.* nor less than 4*0s.*, unless he make it appear to the satisfaction of such magistrate, that such mixture or ingredients were not brought where the same were found, with intent to have been put into any flour, or to have adulterated the purity of any flour, but was in the place where found for some other lawful purpose; and the magistrate out of the money forfeited when recovered, may cause the offender's name, place of abode and offence, to be published in some newspaper printed in or near the place where such offence is committed, id. s. 30.

42. If any person obstruct any search hereinbefore authorized, or the seizure of any bread, or of any ingredients found on such search, and deemed to have been lodged with intent to adulterate the purity of flour, or bread, or wilfully resist such search, or the carrying away such ingredients, or any bread seized, as not being made pursuant to this act, he shall forfeit not exceeding 5*l.* nor less than 20*0s.*, id. s. 31.

43. No miller, mealman or baker, shall be capable of acting as a magistrate under this act; and if any miller, &c. so do, he shall for every offence forfeit 50*l.* to any person who will inform or sue, to be recovered in any court of record at Westminster, by action of debt, &c. or information, wherein no essoin or more than one imparlance shall be allowed, or by way of summary complaint before the court of session in Scotland, id. s. 32.

44. If any baker shall make complaint to any justice, and make appear by the oath of any credible witness, that any offence which he has been charged with, and has incurred any penalty under this act, was occasioned by the default of any journeyman, or other servant, employed by such baker, such magistrate shall issue his warrant for bringing such servant, &c. before him, or any magistrate where the offender can be found; and on such servant, &c. being apprehended and brought before such magistrate, he shall examine into such complaint, and on proof thereof upon oath, shall, by order under his hand, adjudge what sum shall be paid by such servant to his master, by way of recompence for the money paid by reason of his default; and if such servant, &c. neglect on conviction, to make immediate payment of the sum which such magistrate shall so order him to pay, such magistrate shall by warrant cause such servant to be committed to the house of correction, or some other prison, to be there kept to hard labour for not exceeding one month, unless payment be made of the money ordered before the expiration of the month, 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 33.

45. The mayor of London, or any alderman of the said city, within the said city or liberties thereof, and any justice within their respective jurisdictions, may hear and determine in a summary way, all offences against this act, and summon before them any party accused; and in case the party accused appear not on such summons, or offer some reasonable excuse for his default, then upon oath by any witness of any offence contrary to this act, any such magistrate shall issue his warrant for apprehending the offender; and upon the appearance of the party accused, or in case he appear not, on notice given to or left for him at his usual place of abode, or if he cannot be apprehended on a warrant granted against him as before directed, such magistrate shall make enquiry touching the matters complained of, and examine witnesses on either side on oath, and after hearing the parties and witnesses, such magistrate shall convict or acquit the party accused; and if the penalty on any such conviction be not paid within 24 hours after conviction, such magistrate shall issue a warrant directed to a peace-officer, empowering him to make distress of the goods of the offender; and if any offender convey away his goods out of the jurisdiction of such magistrate before whom he was convicted, or so much thereof that the penalty cannot be levied, then some magistrate within whose jurisdiction the offender has removed his goods shall back such warrant; and thereupon the penalty forfeited shall be levied on the offender's goods by distress and sale; and if within five days from the distress taken, the money forfeited be not paid, the goods seized shall be appraised and sold, rendering the overplus, after deducting the penalty and charges of the prosecution, distress and sale, to the owner; which charges shall be ascertained by the convicting magistrate, or by the magistrate or justice who backed the warrant, if either of them continue alive; and if not, by some other magistrate or justice of the county or place in which the offender is convicted; and for want of such distress, such magistrate in whose jurisdiction such offender is, shall, on the application of any prosecutor, and proof of the conviction and non-payment of the penalty and charges, by warrant commit such offender to the common goal, or house of correction of the city, county or place where such offender is found, for one calendar month, unless payment be made before the expiration of such month; and all such penalties, when recovered, shall be paid to the informer, id. s. 34.

46. Such of the penalties payable by 31 G. 2. c. 29. as are not appropriated, shall be distributed, one moiety, where any offender is convicted either by confession, or by the oath of a witness, to the informer; and the other moiety, and all penalties payable on the weighing, trying, or seizure of bread, by any magistrate, shall be applied for the better carrying into execution of the said act as any such magistrate within his jurisdiction shall order, 32 G. 2. c. 18. s. 2.

47. If it be made out by the oath of any person to the satisfaction of any magistrate or justice, that any one within the jurisdiction of such magistrate is likely to give material evidence on either side, and will not voluntarily appear, such magistrate shall issue his summons to convene such witness before such magistrate, at a time in such summons fixed; and if any person so summoned neglect to appear, and no just excuse be offered, then (after proof by oath of such summons having been duly served), such magistrate shall issue his warrant to bring such witness before him, and on his appearance, such magistrate shall examine him upon oath; and if such witness refuse to be examined on oath, without offering any just excuse, such magistrate within his jurisdiction may, by warrant, commit any person so refusing to be examined to the public prison of the county or place, for any time not exceeding 14 days, nor less than 3 days, 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 35.

48. The justice before whom any person is convicted, shall cause such conviction to be drawn up in the form following; (viz.)

To wit. Be it remembered, that on this — day of — in the — year of the reign of — A. B. is convicted before — majesty's justices of the peace for the said county of — or for the — riding, or division of the said county of — or for the city, liberty, or town of — [as the case shall be], for — and — do adjudge him, (her or them) to pay and forfeit for the same, the sum of — Given under — the day and year aforesaid. Id. s. 36.

49. No certiorari, letters of advocacy, or of suspension, shall be granted to remove any conviction or other proceedings thereon in pursuance of this act, id. s. 37.

50. All persons so convicted or aggrieved by the judgment of the magistrate or justice before whom they are convicted, may appeal to the next general or quarter sessions of the peace for the county or place where such judgment was given, and the execution of such judgment shall be suspended; the person so convicted, entering into a recognizance at the time of conviction, with two sureties in double the sum adjudged to be paid, upon condition to prosecute such appeal with effect, and to be forthcoming to abide the judgment of such sessions, which recognizance the magistrate or justice before whom such conviction shall be, shall take; and the justices in such sessions shall finally determine such appeal, and award costs to be paid by either party; and if upon the appeal the judgment of the magistrate before whom the appellant was convicted be affirmed, such appellant shall immediately pay the sum adjudged with such costs as the sessions award; and in default of paying the same, any two such justices, or any one magistrate or justice, having jurisdiction in the place into which such appellant escapes, or where he resides, shall by warrant commit such appellant to the common gaol of the county or place where he is apprehended, until he make payment of such penalty and costs to the informer; but if the appellant made good his appeal, costs shall be awarded to the appellant against such informer; which costs may be recovered as costs given at any general or quarter-sessions of the peace are recoverable, 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 38.

51. If any such conviction be made within six days before any general or quarter-sessions for the county or place where such conviction is made, then the party so aggrieved may, on entering into a recognizance, as in s. 38. directed, appeal either to the then next, or the next following sessions for such county or place, id. s. 39.

52. Every action brought against any magistrate or justice, or any peace-officer, for any thing done under this act, shall be commenced within six months after the fact, and be laid in the county or place where the matter in dispute arises; and the 24 G. 2. c. 44. so far as relates to the rendering the justices more safe in the execution of their office, shall extend to magistrates and justices of peace acting under this act; and no action shall be commenced against, nor any writ sued out, or copy of any writ served upon any peace-officer for any thing done in the execution of this act, until seven days after notice in writing given to or left for him at his usual place of abode, by the attorney for the party intending to commence such action; which notice shall contain the name and place of abode of such person, and of his attorney, and the cause of action: and any peace-officer may by virtue of this act, at any time within seven days after such notice, tender amends for the injury to the party complaining, or to the attorney named in such notice; and if the same is not accepted of, the defendant may plead such tender in bar, together with the general issue, or any other plea, with leave of the court: and if upon issue joined on such tender, the jury find the amends tendered to be sufficient, they shall find a verdict for the defendant; and in such case, or if the plaintiff be nonsuit, or discontinues, or has judgment against him on demurrer, or if any action is brought after the time limited, or in the wrong county or place, the jury shall find for the defendant, and the defendant shall be entitled to his costs; but if the jury find that no such tender was made, or that the amends tendered were not sufficient, or find against the defendant on any plea, they shall give a verdict for the plaintiff, and such damages as they think proper, and the plaintiff shall recover his costs, id. s. 40.

53. If any action be commenced for any thing done in pursuance of this act, the defendant may plead the general issue, and give this act and the special matter in evidence, and that the same was done in pursuance hereof; and if it so appear, and if a verdict is recorded for the defendant, or if the plaintiff is nonsuited or discontinues after appearance, or has judgment on a verdict or demurrer against him, the defendant shall have treble costs, with usual remedy to recover the same, id. s. 41.

54. No person shall be convicted in manner aforesaid, for any of the before-mentioned offences, unless the prosecution be commenced within three days after the offence committed, id. s. 42.

55. This act shall not prejudice any right or custom of the city of London, or the practice there used, or any right or custom of any lord of any leet, to set, inquire and punish the breach of assize of bread, within their respective leets or views of frankpledge, or the right of any clerk of the market in any place, id. s. 43. 13 G. 3. c. 62. s. 15.

56. A bread made of wheat as followeth; that is to say, of the flour of wheat, which flour, without any mixture or division, shall be the whole produce of the grain, the bran or hull thereof only excepted, and which shall weigh three fourth parts of the weight of the wheat whereof it shall be made; may be at all times made, baked, exposed to sale, and sold, and shall be called standard wheaten bread, 13 G. 3. c. 62. s. 1.

57. The makers of such bread for sale, shall mark every loaf thereof with the capital letters S. W., and the makers and sellers of the same shall make and sell the same, although no assize of bread be set of the weight, and in the proportions following; viz. every standard wheaten peck loaf shall always weigh 17 lbs. 6 oz. avoirdupois, every half peck loaf 8 lbs. 11 oz., and every quarter loaf 4 lbs. 5½ oz. avoirdupois; and every peck loaf, half peck loaf, and quarter loaf, shall always be sold, as to price, in proportion to each other respectively; and where wheaten and household bread, made as the law now directs, shall be sold at the same time, together with this standard wheaten bread, they shall be sold in respect of and in proportion to each other, as followeth; viz. the same weight of wheaten bread as costs 8d., the same weight of this standard wheaten bread shall cost 7d.; and the same weight of household bread as shall cost 6d., or 7 standard wheaten assized loaves shall weigh equal to 8 wheaten assized loaves, or to 6 household assized loaves of the same price, as near as may be, 13 G. 3. c. 62. s. 2.

58. Such standard wheaten bread shall not be made into, or exposed to sale, or sold as priced loaves, at one and the same time, together with the assized loaves, as one and the same standard wheaten bread, id. s. 3.

59. Magistrates or others, who are now authorized to set the assize and fix the price of bread, shall, whenever and wherever they think proper, set the assize or fix the price of bread, and at the same time set the assize on, or fix the price of the standard wheaten bread aforesaid, the baker's allowance for baking being included according to the rates and proportions set down in the following table, id. s. 4. [But see as to the new tables, 53 G. 3. c. 116.]

60. All makers of bread for sale, and all persons who shall make and bake for sale, and shall sell, or expose to sale, the said standard wheaten bread, shall make, sell, and expose to sale the said bread as directed by this act; and such persons shall be liable to the same penalties and punishments, in all respects whatsoever, for any misdemeanor or neglect in the making, marking, selling, or exposing to sale such standard wheaten bread, as they are liable to now in respect to wheaten or household bread, id. s. 5.

61. If any information shall be laid against any baker for making, marking, baking, or exposing to sale, any bread, purporting to be the standard wheaten bread aforesaid, made of flour, not being the whole produce of the wheat, the bran or hull thereof only excepted, and weighing three fourth parts of the weight of the wheat whereof it was made, and such baker shall prove that he bought the said flour, whereof his bread was made, as for such flour, of the miller or mealman, naming his name and place of abode: then the baker shall stand acquitted, and the miller or mealman offending shall forfeit the penalties directed in case of adulterating corn or flour, by 31 G. 2. c. 29. ss. 29, 30. to be paid, id. s. 6.

62. When any magistrate shall have set an assize on, or fixed the price of the standard wheaten bread, as directed by this act, such person may omit the setting an assize upon, or fixing the price of any other sort of bread, id. s. 7.

63. The justices at any general or quarter-session, may, if they think proper, prohibit, for three months, (unless they shall see cause sooner to revoke the order for such prohibition, which they may do at any adjourned quarter-sessions or any special sessions,) the makers of bread for sale from making for sale, baking, selling, or exposing to sale, any other sorts of bread, than the standard wheaten bread aforesaid; provided, that no such order for such prohibition do take place, or be in force, until one month at least after the date of the making thereof; and every order which shall be so made, shall be entered in a book, to be provided and kept for that purpose by such justices, which book may be inspected by the makers of bread for sale, without fee; and after making such order, such justices shall cause a copy thereof to be put up in some market or other public town, within the place in which such order is to be observed and take place, or else such justices shall cause a copy of such order to be inserted in some public newspaper, published in the county, &c. id. s. 8.

64. Within the city of London, and the liberties thereof, the company of bakers of such city, and in any other place, any baker or maker of bread for sale, may have an opportunity of offering to such justices, such objections as such company of bakers, or such bakers or makers of bread for sale, may have to offer against such prohibition at the time when such justices shall have under consideration the ordering such prohibition, id. s. 9.

65. Nothing in this act shall prevent the magistrates from allowing at all times, and even during the time of such prohibition, (as in s. 8.) if they think fit, any white loaves or wheaten loaves of the price of one penny, or two pence, to be made and sold, so that the said loaves be made, marked, baked, exposed to sale, and sold according to the regulations of the table of assize, and price of bread, in 31 G. 2. c. 29., contained, id. s. 10.

66. Any baker or maker of bread for sale, may make, bake, expose to sale, and sell, inferior and coarser bread than the standard wheaten, provided he sells such bread at a price under that of the household bread, as directed by 31 G. 2. c. 29. s. 20, 21. pl. 31, 32., although nothing in this act doth extend to the setting any assize thereon, id. s. 11.

67. When and where any baker or maker of bread for sale shall sell, or expose to sale, any such inferior or coarser bread, by weights and prices whereat the household bread aforesaid is at that time assized, priced, or sold, he shall, for such offence, be liable to the same penalties and punishments as bakers and makers of bread for sale are now liable to for the like misdemeanor or neglect in making, selling, or exposing to sale, any other sort of bread, allowed to be made or exposed to sale, and sold, id. s. 12.

68. All magistrates following the directions herein-before and herein-after given, shall have the same powers and authority to apply them, relative to assizing, pricing, and regulating the making, selling, or exposing to sale such standard wheaten bread, and punishing the makers, sellers, and expositors thereof to sale, for any misdemeanor or neglect in making, &c. as they have by any law now in being, relative to assizing, pricing, making for sale, selling, or exposing to sale, any bread whatsoever, 15 G. 3. c. 62. s. 13.

69. Magistrates and all other persons shall have all the privileges, protections, and indemnifications, for what they shall do in putting this act in execution, as they are entitled to by the laws relative to the making of bread, and selling or exposing the same to sale, for putting such laws in execution, id. s. 14.

70. This act shall not extend to prejudice any right or custom of the city of London, or the practice there used, or any right or custom of any lords of any leet, to set the assize, &c. of bread, or the right of any clerks of the market in any place, id. s. 15.

71. All the laws now in being, for the due making of bread, or to regulate the price and assize thereof, or to punish persons who shall adulterate meal, flour, or bread, shall stand and remain in full force, in the whole and every part thereof not altered by this act, id. s. 16.

72. In boroughs and corporations, one of the bailiffs, in the absence of the other, shall set an assize on bread, under 31 G. 2. c. 25. or this act, and do all other matters and things directed for setting the same, id. s. 19.

73. All courts and persons duly authorized shall continue to set the assize of bread, notwithstanding the price of a bushel of wheat shall exceed the sums contained in the tables to 31 G. 2. c. 29., 13 G. 3. c. 62., and (37 G. 3. c. 98. local) annexed, provided they observe the proportions contained in such tables, according to the schedule hereto annexed, 39 & 40 G. 3. c. 74. s. 1. [but see now the new tables, and 53 G. 3. c. 116. s. 7. pl. 84.]

74. All the penalties by such acts prescribed for selling bread deficient in weight, or at higher prices than the assize, shall be in force against persons acting contrary to this act, 39 & 40 G. 3. c. 74. s. 3. [the other two sections of this act are local.]

75. If any person residing beyond the city of London, or the liberties thereof, or beyond ten miles of the Royal Exchange, shall make any bread for sale, or shall send out, or expose to sale any bread deficient in weight according to the assize set for the same, in pursuance of any act in force for regulating the assize of bread, any magistrate or justice within their respective jurisdictions, before whom any information is exhibited on oath of one witness of such deficiency, and also any peace-officer authorized by warrant from such magistrate or justice, (and which warrant they shall grant on such oath,) at proper times in the day-time, may enter into any house, shop, stall, bakehouse, warehouse, or outhouse of any such baker or seller of bread, against whom any such information is made, to search for, view, and try all bread there found, which has been baked within twenty-four hours before such weighing, and which bread shall be weighed by the bushel or otherwise as most convenient, and if on weighing the same, any deficiency shall be found on the average of all such bread as shall then be weighed, and which deficiency shall be proved before such magistrate or justice, on the oath of the party weighing the same, the person so offending shall, on conviction, forfeit not exceeding 5s. for every ounce so deficient, and so in proportion, except as hereafter is excepted, and such magistrate, justice, or officer may, where they find any such deficiency, seize all loaves so deficient, and such magistrate or justice may dispose thereof as they think fit, except it shall be proved on the behalf of the party informed against, on oath or affirmation of any one respectable house-keeper, that such deficiency arose from accident, or was occasioned by some contrivance or confederacy, 50 G. 3. c. 73. s. 1.

76. Every baker or seller of bread beyond the limits in s. 1., shall have fixed in his shop a beam and scales, with proper weights of the assize, weight of a half-peck, quartern, and half-quartern loaf, and also of a 12. 6d., 12., and a 6d. loaf, and persons purchasing such loaves may have them weighed in their presence; and if any such loaf is deficient in weight, the person demanding the same to be so weighed shall have the deficiency made up, or another loaf given; and every baker who shall neglect to have such beam, scales, and weights, fixed up in his shop, or whose weights shall be deficient, or who shall refuse to weigh any such loaves in the presence of the party requiring it, shall, on conviction, by confession or on oath of one witness, forfeit not exceeding 10s., as the convicting justice shall deem fit, id. s. 2.

77. No master, mistress, journeyman, or other person exercising, or employed in the trade of a baker beyond the limits in s. 1., shall on Sunday, or any part thereof, make or bake any bread, rolls, or cakes, or shall on any part of such days except between ten and half-past one of the clock, sell, or expose to sale, or permit to be sold, &c. any bread, &c. or buns, or deliver, or permit to be baked, &c. any meat, pudding, tart, or victuals after half-past one, or be in any way engaged as a baker, except in setting the sponge for the following day's baking; and no meat, &c. shall be brought to, or taken from any bake-house during divine service, nor within one quarter of an hour of the time of commencement thereof; and every person offending against such regulations, or making any sale or delivery hereby allowed between such hours, otherwise than within the bake-house or shop, shall, on conviction before any justice for the county or place, within two days after the commission of the offence, either on the view of such justice, or by confession, or on oath of witness, forfeit, for the first offence, not exceeding 5s., for the second, 10s., and for the third and any subsequent offence, not exceeding 15s., and shall pay the costs of the conviction to be settled by such justice, and the amount thereof, together with such part of the penalty such justice shall allow to the prosecutor for loss of time, at a rate not exceeding 3s. per diem, shall be paid to such prosecutor for his own use, and the residue to such justice who shall, within seven days after, transmit the same to the churchwardens and overseers of the poor of the parish where such offence was done, for the use of the poor; and in case such penalty and costs are not paid within three days after conviction, such justice may by warrant levy the same by distress and sale of goods, or in default thereof, may commit the offender to the house of correction on the first offence for not exceeding seven days, on the second fourteen, and on the third and any subsequent offence twenty-one days, unless such penalty and costs is sooner paid, 50 G. 3. c. 73. s. 3.

78. When the court of mayor and aldermen of any city where there shall be any such court, and when such court shall sit, and where no such court, or being such, when such court shall not sit, the mayor, bailiffs, or other chief magistrate of any such city, and in towns corporate or boroughs the mayor, bailiffs, aldermen, or other chief magistrate thereof, or two or more justices in such towns and places where there shall be no mayor, bailiffs, aldermen, or chief magistrate, and when two or more justices of counties at large, ridings, divisions, or districts, and whose jurisdiction shall be beyond London, or the liberties thereof, and beyond the weekly bills of mortality, and ten miles of the Royal Exchange, shall deem it expedient to regulate the price and assize of bread within their several and respective jurisdictions, such court, mayor, justices, &c. shall, before they set any price or assize of bread, appoint a fit person (not being a corn factor, miller, maltster, baker, clerk, agent, or other person buying, selling, or dealing in wheat, or wheat-flour, or bread,) residing within or near such city, town, county, or place, to receive weekly the returns in s. 3. directed to be made of the prices and quantities of wheat and wheat-flour, bought or sold in the place where an assize is intended to be set, to be called "receiver of assize returns," for such place; and upon his death, removal, or resignation, such court, mayor, justices, &c. shall, in the same manner, appoint another person to such office, 53 G. 3. c. 116. s. 1.

79. Such receiver shall, previous to taking on him his office, take and subscribe before the chief magistrate of the city, borough, or place, or before one justice for the county or district for which appointed, the oath or affirmation annexed, id. s. 2.

80. As soon as such receiver shall be appointed under this act, the court, mayor, justices, &c. (as in s. 1.) shall cause notice to be given in the form, (No. 5.) requiring all corn factors, millers, mealmen, bakers, and others, dealers in wheat or wheat-flour, and following their trade within their respective jurisdictions, or who shall buy or sell such wheat or flour, either in the market or by private contract within the same, to make him returns on some certain day weekly, and at the place specified for that purpose, of the true quantities of all wheat and wheaten-flour fit for making wheaten bread, standard wheaten bread, and household bread, bought or sold by such corn factors, &c. within seven days then preceding, and which returns shall specify the true prices for which such wheat or flour was sold or bought, and the names and residences of the persons of whom bought, or to whom sold, and shall be in the form annexed, (Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4.) and signed by the party making the same; but no person buying or selling a less quantity than one quarter of wheat, or one sack of flour, shall be required to make such returns; and when such court, mayor, justices, &c. shall be duly satisfied that any person shall buy or sell wheat, or wheat-flour, solely for the purpose of being sent coastwise, and which is not intended to be consumed in, or within fifteen miles of the place for which such returns are required, they shall not require returns from such person, id. s. 3.

81. When, in any place where any court, mayor, justices, &c. authorized by this act (s. 1.) to set any assize and price of bread within their jurisdictions, shall desire to set the same, and where, by there not being any sufficient market, satisfactory returns of the quantities and prices of wheat, and wheat-flour bought and sold within the same, cannot be obtained, such court, mayor, justices, &c. may require such returns to be made of all wheat and wheaten flour bought or sold by all corn factors, &c. (as in s. 3.) who are dealers in wheat or flour, residing or following their trade within five miles of the jurisdiction of the court, or person requiring the same, or who shall buy or sell such wheat or flour, either in the market or by private contract within such distance; or such court, mayor, justices, &c. may require of the receiver of assize returns of any place near any such place, from which any wheat or flour may be brought to supply such place, a duplicate of the like returns made by him for the jurisdiction for which he is appointed, although such corn factors, &c. or receiver, shall not be within the jurisdiction of the court, mayor, justices, &c. requiring such returns, and every such corn factor, &c. who is a dealer in wheat, or wheat-flour, and such receiver so required to make such returns, shall make them under the like regulations as the like returns of wheat and wheat-flour hereby required, and the returns so made of the quantities and prices of wheat and wheat-flour bought and sold, either within five miles of the jurisdiction of any place, or by any receiver of assize-returns for any other place than that in which an assize of bread is intended to be set, shall, from the time of computing the average prices of wheat and wheat-flour hereafter directed to be made, be added to and form part of the returns of wheat and flour made for the place where an assize is intended to be set, 53 G.3. c.116. s.4.

82. Every corn factor, miller, mealman, baker, and other persons who are dealers in wheat, or wheat-flour, who shall be required by this act to make any such returns, shall, within one month after required to make such returns, make the following declaration, viz.

[I do hereby declare that the returns of the quantities and prices of wheat and wheat-flour, bought or sold by me, which I shall hereafter make, shall, to the best of my knowledge and belief, be true and just, and to the best of my judgment conformable to the directions of an act passed in the 53d year of the reign of King George the Third, intituled an act, (setting out the title of this act.)] which declaration shall be in writing, and subscribed with the hand of the party making it, and delivered forthwith to the court, mayor, or chief magistrate of the city, &c. or to some justice of the county or place where such party shall reside, who shall certify the same to, and such certificate shall be filed by the clerk of the peace, and every such person who shall buy or sell wheat or wheat-flour, without making declaration, shall forfeit not exceeding 5*l.*, id. s.5.

83. From such returns so made for any town, city, or place where the same shall be made, a general return of the quantities, sorts, and prices of all wheat and wheat-flour, which shall by means of such returns appear to have been bought within the time therein specified, together with the average price of the whole quantity of wheat and wheat-flour fit for making wheaten standard, wheaten, and household bread taken separately, shall be prepared and computed by the receiver of assize-returns for such place within one day from the receipt thereof, and such general return shall be entered and signed by him in some book in the form directed by the court, mayor, justices, &c. aforesaid, and be, together with such average, submitted to them for their consideration and correction; but if such court, mayor, justices, &c. shall suspect that any such returns are not truly and bona fide made, and shall have issued a summons to the maker thereof, under s.11. pl. 88. in order to examine the truth thereof, such returns, whilst under examination, shall not be included in such general return from which the average prices are to be computed, id. s.6.

84. Within two days after such general return and average made and entered, the assize and weight of each sort of bread, on which an assize is intended to be set for every city, county, or place where the same is made, and the prices to be paid for the same, shall be ascertained by the court of mayor and aldermen, justices, &c. (as in s.1.) from such average prices either of wheat or of flour, according to the prices in the tables annexed to this act, nearest to such average prices, in lieu of the tables directed by 29 G.2. c.31., and 13 G.3. c.62. to be used, and if the price of a bushel of wheat, or a sack of flour, does not amount to the lowest price mentioned in such tables, or exceeds the highest, then all courts and persons duly authorized may continue to set the assize and price of bread made for sale, or exposed to sale; but in setting the same, such court or person shall duly observe the proportions in such tables, and the allowance of 5*d.* per quarter on wheat, which magistrates are directed by 38 G.3. c.62. to make to bakers in setting the assize, on account of the duty on sack, shall be considered included in such allowance given by the tables hereto annexed, id. s.7.

85. Every assize set in pursuance of this act in any city, town corporate, or borough, shall commence on such day in each week, and be in force for 7 days, from the setting of the same, and shall be made public in such manner as the court, or chief magistrate, who shall set the same, shall direct: and every such assize, so set in any county, division, riding, or district, shall commence in like manner, be in force for 14 days, and be made public, in such manner as the justices who shall set the same, shall direct, id. s.8.

86. In cases where the prices and quantities of wheat, or wheat flour bought or sold in distant places, is returned and included in the prices from which the general average price is made for any city, county, or place, the court or chief magistrate of any such city, &c. or the justices for any such county, &c. shall, previous to making such average, add such an allowance for carriage, as on enquiry they shall deem reasonable, so that such average price may be ascertained, according to what such wheat, or wheaten-flour, truly cost the buyers thereof, id. s.9.

87. Every cornfactor, miller, mealman, baker, or other person, who is a dealer in wheat or flour, and every receiver of assize-returns, hereby required to make any return, who shall neglect so to do, or who shall make any false return, shall forfeit not exceeding 10*l.*, in the discretion of the convicting court or magistrate, 53 G.3. c.116. s.10.

88. Every court, mayor, bailiff, or other chief magistrate or justice, who, having ordered any such return to be made, shall, within 14 days after any such returns made, suspect that it is not a true bona fide return, may summon before them the party making the same, or any other person likely to give information concerning the premises, and examine them on oath, touching the rates and prices the several sorts of wheat and flour mentioned in such return were really sold for at any time within the space in such return mentioned; and if the party so summoned shall neglect to appear, (and proof shall be made on oath of the due service of such summons on him,) or appearing, if he shall neglect to answer such questions touching the premises as shall be proposed by such court or person, without some lawful excuse to be by them allowed, such party shall, on conviction by confession or by oath of one witness, forfeit, not exceeding 10*l.*, in discretion of such court or person; and every person who shall wilfully forswear himself, on being so examined on oath, shall be liable to be prosecuted, as for perjury by indictment or information; and, on conviction, shall be liable to all the penalties of wilful perjury, id. s.11. [See 31 G.2. c.29. s.19. pl. 30.]

89. These acts shall not prejudice the ancient right or customs of the dean of the collegiate church of St. Peter, Westminster, or the high steward of the city of Westminster, and the liberties thereof, or his deputy, or any of them, to set the assize and weight of bread to be sold or exposed to sale within Westminster and liberties thereof, 31 G.2. c.29. s.44. 13 G.3. c.6. s.6.

90. Nothing herein shall prejudice the ancient right of the two universities, or of their clerks of the market, or the practice within the same, to ascertain the weight of all bread sold or exposed to sale within their jurisdiction, but they may continue so to do, and punish the breach thereof as fully as before this act, 31 G.2. c.29. s.45., 13 G.3. c.62. s.77., 50 G.3. c.70. s.4., 53 G.3. c.116. s.12.

91. All the powers and provisions of the several former acts now in force, not hereby altered, shall be applied to this act, and the penalties hereby inflicted shall be recovered in the same way as penalties under such acts may be, 50 G.3. c.70. s.6.

92. All powers, provisions, and penalties, contained in 31 G.2. c.29. and 13 G.3. c.62., not altered by this act, as far as they are applicable, shall be used in putting into execution this act, and the penalties hereby inflicted shall be recovered and applied in like manner as penalties by 31 G.2. c.29. (s.34. pl. 45.) are directed to be, id. s.13.

93. TO PERMIT BAKERS TO MAKE and sell all sorts of bread, 38 G.3. c.22. [REP. 41 G.3. (G.B.) c.16. s.12. (which is SUPP. 41 G.3. (U.K.) c.1. and REP. 41 G.3. (U.K.) c.2.) AND 41 G.3. (U.K.) c.12. (and which is REP. 59 G.3. c.36. s.1.) and REP. as therein mentioned, 59 G.3. c.36. s.1.

94. Any person, in any place, and whether there is any assize or not there, may make and sell, and expose to sale, peck, half-peck, quarter, and half-quarter loaves, made of the whole produce of wheat, deducting only 5*lbs.* of bran per bushel, or made of any sort of wheaten-flour mixed with meal, or flour of barley, rye, oats, buckwheat, Indian corn, peas, beans, rice, or any kind of grain, or with potatoes, in such proportions and at such prices as they deem proper, 36 G.3. c.22. s.1.

95. Every person who shall sell, or expose to sale, any loaves of mixed bread as aforesaid, shall imprint on each loaf, of each sort of bread, a mark in large Roman letters, denoting what are the sorts and proportions of each mixture, or a large M, together with some mark, distinguishing one sort of bread from another, and shall affix in his shop window a paper specifying the sorts and proportions of the mixtures composing each sort of bread, and the marks corresponding thereto, id. s.2. [REP. 41 G.3. (U.K.) c.12. which is REP. 59 G.3. c.36. s.1.]

96. If any such loaves, as in s.1., shall be deficient in weight, according to the assize thereof by 31 G.2. c.29. s.4. pl. 59. prescribed, or if they shall not be imprinted, as in s.2. pl. 95. directed, or if they have any mixture of meal or flour of any other sort, or in any other proportions than as denoted by such marks, or any mixture as for or in lieu of flour, which shall not be the genuine article it imports to be, or if the same shall have in them any alum, or preparation of alum, or if any other mixture or ingredient (except only meal, flour, or articles of which the same purports to be made, and salt, water, eggs, milk, yeast, and hops, or such other leaven as may be allowed to be put into bread by any court or persons who have set an assize in any place where such leaven is used, and where no such assize, then such other leaven (as any magistrate, within his jurisdiction, shall allow) shall be put into or used in making dough, every person so offending shall be liable to the same penalties, to be recovered and applied as in 51 G.2. c.29. directed, in respect of any like offences against such act, 54 G.3. pl. 22. s.2.

97. Nothing herein shall infringe the rights of the city of London, or the company of bakers thereof, id. s.4.

98. TO EMPOWER MAGISTRATES AND JUSTICES OF PEACE, in setting the assize of bread, to make allowance for the additional duty on salt, 38 G. 3. c. 62. [but see the new assize-tables, 53 G. 3. c. 116, and 7. thereof, pl. 84.]

99. Magistrates and justices, in setting the assize of bread, shall, before setting the same, add to the average price per quarter of wheat fit for making bread 5d.; so as to increase such average price 5d. in the quarter for the additional duty on salt, and shall, in setting such assize, make use of such increased average price so long as such duty on salt shall continue; id. ibid.

100. TO REPEAL CERTAIN ACTS NOW IN FORCE for regulating the making and sale of bread out of the city of London and the liberties thereof, and beyond the weekly bills of mortality, and ten miles of the Royal Exchange, where no assize is set, and for establishing other provisions and regulations in lieu thereof, 59 G. 3. c. 36. [Public clause, s. 27. AND. 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. Public clause, s. 26.]

101. The 56 G. 3. c. 11., 53 G. 3. c. 37. and 41 G. 3. (U.K.) c. 12., and all other acts which relate to the making and selling of bread where no assize is set, or the punishing of persons who shall adulterate meal, flour, or bread, or who shall sell bread deficient in weight, so far as respects the bread, meal, and flour, to be made and sold out of the city of London and the liberties thereof, and beyond the weekly bills of mortality, and ten miles of the Royal Exchange, where no assize is set, shall be Rev., 59 G. 3. c. 36 s. 1.

102. So much of 59 G. 3. c. 36. (viz. s. 10. in part, and s. 11. pl. 111, 112.) as relates to the weight of bread, and to the punishment of bakers and sellers of bread, who shall sell the same deficient in weight, shall be Rev. 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 1.

103. Any person out of such limits shall make, bake, sell, and expose for sale, any bread made of flour or meal, wheat, barley, rye, oats, buckwheat, Indian corn, peas, beans, rice, and every other kind of grain whatsoever, and potatoes, and with any common salt, pure water, eggs, milk, yeast, barm, leaven, and potatoe yeast, and mixed in such proportions as the makers think fit, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 2., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 2.

104. Although no assize of bread shall be set in pursuance of 53 G. 3. c. 116., no loaves called assize loaves, in the tables to the said act referred to, and the weight of which varies, according to the variation in the price of grain, shall be made for sale, sold, or carried out for sale, or be exposed to sale, or allowed to be sold, viz. no assize loaves of the price of 5d. and priced loaves called half* quartern loaves, nor assize loaves of the price of 6d. and priced loaves called quartern-loaves, nor assize loaves of the price of 1s. and priced loaves called half-peck loaves, nor assize loaves of the price of 1s. 6d., and priced loaves called peck-loaves, shall at the same time be made for sale, sold or carried out for sale, or be exposed to sale, or allowed to be sold by any baker or other seller of bread in his shop or premises, that unwary persons may not be imposed upon by buying assize loaves for priced loaves, or priced loaves for assize loaves; and every person who shall so offend shall forfeit not exceeding 2l. nor less than 10s., 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 3., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 3.

105. No person making bread for sale, nor any journeyman or other servant of such person, shall put any alum or preparation, or mixture in which alum shall be an ingredient, or any other preparation in lieu of alum, into the dough; or in anywise use or cause to be used any alum, or other unwholesome mixture, ingredient, or thing whatsoever, in the making of such bread, upon pain that every person, whether master, journeyman, or other person, who shall so offend, shall, on conviction, either by confession or on oath of one witness, forfeit not exceeding [5l. 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 4.] [20l. or less than 5l., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] or in default of payment thereof shall by warrant of the convicting magistrate, be committed to the house of correction or some prison in the county or place, for not exceeding [six 59 G. 3. c. 36.] [twelve or less than three, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] calendar months, unless such penalty shall be sooner paid; and the justice before whom such offender shall be convicted, may cause such offender's name, place of abode, and offence, to be published in some newspaper, in or near the district, and defray the expenses out of the money forfeited, if paid or recovered, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 4., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 4.

106. No person shall knowingly put into corn, meal, or flour, ground, dressed, baked, or manufactured for sale, out of the limits in s. 1. mentioned, either at grinding, dressing, bolting, or in anywise manufacturing the same, or at any other time, any ingredient, mixture, or thing whatsoever, or knowingly sell, or expose to sale, any meal or flour of one sort of grain, or the meal or flour of any other sort of grain, or any thing as, or for, or mixed with the meal or flour of any grain, which shall not be the meal or flour of the grain the same shall happen and ought to be, upon pain to forfeit not exceeding [5l., 59 G. 3. c. 36.] [20l. nor less than 5l., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 5.] 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 5., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 5.

107. Every loaf made of the meal or flour of any other grain than wheat, which shall be made for sale, or sold, carried out, or exposed for sale out of such limits, shall be marked with a large Roman (M); upon pain to forfeit not exceeding 40s. [nor less than 10s., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] for every loaf not so marked, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 6., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 6.

108. Any justice, and also any peace-officer, where any miller, mealman, or baker, or other person who shall grind grain, or dress or bolt meal or flour, or make bread for reward or sale, authorized by warrant of any such justice, at seasonable times in the day, may enter into any house, mill, shop, stall, bakehouse, boltinghouse, pastry warehouse, out-house, or ground, of any miller, &c. and take with him one or more master millers, mealmen, or bakers, and search whether any mixture, ingredient, or thing, not the genuine produce of the grain such meal or flour shall import or ought to be, shall have been mixed up with or put into any meal or flour, in the possession of such miller, &c. either in the grinding or in the dressing, bolting, or manufacturing, whereby the purity is adulterated, or whether any alum or other ingredient, has been mixed up with or put into any dough or bread, whereby the same is in anywise adulterated; and also search for alum or any other ingredient, which may be intended to be used in any such adulteration or mixture; and if on such search it appear that any such meal, flour, dough, or bread so found, has been so adulterated, or any alum or other ingredient shall be found, which shall seem to have been deposited there, in order to be used in the adulteration of meal, flour, or bread, then such justice, or officer authorized as aforesaid, may seize and take any meal, flour, dough, or bread, found so adulterated; and all alum and other ingredients found and deemed to have been used, or intended to be used in such adulteration, and such part as shall have been seized by any peace officers, shall be carried to some justice; and if any justice who shall authorize such seizure, or to whom any thing so seized shall be brought, shall adjudge that such meal, flour, dough, or bread adulterated, by any unwholesome or improper mixture or ingredient, or that any alum or other ingredient or mixture, so found, has been deposited or kept for the purpose of adulterating, then such justice shall dispose of the same, as he in his discretion shall think proper, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 7., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 7.

109. And every miller, mealman, or baker, out of such limits, as in pl. 101. whose house, &c. or possession, any alum, or other ingredient or mixture shall be found, which shall, after due examination, be adjudged by any justice to have been deposited there, for the purpose of being used in adulterating meal, flour, or bread, shall, on conviction, by confession, or on oath of one witness, forfeit not exceeding [5l.] [20l. nor less than 5l., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 8.] and in default of payment shall be committed to the house of correction, or prison of the city or place, for not exceeding [six, 59 G. 3. c. 36.] [twelve, nor less than three, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] calendar months, unless such penalty is sooner paid; unless the party make it appear that such alum or other ingredient or mixture was not brought or lodged, where seized, with any design to have been put into any meal, flour, or bread, or to have adulterated therewith the purity of any meal, &c. but that the same was or were in such place for some other lawful purpose: and such justice may cause the offender's name, abode, and offence to be published in some newspaper in or near the district, and defray the expense out of the money forfeited, if paid or recovered, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 8., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 8.

110. Every person who shall wilfully obstruct or hinder any such search or seizure as aforesaid, or wilfully oppose or resist any such search being made, or the carrying away any such alum or other ingredients or mixture, or any meal, flour, dough, or bread seized as adulterated, or as not being made pursuant to this act, shall forfeit not exceeding [2l. nor less than 1l., 59 G. 3. c. 36.] [5l. nor less than 20s., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 9., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 9.

111. [Where no assize is set, the loaves shall always weigh as follows: Rev. 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 1., and] Every baker and seller of bread shall cause to be fixed in his shop a beam and scales with proper weights, that every person may, if he think proper, require the same to be weighed; and if neglecting to fix such beam and scales, or to provide and keep proper weights, or whose weights shall be deficient in weight, or refusing to weigh any bread purchased in the presence of the party, shall forfeit not exceeding [2l., 59 G. 3. c. 34.] [5l. nor less than 20s., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 10., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 10.

112. Every baker or seller of bread who shall sell and deliver any loaves which shall be deficient in weight, shall forfeit 5s. for every ounce deficient; but no baker or seller of bread shall be liable for any deficiency, unless the same is weighed in the presence of the summoning justice and the offender, and the deficiency ascertained within 24 hours following, and unless evidence be given that the same bread was in the same state when produced to be weighed, as when taken from such baker; and nothing in this act shall include such bread as is usually made and sold under the denomination of French or fancy-bread, or rolls, or cakes, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 11. Rep. 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 1.

113. No person exercising the trade of a baker out of the limits in s. 1. pl. 101. shall, on the Sunday, make or bake any household or other bread, rolls or cakes, or sell or expose to sale, or permit to be sold or exposed to sale, any bread, rolls, or cakes, of any sort or kind, except to travellers, or in cases of urgent necessity; or bake or deliver, or permit to be baked or delivered, any meat, pudding, pie, tart, or victuals, at any time after half-past one in the afternoon of that day, or in any other manner exercise the trade of a baker, or be engaged in the business thereof, except as aforesaid, and also except so far as may be necessary in setting and superintending sponge for the following day; and no meat, pudding, pie, tart, or victuals shall be brought to or taken from any bakehouse during the time of divine service, nor within one quarter of an hour of the time of commencement thereof; and every person offending against the foregoing regulations, being thereof convicted before any justice for the county or place where the offence was committed, within two days, either upon the view of such justice, or on confession, or proof by one witness on oath or affirmation, shall forfeit for the first offence 5*s.*, the second 10*s.*, and for every subsequent offence 1*l.*; and moreover, on conviction, pay the costs of prosecution, to be assessed by the convicting justice; and the amount thereof, together with such part of the penalty as such justice shall think proper, for loss of time in instituting and following up the prosecution, at a rate not exceeding 3*s. per diem*, shall be paid to the prosecutor for his own use; and the residue of such penalty to such justice, within seven days after receipt thereof, to be transmitted by him to the churchwardens or overseers of the parish, to be applied for the benefit of the poor; and in case the whole amount of the penalty and costs be not paid within three days after conviction, such justice may, by warrant, direct the same to be levied and raised by distress and sale, or in default or insufficiency of distress may commit the offender to the house of correction, on a first offence for not exceeding 14, and on the second, or any subsequent offence, for not exceeding 21 days, unless the costs and penalty be sooner paid, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 12., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 11.

114. No miller, mealman, or baker, [corn merchant, or dealer in corn, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] shall act as a justice under this act, on pain to forfeit 50*l.* to any person who shall inform or sue for the same, in any court of record at Westminster, by action of debt, &c. or information wherein no essoin, &c. and only one imparlance allowed, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 13., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 12. [The 50*l.* penalty does not extend to corn or flour merchants.]

115. The mayor or any alderman of any city, and any other justices within their respective jurisdictions, out of such limits as in s. 1. pl. 101. may hear and determine in a summary way all offences against this act, and summon offenders; and in case the party shall not appear on such summons, or offer some reasonable excuse, then upon oath or affirmation by any witness of any offence committed contrary to this act, such justice shall issue his warrant for apprehending the offender; and upon the appearance of the accused, or in case he shall not appear, on notice given to or left for him at his abode, or if he cannot be apprehended on a warrant, then any such justice shall proceed to make inquiry, and examine witnesses on either side on oath, and after hearing the parties and witnesses, shall convict or acquit the party; and if the penalty shall not be paid within 24 hours after conviction, such magistrate or justice shall issue a warrant directed to any peace-officer within their respective jurisdiction, thereby requiring him to make distress of the goods of the offenders to satisfy such penalty, and the costs of the prosecution and distress; and if any offender shall convey away his goods out of the jurisdiction of the convicting justice, or so much thereof that the penalty cannot be levied, then some magistrate or justice within whose jurisdiction the offender shall have removed his goods, shall back such warrant, and thereupon the penalty shall be levied by distress and sale; and if, within five days from the distress taken, the penalty and costs shall not be paid, the goods shall be appraised and sold, rendering the overplus, after deducting the penalty and costs of the prosecution, distress, and sale, to the owner, which charges shall be ascertained by the convicting magistrate or justice, or the justice, &c. who backed such warrant, if then alive, and if not, by some other magistrate or justice; and for want of such distress, then every such magistrate or justice shall, on the application of any prosecutor, and proof on oath or affirmation made of the conviction and non-payment, by warrant, commit every such offender to the common goal or house of correction for [one 59 G. 3. c. 36.] [two 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] calendar months, unless, after such commitment, payment be made of such penalty, and costs and charges, before the expiration of such time; and all such penalties, when recovered, shall be paid, one half to the informer, and the other half to the magistrate or justice, and within seven days after receipt transmitted to the churchwardens or overseers of the parish, to be applied for the benefit of the poor, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 14., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 13.

116. And if it be made out by oath or affirmation, that any person within the jurisdiction of any magistrate or justice, is likely to give material evidence on behalf of the prosecutor or the person accused, and will not voluntarily appear, every such magistrate or justice shall issue his summons to convene such witness before him, at a time therein fixed, and if any person so summoned, shall neglect to appear, after having been paid or tendered a reasonable sum for his costs, at the time by such summons appointed, and no just excuse shall be offered, then, on proof on oath of the due service of such summons, such magistrates and justice shall issue his warrant to bring every such person before him, and on the appearance of such person, such magistrate or justice shall examine upon oath, or affirmation, every such witness; and if such person on his appearance, or on being brought before such magistrate or justice, shall refuse to be examined without offering any just excuse, such magistrate or justice may, by warrant, commit any person so refusing to be examined to the public prison of the place, for not exceeding 14 days, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 15. and 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 14.

117. Every person taking any oath or affirmation hereby directed to be taken, or being examined on oath, &c. under these acts, who shall wilfully forswear, or falsely affirm himself, shall be subject to be prosecuted for perjury, and liable to the pains and penalties of wilful and corrupt perjury, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 16., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 15.

118. The magistrate and justice, before any person shall be convicted, shall make out the conviction in the form or to the effect following, viz. — to wit. } Be it remembered, that on this — day of — in the — year of the reign of His present Majesty, A. D. is convicted before — H. M., justices of the peace for the said county of — [or for the — division of the said county of — or for the city, liberty, or town, as the case may be] for —, and do adjudge him, her, [or them, as the case may be] to forfeit and pay for the same the sum of —. Given under — hand and seal the day and year aforesaid. 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 17., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 16.

119. No certiorari, or letters of advocation or suspension shall be granted to remove any conviction had under this act, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 18., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 17.

120. If any persons convicted under this act shall think themselves aggrieved, such persons may appeal to the next general or quarter-sessions, and the execution of the judgment shall be suspended, such person entering into a recognizance at the time of conviction, or within 24 hours after, with two sureties, in double the sum he shall be adjudged to pay, upon condition to prosecute such appeal with effect, and to be forthcoming to abide the judgment of the sessions; and the sessions shall hear and finally determine such appeal, and award costs to be paid by either party; and if, upon hearing such appeal, the judgment of the magistrate or justice shall be confirmed, such appellant shall immediately, or within 24 hours afterwards, pay down the sum he shall have been adjudged to have forfeited, together with such costs as the sessions shall award; and in default of such payment any two justices, or one magistrate or justice, having jurisdiction in the place into which any such appellant shall escape, or where he shall reside, may, by warrant, commit such appellant to the common goal of the place where he is apprehended, until he shall make payment of such penalty and costs; but if the appellant shall make good his appeal, and be discharged of the conviction, reasonable costs shall be awarded to the appellant against such informer, who would, in case of conviction, have been entitled to a moiety of the penalty, and which costs shall be recovered by the appellant against such informer, in like manner as costs given at sessions are recoverable; but no person shall be detained in prison for such offence for a greater length of time than [six, 59 G. 3. c. 36.] [two, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50.] calendar months, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 19., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 18.

121. If such conviction shall happen to be made within six days before such sessions, then the party aggrieved may, on entering into recognizance, be at liberty to appeal either to the then next or the next following sessions, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 20., 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 19.

122. Every action against any magistrate or justice, or any peace-officer, for any thing done under this act, shall be commenced within six calendar months, and laid in the city, county, or place, where the matter in dispute shall arise; and the 24 G. 2. c. 14., so far as it relates to rendering justice of the peace more safe in the execution of their office, shall extend to the magistrates and justices acting under this act; and no action shall be commenced, or any writ, or copy of writ, served upon any peace-officer for any thing done under this act, until seven days after notice in writing shall have been given to or left for him, at his place of abode, by the attorney for the party, which notice shall contain the name and abode of the person intending to bring such action, and also of his attorney, and likewise the cause of action; and any peace-officer may, at any time within seven days after such notice, tender amends for the injury to the party, or to his attorney; and if not accepted, the defendant may plead such tender in bar, together with the general issue or any other plea; and if, upon issue joined, the jury shall find the amends tendered to have been sufficient, they shall find a verdict for the defendant; and in every such case, or if the plaintiff shall become nonsuit, or discontinue, or if judgment be given for the defendant upon demurrer, or if any action shall be brought after the time limited or limited in any other county or place, then the jury shall find a verdict for the defendant, who shall be entitled to costs; but if they find that no tender was made, or that the amends tendered were not sufficient, or against the defendant, they shall give a verdict for the plaintiff, and such damages as they think proper; and the plaintiff shall thereupon recover his costs against such defendant, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 21, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 20.

123. If any action shall be commenced against any other person than a justice or other peace-officer for any thing done under these acts, the defendant may plead the general issue, and give the special matter in evidence; and if it appear to have been done in execution thereof, or if a verdict shall be recorded for the defendant, or if the plaintiff shall be nonsuited, or discontinued, or has judgment upon a verdict or demurrer against him, the defendant shall recover treble costs, with usual remedy to recover the same, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 22, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 21.

124. No person shall be convicted under these acts, unless the information be exhibited within 14 days (except in cases of perjury); and no person who shall be prosecuted to conviction for any offence against them shall be liable to be prosecuted under any other law, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 23, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 22.

125. All penalties hereby inflicted but not herein-before directed, shall go one moiety to the person who shall inform, and the other moiety, or in case there be no person informing, then the whole thereof to the churchwardens and overseers for the use of the poor, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 24, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 23.

126. Nothing herein shall extend to prejudice the ancient right of the two universities of Oxford and Cambridge, or their, or either of their clerks of the market, or the practice by either of them used to set and appoint the assize and weight of all sorts of bread to be sold within their jurisdictions, but they may still continue so to do, and punish any breach thereof, as before, 59 G. 3. c. 36. s. 25, 1 & 2 G. 4. c. 50. s. 24.

BRICKS AND TILES.

(STATUTE expired.)

1. TO PREVENT abuses in making of bricks and tiles, and to ascertain the dimensions thereof, and to prevent all unlawful combinations amongst any brick-makers or tile-makers within fifteen miles of the city of London, in order to advance or enhance the price of bricks or tiles, 12 G. 1. c. 35. (EXPI. AND. CON. 2 G. 2. c. 15, 3 G. 2. c. 22, REV. AND CON. 9 G. 3. c. 37. s. 1, 2, 10 G. 3. c. 49. s. 1, all EXPI.)

1. FOR MAKING OF TILE, 17 E. 4. c. 4. All persons making tile shall make it good and thoroughly whited and anealed, and the earth whereof made shall be digged before 1st Nov. next before it shall be made, and be stirred and turned before the 1st Feb. following, and not wrought before 1st March, and shall be truly wrought and tried from stones, and marle and chalk shall be severed from such earth; and every such tile shall contain in length 10½ inches, in breadth 6½ inches, and in thickness ½ an inch and ¼ of an inch; and every roof-tile shall be 13 inches long, and ½ of an inch in thickness, at least, with convenient deepness; and every gutter-tile and cover-tile shall be 10½ inches long, with convenient thickness, breadth, and deepness, 17 E. 4. c. 4. s. 1.

2. And persons selling tile made contrary hereto shall forfeit to the buyer double value of the same, and make fine at the king's will; and persons aggrieved may have an action of debt against the offender with process, as in actions of common law; and the plaintiff, if he get a verdict, shall recover his costs, and the defendant shall not wage his law or have any essoin; and the justices of peace may, at their discretion, determine defaults contrary to this act, as well at suit of king as of the party grieved; and on conviction shall assess on the offender a fine of 5s. for every 1000 of plain tiles set to sale contrary hereto, 5s. for every 100 of roof-tile, 4s. 8d. for every 100 of corner-tile or gutter-tile, 2s. and so for a less proportion, id. s. 2.

3. And such justices shall call before them such persons as have best experience in the making of tile to search and examine the digging, casting, turning, parting, making, whitening, and anealing aforesaid; and such persons shall be assigned searchers, and no person shall put to sale such tile before searched by the searchers, on pain of forfeiture; and if such searchers find tile-makers offend contrary to this ordinance, they shall present the same to the justices at the next sessions, and such presentment shall be as effectual as the presentment of twelve men; and such searchers shall have as their fee for every 1000 of plain tiles searched one penny, for every 100 of roof, corner, or gutter-tile, one farthing, 17 E. 4. c. 4. s. 3.

4. Searchers neglecting their duty herein shall forfeit to the king 10s., and such justices shall examine such default in like form as for default of the searchers, id. s. 4.

5. FOR PREVENTING ABUSES IN THE MAKING AND VENDING OF BRICKS AND TILES, 10 G. 3. c. 49. 17 G. 3. c. 42.

6. All clay which shall be dug or designed for making bricks for sale in any place in Eng., shall be turned once between 1st Feb. and the time of beginning to make such bricks; and every person who shall make such bricks of any clay which shall not be turned once within such time, shall forfeit 10s. for every 1000 bricks so made, to be recovered, levied, and applied as other penalties by 12 G. 1. c. 25. (EXPI.) and this act, 10 G. 3. c. 49. s. 2.

7. All persons within the city of London, and the limits aforesaid, may dig brick-earth for making bricks at any time of the year, provided it is turned once before made into bricks, id. s. 3.

8. All persons may use cinders, commonly called breeze, only in the burning of bricks in clamps, id. s. 5.

9. Certain bricks made within London and the liberties thereof, exempt from penalties in respect of the dimensions thereof, id. s. 6, 7. [See now 17 G. 3. c. 42. s. 1. next pl.]

10. All bricks made or burnt for sale in Eng., shall, when burnt, be not less than 8½ inches long, 2½ thick, and 4 wide, (10 G. 3. c. 42. s. 6. and 17 G. 3. c. 42. s. 1.); and all pantiles there made for sale, when burnt, shall be not less than 15½ inches long, and 9½ wide, and ½ an inch thick, 17 G. 3. c. 42. s. 1.

11. Every person who shall make bricks or pantiles for sale, which, when burnt, shall be of less dimensions than those in s. 1. specified, shall forfeit 30s. for every 1000 of bricks, and 10s. for every 1000 of pantiles, and so proportionably for a greater or less number of bricks or pantiles so made for sale contrary hereto, id. s. 2.

12. The size of the sieves or screens for sifting sea-coal ashes to be mixed with brick-earth in making bricks, shall not exceed one quarter of an inch between the meshes, id. s. 3. and 10 G. 3. c. 49. s. 4.

13. All contracts, writings or agreements, whether in writing or not, entered into between any brick-maker, tile-maker, or any person concerned in the making of bricks and tiles for sale, for ingrossing bricks and tiles, or for restraining any person from freely selling the same, or for fixing any certain price under which the same shall not be sold, shall be void; and if any such person shall keep or act in, enter into, sign, seal, or be knowingly interested in any such contract, &c. or shall knowingly act therein as clerk, agent, or servant, to any one so contracting, he shall forfeit as follows, viz. all persons interested in making bricks or tiles for sale, 20s., and all such clerks, &c. 10s., to go in moieties to the poor of parish where the offence is committed, and the other to the informer, suing within six calendar months after the offence committed, to be recovered with full costs by action of debt, &c. on information in any court at Westminster, wherein no essoin, &c. 17 G. 3. c. 42. s. 4.

14. All penalties by this act imposed, the levying which is not otherwise provided for, may, on proof of the offences and conviction before any justice for the county or place where the offence was committed, be levied by distress and sale of party's goods, by warrant under hand and seal of such justice, rendering overplus to the owner, after the charge of distress, sale, and penalties deducted; and such justice shall determine the same, either by confession or by oath of one witness, and shall grant such warrant for such purposes, and administer such oath gratis; and all such penalties shall go in moieties to the poor of parish where the offenders live, and to the informer; and if there is no sufficient distress, or such penalties shall not be forthwith paid, such justice by like warrant may cause the offender to be imprisoned in county gaol or house of correction, without bail, for not exceeding two calendar months, unless penalties and charges be sooner paid, id. s. 5. 10 G. 3. c. 49. s. 8.)

15. Every justice may cause any conviction under these acts to be drawn up in the following form, and to that effect, viz.

‘Be it remembered, That on the — day of — in the year of our Lord —, A. D. —, is convicted before me, C. D. one of H. M.’s justices of peace for the county or place [as the case may be, specifying the offence, time and place, where the same was committed, as the case shall be]. Given under my hand and seal, the day and year aforesaid.’ 17 G. 3. c. 42. s. 6., 10 G. 3. c. 49. s. 9.

16. No penalty hereby inflicted, in respect of the dimensions of bricks or tiles, shall be recovered, unless the information shall be laid within one calendar month next after the sale or delivery of such bricks or tiles; nor shall any person be liable to more than one penalty for one offence, 17 G. 3. c. 42. s. 7., 10 G. 3. c. 49. s. 10.

17. Every person aggrieved by any thing done under these acts, may, within four calendar months after cause of complaint arose, appeal to the justices at any quarter sessions, on giving 21 entire days’ notice in writing, of his intention to bring such appeal, and the cause thereof, to the party complained of; and within 8 days after such notice, entering into recognisance before some justice for the county, &c. with two sureties, conditioned to try such appeal at, and abide the order of, and pay costs awarded by such sessions; and such justices, on due proof of such notice given, and of such recognisance taken, shall determine such appeal in a summary way, and award costs to either party as they think fit, and their determination shall be binding and conclusive; and no order or other proceedings under this act, shall be removed by certiorari or otherwise into the courts at Westminster, or be quashed for want of form, 17 G. 3. c. 42. s. 8., 10 G. 3. c. 49. s. 11.

BRIDGES. (See HIGHWAYS.)

1. NEITHER TOWN NOR FREEMAN shall be distrained to make bridges over rivers, but such as of old time ought to make them, 9 H. 3. M. C. c. 15.
2. FOR THE AMENDMENT of bridges on highways, 22 H. 8. c. 5. [Exp. and Ann.; and 23 El. c. 11. For re-edifying Cardiffe Bridge, in county of Glamorgan, R.E.P.; and the day of election of the wardens and assistants of Rochester Bridge, CHANGED, 1 A. st. 1. c. 18.] [See 43 G. 3. c. 59. 53 G. 3. c. 110. 55 G. 3. c. 145. post pl. 39.]
3. The 22 H. 8. c. 5. except where hereby altered, shall be in force, 1 A. st. 1. c. 18. s. 1.
4. The justices in every shire, franchise, city, or borough, or four of them, whereof one is of the quorum, shall inquire of and determine in general sessions all annoyances of bridges broken in highways, and make such process and pains, upon presentment, for reformation of the same, against such as be charged therewith, as the justices of K. B. use to do, or as it seems to them to be convenient, 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 1.
5. When it cannot be proved what hundred, parish, person, &c. is chargeable with such reformation, then, if the bridges be without any city or town corporate, they shall be made by the inhabitants of the shire or riding; and if within any city or town corporate, then by the inhabitants thereof; and if any part of any bridge so decayed shall be partly in one shire, riding, city, or town, and partly in another, or if it be part within any city or town, and part without, or part within one riding, and part within another, the same shall be repaired by the inhabitants of each shire, city, or town, according to the portions thereof as shall be within their limits, id. s. 2, 3.
6. The justices shall tax inhabitants for the repair of bridges, and after such taxation made, shall cause the names and sums of every particular person so by them taxed, to be written in a roll, indented, one part of which shall be given to the collectors; and such justices, or four of them, shall name two surveyors, who shall see every decayed bridge repaired and amended as need requires, to whose hands the collectors shall pay the money taxed; and the collectors and surveyors, and their executors and administrators, shall make an account to the justices for the shire, city, &c. of the receipts and payments thereof, on pain, in case of neglect herein, to compel them to appear at the general sessions, to make such account; and in case of refusal, shall commit them to ward, without bail, till such account is made, id. s. 4. [See as to such taxation, 1 A. st. 1. c. 18. s. 2.]
7. Where any bridges lie in one shire, and the persons, bodies, &c. which ought to repair the same, inhabit in another, or where such bridges be within any city, or town corporate, and the persons and lands, &c. which ought to repair the same, be out of such city, &c. the justices in the shire, city, or town, within which such bridges, or part thereof shall be, shall hear and determine all such annoyances within the limits of their commission; and if such annoyances be presented, then shall make process, into every shire, against such as ought to amend such bridges, and do further in such case as they might if such persons, lands, &c. were within the same shire, &c.; and all sheriffs, and bailiffs of liberties shall execute all such process from such justices, on pain to make fine in discretion of such justices, 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 5. [See 1 A. st. 1. c. 18. s. 5. pl. 15.]
8. This act shall not extend to the liberties of the Five Ports, or, members thereof, 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 6.
9. The warden, mayors, and bailiffs elected, and justices of such ports, shall hear and determine all annoyances of bridges within such ports and members, and make such process, pains, taxations, and other things within the same, as justices (see s. 1.) may in other places, id. s. 7.
10. Allowance to surveyors and collectors may be made by such justices, id. s. 8. [See 1 A. st. 1. c. 18. s. 8. pl. 16.]
11. Such part of the highways, as well within as without franchise, as lie next adjoining to any ends of bridges, distant therefrom 300 feet, shall be made and repaired when need requires, and the justices in general sessions shall determine annoyances to such highways, and do every thing for the repair thereof as they may do (see s. 1.) for bridges, id. s. 9.
12. THE JUSTICES AT QUARTER SESSIONS shall, on presentment made that any bridge is out of repair, and which ought by them to be repaired and maintained, assess every town, parish, or place within their commissions, in proportions usual towards repair of bridges, which money so assessed shall be collected by the constables of each parish, &c. or such person as such sessions by order shall appoint, and shall be by them paid to the high constables of every hundred in every such county, city, riding, or division, in six days after received, and such high constables shall, in 10 days after, pay the same to the treasurer appointed by such justices by order of sessions; and the money thereby raised shall be employed and accounted for according to the order of such justices towards amending within the ju and highways at the ends thereof, as best shall require, and no assessments shall be levied by distress and sale of goods of the persons not paying within 10 days after demand made, rendering the overplus, after costs of distress, &c. deducted, to the owner; 1 A. st. 1. c. 18. s. 2. [See 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 4. pl. 6, and 22 C. 2. c. 12. s. 10. pl. 28.]
13. High constables, churchwardens, overseers of poor, or petty constables, or other persons neglecting to assess, collect, or pay the money hereby intended to be raised, shall forfeit 40s.; and every treasurer that shall pay any money but by order of such justices at sessions, (which order they shall make only for building or repairing bridges and the highways at the ends thereof,) shall forfeit 5*l.*, id. s. 3.
14. No fine, penalty, issue, or forfeiture, for not repairing bridges and highways, shall be returned into the exchequer or other court, but shall be paid to the treasurer, and applied by such justices towards building or amending such bridges and highways, id. s. 4.
15. All matters concerning the repairing and amending of bridges and highways before-mentioned, shall be determined in the county where they lie, and no presentment or indictment for not repairing such bridges and highways shall be removed, by certiorari, into any other court, id. s. 5. [See 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 5. pl. 7.]
16. The quarter sessions may allow persons executing this act, any sum not exceeding 3*d.* in the pound, id. s. 6. [See 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 6. pl. 10.]
17. In actions or suits against any person for any thing done in execution of this act, such person may plead the general issue, and give this act and 22 H. 8. c. 5. and special matter in evidence; and if the plaintiff is nonsuited, forbears prosecution, or discontinues, or if a verdict pass against him, the defendant shall have double costs, with the usual remedy to recover same, id. s. 7.
18. This act shall not discharge any person, estates, or places, from repairing any bridge they have heretofore usually repaired, id. s. 8.
19. All penalties and forfeitures, incurred under this act, shall be applied towards repairing such bridges and highways, id. s. 9.
20. The 23 El. c. 1. for rebuilding Cardiffe Bridge, R.E.P. id. s. 10.
21. Cardiffe Bridge shall be adjudged a common and public bridge, and be repaired by Glamorganshire, and the justices for such county may, at the quarter sessions, make such order for repairing, &c. the same, and the wears belonging thereto, as in case of other county bridges, id. s. 11.
22. Nothing in this act shall annul any order heretofore made touching repairs of such bridge and wears, id. s. 12.
23. In all informations or indictments brought and tried in the courts at Westminster, at the assizes, or quarter sessions, evidence of the inhabitants of the town, county, or division in which any decayed bridge or highway lie, shall be taken and admitted in all cases, of processings against private persons or bodies politic, for not repairing such decayed bridges and highways, id. s. 13.
24. Wardens, &c. of Rochester Bridge, when to be chosen, id. s. 14.
25. FOR THE BETTER REPAIRING of highways and bridges, 22 C. 2. c. 12. [R.E.P. as to highways (viz. ss. 1. 3. 5.—9. 11.—12.) by 7 G. 3. c. 42. s. 57.]
26. Where any lands have been, or shall be given for the maintenance of [caneways, highways, and R.E.P. 7 G. 3. c. 42. s. 57.] bridges, all persons trusted with the same, shall let them to farm at the most improved yearly value without fine; and the justices, in open sessions, may enquire into value of such lands, and order improvements and employments of the rents and profits thereof, according to the will of the donor, if the trustees are found faulty in performance of their trust, (except such lands as are given to the uses aforesaid to any college or hall in either of the universities of this kingdom, having visitors of their own,) id. s. 2.
27. Defects of bridges, [highways, &c. R.E.P. 7 G. 3. c. 42. s. 57.] shall be presented in the county where the same lie, and not removed by certiorari or otherwise, till presentment, or indictment traversed, id. s. 3. [See 5 & 6 W. & M. c. 11. s. 6. CERTIORARI.]
28. Where the justices of any county, city, or other place, or major part of them, at quarter sessions, shall be satisfied that the bridges [highways, &c. R.E.P. 7 G. 3. c. 42. s. 57.] within any parish, &c. within their jurisdiction, will not be sufficiently amended by means of laws now in force, without help of this act, in such cases an assessment upon all inhabitants, owners, and occupiers of lands, houses, &c. or any personal estate rateable to the poor within such parish, &c. shall be made and levied in such manner as such justices in sessions shall appoint, and the money thereby raised shall be accounted for, and employed according to the order of such justices towards amending such bridges, and such assessment shall be levied by distress and sale of goods or party assessed and not paying within 10 days after demand, rendering overplus to owner, after deducting costs of distress, id. s. 10. [See 1 A. st. 1. c. 18. s. 2. ante pl. 19.]
29. TO SUPPLY SOME DEFECTS IN THE LAWS FOR REPAIRING AND BUILDING COUNTY BRIDGES, 14 G. 3. c. 55. s. 1. [See ante pl. 19. s. 10. P. 90. & 7 A. st. 1. c. 18. s. 2. ante pl. 19.]
30. The justices for any county, city, riding, liberty, or division, at the general or general quarter sessions assembled, or the major part of them, may contract with any person or bodies politic for any piece of land adjoining any county bridge within their limits, for the enlarging or rebuilding of the same, which pieces of land shall not exceed one acre for any bridge, and shall be paid for by the county-treasurers, out of money raised under the 12 G. 2. c. 29. such treasurers being thereto authorized by orders under the hands and seals of such sessions; and such lands so purchased shall be conveyed to such persons as such justices shall appoint, for the uses of enlarging and rebuilding such bridges, 14 G. 2. c. 53. s. 1. [See further, 43 G. 3. c. 59. s. 2. pl. 39.]

31. FOR REMEDYING CERTAIN DEFECTS IN THE LAWS relative to the [building and 43 G. 3. c. 59. only] repairing of county bridges and other works maintained at the expence of the inhabitants of counties in Eng., 43 G. 3. c. 59. [Public clause, s. 8.] 52 G. 3. c. 100. [EXPL. and EXT. to other works maintained at the expence of hundreds, 54 G. 3. c. 90. AMD. 55 G. 3. c. 143.] [See 12 G. 2. c. 29. s. 14. tit. COUNTY RATE, and 22 H. 8. c. 5. pl. 2., 1 A. st. 1. c. 18. pl. 12.]

32. All the powers of 43 G. 3. c. 59. (except such provisions therein as relate to bridges thereafter to be erected), shall extend as well to bridges and roads at the end thereof repaired by hundreds and other general divisions in the nature of hundred, as to bridges, &c. repaired by counties, 54 G. 3. c. 90. s. 2.

33. Surveyors of bridges and other public works in each county in Eng. appointed by the justices at quarter sessions, may search for, take, and carry away gravel, stone, sand, and other materials for the repair of such bridges and roads at the ends thereof as the counties are bound to repair, and may remove obstructions and annoyances from such bridges and roads in such manner as highway surveyors under 13 G. 3. c. 78. may do, and the powers thereby vested in such surveyors of highways, as well for getting materials as the preventing and removing such nuisances and annoyances, shall be vested in the county-surveyor of bridges and roads at the ends thereof; and the several penalties and things in that act contained, as far as the same are applicable, shall be extended to such bridges, &c. such surveyor making compensation for any damage done, in the same manner as by that act directed, 43 G. 3. c. 59. s. 1.

34. Surveyors of county bridges in Eng. appointed by the justices at quarter sessions, and also the bridge-master, and all persons under contract for rebuilding or repairing any public bridge at the expence of any county, hundred, and general division in the nature of hundred, may, by the order of two justices acting for the county where the bridge is intended to be built or repaired, search for, dig, get and carry away any stone from any quarry within such county, (except quarries situated within a garden, yard, avenue to a house, lawn, park, paddock, or inclosed plantation, which has or may have ornamental timber growing thereon) without the licence or consent of the owners thereof as such surveyor or person may deem necessary for such purposes, provided such quarry has been worked within three years preceding the time when such bridge is about to be so built or repaired, such surveyor or other person making such satisfaction for the value of such stone, and the damage done to such quarry by carrying the same away, as shall be agreed on between him, and the owner, occupier, or person interested therein; and in case they cannot agree, or such owner, &c. shall refuse to treat with them, the quarter sessions, or two justices there appointed for that purpose, 14 days' notice being given to such owner, &c. or his agent, of the intention to require a jury, shall cause the value of such stone, and the amount of such damage to be ascertained by a jury of the county, city, &c. and to that end shall summon before such jury, and examine on oath, (which oath two such justices shall administer), any person whomsoever; and such sessions, or two justices, may, by ordering a view or otherwise, use all means for the information of themselves and the jury; and when such jury shall have ascertained such value and damages, the justices shall order the same to be paid, which verdict and inquisition shall be filed of record by the clerk of the peace, or other record officers of the county, &c. and shall be final and conclusive against all parties and persons claiming, or to claim in possession, remainder, reversion, or otherwise, their heirs and successors, as well absent as present, infants, lunatics, idiots, persons under coverture, or other disability, corporations, guardians, committees, husbands, trustees or attorneys whomsoever, 55 G. 3. c. 143. s. 1.

35. Such sessions or such two justices may issue warrants to the sheriff or bailiff of any county, riding, city, town, &c. within whose limits such quarry is situated, and require him to impanel, summon, and return a jury of 24 duly qualified persons; to appear before such sessions or justices, at a time and place in the warrant appointed, and out of such jury, such justices shall choose by ballot 12, who shall be the jury; and in default of sufficient men so returned, they shall make up the number of 12 from the bystanders, and any of which jury the parties concerned may challenge; and such sessions, or such two justices may fine such sheriff or bailiff, or their deputies making default herein, and any person returned on such jury who shall not appear, or who shall refuse to be sworn, or to give a verdict, or any way neglect his duty therein, and also any person summoned to give evidence before such jury, who does not appear, or shall not give evidence, so that such fine is not more than 10l. or less than 20s. for one person, 55 G. 3. c. 143. s. 2.

36. If a jury give a verdict for more money as the value of such stone, or amount of such damage, than what such surveyor, &c. offered, the costs of such jury and witnesses shall be paid out of the county rates; but if, on the contrary, they give a verdict for no more, or less money than that offered, such costs shall be paid by the other side, to be levied by distress and sale of the goods of the person so made liable, id. s. 3.

37. Any person aggrieved by any thing done under this act may, within 3 calendar months after such complaint arose, appeal to the justices at quarter sessions, on giving 14 days' notice in writing of his intention, and the cause of appeal, to the party against whom such complaint is made, and within 3 days after such notice, entering into a recognizance before some justice for the county with two sureties conditioned to try such appeal, and abide the order of and pay costs awarded by such sessions, and such sessions on due proof of such notice served, and such recognizance entered into, may finally determine the matter in a summary way, and make such award as they deem proper, which determination shall be binding and conclusive, id. s. 4.

38. Where any bridges or roads at the ends thereof repaired at expence of any county shall be narrow and inconvenient, the justices at quarter sessions may order the same to be widened and improved, and where any such bridges shall be so much in decay as to render the taking down thereof necessary, such sessions may direct the same to be rebuilt on the old site, or within 200 yards therefrom, if it is more commodious to the public; and if for such purposes it is necessary to purchase land, the county surveyors under the direction of such sessions, shall set out and ascertain the same, not exceeding one acre at each bridge, and contract with the owner for the purchase thereof, either by a gross sum, or an annual rent at his option; and if such surveyors cannot agree for the purchase, or are prevented from treating by the real owner not being to be found, such sessions shall impanel a jury, and assess the compensation for such land, and for the trespass and damage to be done in executing this act, in like manner as directed by 13 G. 3. c. 78. and all the powers of that act, and the exemptions, penalties and things therein contained, as well as to impanelling such juries, examining and swearing witnesses, payment of expences, and enabling bodies politic and collegiate, and other incapacitated persons to sell, and all other provisions thereof, shall be extended and applied to works hereby authorized to be done; provided no money shall be applied to the amendment or alteration of any such bridges until presentment made of its insufficiency, inconvenience, or want of repair in pursuance of some act [see 1 A. st. 1. c. 18. s. 2. pl. 12.] in force concerning such bridges, 43 G. 3. c. 59. s. 2. [but see, as to presentments, 59 G. 3. c. 110. s. 5. pl. 48., 55 G. 3. c. 143. s. 5. and as to contracts for repairing bridges, 55 G. 3. c. 143. s. 5. pl. 49.]

39. All powers and authorities in 43 G. 3. c. 59. contained for the purchase of lands shall extend to all buildings or erections necessary to be purchased for purposes of such act, 56 G. 3. c. 90. s. 1.

40. The property of all tools and materials provided by order of such justices, or of such surveyors, or in any respect belonging to such counties, shall be vested in such surveyors for the time being in whom, on any action or indictment commenced, such property may be laid, 43 G. 3. c. 59. s. 3.

41. Inhabitants of counties may sue and be sued in the name of their surveyors for any damages done to bridges and other works maintained at their expence, or for the recovery of property belonging to such counties; and actions so brought shall not abate or be discontinued by reason of the death or removal of such surveyors, or by these acts, without the consent of the quarter sessions; but the surveyors for the time being shall be plaintiffs or defendants, as the case may be, but the surveyors in whose name such actions, &c. shall be brought or defended, shall be reimbursed all charges he shall be put to by reason thereof out of the monies in the hands of the county-treasurer, and also all charges of prosecuting any indictment or other proceeding, id. s. 4.

42. No bridges that shall be built at the expence of any private person, body politic or corporate, shall be deemed a county-bridge, or a bridge liable to be repaired by any county, unless it is erected in a substantial manner under the direction of the county-surveyor, or the person appointed at the quarter sessions, or by the justices in the county of Lancaster, at their annual general sessions; such surveyor or person shall attend the erection of such bridge, when requested by the party building it, and in case such party is dissatisfied, the matter shall be determined at such quarter sessions or annual sessions in the county of Lancaster, id. s. 5.

43. All orders and proceedings made and had within the county of York relative to county-bridges, shall be made by the justices of their respective ridings at the annual or quarter sessions holden the first whole week after Easter, and adjournments thereof shall be made for the express purpose of executing such orders, and none others; provided that two justices, in case of emergency, may give such order for making such temporary bridges or repairs as may be necessary for the temporary accommodation of the public, 43 G. 3. c. 50. s. 6.

44. This act shall not extend to bridges or roads which are liable to be maintained and repaired by persons or bodies politic, &c. by reason of tenure, or by prescription, or to affect the right to repair such bridges and roads, id. s. 7.

45. The justices for any county, city, &c., at quarter sessions holden in the week next after the clause of Easter, or major part of them there assembled, shall appoint annually two justices acting for any division in such county, &c. near which any county-bridge, or any bridge in part a county-bridge, ramparts, banks, cops, or other works appertaining to the same or any parts thereof, or roads over same, or so much of the road at the ends thereof as the counties, &c. are by law liable to repair (see 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 9. pl. 11.) shall be situate, to superintend the same; and when it appears on their own inspection to be necessary, such two justices may order immediate repairs to be done to the same by written order under their hands by such person as they deem fit; but the sum by them to be so expended shall not exceed 20*l.*, and such appointments of such justices shall remain in force until one week after the following Easter sessions; and in case of death, removal, or refusal to act, by any justice so appointed, the quarter sessions may appoint another for the remainder of the current year, at any of the quarterly sessions, 52 G. 3. c. 110. s. 1.

46. The major part of the justices assembled at quarter sessions holden next after such repairs completed, may order payment of any sum, not exceeding 10*l.*, sufficient to pay for such repairs to be made out of the county-rate, although no presentment shall be made by the grand jury, at the assize great sessions, or quarter sessions for any county, city, &c. of such repairs wanted as by 12 G. 2. c. 29. s. 14. directed; but before such payment ordered, a certificate shall be returned to such sessions, signed by two justices so appointed, who ordered such repairs, stating nature of such repairs, and the defects, damages, or injuries ordered to be repaired, and the reason why so ordered, and provided such sessions are satisfied the charges are reasonable, id. s. 2.

47. The justices for any county, city, &c. at their general quarter sessions, or the major part of them, may contract and agree with the commissioners or trustees of any turnpike within such county, city, &c., or with their surveyor or clerk, or both, or with the surveyor of any highway of any parish, place, or tything, within such county, &c., or with any other person, to maintain and keep in repair roads over county-bridges, and so much of the roads at the ends thereof as the county, &c. is liable [see 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 9. pl. 11.] to repair for any term not exceeding seven years, nor less than one, although no presentment is made of insufficiency, as directed by 12 G. 2. c. 29. s. 14. COUNTY RATE; but subject nevertheless to all the rules thereby required in cases where the same have been presented, id. s. 5.

48. The justices for any county, at their general quarter sessions, may contract, or authorize any person to contract, for maintaining and repairing any county or hundred bridge, and the road over the same, and so much of the road at the ends thereof as are liable [see 22 H. 8. c. 5. s. 9. pl. 11.] to be repaired at the expence of such county, hundred, city, &c., and may order money agreed to be paid for such purposes by the treasurer of the county, out of the rates, or by the bridge-master (or other public officer charged with the repair of bridges,) of the hundred, according to which is liable to pay the same, for any term of from one to seven years, although no such presentment is made, and although no public notice shall have been given by such justices of their intention to contract for the repair of such bridges and roads as directed by 12 G. 2. c. 29., 55 G. 3. c. 143. s. 5.

49. Provided that before such contract is made, such justices shall give notice of their intention to contract in some paper circulated within such county, &c. id. ibid.

50. SUCH PART OF ALL FORMER ACTS relating to bridges, as enacts that if any person shall wilfully and maliciously blow up, pull down, or destroy any bridge, or part thereof, or attempt so to do, or unlawfully and without authority remove any works thereto belonging, or in any wise procure the same to be done, such offenders, on conviction, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and suffer death without benefit of clergy, shall be REPEALED, 1 G. 4. c. 116. s. 2. [See local act for building Westminster Bridge, 9 G. 2. c. 29. s. 5., for like purposes RER. 1 G. 4. c. 116. s. 1.]

2. All buildings whatsoever heretofore built, or which shall hereafter be begun or built, within London and Westminster, the bills of mortality, and the parishes of St. Mary-le-bone, Paddington, Pancras, and Chelsea, shall be distinguished by, and divided into seven rates or classes herein-after described, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 1.

3. Every church, chapel, meeting-house, and other place of public worship; and every building for distilling and brewing of liquors for sale; for making of soap; melting of tallow; dyeing; boiling or distilling turpentine; casting brass or iron; refining of sugar; making of glass for chemical works for sale, of what dimension soever; and also every warehouse and other building not being a dwelling-house (except buildings of the fifth, sixth, or seventh rate), which shall exceed three clear stories above ground, exclusive of rooms in the roof, or of the height of thirty-one feet from the surface of the pavement, ground, or way, above the area before either of the fronts to the top of the blocking-course or coping on the parapet; and every dwelling-house, which, with the offices thereto belonging and adjoining, or connected otherwise than by a fence or fence-wall, or covered passage, open on one or both sides, when finished, shall exceed the value of eight hundred and fifty pounds; and also every dwelling-house, which shall exceed nine squares of building on the ground floor, each square containing one hundred superficial feet shall be the first rate or class of building, id. s. 2.

4. Every external wall (not being a party-wall) which shall be built to any first rate building, or to any addition thereto, shall be built at the foundation of the thickness of two bricks and an half in length, or one foot nine inches and an half at the least; and shall from thence gradually diminish on each side of the wall two inches and a quarter to the top of the footing, except any adjoining building will not admit of such footing being made on the side of such wall next such adjoining building; in which case, such footing shall be made as near to the dimensions as the case will admit, s. 3. (which footing shall be nine inches high, and wholly below the upper surface of the pavement and flooring-boards of the cellar story two inches at the least, s. 3. and every such wall shall, from the top of such footing, be of the thickness of two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half up to the under side of the one pair of stairs' floor; and from thence one brick and an half in length, or thirteen inches at the least, up to the under side of the plate under the roof or gutter; and from thence one brick in length, or eight inches and an half at the least, up to the under side of the blocking-course, or coping on the parapet, except such parts of every such wall as shall be wholly of stone, which shall be of the thickness of fourteen inches below the ground floor, and nine inches above the ground-floor; and except all recesses above the ground-floor in the walls, which shall be arched over in every story, so as the arch, and the back of such recess, shall be of the thickness of one brick in length, or eight inches and an half respectively, id. s. 5.

5. Every party-wall which shall be built to any first rate building, or to any addition thereto, shall be built, at the foundation, of the thickness of three bricks and an half in length, or two feet six inches and an half; and shall, from thence, gradually diminish on each side four inches and an half to the top of the footing of every such wall; which footing shall be one foot high, and wholly below the upper surface of the pavement and flooring-boards of the cellar story two inches at the least; and every such party-wall shall, from the top of such footing, be of the thickness of two bricks and an half in length, or one foot nine inches and an half up to the under side of the ground-floor; and from thence two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half up to the under side of the floor of the rooms (if any) in the roof of the highest building adjoining; and from thence of one brick and an half in length, or thirteen inches up to the top of such party-wall, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 4.

6. Every warehouse, stable, and other building, not being a dwelling-house, except such as are herein declared to be of the first, fifth, sixth, or seventh rate, which exceed two clear stories, and do not contain more than three stories above ground, exclusive of rooms in the roof, or which shall be 22 feet high, and not 31 feet from the surface of the pavement, &c. above the area before either front, to the top of the blocking-course or coping on the parapet; and every dwelling-house which, with the offices thereto belonging, and connected otherwise than as described before, (s. 1.) shall, when finished, exceed the value of 300*l*. and not amount to 850*l*., and also such dwelling-houses which exceed five squares of building on the ground plan, and do not amount to more than nine squares, shall be deemed the second rate of building, id. s. 5.

7. Every external wall (not a party-wall) built to any second rate building, shall be, at foundation, of the thickness of two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half, and shall from thence gradually diminish on each side of the wall two inches and a quarter to the top of the footing; except where not possible by reason of an adjoining building, in which case the footing shall be as near such dimensions as possible, which footing shall be nine inches high, and wholly below the upper surface of the pavement and flooring of the cellar story two inches at the least; and every such wall shall, from the top of such footing, be of the thickness of one brick and an half in length, or thirteen inches, up to the under side of the one pair of stairs floor; and from thence one brick in length, or eight inches and an half, up to under side of the blocking-course or the coping; except such parts of every such wall above the ground-floor, as shall be wholly of stone, which shall be of the thickness of nine inches; and except all recesses above the ground-floor in the walls, which shall be arched over, so as the arch and the back of each recess shall be of the thickness of one brick in length, or eight inches and an half respectively, s. 6.

8. Every party-wall built to any second-rate building, shall be at the foundation of the thickness of three bricks and an half in length, or two feet six inches and an half, and shall from thence gradually diminish on each side four inches and an half to the top of the footing, which shall be nine inches high, and wholly below the upper surface of the pavement and floor of the cellar story two inches; and from the top of such footing be of the thickness of two bricks and an half in length, or one foot nine inches and an half up to the under side of the ground-floor; and from thence two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half up to the under side of the floor of the two pair of stairs story; and from thence one brick and an half in length, or thirteen inches, up to the top of every such party-wall, id. s. 7.

9. Every warehouse, stable, and other building, not a dwelling-house, except buildings of the first, fifth, sixth, or seventh rate, which shall exceed one clear story, and not contain more than two above ground, exclusive of rooms in the roof, or which shall be of the height of more than 13 feet, and not 22 feet from the surface of the pavement, &c. above the area before either front, to the top of the blocking-course or coping; and every dwelling-house which, with the offices connected thereto, (as in s. 2.) shall exceed the value of 150*l*. and not amount to more than 300*l*.; and also every dwelling-house which shall exceed three squares and an half on the ground plan, and not amount to more than five squares, shall be the third rate, id. s. 8.

10. Every external wall (not being a party-wall) which shall be built to any third rate building, shall be at the foundation of the thickness of two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half, and shall from thence diminish on each side two inches and a quarter, to the top of the footing, except as before excepted (in s. 3.), which shall be six inches high, and wholly below the upper surface of the pavement and flooring boards of the cellar story two inches; and every such wall shall, from the top of such footing, be of the thickness of one brick and an half in length, or 13 inches up to the under side of the ground-floor; and from thence one brick in length, or eight inches and an half, up to the under side of the blocking-course or coping, s. 9.

11. Every party-wall to any third rate building shall be at the foundation of the thickness of three bricks in length, or two feet two inches, and shall thence diminish on each side four inches and an half to the top of the footing, which shall be nine inches high, and wholly below the upper surface of the pavement and flooring of the cellar story two inches; and such party-wall shall, from the top of such footing, be of the thickness of two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half, up to the under side of the ground-floor, and from thence one brick and an half, or thirteen inches, up to the top of such party-wall, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 10.

12. Every warehouse, stable, and other building, not a dwelling-house, except of the first, fifth, sixth, or seventh rate, which shall not exceed one clear story above ground, exclusive of rooms in the roof, or which shall not be more than 13 feet high from the surface of the ground above the area before either front, to the top of the blocking-course or coping on the parapet; and every dwelling-house which, with the offices connected thereto, (as in s. 2.) shall not exceed the value of 150*l*.; and also every dwelling-house which shall not exceed three squares and an half of building on the ground plan thereof, shall be the fourth rate, id. s. 11.

13. Every external wall built to any fourth rate building, shall be at the foundation of the thickness of two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half, and shall thence gradually diminish on each side of the wall two inches and a quarter to the top of the footing of such wall, except as before excepted (in s. 3.), which footing shall be six inches high, and wholly below the upper surface of the pavement and floor of the cellar story two inches; and such wall shall, from the top of such footing, be of the thickness of one brick and an half in length, or thirteen inches, up to the under side of the ground-floor; and from thence one brick in length, or eight inches and an half, up to the under side of the blocking-course or coping, id. s. 12.

14. Every party-wall built to any fourth rate building shall be at the foundation of the thickness of two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half; and shall from thence gradually diminish on each side of the wall two inches and a quarter to the top of the footing; which footing shall be nine inches high, and wholly below the upper surface of the pavement and floor of the cellar story two inches; and such party-wall shall, from the top of such footing, be of the thickness of one brick and an half in length, or thirteen inches, up to the under side of the ground-floor; and from thence one brick in length, or eight inches and an half, up to the top of such party-wall, id. s. 13.

15. Every house or building to be built of the first, second, third, or fourth rate, and not having each a separate side-wall on the part where they shall be contiguous, shall have party-walls between house and house, &c. and such party-walls shall extend to the outer surfaces of the external inclosures of each of the adjoining houses, &c.; and all party-walls, chimneys, and chimney-shafts, hereafter to be built, shall be built wholly of bricks or stone, or of bricks and stone together, except timber, wood, lead, or iron work, laid therein, according to the directions herein-after contained, and also except piling, bridging, or planking, necessary for the foundation, and shall be coped with stone, tile, or brick, and shall be of dimensions before directed; and one half of such party-wall between house and house, &c. shall be built on the ground of one of the adjoining houses, and the other half on the ground of the other; and the first builder of such party-wall, and the workmen employed, may enter upon the ground adjoining thereto to build the same, id. s. 14.

16. Every party-wall so to be built to any dwelling-house exceeding four stories in height from the foundation, exclusive of rooms in the roof of either of the buildings adjoining thereto, shall be built according to the directions herein-before contained, (s. 4.) with respect to party-walls of the first rate, though such house shall not be of the first rate; and every party-wall to be built to any dwelling-house containing four stories in height from the foundation, exclusive of rooms in the roof of either of the buildings adjoining thereto, shall be built according to the directions in (s. 9.) with respect to party-walls of the third rate, though such house shall be of the fourth rate, id. s. 15.

17. Every internal inclosure to be made for separating any building of the first, second, third, or fourth rate, from any other building where same shall be in separate occupations, and every addition to such internal inclosure, shall be of brick or stone, or artificial stone or stucco, or of brick and stone, or artificial stone and stucco together; except timber, wood, lead, or iron work laid therein, according to the directions hereinafter contained for external inclosures to such first, second, third, or fourth rate or class of building, and also except such piling, bridging, or planking, as may be necessary for the foundation, id. s. 16.

18. In valuing the buildings of the first, second, third, or fourth rate, for the purpose of ascertaining the rate, such valuation shall be made by the surveyor for the district, appointed under s. 38. of this act; and such building shall, notwithstanding any decay, be valued as if the materials were sound, and the work new; and shall be estimated at the prices the like materials and workmanship shall be worth at the time such valuation shall be made; but neither the soil whereon any building stands, nor any fence or fence wall (except the railing to areas, and steps before or behind, made for enclosing the buildings, with the offices, yard, &c. thereto belonging, from any neighbouring ground,) nor any brick or stone-arched vault, under ground, either before or behind such building, nor any lead, covering, or pavement over such vaults, nor such parts of the party wall as stand upon ground not belonging to such house, shall be included in such valuation; and in ascertaining the squares contained in such building, being a dwelling-house, the same shall be taken by such surveyor on the level of the floor, at the principal entrance thereof, and no more than such parts of the party-walls as belong to such dwelling-house shall be included in such admeasurement; and in case the owner or other person interested shall apprehend himself to be injured by such admeasurement or valuation, he may apply to the mayor, or two justices for the city of London, if such building, or any part thereof, is within the city, or otherwise to any two justices within whose jurisdiction the same is; who shall inquire into the matter, and, by order, declare such building to be of such rate as the same shall appear to them to be of according to the description of the rates herein contained; and parties between whom such order shall be made may appeal to the quarter-sessions whose determinations shall be conclusive, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 17.

19. Every dwelling-house, warehouse, stable, and other building (except buildings not being dwelling-houses, of the first or seventh rate), which is or shall be at the distance of 4, and not 8 feet, from any public road, street, or causeway, and is or shall be detached from any other building not in the same possession therewith, 16, and not 30 feet, or connected with any other building only by a fence or fence-wall, shall be of the fifth rate, and may be built of any dimensions, id. s. 18.

20. Every dwelling-house, warehouse, stable, and other building, (except buildings, not dwelling-houses, of the first rate), which is or shall be at the distance of 8 feet from any public road, street, or causeway, and is or shall be detached from any other building not in the same possession therewith, at least 30 feet, or connected with any other building only by a fence, or fence-wall, shall be of the sixth rate, and may be built of any dimensions, and with any materials, id. s. 19.

21. Every cranehouse, now built, or hereafter to be built, on any wharf or quay, and every shamble, windmill or watermill, and also every building which is or shall be situated without London and Westminster, and the liberties thereof, used for workshops or drying-places for tanners, fell-mongers, glue-makers, size-makers, calico-printers, whitsters, whiting-makers, curriers, leather-dressers, buckram-stiffners, oil-cloth-painters, wool-staplers, throwsters, parchment-makers, and paper-makers, so long as they are used for those purposes, and no longer, shall be of the seventh rate, and may be built of any dimensions, id. s. 20.

22. Such cranehouse erected after 24th June, 1774, and every addition to any cranehouse already built, or hereafter to be built, and every new external inclosure thereof, shall be of stone, brick, slate, tile, oak, elm, steel, iron, or brass; but every other building of the seventh rate may be erected of any materials whatever; and no cranehouse or other building of the seventh rate, or any external part thereof, shall be covered with pitch, tar, or any other inflammable composition, or be converted to any other use than as aforesaid, id. s. 21.

23. Every office which shall be entirely detached from the building to which the same belongs, or connected therewith only by a fence or fence-wall, or covered passage open on one or both sides, shall be of the rate such office would be of, if it did not appertain to any building, id. s. 22.

24. Every wall may remain as a party wall until both the buildings to which it belongs, or the remaining house, where one has been already rebuilt, shall be rebuilt, if such wall shall so long continue sound; and in case either of the houses or buildings to which such party-wall does belong, has been, or shall hereafter be rebuilt with a wall against such party-wall (without making use of such party-wall) of the heights and thicknesses before prescribed, the proprietor of such remaining house, &c. shall not, when such remaining house, &c., or when such old party-wall shall be taken down, be entitled to more than one-half of the materials of such old party wall, nor to more than one-half of the ground on which such old party-wall was erected; nor shall such proprietor build on more than one-half of the said ground, unless he shall have satisfied the owner of such adjoining rebuilt house for the other half; and in case parties cannot agree concerning the same, and both or either of them shall be desirous of buying or selling; the price, and the matters in difference, shall be settled by a jury, to be summoned, returned, and impanelled as hereafter (s. 33.) mentioned, concerning mixed property; but if such remaining house, &c. be of the first, second, or third rate, or four stories high from the foundation, exclusive of rooms in the roof, and if in that case such old party-wall shall not be of the thickness of two bricks in length, or one foot five inches and an half from the foundation to the under side of the ground floor, and thence upwards to the top, of the thickness of one brick and an half in length, or 13 inches; then such old party-wall shall, when either of the houses, &c. to which the same belongs shall be rebuilt, be considered as if the same had been condemned, or adjudged ruinous, pursuant to the directions herein-after contained; or if such old party-wall shall have any timber of any adjoining building lying through the same, and if, when either of the houses, &c. to which the same belongs shall be rebuilt, the owner of such adjoining or remaining house, &c. will not permit so much of such timber to be cut off as shall leave full six inches of clear brickwork beyond the end of such timber, then such wall shall be considered as condemned, or adjudged ruinous, pursuant to this act, and the same shall be taken down and rebuilt as hereinafter (s. 38.) directed concerning party-walls condemned, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 23.

25. Every timber partition may remain until one of the adjoining buildings to which the same belongs shall be rebuilt, or shall have one of the fronts which shall abut on such timber partition, or two third parts of one of such fronts, taken down to the bressummer or one pair of stairs floor, and rebuilt, or until such timber partition shall be condemned, id. s. 24.

26. No wall of the first, second, third, or fourth rate of building, which shall not be a party wall on 24th June, 1774, shall ever become a party-wall, unless the same shall be of the heights and thicknesses above the footings, and of the materials herein-before directed, id. s. 25.

27. Every party-wall built after 24th June, and every addition to any party-wall then built, or thereafter to be built, shall be one foot six inches above the roof of the highest building which shall gable against or adjoin to such party-wall, in every part thereof, measuring at a right angle with the back of the rafters of such roof; and such party-wall shall be one foot above the gutters of the highest of such buildings, except the height of such party-wall, where so carried up, shall exceed the height of the blocking-course or parapet of either of the fronts abutting on the same of the highest building adjoining thereto, in which case the end only of every such party-wall next such blocking-course or parapet may be less than one foot above the gutter, for the distance of two feet six inches from the front of such blocking-course or parapet; and in case any dormer or other erection is in the flat or roof of any building, within four feet of any party-wall, then such party wall shall be carried up against every such dormer or other erection, and shall extend for the breadth of at least two feet wider, and to the full height of every part of such dormer or other erection; and no recess shall be made in any party-wall hereafter to be built to any building of the first, second, third, or fourth rate, (except for chimneys, flues, girders, and beams, and other timbers, and for the ends of walls or piers, as after directed,) so as to reduce such wall in any part thereof under the thickness hereby required; and there shall not be any opening whatever made in any party-wall, except for communication from one stack of warehouses to another, and from one stable building to another; all which communications shall have thereto iron doors, in such manner as is after so directed; and also except such passages or ways on the ground for foot passengers, cattle, or carriages, as may be necessary; all which passages or ways shall be arched over with brick or stone, or brick and stone together, throughout, of the thickness of thirteen inches in every building of the first and second rate, and eight inches and an half of the third or fourth rate; and if there be any cellar or vacuity under such passage, such cellar, &c. shall be arched over throughout with brick or stone, or brick and stone together, as the passage over such cellar is directed to be arched, id. s. 26.

28. No timbers shall be laid into any party-arch, except for bond, nor into any party-wall, other than such templets, chains, and bond-timbers, as shall be necessary, and other than the ends of girders, beams, purlings, and of linding or trimming joists, or of other principal timbers; all which shall have eight inches and an half of solid brickwork between the ends and sides of every piece of timber and the timber of any building adjoining thereto; and the end of every girder, &c. and of every other piece of principal timber, may be laid beyond the centre of any party-wall, so as there be left eight inches and an half of solid brick or stone work at the end of such piece of timber, except in places where any part of the ends of such timber shall lie opposite to and level with any part of the ends of any timber of any adjoining building; in which case, such timbers shall not approach nearer than four inches to the centre of the wall, id. s. 27.

29. No person shall cut any party-arch, nor the shaft of any chimney built on any party-wall, for any purpose whatsoever; and no person shall cut any party-wall, other than for the purposes and in the manner after mentioned; viz. when the front or back wall of any house, or building, being in a line with the front or back wall of the house or building adjoining thereto, shall hereafter be built, it shall be lawful to cut a break not more than nine inches deep from the external face of such front or back wall, and to the centre of such party-wall, for the purpose of inserting therein the end of such new front or back wall; and where a bressummer and story posts shall be fixed in the ground story of such new front or back wall, such break may be cut from foundation of such new front or back wall to the top of such bressummer, 14 inches deep from the external face of such front or back wall, and the same may be 4 inches wide in the cellar story, and 2 inches wide in the ground story, for the purpose of placing therein such story-posts and bressummers, agreeable to this act; and any party-wall may be cut into for the purpose of tailing in stone steps, or landings, or for placing timber for bearers to wood stairs, so as no timber-bearer be laid into any party-wall nearer than 8½ inches to any chimney or flue, or to any timber of the adjoining house, or nearer than 4 inches to the internal finishing of such adjoining house, and for the purpose of laying therein stone corbels for the support of chimney-jambs, girders, beams, purlings, binding or trimming-joists, or of other principal timbers; and perpendicular recesses may be cut into any party-wall, not being less than 13 inches thick, for the purpose of inserting walls and piers therein, so as no such recess be more than 15 inches wide, or more than 4 inches deep, and no such recess be nearer than 10 feet to another recess, and also the footing on the side of any party-wall may be cut off where either of the adjoining buildings shall be rebuilt with a wall against such party-wall (s. 28.); but every person who shall cut into any party-wall for any such purposes, shall make good, and effectually pin up, with brick, stone, slate, tile, shell, or iron, bedded in mortar, every defect occasioned by the cutting of such party-wall; and no party-wall shall be cut for any such purposes, if the cutting thereof will injure, displace, or endanger the timbers, chimneys, flues, or internal finishings of the adjoining buildings, 14 G. 3. c. 7. s. 28.

30. The back of every chimney in every party-wall shall be 15 inches thick in the cellar story, and 8½ inches in every other story, from hearth to 12 inches above the mantle; and no chimney which shall be built in any party-wall, where either of the buildings adjoining is of the first rate, shall be built with the back against the back of another, unless the back of each in the cellar-story be 8½ inches, and in the upper stories 4½ inches from the centre of such party-wall; and no chimney built in any party-wall, where either of the buildings adjoining is of the second, third, or fourth rate, shall be built with the back against the back of another, unless the back of each in the cellar story be 6½ inches, and in the upper stories 1½ inches from the centre of such wall; and no flue shall be built opposite to another in any party-wall, unless the back of each be 2 inches from the centre of such party-wall; the breast of every flue, whether the same be in a party-wall or not, shall be of brick or stone 9½ inches thick in every cellar-story, and 1 inch thick in every other story; all the withs or partitions between any flues shall be of brick or stone, and half a brick thick; and every breast and back of every chimney, and every breast, back, and with of partition of any flue, shall be rendered or pargetted within and without, except the outside thereof next to vacant ground, in which case the back of every chimney and flue next such vacant ground shall be by lime, or in some durable manner marked, except in a fore-front, back-front, or side-front of any building not likely hereafter to be built against; and every back of such chimney and flue so being against such vacant ground, shall be rendered or pargetted as soon as any building shall be erected to such wall, id. s. 29.

31. If any person possessed of, or entitled unto, any part of the ground whereon a party-wall is intended to be built, shall be desirous of having chimney-jambs, breasts, and flues of chimneys, made in such party-wall on his part thereof, or of having a recess left in the said party-wall, of the breadths and depths by this act allowed, or for any purpose allowed by this act, and thereof shall give notice in writing under his hand, particularly describing such chimney-jamb, breast, and flue, and recess, to the builder of such party-wall, before such party-wall is begun to be built; then such builder shall, after such notice, erect so many chimney-jambs, &c. as shall be, by the person giving notice, required; and shall also leave such recesses in such party-wall, not being contrary to this act; and after erecting such jambs, breasts, and flues, the person giving notice, shall be deemed to have made use of such party-wall, and shall be liable to pay the whole expence of erecting such jambs, &c. erected in pursuance of such notice, and also such proportional part of the expence of erecting such wall, as hereinafter (s. 34.) directed concerning party-walls to be recovered, in case of non-payment, with costs, as any proportion of any party-wall is by this act (s. 41.) made recoverable by the builder thereof, from any other person liable to contribute thereto, id. s. 30.

32. When any house, or building, except as after excepted, built in any part, over a public way or any house, &c. except as after excepted, having any rooms the property of different persons, and intermixed without being separated by any party-wall, shall be rebuilt, there shall be a party-wall for the highest rate of building adjoining, with a party-arch of the thickness of one brick and an half in length, or thirteen inches in every building of the first and second rate, and of one brick, or eight inches and an half, in every building of the third and fourth rate, between house and house, or between the different rooms or floors, so being the property of different persons, id. s. 31.

33. The last-mentioned clause shall not extend to chambers in Serjeant's Inn in Chancery Lane, or in any of the four inns of court, or to any of the inns of Chancery, or any other inns set apart for the study or practice of the law; save that the walls or divisions between the chambers in such inns, belonging to, and communicating with each separate staircase, shall be deemed to be party-walls within this act, and subject to its regulations, id. s. 32.

34. When the owner of any house or building within such limits, built over any public way, or intermixed as aforesaid, shall be desirous of rebuilding such house, &c. and the owner of the adjoining building, or other parts of such intermixed building, shall not be willing, or shall not, by reason of some legal disability, or otherwise, be able to join in such rebuilding, then the party desirous of rebuilding shall give notice, in writing, to the owner of such adjoining buildings, that he, so intending to rebuild, will apply to the court of mayor and aldermen of the city of London, when such building is within the said city or liberties, or to the justices for the counties of Middlesex, Surry, Westminster, or the liberty of the Tower of London respectively, within whose jurisdiction such building is situated, in their respective general or quarter sessions to be next holden after fourteen days, from the delivery of such notice, in order to obtain the determination of the court of mayor and aldermen, or of the court of sessions (as the case may be,) touching the rebuilding such buildings, or such party-walls or arches, to be described in such notice, and for ascertaining the site of a party-wall, or the situation of any party arches to be built according to this act, by delivering a copy of such notice to the owner of such adjoining building, or in case such owner shall be under disability of coverture, infancy, idiocy, or lunacy, then to the husband, guardians, trustees, or committees of such owners being under such disability, or by leaving the same at his last or usual place of abode, or by delivering a copy of such notice to the tenant in possession of such adjoining buildings, or in case such building shall be uninhabited, then by fixing such copy upon the door, or some notorious part of such building; and in every such case, such court of mayor and aldermen, and such sessions respectively, upon application to them by the party desirous to rebuild, and upon proof of such notice, may issue their warrant or precept to the sheriffs of London, Middlesex, or Surry, or sheriff or bailiff of the liberty of the Tower, requiring them respectively to impanel and return a competent number of qualified jurors, not less than 24, or more than 36; and out of such persons so impanelled, summoned, and returned, a jury of 12 shall be drawn by some person in the said court of mayor and aldermen, or sessions, appointed, in such manner as juries are directed to be drawn by 5 G. 2. c. 25., which persons so impanelled, summoned, and returned, shall appear before the court of mayor and aldermen, or before the sessions for Middlesex, Surry, Westminster, or the liberty of the Tower of London, at such time and place as such warrant or precept shall appoint, and there to attend from day to day, until discharged by the court; and all parties may have their lawful challenges against any of the jury, but shall not challenge the array; and the court of mayor and aldermen, and any of the courts of sessions, shall by precept call before them all witnesses to be examined on oath, and either of such courts may likewise authorise the jury to view the place in question, and command such jury and witnesses and parties to attend, until the affairs for which summoned are concluded; and such jury, upon their oaths, shall inquire and determine by their verdict, whether the premises ought to be rebuilt or not; and if the same ought, shall determine the site of a party-wall, and also what party-arches may be necessary over or under any rooms of such buildings intended to be rebuilt, or shall ascertain the quantity of the ground, or other parts of the premises (if any) necessary to be laid to or taken from the house of person desirous to rebuild, permitting him to erect a party-wall or party-arch; and shall award what (if any) compensation should be made, by either party in difference to the other, in lieu of lessening either of such buildings by such party-wall or arch, or as a satisfaction for such other injury as shall be occasioned thereby to either party; and shall also ascertain what proportion of the expence of building such party-wall, or party-arch, shall, when built, be repaid by either of the parties to the person so rebuilding; and such court of mayor and aldermen, and such sessions respectively, shall give judgment according to such verdict, and (if they see fit) award to either of the parties costs; which verdict and judgment thereupon, shall be binding and conclusive on, all persons and bodies politic claiming any right, title, trust, &c. in, to, or out of, any such premises, either in possession, reversion, remainder, or expectancy, as also against H. M., infants, issue unborn, persons in reversion or remainder, lunatics, idiots, and femes-covert, and persons under any legal disability, trustees, cestuigue trusts, his and their successors, heirs, executors, and administrators, and all others; and all verdicts, judgments, and other proceedings of the said court of mayor and aldermen, and court of sessions, shall be, by the town-clerk of the city of London, or by the clerk of the pence for Middlesex, Surry, or Westminster, or the proper officer of the liberty of the Tower, (as the case may be,) filed as of record of the said court, where proceedings had; for the filing whereof, and for every order of court, and copy thereof, such town-clerk, &c. shall be paid after the rate of 12d. for every 100 words; and such town-clerk, &c. shall make and deliver to any person requiring the same, an exemplification, under his hand and seal, of any such verdict, judgment, &c. being paid 12d. for every 100 words; and such exemplification shall be evidence in all courts of law and equity, and after the expiration of fourteen days after obtaining such judgment, and payment, or tender, as after directed, of the money awarded, or, where no money awarded, after the expiration of fourteen days after obtaining judgment, the person who shall have obtained such judgment, his servants, &c. may pull down his building, and rebuild the same, in the manner ascertained by such judgment; and to that end may, in the presence of a constable, or other officer of the peace, enter upon the site of the ground so ascertained for a party-wall or party-arch, and into the building adjoining to the house or party-wall or party-arch, intended to be rebuilt, between six in the morning and seven in the afternoon (Sundays excepted), and if the outer door of such building be shut, and occupier refuse to open the same, being required, or if such building be empty, such person may break open such outer door, and remove to some other part of their same premises, or in case there be no room on the premises, to any other place, any goods, furniture, shelves, or other thing obstructing the building of such intended party-wall or party-arch, or the pulling down any wall, partition, or other thing necessary to be pulled down and removed, in order to the building such intended party-wall, &c.; and after such entry, and at all usual times of working, the builder, and all others employed by him, may enter upon the premises, and abide therein the usual times of working, for the shoring up the building so broke into, and for taking down and removing any party-wall, partition, wainscot, or other thing necessary to be taken down and removed for the purpose aforesaid, and build such intended party-wall, &c.; and if any owner, occupier, or other person, shall in any manner obstruct any workman, or wilfully damage the works, such person shall forfeit 10*l.*, to be levied and recovered as hereinafter mentioned, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 33.

35. Within ten days after such party-wall or arch shall be built, the person who shall have rebuilt the same shall leave a true account in writing of the expense of building the same with the party awarded by the jury to contribute to the expense thereof, or at his or their last or usual place of abode; who shall pay to such person the proportion of the expense so awarded by such jury, within 21 days after demand thereof; or, in case the same be not so paid, the tenant of the building chargeable therewith, may pay the same, and deduct the money out of the next rent which shall become due to the owner of such building; or the same may be recovered from the party by action of debt or information in any court of record at Westminster, with double costs, id. s. 34.

36. All the powers and authorities by this act vested in the court of mayor and aldermen, may be exercised by the court of mayor and aldermen, to be holden in the outer chamber of the Guildhall of the said city, id. s. 35.

37. Upon every application to quarter sessions for Surry, concerning any matter to be by such sessions done, in pursuance of this act, the jury to be impanelled, and all parties required to attend such sessions, pursuant to such application, shall be impanelled and required to attend at some general or special adjournment thereof, within six weeks next after such application, at some place in Southwark appointed by such sessions; and every further meeting shall be within three weeks from the last, which adjournments the justices may make, as there shall be occasion, id. s. 36.

38. The court of mayor and aldermen, and either of such courts of sessions, may impose any reasonable fine on any of the sheriffs, or their deputies, making default in the premises, and on any persons, who, summoned and returned on such jury, shall not appear, or, appearing, shall refuse to be sworn, or give their verdict, or in any manner wilfully neglect their duty therein, contrary to this act; and on any of the persons having notice to attend to give evidence, who shall not attend, or attending shall refuse to be sworn and give evidence; and in default of payment thereof on demand, may levy such fine as other fines set by the said courts have been usually levied; so that no fine shall exceed 10*l.* upon one person for one offence; and such fines, when recovered and levied, shall be applied to the use of the party applying to the court; and if such person, having notice to attend and give evidence, shall not do so, having had ten days' notice in writing thereof, under the hands of the party on whose behalf such evidence is wanted, his guardian, trustee, committee, or attorney or agent, and having been tendered his costs for attending such party so making default, he shall be liable to an action on the case at suit of the party on whose behalf such notice was given, and the plaintiff therein shall recover damages for non-attendance and full costs; and such and no other excuse shall be allowed, as is by law allowable for non-attendance of witnesses legally summoned to appear, and give evidence on trials of issues in the courts of Westminster, provided the court where such witness appears, may order a further sum to be paid to such witness as the court deems reasonable, in proportion to the time of attendance, and such witness need not give evidence till the same is paid, id. s. 37.

39. Every owner of any building within such limits, who shall think it necessary to repair, pull down, or rebuild any party-wall or party fence-wall, or any part thereof, between any such building or the ground thereto adjoining, and the next adjoining building or the ground thereto adjoining, shall (in case the owner of such adjoining building or ground will not, or by reason of any legal disability or otherwise cannot agree touching the same), give three months' notice in writing to the owner, if he is known, and can be met with, or if such owner be under coverture to her husband, or if under the disability of infancy, idiocy, or lunacy, to the guardian, trustee, or committee, or otherwise to the occupier of such adjoining building, of such his intention to repair, by delivering a copy of such notice to such owner or occupier, or by leaving the same at his last or usual place of abode, or if such adjoining building be unoccupied, by fixing a copy of such notice on the door of such last-mentioned building; which notice shall be in the form or to the effect following, viz.

'Apprehending the party-wall, party-arch, or party fence-wall, or some part thereof, (as the case shall be), between the house or building, or ground (as the case shall be) thereto adjoining, situate — inhabited or occupied by — and my house or building, or ground (as the case shall be), adjoining thereto, to be so far out of repair as to render it necessary to repair or pull down and rebuild the same, or some part thereof; take notice, that I intend to have the said party-wall, party-arch, or party fence-wall, (as the case shall be) surveyed pursuant to an act of parliament, made in the fourteenth year of the reign of king George the third; and that I have appointed — of — and — of — my surveyors, to meet at — in — (being at some place within the limits aforesaid) on my behalf, on the — day of — next, at — of the clock in the — of the same day (being between the hours of six in the morning and six in the afternoon), and I do hereby require and call upon you to appoint two other surveyors or able workmen on your part, to meet them at the time and place aforesaid, to view the said party-wall, party-arch, or party fence-wall (as the case shall be), and to certify the state and condition thereof, and whether the same, or any part thereof, ought to be repaired or pulled down and rebuilt. Dated this — day of —.

And such persons or the occupier to whom such notice given, shall appoint two surveyors or able workmen, to meet at the time and place in notice mentioned; and they, together with the two surveyors named by the party giving notice, and whose names shall be expressed in such notice, may view such party-wall, &c. and certify the condition thereof, and whether the same, or any part thereof, ought to be repaired or pulled down and rebuilt; and such surveyors so named, or in case the owner or occupier of such adjoining building, or other persons aforesaid, having notice, shall neglect to name two surveyors, then the two surveyors named in such notice, together with two other surveyors also to be named by the party giving notice, shall, within six days after time appointed in the notice, view the party-wall, &c.; and certify, in writing under their hands, to the court of mayor and aldermen, or to the justices, in their next sessions, the condition of such party-wall, and whether the same, or any part, ought to be repaired, pulled down, or rebuilt; and in case the major part of such surveyors shall not, within one month next after such appointment, sign such certificate in writing, then one justice for London, Middlesex, Surry, or Westminster, or the liberty of the Tower of London, may, upon application to him for that purpose by the party giving notice, appoint one other able surveyor or to be added to the surveyors, &c. so appointed; and all such surveyors so appointed, or the major part of them, shall meet (six days' notice having been given to each) and view the party-wall, &c.; and in case the major part of such surveyors shall certify in writing, under their hands, that the same, or any part thereof, is decayed and ruinous, or not sufficiently secure against fire, and that the same ought to be repaired or pulled down; then, within three days next after such certificate made, a copy thereof shall be delivered to the owner or occupiers of, or left at such adjoining building, or fixed on the door thereof, if unoccupied; and such certificate shall be immediately filed with the clerk of the peace, on paying such clerk 1*s.*; and such last-mentioned owner or occupier may (if he think fit) appeal from such certificate to the next sessions, and the justices there shall summon before them one or more of such surveyors, and such other persons as they think fit, and examine the matter upon oath; and upon such examination, such justices shall make such orders as they think just; which orders shall be filed of record by the clerk of the peace, in like manner as the judgments of any court of sessions concerning intermixed property are before directed to be filed of record; and the determination of such justices shall be conclusive, and without any appeal from the same; and on default of such appealing, or if, upon appeal, there be no order made to the contrary, then the party intending to repair, after the expiration of 14 days after delivering or leaving the copy of such certificate, or after the determination of such appeal, may cause such party-wall, &c. or any parts thereof, to be repaired or pulled down, and may exercise the like power of entry into the adjoining buildings, or of breaking open the same, in the presence of a peace-officer, in case the same be unoccupied, or refused to be opened, and of removing wainscot, shelves, furniture, and other things, and of shoring up the said adjoining buildings, as is allowed to the owners of intermixed buildings by s. 53. of this act; and may erect a new party-wall, &c. or any part thereof, in manner by this act prescribed, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 38.

40. If the owner of any house or building of the first, second, or third rate, to which any old party-wall, not built according to act, belongs, shall be desirous of pulling down and rebuilding such building, or so much thereof as shall subject the same to the regulations of this act, and shall give three months' notice in writing to the owner or occupier of the next adjoining building, of his intention, in three months from the date thereof, to pull down such party-wall, and instead thereof to build a party-wall agreeable to this act; then, after the expiration of the three months expressed in such notice, the owner may pull down such party-wall, and exercise the like power of entering into the adjoining building, or of breaking open the same, in the presence of a peace-officer, in case the same be unoccupied, or refused to be opened, and of removing any wainscot, furniture, &c. and of shoring up the said adjoining building, as by s. 33. of this act is given to the owners of intermixed buildings; and may, in the place of such old party-wall, build a new party-wall, in manner by this act prescribed, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 39.

41. If the owner of any house or building, to which any timber or wood partition, or wooden fence belongs, shall be desirous of pulling down and rebuilding such building, or so much thereof as may subject the same to the regulations in this act, and shall give three months' notice to the owner or occupier of the next adjoining building, of his intention to pull down such partition at the end of three months after the date of such notice, and instead thereof to build a party-wall, agreeable to this act; then, after the expiration of the three months expressed in such notice, the owner may pull down such partition, and the walls under or over the same, and such wooden fence, and may exercise the like power of entry into the adjoining building and ground, or of breaking open the same in the presence of a peace-officer, if unoccupied or refused to be opened, and of removing any wainscot, furniture, &c. and of shoring up the adjoining building, as before (in s. 33.) given; and shall, in place of such partitions, and of the walls under or over the same, or of such wooden fences, build a new party-wall, according to this act, id. s. 40.

42. The person at whose expence any party-wall or party-arch shall be built agreeable to the directions of this act, shall be reimbursed by the owner entitled to the improved rent of the adjoining building or ground, and who shall, at any time, make use of such party-wall, &c. a part of the expence of building the same, in the proportion after mentioned, viz. if the adjoining building be of same rate as, or superior to, the building belonging to the person at whose expence party-wall was built, then the owner or occupier of such adjoining building or ground, shall pay one moiety of the expence of building so much of such party-wall or arch, as such owner or occupier shall make use of; and, if of an inferior rate, then a sum of money equal to one moiety of the expence of building a party-wall or party-arch, of the thickness by this act required for the rate whereof such adjoining buildings shall be, and of the height and breadth of so much of the said party-wall or party-arch as such owner or occupier shall make use of; and, in the mean time, the sole property of such whole party-wall or party-arch, and of the whole ground whereon the same shall stand, shall be vested in the person at whose expence the same was built; and such moiety or other part of the expence of building such party-wall, &c. shall be paid to the person at whose expence the same shall be built, or in whom the property thereof shall be vested at the times herein-after mentioned, viz. in respect of every such party-wall to any building whereunto, at the time of building the same, no other building was adjoining, so soon as such party-wall shall be first cut into or made use of; and in respect of such party-wall, &c. as shall be built against, or adjoining to, any other building, so soon as such party-wall or party-arch shall be finished; and in respect of such last-mentioned party-wall, &c. the owner or occupier of such adjoining building shall, together with such proportional part of the expence of building, also pay a like proportional part of all other expences which shall be necessary to the pulling down the old party-wall, or timber or wood partition, and the whole of all the reasonable expences of shoring up house, &c. of removing any goods, &c. of pulling down any wainscot or partition, and also all such costs, as may have been awarded by the court of mayor and aldermen, or sessions; but not any part of the expence of pulling down and clearing away any such old party-wall or party-arch, or old partition, if any such there was, and the expence of building such party-wall or party-arch shall be estimated after the rate of 74. 1 s. by the rod, for new brick-work, deducting thereout after the rate of 28 s. by the rod for materials of so much of the old wall or arch as did belong to such adjoining building or ground, and also after the rate of twopence by the cubical foot for the materials of so much of the old timber partition as did belong to such adjoining building or ground; and within ten days after such party-wall, &c. shall be so built, or so soon after as convenient, such first builder shall leave, at such adjoining building, a true account, in writing, of the number of rods in such party-wall, &c. for which the owner of such adjoining building or ground shall be liable to pay, and of the deduction thereout, on account of such materials, and also an account of such other expences and costs as aforesaid; whereupon the tenant or occupier of such adjoining ground may pay one moiety, or such proportional part to such first builder for the same, and also for shoring up such adjoining building, and all other expences herein directed to be paid by the owner of such adjoining ground, and may deduct the same out of the rent due to such owner under whom he holds the same until reimbursed; and if the same is not paid within 21 days after demand, then it may be recovered with costs from such owner by action of debt or on the case in any court of record at Westminster, wherein no essoin, &c. or more than one imparlance shall be allowed; but if the plaintiff shall give three calendar months' notice in writing to the defendant of his intention to bring such action, or leave the same at his usual abode, and specify therein the sum for which brought, and annex thereto a bill of the just particulars of the expences with which the defendant is to be charged, then such plaintiff, if he recover the sum specified, shall have double costs, with the usual remedy to recover the same, id. s. 41.

43. Every party-wall, and addition thereto, shall be built agreeable to the directions concerning the party-wall of the highest rate to which such party-wall shall adjoin, when such additions are completed; and no party-wall shall, after the same and the buildings adjoining thereto are completed, be raised, unless the same, when raised, be of the full thickness such party-wall is of in the story next under the roof of the highest adjoining building; nor shall any party-wall hereafter be raised, unless the same can be done with safety to such wall, and the several buildings adjoining thereto; but all such party-walls as will, when raised, be of the materials, heights, and thicknesses herein-before required, or as can be safely raised, may, together with the shaft of any chimney, be raised at the expence of the proprietor or occupier of any building to which the same belong, to any height he shall think proper; but if the proprietor or occupier of any building adjoining shall make use of any part of such party-wall and chimney-shaft, other than the use he makes of the chimney flues therein, which shall be so raised, then such person, for the part used, shall be chargeable with a proportionable share of the expence of raising such party-wall and chimney-shafts; and in computing such charge, the same shall be rated in manner herein-before mentioned, and the proportion such person shall be liable to pay shall be recovered as is before declared concerning the first building of a party-wall, id. s. 42.

44. Any party fence-wall may be raised by, and at the expence of, the proprietor or occupier of the ground on either side adjoining thereto; but no party fence-wall shall hereafter be built upon, or against, or used as a party-wall, unless the same be of the materials, height, and thickness, herein-before directed for party-walls to the rate of building so to be erected against or upon the same; and in case of the insufficiency of such wall for the purposes aforesaid, or if instead of such party fence-wall, there be only a wooden fence, the proprietor or occupier of either of the adjoining premises may, at his own expence, take down such wall or fence, and erect a new party-wall in lieu thereof making good every damage that may accrue to the adjoining premises by such rebuilding, so nevertheless as that such new party-wall shall not extend on the surface of such adjoining ground more than seven inches beyond the centre line of such party fence-wall or fence; but no proprietor or occupier of such adjoining premises shall make use of such party-wall, otherwise than as a party fence-wall, unless he pay a proportionable share of the whole expence of erecting such parts of such wall, according to the use he shall make of the same, at the rates aforesaid, id. s. 43.

45. In case such party-wall shall extend further upon the ground of the party building the same than the party fence-wall did, yet the party rebuilding the same shall not thereby lose any part of the soil whereon such party-wall shall be built; nor shall the owner of the other part of such party-wall be entitled to any right of soil, more than what he was before entitled to, id. s. 44.

46. If the fore-front and back-front of any building now built, shall be rebuilt as low as the bressummer, or one pair of stairs floor, within five years from each other, the party-walls of such building shall be subject to the regulations concerning party-walls; and for the further prevention of fire, the back of every chimney to be built in any building of the first rate, not being in a party-wall, shall be in the cellar story 13 inches thick from the hearth, to the height of 12 inches above the mantle; and eight inches and an half thick from the hearth to the height of 12 inches above the mantle in every other story, except where such chimney shall be built against a wall, in which case the back may be half a brick thinner, and the back of every chimney of the second, third, or fourth rate, not in a party-wall, shall be in every story eight inches and an half thick, from the hearth to the height of 19 inches above the mantle, except where such chimney shall be built against a wall, in which case the back may be half a brick thinner: and there shall be no timber whatever over the opening of any chimney, for supporting the breast; but there shall be an arch of brick or stone, or an iron bar over the opening; and no timber shall be laid in any wall under the hearth of any chimney, unless the same shall be in every part 18 inches lower than the surface of such hearth; and the hearth shall be laid wholly on brick or stone, except the same be in a cellar or ground story, and be laid on the solid earth; and such chimney shall have a slab, or foot paces before the same, of tile, stone, marble, or iron, at least 18 inches broad, and one foot longer than the opening; and such slab or foot paces shall be laid on brick or stone trimmers, at least 18 inches broad from the opening of such chimney, or from the perpendicular face of the arch over the opening which supports the breast, except the same be in a cellar or ground-floor, and be laid on the solid earth, and no timber or wood-work whatever shall be laid in the brick-work of any oven, stove, copper, still, boiler, or furnace, nor within two feet of the inside of any such oven, &c.; nor shall any timber whatever be laid in the brick-work of any chimney, nearer than nine inches to the opening, or five inches to the inside of the flue of any chimney, oven, &c. or than nine inches to the inside of the flue of any such oven, &c. where such timber shall lie nearer than five feet above the mouth of the same; and no wood-work whatever shall be affixed to the front of any jamb or mantle, or to the front or back of any chimney or flue, except by iron nails or holdfasts, or other iron fastenings; and no iron nail, holdfast, or other iron fastening, shall be drove more than three inches into the wall against such chimney or flue, or nearer than four inches to the inside of the opening; and no chimney shall be erected on any timber-work whatever, except on such piling, bridging, or planking, as may be necessary below the foundation; but every chimney shall be erected on such piling, bridging, or planking, or on solid ground, or on a brick or stone foundation, or shall be set upon brick or stone corbels, or iron brackets, or upon iron shores, supported by brick or stone foundations, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 45.

47. Every external wall of every building of the first, second, third, fourth, or fifth rate, and of every addition or enlargement to be made to such building, shall be of brick, stone, artificial stone, lead, copper, tin, slate, tile, or iron, or of brick, stone, and such artificial stone, lead, copper, tin, slate, tile, and iron together, except the necessary piling, bridging, and planking for the foundation, and also the necessary templets, chains, bond-timbers, and also except the doors, sashes, window-shutters, and door and window-frames to such buildings, and the tiers or stories of door-cases, and doors to all such warehouses as are or shall be of the first, second, third, or fourth rate; all which window and door-frames shall be set in reveals, and recessed four inches from the front of the building; and also except the bressummers, story-posts, and plates, which may be made on the ground-story only; and also except all stall-boards for the convenience of any shop on the ground-story only; which bressummers, story-posts, and plates, and the tiers or stories or door-cases and doors to such warehouses, are not required to be fixed in reveals; but no story-post or bressummer shall be fixed more than two inches deep in any party-wall, or be placed in any front nearer than seven inches to the centre line of the party-wall of such building, if such party-wall be of the thickness of two bricks, or nearer than four inches and an half to the centre, if such party-wall shall not exceed one brick and an half in thickness; but no timber-work whatever, other than such bressummer, story-posts, and plates, and such tiers or stories of door-cases and doors, shall be laid in such external wall nearer than four inches to the external surface; and such story-post which shall be fixed as a support to two fronts, being the corner of any streets, square, place, court, or way, shall be of oak or stone, and at least 12 inches square, id. s. 46.

48. Every flat, gutter, and roof, of the first, second, third, fourth, or fifth rate, which shall be built hereafter, and every turret, dormer, and lantern light, or other erection which shall be placed in the flat or roof of such building, and every external part of any flat, gutter, roof, turret, dormer, and lantern, in such rate of building, now built, and which shall hereafter be ripped or uncovered, shall be covered with glass, copper, lead, tin, slate, tile, or artificial stone; except the doors, door-frames, windows, and window-frames of such turrets, &c. id. s. 47.

49. Every coping, cornice, fascia, window-dressing, portico, balcony, balustrade, or other external decoration or projection whatsoever, to any building of the first, second, third, or fourth rate; and also every frontispiece to any building of the first rate, or to any addition or enlargement of such building, shall externally be of brick, stone, burnt clay, or artificial stone, stucco, lead, or iron; except the cornices and dressings to shop windows; and also except such covered ways as may hereafter be made to any building, so as the said covered way shall not extend beyond the original line of houses in the street where erected; and such covered way shall be covered with stone, lead, copper, slate, tile, or tin; and neither such covered way, nor the cornice or dressings to shop-windows, nor the roof of any such portico, shall be higher than the under side of the sill of the window-frame of the one-pair of stairs' window of the building to which the same belongs, and no water shall drip next to any public street, square, place, court, or way, from the roof of any first, second, third, or fourth rate building, except from the roofs of porticoes or entrances; but all water from such roofs shall be conveyed by lead, copper, tin, or iron gutters or pipes, or by wooden trunks, or brick or stone funnels, to the drains or channel stones, on or below the surface of the ground, or to some cistern or reservoir, or to any front of such building, not abutting upon any public street or way; and no such brick or stone funnel shall hereafter be made, unless the same shall be in every part thereof below the surface of the foot pavement before the same, nor shall such wooden trunk hereafter be fixed, unless the same be below the tops of the windows of the ground story, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 48.

50. No bow-window or other projection shall hereafter be built with, or added to any first, second, third, or fourth rate building, next to any public street, &c. so as to extend beyond the general line of the fronts of the houses; except such projections as may be necessary for copings, cornices, fascias, floor and window dressings, or for open porticoes, steps, or iron pallisades; and also except such window to any shop on the ground floor story, the stall-boards of which shall not in any street 30 feet wide, project above ten inches, nor in any street less than 30 feet wide, above five inches from the upright line of the buildings there, and no cornice or covering thereof to such shop window shall in any street 30 feet wide project more than 18 inches, nor in any street less than 30 feet wide, more than 13 inches from the upright line of the building, and no bow-window or other projection, except as before, shall hereafter be built with, or added to the front of any first, second, third, or fourth rate building, unless built of materials directed to be used in external walls, id. s. 49.

51. Nothing herein contained shall prejudice the powers granted to any commissioners for paving any streets within such limits, by act of parliament, or to the commissioners of sewers for London, id. s. 50.

52. Every external wall, or inclosure to any building, built or begun to be built before 24th June 1774, not being of the materials by this act required for external walls, thereafter to be built, may be repaired with the same sort of materials with which such wall is erected, (except the external inclosures of roofs, flats, gutters, and of the dormers, turrets, and lantern lights, or other erections on the same, which shall be repaired with the materials before directed); but in case such wall be taken down or otherwise demolished to the bressummer or one pair of stairs floor, or the place where the bressummer is usually fixed, then the same, not being built of the materials by this act required for external walls, shall be taken down, and entirely rebuilt of such materials, and in such manner as by this act required for external walls, according to the rate of building to which such wall belongs, id. s. 51.

53. No bow-window or other projection shall be rebuilt, except such as are by this act allowed, unless the same was built at the time the house was built, or unless it be within the original line of the street, &c. id. s. 52.

54. No stack of warehouses to be erected hereafter shall contain more than 35 square of building on the ground plan, including all external, internal and party-walls; and no enlargement shall be made, so as to increase the same beyond the said 35 squares, except such stack of warehouses be separated by party-walls (built according to the directions herein) into divisions of not more than 35 squares each; and no stack of warehouses shall communicate with any other warehouse or building through a party-wall, unless the door-case and sill of such communication be of stone, and unless there be to such communication a door of wrought iron, of the thickness of a quarter of an inch in the pannels; and no timber, bond, or lintel, shall be laid into the brick-work of any wall in such warehouses nearer than 18 inches to the opening of such communication, id. s. 53.

55. No building for stables shall contain more than 25 squares, including all walls; and no enlargement shall be made thereto, so as to increase the same beyond the 25 squares, including walls, except such building be separated by party-walls (built according to the directions herein) into divisions of not more than 25 squares each, including such walls; and no such building shall communicate through a party-wall with any other stables or building, unless the door-case and sill of such communication be of stone, and unless there be to such communication a door of wrought iron, of the thickness of a quarter of an inch in the pannels; and no timber, bond, or lintel shall be laid into the brick-work nearer than 18 inches to the opening of such communication, id. s. 54.

56. If any first, second, third, or fourth rate building, (except in the inns of court, or chancery, the Royal Exchange, companies' halls, and except warehouses and dwelling-houses let at a rack-rent for not more than 25*l.* by the year,) be hereafter converted into two or more dwelling-houses, workshops, stables, or other buildings, which shall be in distinct tenures on the ground-floor thereof, then each such tenement shall be considered as a separate building, and the same shall be divided from each other by a party-wall, and such party-wall shall be of the materials, height, and thickness, and under the regulations of this act respecting party-walls, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 55.

57. This act shall not prevent any proprietor or leaseholder of any stack of warehouses, from dividing such warehouses into divisions for the convenience of letting the same to under-tenants; so that the same be separated by party-walls into divisions of not more than 35 squares each as before (s. 53.) directed, id. s. 56.

58. Nor shall it prevent the proprietor or leaseholder of any stable yard, or livery stables from dividing such stables, so that the same be separated by party-walls into divisions of not more than 25 squares each, as before (s. 34.) directed, id. s. 57.

59. If any fifth or sixth rate building be hereafter divided into two or more distinct tenures, and the several parts in such separate tenures, be not at the distances from each other herein-before, (s. 18, 19.) directed for every fifth or sixth rate building; then such parts in such distinct tenures being nearer to each other than such distances, shall be deemed a public nuisance, and be taken down as such, id. s. 58.

60. No iron, tin, copper, or other pipe or funnel for conveying smoke or steam, shall be fixed next any public street, or on the front of any first, second, third, or fourth rate building; nor on the inside of such building nearer than 14 inches to any timber, or other combustible material whatever; nor shall any brick funnel be built or placed on the outside of any front of any such building, next to any public street. &c. so as to extend beyond the general line of houses, id. s. 59.

61. Every church, chapel, meeting-house, dwelling-house, or other building, and every party and other wall which shall be built within the limits of this act, shall be built pursuant to such regulations, and with such materials, as are herein appointed; and if any person presume to build, or to begin building, or to alter any building in any respect contrary thereto, and be thereof convicted by the oaths of two witnesses before the mayor of London, or any two justices of London, or counties of Middlesex or Surry, Westminster, or liberty of the Tower of London respectively, then such house, building, or wall, so irregularly built, or begun to be built or altered, shall be deemed a common nuisance, and the builder and the owner thereof, or one of them, as such mayor, &c. shall require, shall enter into a recognizance in such sum as the mayor, &c. shall appoint, for abating or demolishing the same, within such time as such mayor, &c. shall appoint, or otherwise to amend the same according to their directions herein contained, and in default of entering into such recognizance, the person so making default shall be committed to the common goal of the city, county, or liberty where the offence was committed, there to remain without bail, until the same is abated or demolished, or otherwise amended, or by such party, or by order of such mayor, &c. provided that such conviction be had within three months after such building is finished, id. s. 60.

62. The mayor of London, or two justices for London, Middlesex, Surry, Westminster, or the liberty of the Tower of London respectively, may where any building contrary to these regulations shall be situated, order every house or building so irregularly built, begun to be built, or altered, as is by this act declared to be a common nuisance, to be taken down, and the person authorised to take down the same, may sell the materials, and thereout pay the charges of taking down, and pay the surplus to the owner of such materials; and if the monies arising by such sale be not sufficient to pay such charges, the deficiency shall be made good by such owner, and may be levied as is in s. 70. directed concerning the expence of taking down ruinous buildings, and putting up boards for the safety of passengers, id. s. 61.

63. The mayor and aldermen of London shall appoint so many persons, skilled in building, as they think fit, to be, during their will and pleasure, the surveyors to see such regulations observed throughout London, and the liberties thereof; and such mayor and aldermen in their court of aldermen, shall administer to such surveyors an oath for the true and impartial execution of their office; and appoint the districts which shall be under their surveys, and the justices for Middlesex, Surry, Westminster, and the liberty of the Tower of London, in their general quarter sessions respectively, shall appoint so many persons skilled in building, as such sessions think fit, to be, during their will and pleasure, the surveyors to see such regulations observed throughout Westminster, and the several parishes, precincts, and places aforesaid: and such justices, in their respective sessions, shall administer to such surveyors an oath for the impartial execution of their office, and shall appoint the districts which shall be under their surveys; which oath shall be in the form following: viz.

'I, A. B. being one of the surveyors or supervisors appointed in pursuance of an act of parliament, passed in the fourteenth year of the reign of king George the third, for the further and better regulation of buildings and party-walls, and for the more effectually preventing mischiefs by fire within the cities of London and Westminster, and the liberties thereof, and other the parishes, precincts, and places within the weekly bills of mortality, the parishes of Saint Mary-le-bone, Paddington, Saint Pancras, and Saint Luke at Chelco, in the county of Middlesex; and for indemnifying, under certain conditions, builders, and other persons, against the penalties to which they are or may be liable, for erecting buildings within the limits aforesaid, contrary to law, do swear, that, upon receiving notice of any building or wall to be built, or other builder's work to be done, within the district under my inspection, not being by illness or otherwise lawfully prevented, I will, diligently and faithfully, survey the same, and, to the utmost of my abilities, endeavour to cause the rules and regulations in the said act prescribed, to be strictly observed; and that without favour or affection, prejudice or malice. — So help me God.'

And such surveyor shall leave notice in writing with the clerk of the peace, in his district, of his usual abode, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 62.

64. Before any building or wall, on new or old foundations, or on foundations partly new and partly old, within the limits of this act, shall be begun to be built, the master workman, or person causing such building to be built, shall give 24 hours' notice thereof to the surveyor within whose district the same shall be; and such surveyor shall view such building, and see that all the regulations are observed, and such surveyor, for his trouble therein, shall be paid by such master workman, or person causing such building to be built, such sum of money for his trouble therein, as two justices shall, by any writing under their hands, order, not exceeding

For every new building of the first rate, 5 10 0	Fourth rate new building, 2 2 0
Any alteration or addition thereto, 1 15 0	Any alteration, &c. 1 1 0
Second rate new building, 7 5 0	Fifth rate new building, 1 10 0
Any alteration, &c. 1 10 0	Any alteration, &c. 0 15 0
Third rate new building, 2 10 0	Sixth rate new building, 1 1 0
Any alteration, &c. 1 5 0	Any alteration, &c. 0 10 0
	Seventh rate new building, 0 10 0
	Any alteration, &c. 0 5 0

And, in default of payment of such sums, or such other sums as such justices shall appoint, the same shall, by warrant of one justice, be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such master workman, or other person, together with the costs of distress, id. s. 63.

65. If any person shall begin such building, or wall, or cut into any party-wall, without first giving such notice as in s. 63. to the surveyor of the district, or shall refuse such surveyor admittance at reasonable hours, for the purpose of viewing the same; then, every person so neglecting or refusing admittance, shall forfeit to such surveyor treble the satisfaction which such surveyor would have been entitled to for viewing such building, and seeing the regulations of this act observed, in case notice had been given; and shall also forfeit 20*l.*, to be recovered by any action of debt, &c. or information in any court of record at Westminster, by any person who shall sue for the same, and such building, if not built agreeably to the regulations, shall be demolished or amended by order of such mayor, or two justices, as in s. 60. directed, id. s. 64.

66. In case the workmen employed in building such building or wall, or in the cutting into such party-wall, shall not observe the rules in this act, and conform thereto, the surveyor shall give information thereof to the mayor, or to two justices, who thereupon shall hear the matter, and if any breach of this act is found to have been committed, they shall cause such irregular building or wall to be so demolished or amended, id. s. 65.

67. If any workmen, or servants to any master workman, or other person causing such building or wall to be erected within the limits of this act, shall wilfully or negligently, and without the direction or consent of such master workman, do any thing about such building or wall contrary to this act, such workman or servant upon conviction before the mayor, or other justice for the city of London, or before one justice for Middlesex, Surry, Westminster, or the liberty of the Tower of London, upon the oath of one witness, or confession, shall forfeit 50*l.*, one moiety to the overseers of the poor of the parish where the offence was done, for the use of poor only, and the other to the informer; and if not paid upon conviction, the offender shall, by warrant under the hand and seal of such mayor or justice, be committed to the house of correction not exceeding three months, nor less than one month, unless penalty sooner paid, id. s. 66.

68. Every master workman, or other person, who shall build any house or building, or any addition thereto, or any party or other wall, or who shall cut into any party-wall, shall, within 14 days after such building is covered in, or such wall finished, or the cutting into any party-wall made good, cause the same to be surveyed by the surveyor of the district; and in case he shall refuse, neglect, or shall, by illness, &c. be prevented surveying, then the same shall be surveyed by any other surveyor appointed and sworn within the city, county, or liberty, wherein such building, &c. is situated; and if such surveyor shall, upon such survey, find that the same is built, or made good, agreeably to this act, then such surveyor shall, within 14 days after, make oath thereof, by affidavit in writing, before the mayor of London, or some justice for the said city, or for Middlesex, Surry, Westminster, or the liberty of the Tower of London: and such affidavit shall be filed with the clerk of the peace for the county, &c. within 10 days after the making thereof; and such clerk of the peace shall, for his trouble therein, receive 1s.; and if any master workman, or other person causing such building, &c. to be erected, or party-wall to be cut into, make default in the premises, by neglecting to cause such survey, or such affidavit to be made and filed, he shall forfeit 10l.; and if such affidavit is not made and filed within one month next after the recovery of such penalty, such master workman, or other person, shall forfeit 10l. further, and so toties quoties for every month, until such affidavit shall be made and filed; and each of such penalties shall be recovered and applied as the penalty in s. 72, inflicted on persons distilling or boiling turpentine; [the s. 72. being Rev. such penalties may be recovered as in 25 G. 3. c. 77. s. 1. pl. 75. directed, which is similar to the method given by s. 72. of this act.] 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 67.

69. If any surveyor shall wilfully neglect his duty, or behave negligently or unfaithfully in the discharge thereof, the same being, upon complaint thereof, made appear to the mayor and aldermen, or to the court of sessions by whom he was appointed, such surveyor shall be forthwith discharged, and for ever afterwards be incapable of being again appointed a surveyor, id. s. 68.

70. This act shall not extend to any of H. M.'s royal palaces, or to any building in the possession of H. M., or employed for his use or service; or to Her M.'s palace, or to any building in the possession of Her M., or employed for her use or service, id. s. 69.

71. If any presentment shall be made by an inquest or grand jury in London, or by any annoyance jury within Westminster, or by the jury sworn at the court leet held by the sheriff in his turn, or by any other jury or inquest sworn within any other part of such limits, that any building or part thereof, is in a ruinous condition, the court of mayor and aldermen within London, and the liberties thereof, or the churchwardens or overseers of the poor of parish where such building is, (not in London, or the liberties,) shall, on notice of such presentment made, and a copy thereof laid before them, cause a sufficient board to be put up for the safety of all passengers passing thereby, and cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, if he can be found; and if not, cause such notice to be affixed to the door, or other notorious part of such building, to repair or pull down the same, as the case may require, within 14 days then next ensuing; and if such owner do not begin to repair or take down the same, within such 14 days after such notice, and complete such repairs, or take down the same as soon as the case will admit; then, oath being made before such mayor, or a justice of the peace, of such notice given or affixed, such court of mayor and aldermen, out of the cash in the chamber of London, and such churchwardens and overseer, out of the monies in his hands, shall order such building, or so much thereof as such court, or churchwardens or overseers, find necessary for the safety of passengers, to be taken down and secured; and may sell such of the materials as such court, or churchwardens or overseers shall judge necessary; out of the monies arising by sale, the city, or churchwardens, &c. may reimburse themselves all the charges of putting up such board, and of taking down and securing such building, and of selling such materials, or so much thereof as the monies arising by such sale will extend to pay; and shall pay the surplus to the owner, upon personal demand thereof made by such owner; and if no such demand be made of any such overseer before another be appointed, then such overplus shall be added to the rates made for the relief of the poor, and accounted for as such, id. s. 70.

72. But such owner, his executors, or administrators may, within six years afterwards, receive such overplus from such churchwardens or overseers, within 10 days after demand thereof personally made; and such churchwarden or overseer shall pay the same out of the poor-rates, and shall be allowed the payment thereof in his account: and if the monies arising by such sale, be deficient to repay all such charges, then such deficiency shall be paid by the owner of such building if known and to be met with; and if he on demand neglect to pay the same, the same may be levied by warrant under the hand and seal of such mayor, or any other justice for London, or of two justices for Middlesex, Surrey, Westminster, or the liberty of the Tower, by distress and sale of goods; and if no such owner can be met with, or shall not pay such deficiency, and no sufficient distress be found, the person who shall at any time after occupy such building or ground whereupon the same stood, shall pay it and deduct it out of his rent: and if he neglect to pay such deficiency, the same may by like warrant be levied by distress and sale of such occupier's goods, together with costs of such distress, and the owner shall allow such payments to be deducted from the rent, and such occupier shall be acquitted of so much as he shall pay; and all money received or recovered on such account for any building within the city of London and its liberties, shall be paid to the chamberlain of such city, and placed to the credit of the cash of such city; all money so received or recovered in any other part of such limits, to the churchwardens or overseers of the poor, and placed to account of such parish, in aid of such poor-rate, out of which such expenses were originally disbursed, id. s. 71.

73. The 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 72. shall be Rev., and no person in Eng. shall distil or boil any turpentine or tar, or draw any oil of turpentine and rosin, by distilling turpentine, or draw any oil of tar or pitch, by distilling or boiling tar, or boil any oil and turpentine together, or boil any oil and tar together above the quantity of ten gallons at one time of all or any of such commodities, in any workhouse, or place contiguous to any building, or in any place nearer to any other building than 75 feet, (except in houses or buildings now legally used for such purposes,) on pain to forfeit 100l., which forfeiture shall be recovered by action of debt, &c., or information in any court of record at Westminster, wherein no essoin, &c., or more than one imparlance allowed, one moiety whereof shall go to the use of the poor of the parish or place where the offence was committed, and the other to the party suing, 25 G. 3. c. 77. s. 1.

74. This act shall not prevent shipwrights, barge-builders, boat-builders, or mast-makers, or other persons employed in the building or repairing ships, barges, &c. from boiling or mixing oil and other materials, for the purpose of paying ships, barges, &c. 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 73., 25 G. 3. c. 77. s. 2. [For sections 74—86, see Fut.]

75. Where any distress is made under this act, it shall not be deemed unlawful, nor the party making it a trespasser, on account of any defect in form in any proceedings relating thereto, nor shall the party be deemed a trespasser ab initio on account of any irregularity afterwards done by party distraining; but the person aggrieved may recover satisfaction for the special damage by action on the case, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 87.

76. No plaintiff shall recover in any action for such irregularity, if tender of amends be made by or on the behalf of the party committing the irregularity before action brought, and in case no tender made, the defendant, by leave of the court, may pay into court such money as he deems fit, and the usual proceedings shall then be had thereon, id. s. 88. [The sections 89—94, relate to prosecutions on 12 G. 3. c. 73., and are Exp.]

77. No order made by mayor of London, or any justice, under this act, or any other proceeding touching conviction of any offender against this act, shall be removed by certiorari or otherwise into the courts at Westminster, id. s. 95.

78. Any persons aggrieved by any conviction, commitment, distress, order, or judgment of the mayor of London, or any justice or justices, made out of sessions under this act, may appeal to the justices at the quarter sessions holden for London, Middlesex, Surrey, Westminster, or the liberty of the Tower, next after such conviction, &c., who shall examine on oath the causes of such appeal, and determine the same, and award costs to either party as they deem fit, and the order of such sessions shall be conclusive, id. s. 96.

79. Every person intending to appeal shall, within two days after conviction, &c., enter into a recognizance to the appellee, before such justice, with two securities, conditioned to try such appeal, abide order of, and pay costs awarded by such sessions against him, id. s. 97.

80. The inhabitants and parishioners of any parish or place where any offence against this act shall be done, shall be deemed competent witnesses in any action or information in any court of record, or at the hearing and determination of any information before the mayor of London or other justice, for or concerning any offence against this act, id. s. 98.

81. No action or prosecution shall be commenced against any persons for any penalty incurred by this act, unless commenced within six calendar months after forfeiture incurred, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 99., 25 G. 3. c. 77. s. 5.

82. No action shall be brought against any persons for things done under this act, until 21 days' notice in writing of intention to bring the same has been given to the intended defendant, nor after the expiration of three calendar months after the fact committed; and every such action shall be laid and tried in the city of London, when the cause shall arise in such city or its liberties, and when in any other part of such limits such action shall be laid and tried in Middlesex, and not elsewhere, and the defendants in such action may plead the general issue, and give this act and the special matter in evidence, and that the same was done in pursuance hereof; and if it shall so appear, or if such action was brought before the expiration of 21 days after such notice given, or if sufficient amends were tendered before action brought, or if it was not commenced within the time limited, or is laid in the wrong county or place, the jury shall find for the defendant; and if a verdict be found for the defendant, or if the plaintiff is nonsuited, discontinues, or has judgment against him on demurrer, or by default or otherwise, the defendant shall have treble costs, with the usual remedy to recover the same, 14 G. 3. c. 78. s. 100.
